COLLECTION DESCRIPTION

Dan Miller ran for mayor of Harrisburg, PA in 2013. While he was not successful in that election, he has held numerous positions of leadership. At the time of the mayoral campaign, he was the Harrisburg City Controller and Harrisburg’s first openly gay elected official. He is a former member of the city council in Harrisburg. He founded the Business Association of Gays and Lesbians in Harrisburg (now called the Central PA Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce), founded the PA Justice Campaign, co-founded the Pride Festival of Central PA, and co-founded the Community Recognition Banquet (later re-named FAB).
