DICKINSON COLLEGE • CARLISLE, PA.

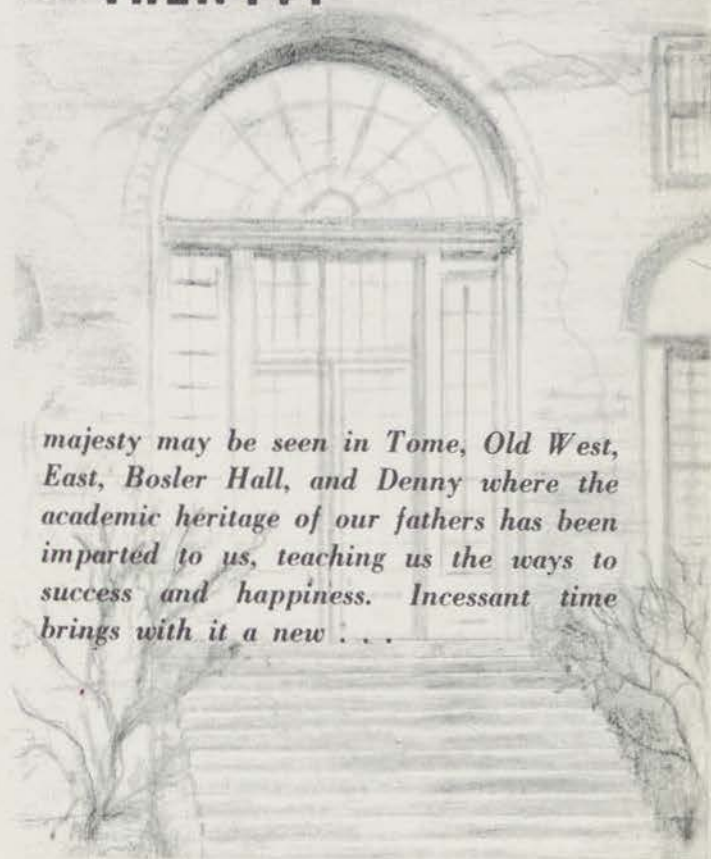

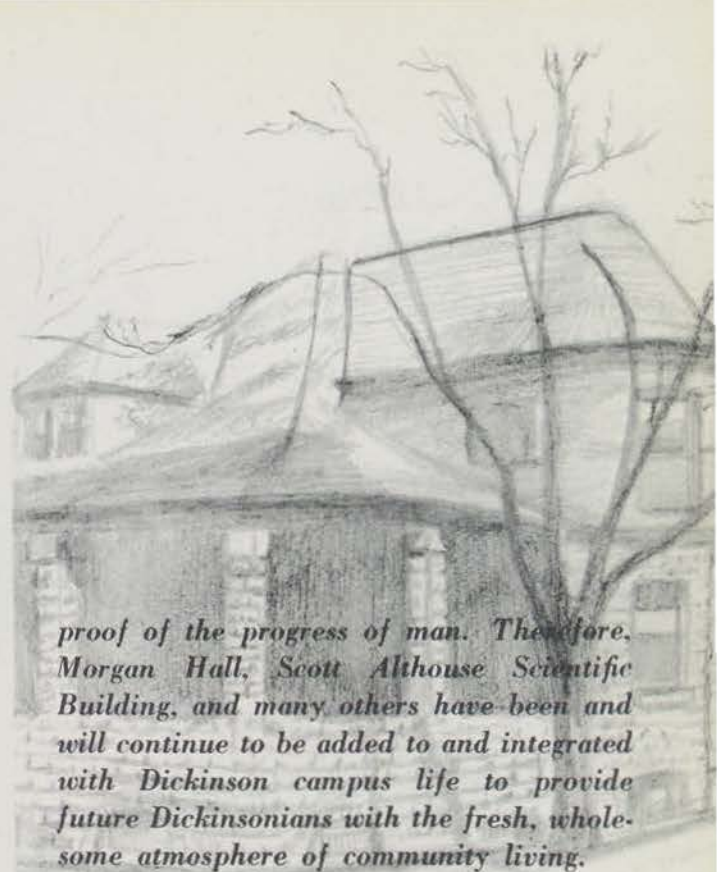

Our attractive campus provides the meeting ground for the past and present, maintaining the lessons learned from the past and securing those that lie ahead for Dickinson students. Priceless traditions are preserved in this atmosphere of a former America. Simplicity and . . .

THEN . . .

majesty may be seen in Tome, Old West, East, Bosler Hall, and Denny where the academic heritage of our fathers has been imparted to us, teaching us the ways to success and happiness. Incessant time brings with it a new . . .

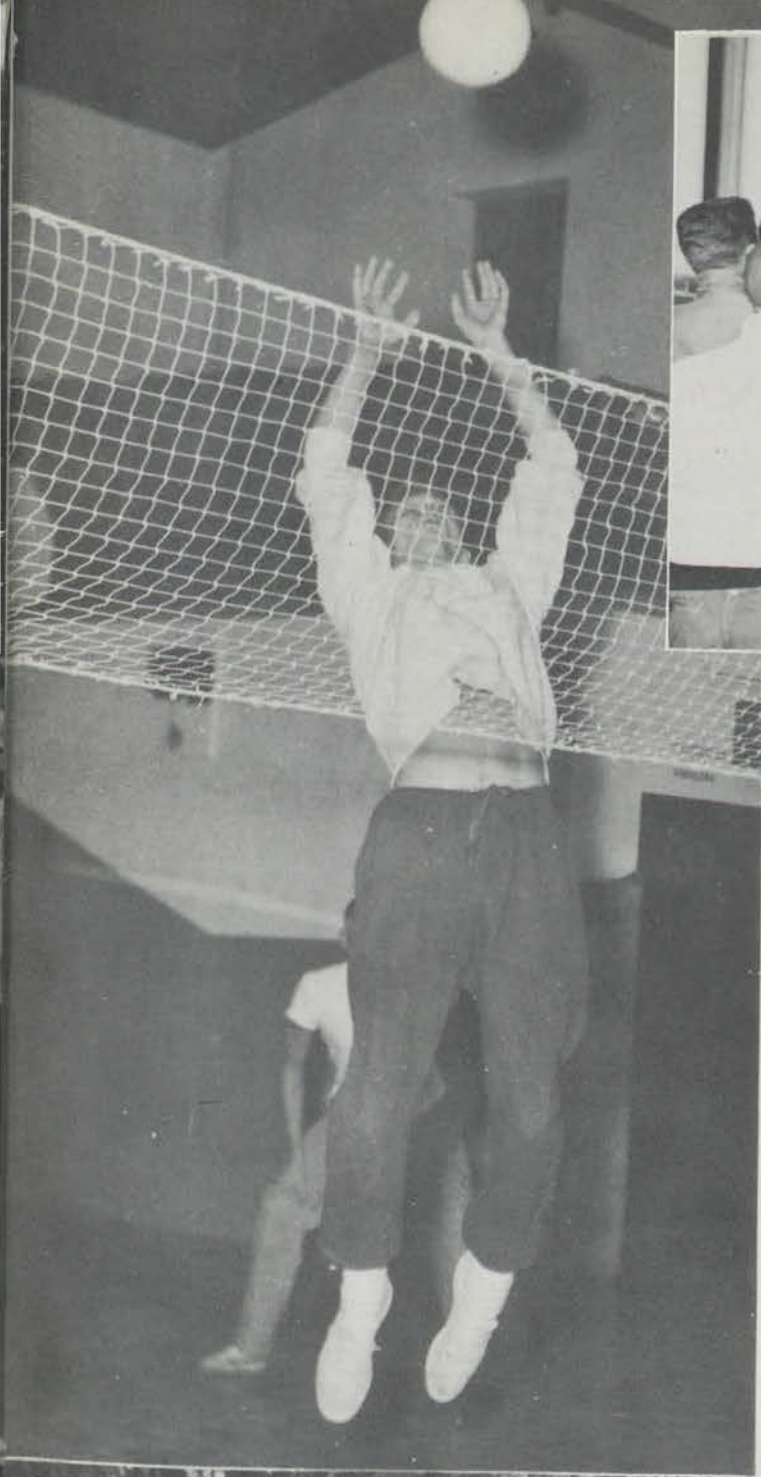

proof of the progress of man. Therefore, Morgan Hall, Scott Althouse Scientific Building, and many others have been and will continue to be added to and integrated with Dickinson campus life to provide future Dickinsonians with the fresh, wholesome atmosphere of community living.

... AND NOW

fund of knowledge, experiences, and feelings. In order to give these things to its students and to become a part of the present as well as the past, Dickinson has endeavored to acquire the most up-to-date . . .

DEDICATION

In 1800, Dr. Benjamin Rush, a Founding Father of both the United States and Dickinson College, received from Thomas Jefferson a letter which contains one of Jefferson's most famous statements regarding freedom of thought—"I have sworn upon the altar of God, eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

It is significant for us at Dickinson that Jefferson, an educator as well as a statesman, held Dr. Rush in such esteem that he would care to confide to him his deepest thoughts on this matter.

These two men, members of that great group of dissenters who pledged their lives and sacred honors to freedom, were among the architects of our national heritage, and they both shared in the feeling that the freedom which they helped found was more than just political. It was freedom of thought and of belief; it was freedom of inquiry and the pursuit of truth. It was an ideal which summarily rejected any attempt to stifle or censure the free exercise of man's God-given mind.

Like many worthwhile traditions, this one can often be sorely abused or totally ignored. In the presence of nameless and unreasoning fear and hysteria, the high ideals of intellectual and academic freedom upon which our college is based may sometimes be notably disregarded. Such considerations as political and economic pressure and expediency may take precedence over the ideal. Irreparable harm can be done, not only to the reputation of the college, but also to its intangible but all-important spirit.

However serious it may be, this damage need not be permanent. There is no reason for the perpetuation of an evil. We are in possession of a tradition of freedom, and need only to sincerely reaffirm it in order to partially rectify any mistakes of the past. The mistakes can never be erased, but it can be ensured that they do not happen again.

It is with optimism and a firm faith in the future that this, the 1958 Microcosm, is dedicated to the noble principles of academic freedom.

... and History

With the Class of "58" making its last appearance at Dickinson, the added responsibility of leadership is delegated to the Junior Class. Under the able leadership of the President, Don Test, assisted by vice president Ned Bosnick, secretary Carolyn Albert, and treasurer Lee Shipman, the class has proven that it is capable of following in the footsteps of its worthy predecessors. The class has once again demonstrated its scholastic ability by achieving an excellent average. Leaders are certainly not lacking in its ranks, and in athletics, the juniors have shown all of us many thrilling moments. It is with great expectations that we look to the Class of "59" as they enter their final year at Dickinson.

The class of 1960, ably led by Cal Lewis, President; Earl Weiner, Vice President; Marge Crowley, Secretary; and Walt Chantry, Treasurer; is eagerly accepting its responsibility as one of the scholastic leaders at Dickinson. Some of the class' accomplishments are evidenced by the appearance of the sophomores' names on the various school literary publications, on programs announcing the receivers of many Dickinson awards, and on athletic rosters. All in all, the Dickinson class of 1960 is a very well-rounded and well-developed class with its eye on the future. It has unlimited potential, a potential which is being and will continue to be utilized every day to enrich and preserve the meaning of the Red and White.

The class of '61, the largest class to enter Dickinson, began from the start to show much spirit and pep. Class desire for unity and action resulted in the formation of a Joint House Council to handle freshman activities. A very successful freshman-produced dance was first on the agenda of major social events. Traditional freshman rules were short-lived and the freshmen before long began taking on upperclass responsibilities.

Several members of the class won lead roles in the Follies and other productions, joined publication staffs, and produced many highly talented swimmers, wrestlers, and football, basketball, and baseball players.

The freshman class is certain to continue donating its energies to D-son and to prepare itself for eventually assuming positions of leadership on the campus.

WHO'S WHO

Dickinson honors its outstanding seniors by electing them to the Who's Who honorary organization. The selection of these students is based on standards of scholarship, athletic participation, and leadership in sports, extra-curricular and academic activities, citizenship, character, and service to the school. The individual's future role in society is also considered.

Each fraternity submits the names of four outstanding seniors and a final list is compiled by a board consisting of the Dean of Admissions, Dean of Men, Dean of Women, President of Student Senate, and Managing Editor of the Microcosm.

Personal recognition is thus given to the senior student who proves to be outstanding both in his past record and his future prospects.

Raven's Claw

The Raven's Claw was established in 1896 as a senior men's honorary society. In an impressive ceremony on the "Old Stone Steps" at commencement, seven of the most outstanding senior men are tapped. The emblem that appears on the "white hat" and the pin symbolizes the solidarity of the group. The "Claw" tries to act as a subtle influence upon the students, faculty, and administration, with the ultimate goals of improving student-faculty relations and strengthening the traditions, spirit, and thus, the unity of the Dickinson family.

Many eminent Dickinsonians are members of the Raven's Claw. Among the more familiar ones are Boyd Lee Spahr, "Red" Malcolm, "Mac" Andrews, "Ben" James, and George Shuman. The "Claw" of '58 include: Jack Carlton, Archon; Jack Toy; Bill Corey; Bill Rogers; Bill Heck; Frank Kaminski, and Kern Tantum.

Skull and Key

The Skull and Key, founded at Dickinson in 1909, consists of one junior from each fraternity who is tapped in the spring by the previous year's black hat, the choice being based on character and service to the school.

By having one member in each fraternity, the society is able to coordinate the activities and interests of the junior class and to promote dynamic inter-fraternity spirit and fellowship. One of the main duties has been the enforcement of freshman rules. This important responsibility entails helping the freshmen adjust to college life and instilling in them school spirit, service, and high academic standards of Dickinson College. Since 1935 the Skull and Key has presented a silver loving cup to a male member of the freshman class in recognition of his outstanding service to his class and school.

Wheel and Chain

Wheel and Chain, the women's senior honorary society, whose members are familiarly known as the "Blue Hats," is comprised of girls tapped in the Spring of each year on the basis of activities, scholarship, leadership, and character. On campus since 1924, the group promotes fellowship among senior women, acts as a general campus mediator, and helps further harmonious relationships between the Administration and women students.

The "Blue Hats" enforce freshmen women's rules and help to acquaint the freshmen with college and campus traditions. In the Spring an award is presented to the outstanding girl of the freshman class in recognition of her contribution to her class and to the campus as a whole.

Phi Beta Kappa

Membership in Phi Beta Kappa is an objective for which many Dickinson students have endeavored ever since the Alpha chapter was founded in 1837. This oldest and most respected of Greek letter societies in America is composed of those students who have been elected for having achieved the highest possible degree of excellence in their scholastic endeavors.

Once a member in the organization, the individual is instilled with the duty of maintaining the universal reputation of this exclusive honorary by championing honor, scholastic progress, and academic freedom.

For the first time in its history, the chapter elected students on the basis of six semesters work. Doris A. Weigel and Morton P. Levitt, class of '58, were the first to have achieved this distinctive honor.

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national honorary fraternity for men who have proved themselves to be leaders and who have excelled in most phases of campus activity: scholarship, journalism, dramatics, athletics, social and religious affairs, and or forensics. Other requisite qualities include character, leadership and service, fellowship, and devotion to democratic principles.

The members of ODK sponsor the annual inter-fraternity song festival and at their annual leadership banquet present a loving cup as a means of recognition to the sophomore who has proved himself to be the most outstanding in character and leadership. The Society also presents a plaque to that organization on campus which has given the most in service to Dickinson during the past year. In this way the Society encourages leadership and participation in campus activities and reenforces its distinguished reputation.

Pi Delta Epsilon

The Dickinson chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, National Journalistic Society, was founded in 1948. The organization gives recognition to those students who have proved to be outstanding in the field of college journalism. The primary function of the Dickinson chapter is to coordinate the work of campus publications and to maintain high standards of journalistic activity. This function serves to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of all the college publications.

Each year the society presents the Pi Delta Epsilon Journalistic Award to the member of the sophomore class who has made the most outstanding contributions to journalism.

New members are chosen from the Junior and Senior classes. Selected for their previous accomplishments in journalistic endeavours, they are tapped near the end of the school year.

Alpha Psi Omega

The most versatile dramatists on the Dickinson campus are members of Alpha Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatic society. Composed of both students and faculty, the constituents are noted for excellence in all stages of theatrics: lighting, staging, make-up, costumes, and acting.

Members of our Lambda Phi chapter undertake three projects annually. In the fall, there is an informal evening of readings and skits produced exclusively for the freshman class. The Christmas Play is presented shortly before vacation for the entire student body. And in the spring, Alpha Psi sponsors the Annual Awards Night, highlighted by the presentation of the Gould Awards to the outstanding male and female thespians of the year.

Officers of the society for 1957-'58 were Jackie Carter, president; Ann Saunders, vice president; and Dick Van Deusen, secretary-treasurer.

Foreign Students

Not exactly in an honorary organization, but having a distinction all their own, are the thirteen D-son students who are citizens of other countries. Four Dickinson scholarships, one from a Michigan graduate school, and two from the United States State Department, have been given to seven of these students. This group of students represents the countries of Hungary, Indonesia, Japan, Okinawa, British Cameroons, Cambodia, and Costa Rica.

Dickinson is giving these students a valuable education and in return, these students offer the campus a wider variety of viewpoints and a clearer picture of how the United States look to the other people throughout the world.

Delta Phi Alpha

Outstanding scholarship in advanced German courses is recognized by membership in the national honorary fraternity, Delta Phi Alpha. The organization was founded at Dickinson in 1947 to further an interest in the German language and civilization, and to grant recognition of exceptional work in these fields. Under the direction of Professor Harold W. Weigel, the students conduct monthly meetings in German, have dinners for new members, watch special films and slides, and study the German culture. A major project this year was a trip to the Pennsylvania Dutch sections of Pennsylvania.

Danforth Experiment

The Danforth Experiment performs a most vital service to both the students and faculty. The purpose of the program is to discuss the students' cultural, religious, and academic problems and attitudes, thereby finding the most convenient method of strengthening the spirit, unity, and standards of Dickinson.

The program embodies some sixty campus leaders who meet in small groups to discuss these problems and take back their findings to the members of the various campus activities. In early March six student leaders held a panel discussion in chapel on the topic, "An Apathetic Student Is Not A Responsible Student." The panel discussed such problems as poor campus communications, student apathy, lack of responsibility and ways to combat these problems. The student body was thus able to witness a typical discussion group.

As the first year of the experiment terminates, the full import and significance of this program is yet to be realized. However, even if it accomplishes nothing more than setting the campus on the right foot to self-betterment, the experiment may be called successful.

The Interfraternity Council, composed of the president of the ten national men's fraternities on campus and one other non-voting member from each of these houses, was established for the purpose of creating cooperation and similarity of action among the several fraternities. This group sponsors the annual Interfraternity Weekend and the float parade at Homecoming. The Council is responsible for the making and enforcing of rushing rules and serves to guide the social activities among the fraternities.

The officers of the Council are chosen by a rotational plan working clock-wise around the campus and preside from September to May of every college year. A delegate is chosen each year from the Council to attend the National Interfraternity Convention.

The Interfraternity Council has been very successful in establishing cooperative and beneficial relations among its member fraternities. It has also proved itself outstanding in the promotion of activities beneficial to the college as a whole.

Pan-Hellenic Council

The Pan-Hellenic Council is the unseen co-ordinator of the women's fraternities' ideas and activities, promoter of the welfare of the college, and encourager of scholarship. It is comprised of two representatives from each of the five women's fraternities.

In an effort to promote good will and to perpetuate the unity of the college women, the Council sponsors the annual "Panhell Weekend," the "Doll Dance," a party for the underprivileged children, a student-faculty basketball game, and a series of parties for freshman and upperclass women. To encourage academic pursuits the organization awards the Pan-Hellenic scholarship to the outstanding girl on campus.

RUSHING

Alpha Chi Rho

At Trinity College in 1895 was founded one of the true symbols of fraternity spirit and the example of what a fraternity can do for its men and their campus. This symbol and example is Alpha Chi Rho. Among its most highly held and ever to be striven for ideals are the development of a manly character, fellowship, and academic achievement.

Phi Beta chapter, formed in 1905 at Dickinson, typically displays these ideals of the national fraternity by the fine quality of the men who leave its portals and by their many accomplishments during their sojourn at Dickinson.

Phi Beta is at once a most individualistic yet well-integrated house. This may be seen by the great variety of interests and activities in which all the members participate and by the accomplishments of the whole house working as a solid unit. In nearly every outside activity, the Dickinsonian, Debate Council, Literary Bulletin, Danforth Experiment, SCA, Student Senate, ODK, etc., the "Crows" can be seen as members and in many instances, leaders. To the basketball, cross-country, baseball, and track teams also, Alpha Chi Rho has contributed many valuable men.

The social season added that extra ingredient to offset the academic monotony. The traditional La Boheme and Monte Carlo dances were again successful, as were the Pledge and Spring Formal weekends.

Alpha Chi Rho retained sight of the main purpose of college by placing second in scholastic average among men's fraternities. Thirteen new men, pledged to uphold the traditions and ideals of Alpha Chi Rho, will continue to keep Alpha Chi Rho foremost among Dickinson fraternities socially, athletically, and academically.

Beta Theta Pi

The Beta Theta Pi fraternity was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1839. It has the distinction of being the first fraternity founded west of the Alleghenies. The Alpha Sigma Chapter was established at Dickinson in 1879.

Homecoming weekend this year saw the Betas honoring their national president, Sherwood Boney, class of 1930, at a testimonial banquet. The Parents' Day open house was another success as was an open house for the freshman girls.

The principles by which the Betas live are: unwavering friendship and fidelity, mutual support and assistance, and devotion to the development of scholarship, leadership, and character. The loyalty displayed by the Alpha Sigma Chapter to these principles results in its motto, "I point out a man."

A major accomplishment for the Betas this year was that of being runner-up for the Inter-fraternity football crown. Other successful social events of the year included a party for the underprivileged children, the pledge formal, the spring formal, and the Mother's Day festivities.

The Betas take pride in having many of the brothers active in the varsity football, tennis, swimming, and lacrosse teams. The fraternity also takes an active part in many extra-curricular activities such as the Mermaid Players, Student Senate, the glee club, and many others. These and other accomplishments make the Alpha Sigma Chapter of Beta Theta Pi an outstanding contributor to the intellectual, cultural, and athletic life of Dickinson.

Kappa Sigma

Founded at the University of Virginia in 1869, Kappa Sigma has grown to the present number of 128 active chapters. Beta Pi was founded at Dickinson in 1902.

"Move forward!" could be the motto of this year's fraternity. Many improvements have been made to the house, including sand blasting, a new roof, new living room furniture and a complete outside painting. This was also the year for burning the mortgage.

Campus-wise Beta Pi has had leaders in the three musical organizations, class officers, Mermaid Players, and representatives in almost every other organization.

Socially Kappa Sigma held numerous teas and open houses. The first big dance of the year, the Winter Formal, turned out to be quite a success, but this was bettered by the Pledge Formal in the spring. Good-will projects included a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and a dance sponsored at the State Mental Hospital.

Nationally Beta Pi ranks high among national chapters. Last summer two brothers represented the chapter at the national conference in Miami Beach bringing back with them some of the high ideals and goals of the fraternity.

"Kappa Sigs" have been proud of their alumni and the hope of this year's chapter has been to emulate the deeds of past brothers both on the campus and in future endeavors.

Phi Delta Theta

In 1848, at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity was founded upon three basic principles—friendship among its brothers, attainment of a high plane of scholarship, and the achievement of a high level of individual morality. In its seventy-eight years on campus, the Pennsylvania Epsilon chapter has successfully exemplified these principles.

Scholastically, the Phi Delts have shown superior performance, ranking in the upper third of the men's fraternities on campus. The social calendar has been literally overflowing this year. Some of the highlights were the Pajama Dance, the Pledge Formal, the Miami Triad Dance with Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Chi Fraternities, and the Spring Formal. Interspersed among these events were numerous open houses and teas, highlighted by the Sunday afternoon jazz concerts which proved to be tremendous successes. There is almost no organization on campus which is not represented by a member of Phi Delta Theta. In athletics, Phi Delts may be found on almost every varsity team.

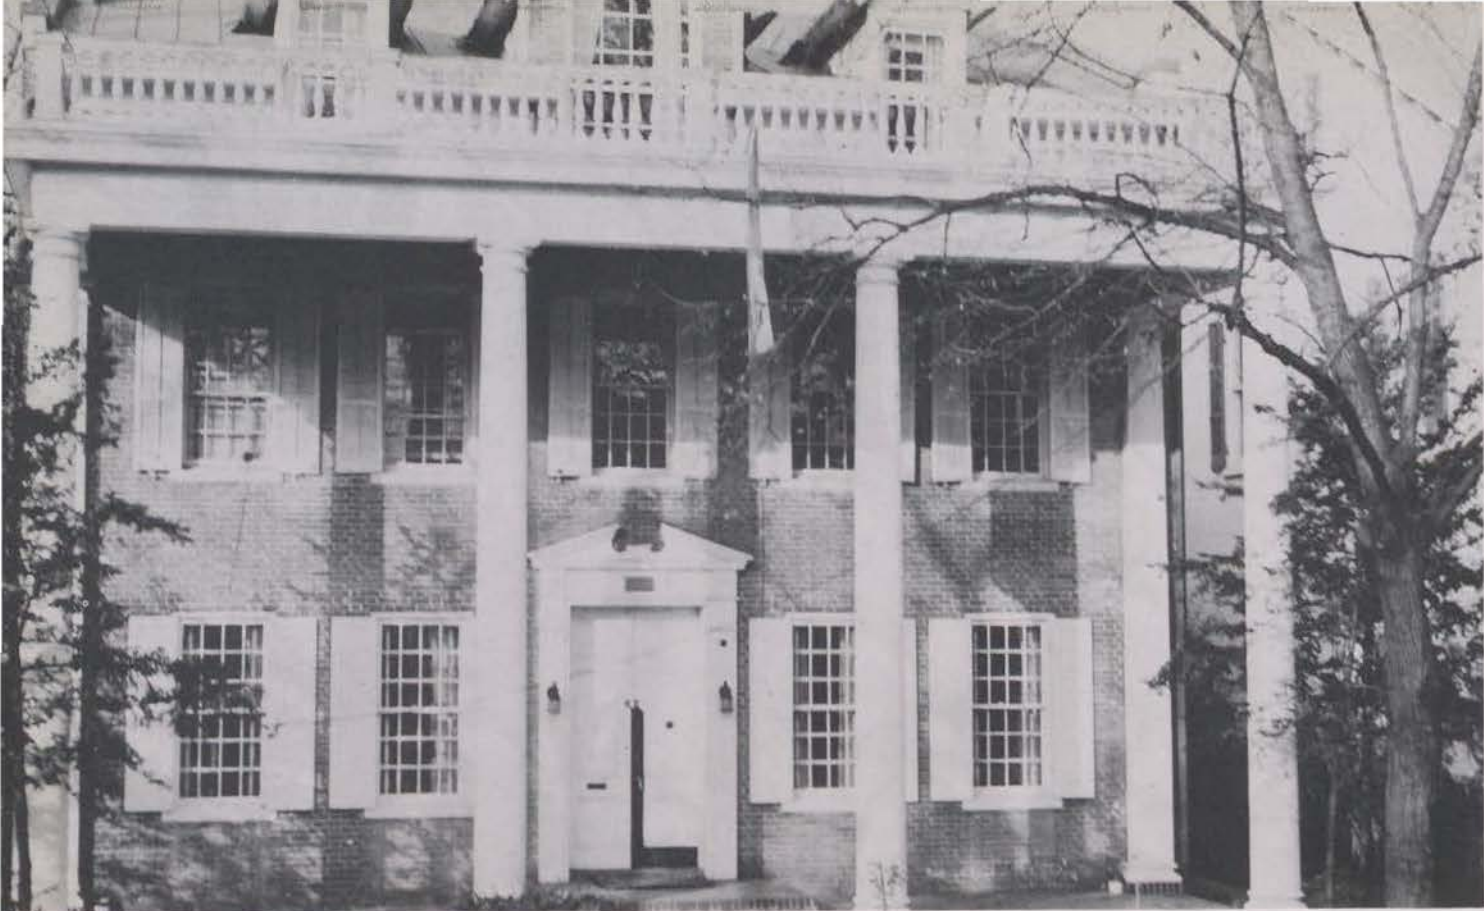

Many honors have gone to the Phi Delts this year. The vice president of both the senior and junior class are Phi Delts, as well as the treasurer of the Junior class. In October, this chapter received the outstanding excellence award from its national headquarters. This was awarded because of the high scholarship and the community service which the Phi Delts have performed. In recognition of these and other outstanding achievements, Phi Delta Theta was awarded the President's Cup for the year 1957-'58, the highest honor accorded to a fraternity at Dickinson.

Phi Epsilon Pi

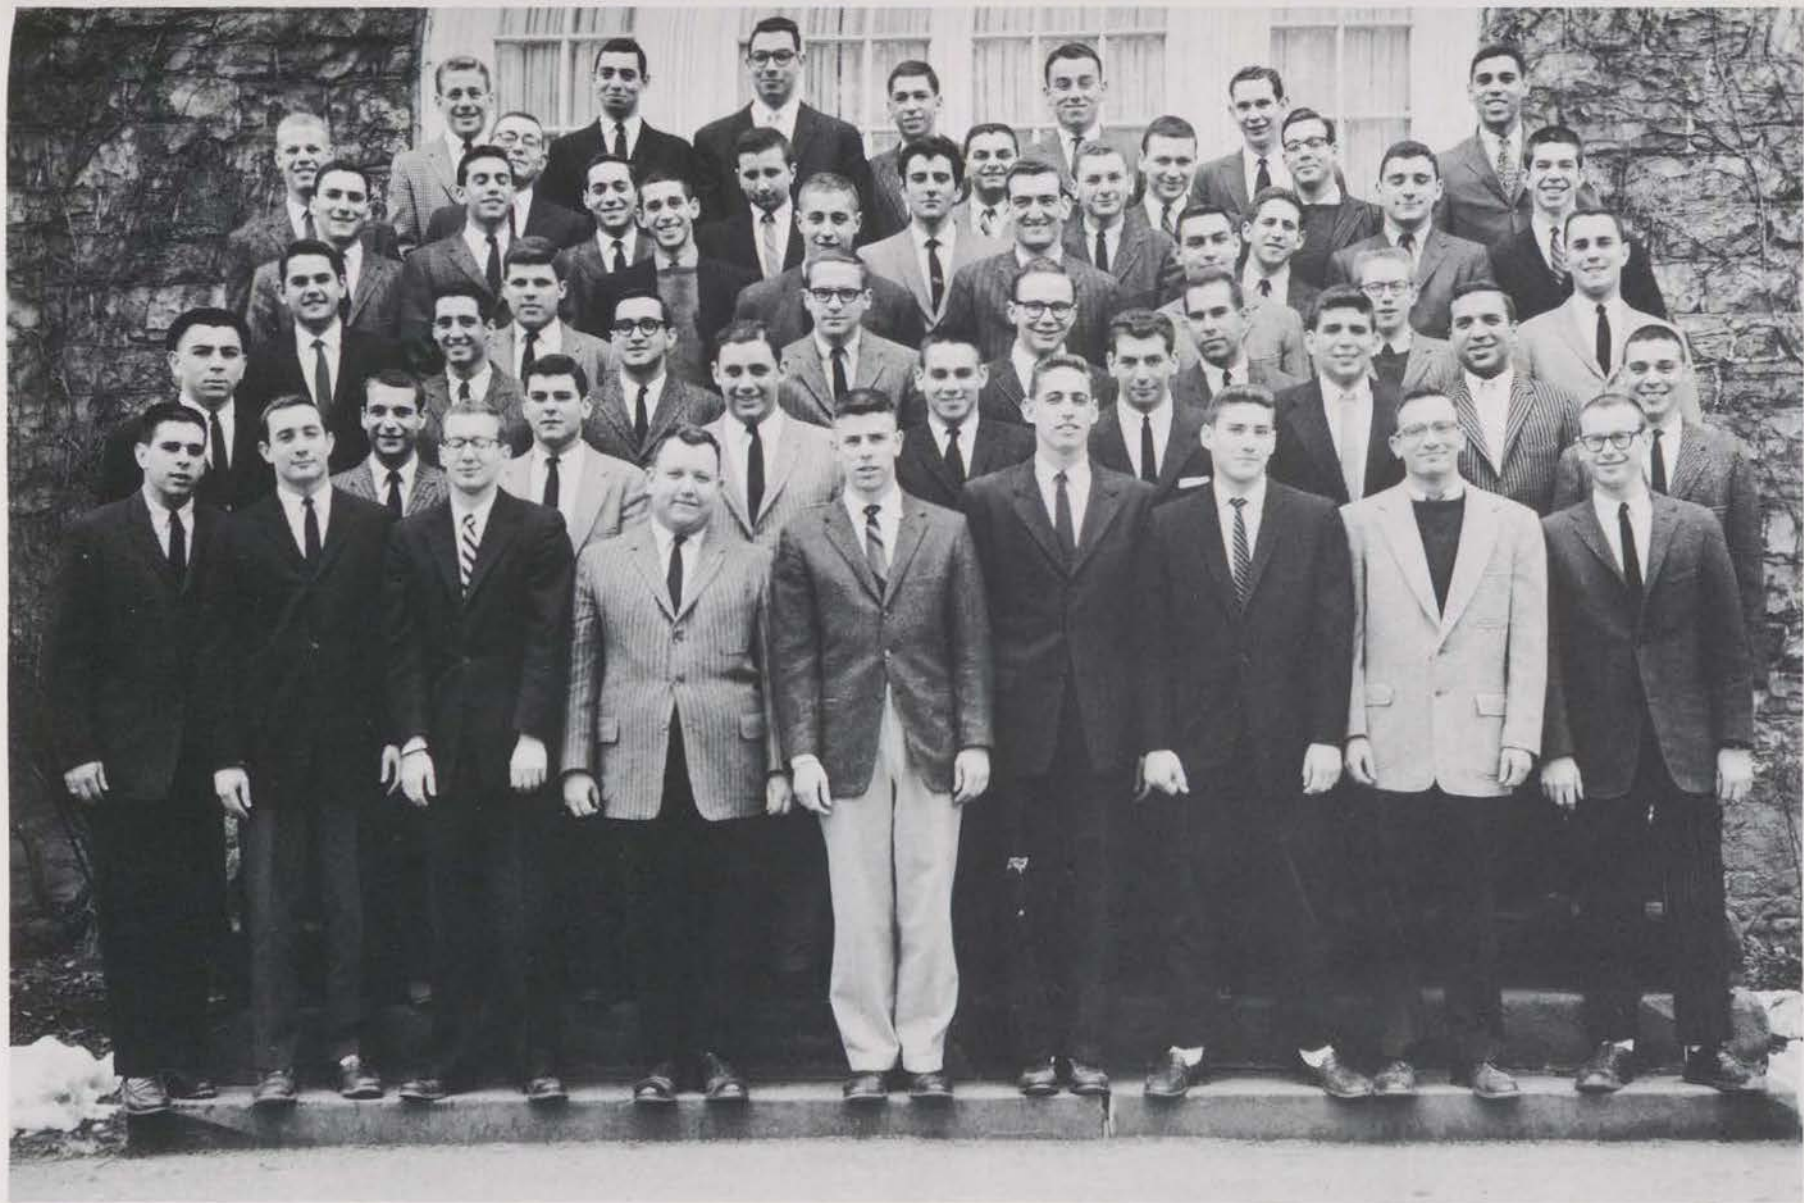

The members of Iota chapter of the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity place foremost among the goals for which they strive a more “. . . manly character, high idealism, and tolerance of mind and spirit inspired of universal brotherhood.”

Mutual respect for and assistance to one another has helped the brothers maintain the highest of standards in all their undertakings. Receiving the gift of knowledge from Dickinson, attested to by the house's top scholastic average last year, the house repays its benefactor with leadership, service, and fellowship.

Membership is combined with leadership in the Hornbook, Mermaid Players, Debate Council, Student Senate, e.c. and spirited competition is injected into the football, track and swimming teams.

In 1904 when Phi Epsilon Pi was founded at NYU, the fraternity set down several ideals by which to guide the future of its members. These ideals of character, truth, tolerance and universal brotherhood will continue to make Phi Epsilon Pi a fraternity among fraternities.

Phi Kappa Psi

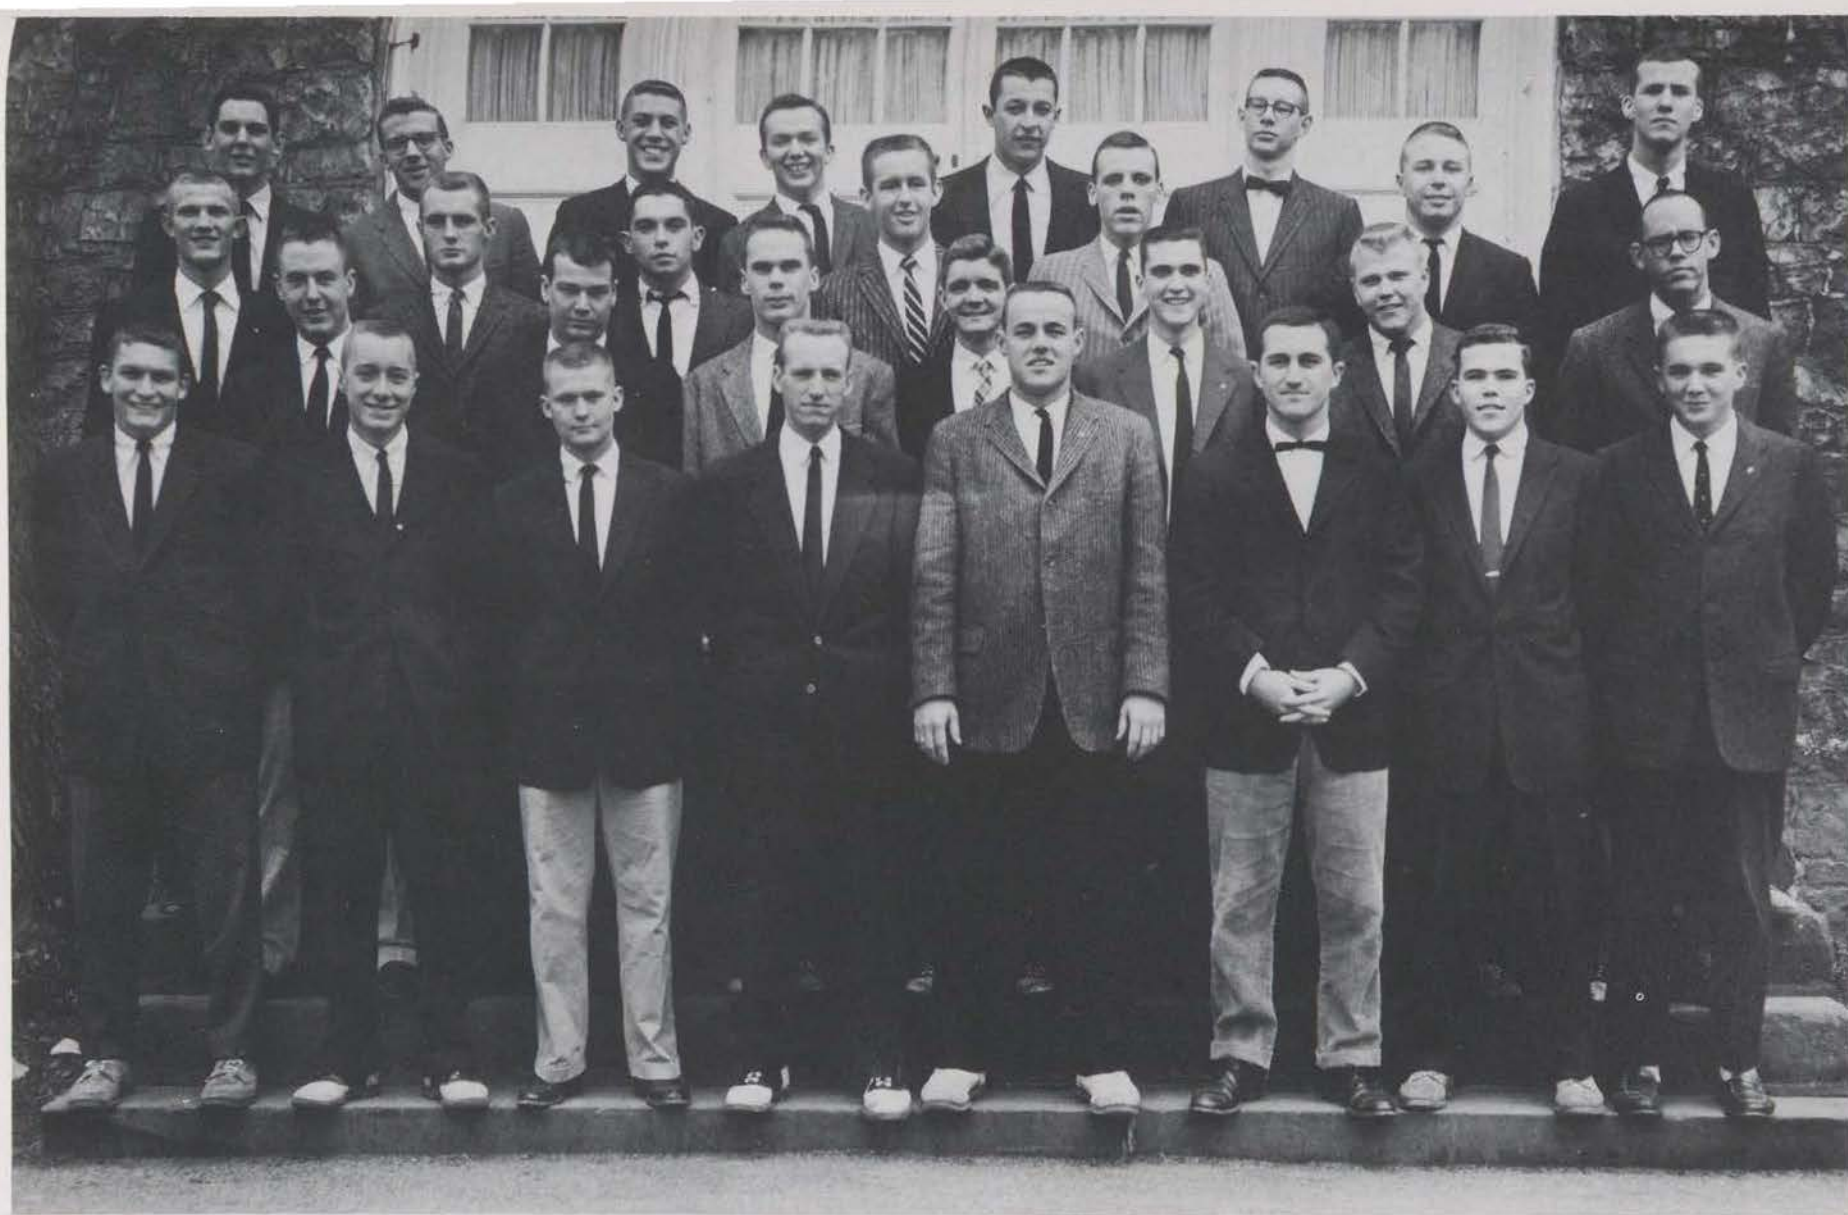

In 1852 at Jefferson College, Phi Kappa Psi was founded. The Zeta chapter of this 58 member national fraternity had its start at Dickinson in 1859. Since that time the fraternity has, by adherence to its ideals and hence, its innumerable contributions to its members and campus, given the other fraternities a model from which to work.

A primary characteristic of Phi Psis is their strong fellowship and desire to attain greater heights. This has been reflected in the accomplishments of its members. Phi Psi has contributed more than its share of athletic talent by having one of the best basketball players ever to play for Dickinson, and several outstanding members on the football, basketball, baseball, and tennis teams.

In addition to service, a primary tenet of the Zeta chapter is leadership. The house has more than shown evidence of this trait among its men by contributing the Vice President of ODK, president of the IFC, president of the Student Senate, and many other important posts.

Phi Kappa Psi believes that the fraternity can make the man and that, in turn, the man can make the fraternity. This the members of Phi Psi have done for their fraternity and campus by cultivating their traits of leadership, co-operation, and responsibility.

Phi Kappa Sigma

Phi Kappa Sigma was founded in 1850 at the University of Pennsylvania as a national fraternity, and in 1854 as the first fraternity on the Dickinson campus.

From that moment on the fraternity was, and continues to be, a leader among the fraternities at Dickinson. The Epsilon chapter holds that strong fellowship and devotion leads to a spirited and united house and that, in turn, it is this house which can bring out to the full extent the abilities of its members for the benefit of both themselves and their college.

The result of the pursuance of this philosophy is a most respected fraternity. Among the many contributions to the campus are many talented members and leaders of the Microcosm, Dickinsonian, Follies, Danforth Experiment, and nearly every other extra-curricular organization. The individuals' athletic prowess is spread over the roster of sports including tennis, track, basketball, and especially in football and swimming, where they have produced top-notch athletes.

The men of this caliber are replaced year after year with a fresh stock of potential leaders who are filled with the desire to do their best, thus perpetuating the high standards and accomplishments of Phi Kappa Sigma.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The social fraternity of Sigma Alpha Epsilon had its birth on March 9, 1856, at the University of Alabama. Since that time it has continually grown in size, spirit, and accomplishments until it can now boast being the largest national fraternity with some 140 active chapters having over 96,000 members, many of whom have gained for themselves important positions in the fields of law, medicine, politics, military leadership, etc. Thus it has earned its reputation of being one of the largest and strongest of national fraternities.

At Dickinson since 1890, the Sigma Phi chapter continues to groom its men for leadership and scholarship. The house continues to do things in a big way by having many of its members prominent in Dickinson activities and sports. Its contributions to the campus include active members in the Dickinsonian, Mermaid Players, ROTC Drill Team, the wrestling and cross-country teams, and many others.

To offset too much academic and extra-curricular work, the house held its pledge formal, traditional Gypsy Dance, and Spring Formal, in addition to several open houses.

By living together and working as a closely knit organization, the house hopes to be able to contribute its best to the college academic, athletic, and social life, and to secure for its members a firm foundation for the positions of leadership and responsibility they will assume upon leaving Dickinson.

Sigma Chi

The Sigma Chi Fraternity was established on June 28, 1855, at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Founded on the high ideals of friendship, justice, and learning the fraternity has grown through the years to become one of the largest members of the Greek-letter world with 128 active chapters and over 80,000 alumni. Omicron chapter became the ninth chapter of Sigma Chi in 1859 and since that time has maintained a respected position among the fraternities on this campus.

Sigma Chis can be found in almost every organization on campus—in athletics, drama, student publications, music, and religion. In accordance with their emphasis on scholarship the “Sigs” consistently rank high on the scholarship ladder, last year having been second among the fraternities. Sigma Chis represent Dickinson on the football, cross-country, swimming, squash, tennis, baseball, and track teams. They can also boast of the President of the Mermaid Players, the Director and Secretary of the Glee Club, President of the Religious Affairs Council, Student Director of Interfraternity Sports, Captain of the Squash Team, and the Presidents of the Psychology and Catholic Clubs.

Sigma Chi at Dickinson continues to keep pace with the rapid growth of the national fraternity. In the past few years the size of Omicron has grown so that today it is one of the largest fraternities on campus.

“The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi,” the fraternity’s well known song can be heard in any part of the country just as the presence of the vast array of “Sig” is felt in all walks of life.

Theta Chi

The Theta Chi fraternity was founded at Norwich University, Vermont, in 1856 and since that time has grown into one of the largest nationals with one hundred and nineteen chapters. The Pi chapter, installed at Dickinson in 1907, is today composed of some sixty members with all manner of interests and a variety of major fields. The Theta Chi fraternity constantly strives to fulfill its obligations to the college and to obtain the goals of ". . . promotion of knowledge, advancement of culture, and building of character"—which they have set for themselves.

Scholastically, the Pi chapter rates high among the ten fraternities. Each year the fraternity strives to expand in size and spirit. The main accomplishments of the fraternity this year included winning the Inter-fraternity football crown, being runner-up in the homecoming float, and winning the Kronenberg Trophy. Other fraternity events included the Bowery Ball, a dinner for underprivileged children, a variety of open houses, and the Spring Formal.

Theta Chi can be found in nearly every extra-curricular activity. Her members hold prominent positions on the Microcosm, International Relations Team, Dickinsonian, Student Senate, and many others. The Pi chapter is also proud of the fact that she has contributed men to the football, basketball, track, cross-country, and lacrosse teams. The courage, unity, and sportsmanship displayed daily by these men have been a credit to Dickinson College, to themselves, and to their fraternity.

Commons Club

The Commons Club of Dickinson College was founded March 12, 1924, as a local fraternity. The club has lived its motto, "Dickinson for Aye," during its past thirty-four years of existence on campus, by having been an active force in promoting better relations among the students.

The purpose of the Commons Club is to provide a reasonable amount of social life and fellowship for any student who desires them, while at the same time encouraging the individual to pursue his own interests and to use and develop his talents to the fullest extent. He is not required to conform to any so called "ideal" of a Commons Club brother because the Club profits and learns by the differences of its members. The Club encourages intellectual as well as social activities, as is evidenced by the fact that the group has consistently ranked near the very top of the fraternities in scholarly attainment.

This year, as usual, the Club presented a float for the homecoming game and took an active part in college and inter-fraternity activities. The Club occupies the Conway annex facing Louthur Street, and most members reside there near the fully equipped social and recreation rooms. The hi-fi system was brought near completion recently and other improvements were made by the brothers who volunteered spare time for Club projects.

Chi Omega

Chi Omega was founded at the University of Arkansas on April 5, 1895. The first woman's fraternity of national status, it is today the largest in membership and number of chapters and alumnae. In 1907 Delta Chapter of Chi Omega, formerly the local Omega Psi sorority, was chartered at Dickinson College. Delta Chapter is continuing to hold to Chi Omega's original ideals of good scholarship, participation in college activities, and high standards of personnel.

Each year Delta contributes its services in the form of a social service project. The project this year included the support of the Tri-County-Crippled Children's Home and the addressing of Christmas and Easter Seal envelopes.

The social calendar is always heavily laden, this year being no exception. Frisbee matches with the Sigma Chis and a very spirited hockey game with the Phi Kaps highlighted the Fall sports season. Desserts, raking parties, and other activities with the men's fraternities rounded out the semester. The faculty members were entertained at coffee hours held in the rooms. The seniors were honored at a formal called "High Society" and the pledges at the annual pledge formal dance. All in all, 1958 will go down in the annals of Chi Omega as another successful and enjoyable year—one to remember.

Phi Mu

Phi Mu was founded on March 4, 1852, at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia, becoming the second oldest national women's fraternity in the United States. In 1919 Beta Delta Chapter was chartered at Dickinson College. Phi Mu strives constantly to hold to the ideals of high scholarship, close sisterhood, and noble womanhood.

Throughout the year the chapter worked to support its social service project—the United Brethren Children's Home in Carlisle. Weekly calls were paid at the Home, the children were taken on outings, and several parties were given. A further step in the chapter's aim of aiding the underprivileged was to maintain a toy cart at the Carlisle Hospital.

On the social side, the chapter enjoyed many cocktail parties with the fraternities and held a senior formal, a pledge formal, and a pledge tea. Activities within the fraternity, such as a Founders Day Banquet and two retreats at Camp Shand, rounded out another year in Phi Mu.

Pi Beta Phi

Pi Beta Phi, the first organization of college women established as a national college fraternity, was founded by twelve girls at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, on April 28, 1867. At present Pi Phi has one hundred and three chapters established at various colleges and Universities throughout the United States and Canada. In 1903 a charter was granted to Phi Alpha Pi, a local organization at Dickinson, and Pennsylvania Gamma chapter of Pi Beta Phi became the first national women's fraternity on campus.

Pi Beta Phi has set forth as its ideals, "the best in college life, a reputation for true democracy, good sportsmanship, and high standards of conduct." It asks each chapter to share its responsibility as an organized group in upholding these standards. Helping itself to attain these goals by helping others, Pennsylvania Gamma has contributed yearly to the Pi Beta Phi philanthropic project which is the Settlement School at Gatlenburg, Tennessee, for poor but deserving students. The Pi Phis strive also to achieve a high level of scholarship and to serve the college by participating in most campus activities.

The Pi Phi's busy social calendar included the Winter Formal, in honor of the seniors, the Pledge Formal, the Pledge Tea, and the Founder's Day Banquet. Informal activities in the rooms such as breakfasts, suppers, bridge and dessert parties for the fraternities, social service projects in Carlisle, and a party for underprivileged children rounded out another fruitful year.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha was founded at Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia, on October 15, 1898, and since that time has founded ninety-nine chapters throughout the United States and Canada. The Beta Beta Chapter was first installed at Dickinson in 1924, and since its founding the chapter has striven to maintain its ideals of close sisterhood, good scholarship, and high standards of conduct.

Zeta Tau Alpha's national service project is for the benefit of the cerebral palsied children. The local chapter of Beta Beta raises funds for this project by sponsoring an annual songfest, in which the various fraternities on campus participate. As part of its local program, an annual Christmas Party for underprivileged children is sponsored by both Beta Beta and Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

This year's social activities included a bazaar entitled "Santa's Workshop," a formal in honor of the seniors, and the annual Founder's Day Luncheon. In addition to these activities, one of the main highlights of the chapter was the entertaining of the men's fraternities with dessert parties in the rooms. The chapter was also very fortunate in having a national officer come and give suggestions on the workings of the organization. Her week long visit was highlighted by dinners and other activities in her honor.

In the spring semester Beta Beta participated in the annual Rushing program. Some of the activities included Big and Little Sister events, the Pledge Tea, and the Pledge Formal. The Senior Banquet and other parties in the room brought to a close this very successful year.

Sui Generis

On December 15, 1956, the formal founding of Sui Generis, the newly organized women's local fraternity of Dickinson College, took place. From this time on, the aims of Sui Generis—to promote friendship and to foster the ideals of goodwill, co-operation and service on the campus and in the community—have been expressed in the accomplishments of this organization. During the year, Sui Generis sponsored the care of a needy European child through the Save the Children Federation. In addition, Sui Generis actively supported the Campus Chest and, along with the other women's fraternities, was an active participant in the Social Service Project.

The organization, aided by its faculty advisor, Miss Christian Royer, worked together in designing a pin, which clearly symbolizes its aims of friendship and service, in decorating its new rooms in the basement of Biddle, in drawing up a constitution, and in choosing its colors of dark blue and light blue. This year also marks the initiation of Sui Generis as a voting member of the Dickinson College Pan-Hellenic Council.

In the social vein, Sui Generis had an open house, dessert parties with other fraternities, and its Spring Formal.

By working together, the members have formed a close bond of friendship and have made this the "Coming Out" year for Sui Generis.

Student Senate

The Student Senate is the chief body through which is realized the harmonious relationship between students, faculty, and administration, the understanding and solution of many campus problems, and the co-ordination and improvement of student activities.

Several committees carry on the Senate's important work. The Student Finance Committee allocates and regulates the funds to the various organizations. To insure efficient co-ordination of activities, the Steering Committee assigns the times and places of organizations' meetings. The most important committee, the Disciplinary Committee, is charged with acting as judge on student infractions of college regulations.

Two major accomplishments of the Senate this year have been the publication of the "Daily Senator," providing effective daily communication, and the formation of political parties to run for Senate offices in order to stimulate the students' interest in governing themselves.

Cultural Affairs

Seated, L. to R.: Prof. Finck, D. Weigel, B. Sobel, Prof. Flower, A. Phillips. Standing: C. Reed, Prof. Ultan, J. Razzano.

The Cultural Affairs Committee was formed in 1952 for the purpose of promoting the students' interest in cultural forms of entertainment. Its job is to introduce famous entertainers and programs to the campus.

The Committee is composed of six faculty members, one of whom serves as chairman, and seven students. Funds are allocated to it from the student activity fees.

Variety of tastes are kept in mind for the selection of programs. Some of the presentations this year were Rise Stevens, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera; Emlyn Williams, a Welsh actor; and the DePaur presentation of "Mehitabel."

Social Committee

Seated, L. to R.: J. Pell, J. Kenney, R. Brassler, C. Mayer, C. Vedder, D. Grove, S. Murray. Standing: A. Liu, D. Ford, W. Flynn, S. Stefanon, J. Carver, W. Smith, W. Coston, D. Kirk, H. Zukerman.

The Social Committee, a subsidiary of the Student Senate, functions as the campus social organizer. The Committee suggests revisions of the college social rules, and most important of all, secures talent and arranges for such events as the Homecoming Dance, the Christmas and Spring Formals, the Commencement Ball, and the Jazz Concerts held several times during the year. The members of the committee consist of one representative from each fraternity, sorority, and independent organization.

THE EDITORIAL STAFF

"Educated at Dickinson, a mark of distinction since colonial times!" Our college, Dickinson, has a history as long and varied as that of our country itself. Through the years, the staff of the Microcosm has diligently compiled, edited and published a graphic annual record of the people and events which make up the history of our college.

Throughout the year these recorders of history have been busy fulfilling their various duties. Our reporters roamed the campus closely followed by our photographers, seeking out those events worthy to go down in our history. While our secretarial staff readied the book for publication, our business staff fought off budget slashers with one hand and rising prices with the other.

After much hard work and some mistakes, the Microcosm staff under the direction of its editor-in-chief once again presents the most recent volume of the history of Dickinson College. With the 1958 Microcosm, another year at Dickinson passes into history, but leaves this volume as its legacy to the future.

Every Friday afternoon finds Dickinson students acquainting themselves with the latest happenings in campus activities, sports, and social life, reading their own complaints and suggestions about some pertinent subject, or indeed, just getting some relaxation and enjoyment from fraternity articles or little comic tidbits of student creativity. All this is possible only through the diligent efforts and co-operation of the students who make up the Dickinsonian staff.

Thus for 86 years this weekly newspaper has given the Dickinson students a sense of unity for, participation in, and loyalty and responsibility to, our alma mater. The credit for this faithful picture of Dickinson's daily life goes not only to the editor-in-chief and her editorial staff, but also to the talents and perseverance of the workers in the field—the members of the reportorial, photography, feature, copy, managing, business, and circulation staffs.

With its responsibility to the student body always uppermost in mind, the Dickinsonian endeavors to fulfill this obligation by holding to the ideals of the American free press.

Literary Bulletin

Seated, L. to R.: J. Carter, C. Shaffert, K. Bradley. Standing: B. Wilson, R. Adams, K. Kokolis.

Published three times a year, the Literary Bulletin provides an opportunity for students to express their critical views on each issues' general theme. The statement of the purpose of this organization is: "As a student publication, the Literary Bulletin is to promulgate literary interests on the Dickinson College campus. As the literary publication on campus, the Literary Bulletin encourages critical writing and provides a medium for its publication."

Hornbook

The purpose of the "Hornbook," a student publication sponsored by the Belles Lettres Society, is to encourage the students to show the campus the finest of their literary endeavors and creations. This, in turn, creates and strengthens intellectual interests and discussions in which the whole campus can participate. The Hornbook is completely published and written by the students once every semester.

Belles Lettres

The Belles Lettres Society, Pennsylvania's oldest literary society, was founded in 1785 to foster intellectual discussions. Today, this organization, in addition to holding four informal faculty-student discussions on such subjects as the works of Dylan Thomas and William Shakespeare, has made many motion picture classics available. These included "All Quiet on the Western Front," "Brave Bulls," and "Anathahan"; and were, along with the various literary discussions, open to Dickinson students and the surrounding community.

Debate Council

The Debate Council carries on an extensive program of intercollegiate debating under the coaching of Law School student John H. Broujas. Supplementing the inter-sectional and state-wide tournaments are weekly meetings, practice debates, and a series of lectures. All students who maintain their College average are eligible for membership on the Council. Highlighting this season's activities was a national tournament at West Point and the presentation of a trophy to the member making the greatest contribution to the public debate program.

Mermaid Players

For the second year under the expert direction of Mr. David Brubaker, the Mermaid Players, the dramatic organization of Dickinson, completed a successful season on the stage of the Belles Lettres room.

Before the actual season got under way, the Mermaid Players sponsored an open house for interested freshmen and members of the campus, featuring readings by members of Alpha Psi Omega. In November, the official season opened with John Synge's classic comedy, "Playboy of the Western World."

From Synge to Tennessee Williams, the Mermaid Players took a gallant stride in presenting their second production, "Summer and Smoke." Impressionism and dramatic intensity were skillfully blended in this play which boasted excellent acting and polished production effects. The "Players" finished off the year with a final spring production and the annual freshman plays.

Men's Glee Club

BILL WITTING
Director

For the past five years countless hearts have been thrilled and pulses excited by the quick paced rhythmical song of the Dickinson College Men's Glee Club. This year the group of some thirty-five voices has attained a new peak under the competent direction of William Witting.

Long hours of fun and labor went into the learning and perfecting of some seventeen new songs which had been added to the repertoire. Thus with a highly polished program ranging from folk tunes and college songs to show tunes, these well-received musical ambassadors carried the name of Dickinson College to many other colleges and climaxed the season with a television performance.

Although the group is nearly self-sustaining, it goes without saying that it is a valuable asset to the campus atmosphere and college spirit.

College Choir

The high aesthetic standards are expressed musically by the Dickinson College Choir. This talented group of some seventy male and female voices is under the experienced direction of Dr. Lloyd Ultan.

The program this year included a fall concert featuring classical selections, a Founder's Day spring concert presenting top Broadway numbers, and throughout the year, background music for many religious chapels.

Within this choir is a group of some twenty students widely known as the "Chamber Singers." This group of advanced voices sings not only for the campus, but for other colleges, social clubs, and churches throughout the area. Highlighting a very successful season was a spring performance given over television station WHB.

The Dickinson Follies

All minds were in state of whimsey as the Dickinson Follies presented "Wake Up and Dream," a romantic fantasy energetically directed by Anne Saunders and produced by Charley Mayer. Presented at the Lamberton Junior High School, the play featured Dick Hepner as the dreammaker and Dick Steege as Tinker.

The plot concerns a dream salesman who sells Tinker a dream which takes him to the king's (Jack Lord) palace where he alleviates the famine of the kingdom, marries the princess, and upon waking finds that the dream comes true.

Not only the actors, producer, and director, but also choreographers Anne Saunders, Helen Kollas, and Bill Mull, musical composers Charley Mayer and Peter Roberts, lyricist Jim Smith, and script writers Doug Wert, Jim Smith, Gina Ingolia, Dave McGahey, and Dick VanDeusen, deserves credit for the boundless success of this flighty comedy.

College Band

The college band, under the leadership of Dr. Lloyd Ultan, had three main goals for 1957-1958: first, to increase its membership to a minimum of fifty; second, to improve its quality; and third, to gain the necessary prestige of a successful college band. An additional goal was to increase school spirit through its active participation in school life.

This year the band played at the four home football games. Later in the year, as a concert band, it participated in the Christmas chapel programs. In March, with the college choir, it presented a concert of various selections from Broadway shows. These and similar activities have led to the attainment of its initial goals.

Aquacade

The Aquatic Club, a self-supporting organization better known on campus as Aquacade, has since the spring of 1952 presented the college with an annual water ballet. Although consisting mostly of co-eds, the Aquatic Club is open to anyone who cares to try out or who is interested in such "land" committees as costumes, lighting, or publicity.

This year's performance was presented on March 20 and 21. The theme was "Traveling West" and was written entirely by the students. The show included ten swimming routines, one of which was a comedy skit by an all freshman boys' team. The other routines consisted of girls swimming in groups of from four to eight.

A new feature was adopted by the club this year; this being an intercollegiate exchange of "tricks" and "stunts" through workshops or clinics for water ballet and synchronized swimming.

The Future Teachers of America, recently renamed The Student National Education Association, granted the Dickinson chapter its charter in April, 1953.

The purpose of the Benjamin Rush chapter is to stimulate and advance the interest in teaching among undergraduate students. Monthly meetings are held during which educational problems and their solutions are discussed, and teaching techniques are presented to the members by noted educators. By means of movies and visits to classes in session at nearby schools, and members witness these techniques in action, thereby receiving a valuable insight to most of the aspects of their future profession.

Originally established in 1867 as the Scientific Society, the club was later renamed in honor of John Fred Mohler, Professor of Physics at Dickinson from 1896-1930. The monthly meetings consist of lectures by men prominent in the various fields of science. Designed to stimulate a general interest in science throughout the campus, the club provides an excellent opportunity for students to keep well-versed in the current methods and developments in the rapidly changing scientific world.

Since 1789 the Union Philosophical Society has been dedicated to the teaching of parliamentary procedure and political science through practical experience. In each bi-monthly meeting the member finds an opportunity to develop poise and a speaking manner through participation in debate and political discussions supplemented by guest speakers. Dickinson this year acted as the host college for the regional convention of Union Philosophical Societies held in preparation for the model Congress of the state convention.

The International Relations Club was founded in 1932 under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for Peace. The Club is dedicated to the understanding of world problems and international developments. Student interest in these goals is aroused in the bi-monthly meetings which include debates, guest speakers, and organized reports. As a member of the Association of International Relations Clubs, the Dickinson College IRC was invited to attend a model United Nations General Assembly at Wilkes College. The members of the Club also made a visit to the United Nations itself.

Freshmen Counsellors

One of the first and most important persons with whom a freshman comes in contact is his student counselor. There are eleven men and seven women counselors who reside in the Freshman dorms—Morgan, East, Metzger, Gibbs, and McIntyre. Each counselor serves as an immediate adviser to approximately fourteen to twenty freshmen. Every year they plan the Freshman Orientation program and hold monthly meetings with the Dean of Men and Dean of Women in order to discuss new counseling ideas, problems, and to turn in reports. Their chief duty is that of aiding the new student in his transition to college life and also forging closer relations between the students and the faculty. This program, begun during the 1953-'54 term, has proved highly successful and will undoubtedly continue to be a definite help to each incoming freshman.

President's Council

President's Council is an organization which functions as the women's disciplinary council. It is composed of ten members which include the president of each women's dormitory, three officers, and the chairman of the Dining Room Committee. Problems which arise in the dormitories are brought up in the weekly meetings and final decisions are made here.

College and dorm rules are published by the Council in a booklet entitled Dis 'N Data. The members also act as hostesses for visiting schools and representatives from service clubs and other organizations.

Student Christian Association

Religion in Life Week is the week set aside each year for student participation in a complete program of religious activities. This year's theme, "My Faith in Action," set the tone for the week's program which, in turn, provided the college with a rewarding experience in religious thought and action.

The program, which was held during the fall semester for the first time, was headed by Ginger Wolford and Don Thompson. The week began Sunday evening with a reception at the President's house at which faculty and students were given the opportunity to meet the visiting religious leaders. These leaders were Reverend Roy Joseph Hendricks, Rabbi Harvey Jolt, and Reverend Father Edward J. Sponza. Worship services, seminars, and discussion groups as well as private interviews to assist students in answering and solving their religious problems marked the agenda of the week.

Because of the success of the week during first semester, a second Religion in Life Week was initiated later in the year. This innovation is a definite sign of the increasing popularity and usefulness of this activity on the Dickinson campus.

The Student Christian Association is dedicated to the areas of Christian living and maintains a program of worship, inspiration, discussion, and fellowship for Dickinson students. The SCA is organized and directed by an active group of students and faculty advisors and seeks to provide activities which will encourage each student to find a Christian purpose in his own life. The five program areas covered by the organization in realizing its purposes are: Christian Faith, Witness, Outreach, Citizenship, and Fellowship.

Meetings are held every Sunday evening in Durbin Oratory Chapel. Panel discussions, guest speakers, and topical movies are included on the program. Throughout the year SCA sponsored a Faculty Auction, a clothing drive, noonday prayer chapels in Durban Oratory, and services at Cumberland County Prison. In the spring the officers held a retreat for the purpose of mapping out the plans for next year.

Alpha and Omega Society is an interdenominational group whose primary purpose is to help students prepare more effectively for a life of full time Christian service. Monthly meetings are held during which the members discuss problems in Christianity on the campus and those confronting the outside world. To help solve these problems ministers and other religious leaders frequently visit the group. An annual activity of the society is a Christmas party given for the orphans and underprivileged children of Carlisle.

The Christian Service Project sends deputation teams composed of four students and a faculty member to conduct weekend programs in the churches of Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, and New Jersey. The weekend schedule includes a Saturday evening recreational program, the teaching of several Sunday school classes, presentations of the youth fellowship program, and participation in the Sunday worship services. This year ten members of the faculty and forty-five students participated in the plan, visiting fourteen churches. The project's aims are to create an interest in the local church program, give the students profitable experience in religious activities, and make Dickinson College known throughout the East.

Christian Service Project

The four year program in military science offered by Dickinson's ROTC unit is designed to supply our country with its junior officers of tomorrow. The program of instruction includes weapons, drill, military history, map reading, tactics, leadership, personnel management, operations, and world affairs. Thus, the student, introduced to a variety of fields, may select that branch of the army in which he is most interested. The training program thus permits the student to finish his education, join a field related with his life's work, at the same time fulfilling his military obligations.

The organization of the department consists of ten men from the regular army under the supervision of Lt. Col. Deshon and the student corps under the command of Cadet Colonel Jerry Joyce. The cadet regiment is composed of two battalions, each of which has two companies.

The Corp's numerous outside activities include the A.U.S.A., Pershing Rifles, Trick Drill Team, Drum and Bugle Corps, and several parades and reviews. The social highlight of the year was the annual Military Ball with its elected queen and court of attendants.

VARSIITY FOOTBALL SCHEDULE—1957

Lycoming 40	Dickinson 6
Swarthmore 14	Dickinson 12
Franklin and Marshall 35	Dickinson 7
Allegheny 26	Dickinson 2
Wilkes 13	Dickinson 0
Johns Hopkins 13	Dickinson 13
Susquehanna 25	Dickinson 14

With a new coach, Don Siebert, and a host of returning veterans, the Red Devil gridgers opened the season with high aspirations. Also new to the Dickinson gridiron was the hard hitting split-T formation, an innovation long sought after by Dickinson supporters.

In a fumble-infested opener against Lycoming College the Devils got few breaks, and the opponents surged ahead by two touchdowns in the first half. Averaging more than four yards per carry, the Devil offense, spearheaded by the brilliant running of Sonny Rose, snapped back and held the opponents closely until the fourth quarter. Then the Lycoming offense exploded, and the Siebert men were handed a 40-6 defeat.

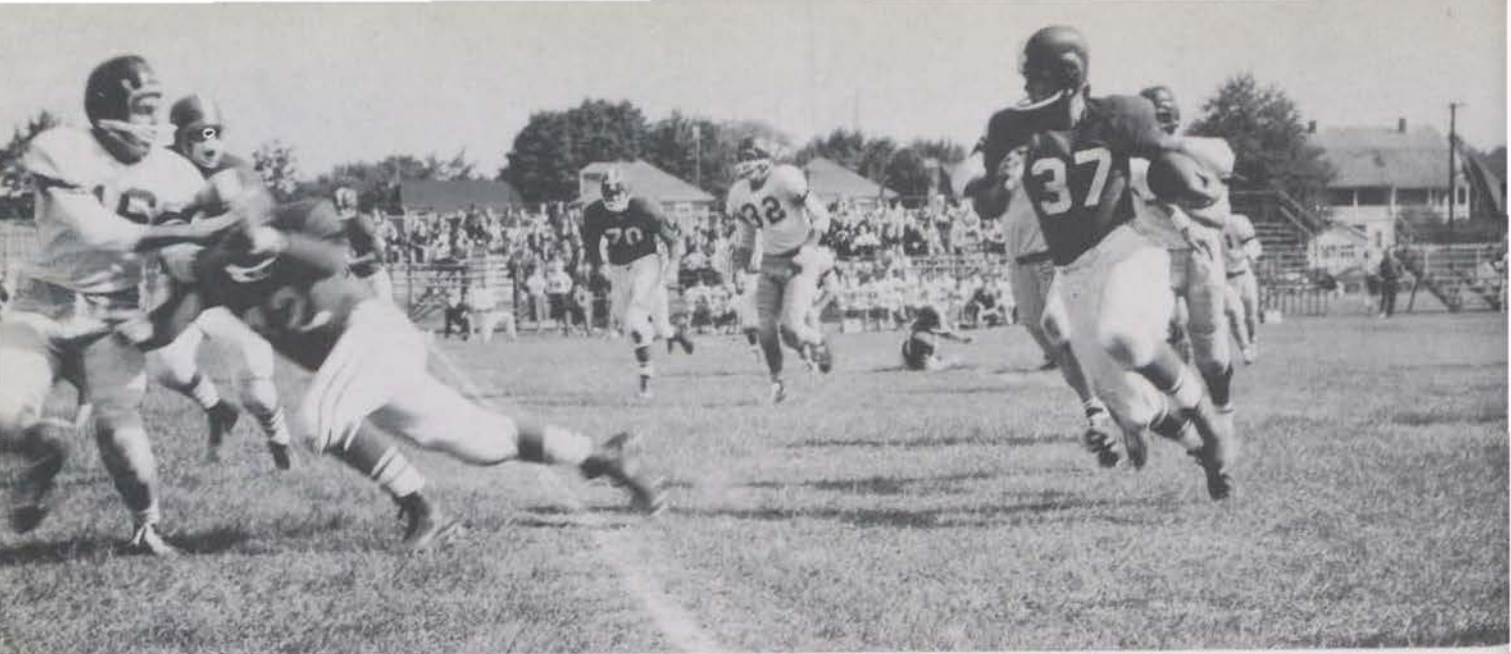

Against Swarthmore the Dickinson eleven rolled, and the two touchdown underdog Devils seemed to belie the prognosticators. Dickinson's fine quarterback, Dave Wachter, seemingly couldn't miss his pass receivers. The Dickinson gridgers emerged from the field-house at half-time with a five point lead. However, the Swarthmore defense proved its alertness by intercepting a pass and turning it into a touchdown, and the Swarthmore eleven took the game by a 14-12 score.

On Parents' Day the Red Devils clashed with Franklin and Marshall and played on even terms during the first half against the highly touted men from Lancaster. The third quarter exhibited the flood of power that the Diplomats had at their disposal, and the Devils were unable to check the onslaught, dropping their third game 35-7.

The Dickinson squad played their second away game against Allegheny College and succumbed to the powerful running of Allegheny's much-publicized "Pancho" Villa, who scored three touchdowns to lead his teammates to a 26-2 victory.

On November 9 the Devils traveled to Kingston to meet the Colonels of Wilkes College. Led by their All-East back, Ronald Rescigno, and bolstered by a tough forward wall, the Blue and Gold proved too strong for the Devils; and although the Red eleven threatened twice, they still left the field on the short end of a 13-0 score.

It was in the Johns Hopkins game that Coach Siebert's charges revealed the brand of football that they were capable of playing. The large, enthusiastic, Homecoming crowd was thrilled by the Wachter to Wachter, and Wachter to Shanaman aerial attacks. Hopkins doggedly fought back and fell into the lead during the third quarter. Dave and Bob Wachter were up to the occasion, however, and began a pass completion series that tied the score, with the sure toe of Bob Cook assisting. The final score—13-13.

Seven seniors bowed from intercollegiate football with the season's last game against Susquehanna. These seven men were Chick Berger, Harvey Bair, Herb Gaither, Sonny Rose, Dick Shanaman, Robbie Taylor, and Dave Woodruff. It was Susquehanna all the way for three quarters. The Devil defense just could not click. The Dickinson offense tried to pull the iron out of the fire with Shanaman and Rose hitting paydirt in the fourth quarter, but this was not enough, and the Devils fell to Susquehanna's wrath 25-14.

Receiving special recognition for their outstanding performance during the season were Dick Shanaman, voted most valuable back, and Lee Shipman, most valuable lineman, Dave Wachter was named outstanding player in the Homecoming game.

The freshman team, under Coaches Vic Bihl and John Kuchka, was merged with the varsity following the senior team's opener and displayed a pool of talent. A few of these, such as Jan Skladany, Bill Whitelaw, and Al Fluke, will undoubtedly be an asset to future Dickinson elevens.

The Devil cagers produced a fine 9-10 record during their 1957-'58 season. Coached by Joe DuCharme and guided by veteran lettermen Weaver, Wiley, Chase, Valenti, and Shapley, the D-son courtmen took seven of the first ten contests, losing only to powerful Elizabethtown, Wilkes, and Susquehanna. The steady back-court work of Weaver, Valenti, Wiley, and Shapley provided the impetus for this early season drive. Board strength was provided by Chase and freshmen Jay Anglada and Ray Cromer. Reserve performances by Bob Wachter and Joe Elinski proved invaluable.

The second half of the season saw the Red Devil cagers plunged into a recession as they lost to strong outfits such as Albright and Moravian, despite steady and hustling floor play. The team couldn't snap out of their slump, even though many of their losses were by only a few points.

The season was marked by the effective rebounding of Anglada and Chase, plus outstanding shooting by Weaver, who set a new school record—both for season total and for single home game, as well as a new four-year record. Inasmuch as the team loses but two lettermen, prospects for the coming season look exceptionally good.

J.V. BASKETBALL

The 1957-'58 season saw the J.V. cagers end up with a fine 5-5 record against strong competition. Upperclassmen Maat, Lockwood, Gardner, Lovsnes, and freshmen Engle and Quann provided strong floor play. The J.V.'s took three of the first five games, beating Gettysburg, F&M, and P.M.C., while losing to Lebanon Valley twice. A strong reserve unit backed up the starters. In the second half of the season, Coach Don Siebert's men beat Juniata and Albright, but dropped hard-fought contests to Lehigh, F&M, and Western Maryland.

The experience gained by the Junior Devils should prove to be a valuable asset to the Varsity squad next year.

SWIMMING

The Red Devil Mermen swam themselves to the first undefeated swimming season in the history of the college. Sinking Delaware in the opening contest, the natators went on to humble Wilkes, P.M.C., Gettysburg, Drexel, Swarthmore, Lycoming, Bucknell, and Franklin and Marshall. In mid-season, the mermen traveled to Lancaster to capture the much sought after Little Three Championship. The powerful swimmers from Carlisle gathered as many points as G-burg and F&M collected together.

Due to the desire and determination of a well balanced team, many school and pool records were again lowered. At the close of the season, Kulp and Coston rewrote the freestyle times, and seniors O'Neill and Kline lowered the records in the butterfly and backstroke respectively. Kline, Altaker, O'Neill, and Coston set a new standard for the medley relay, and Kulp, Thieler, Coston, and Mulligan smashed the freestyle relay record. Undefeated in dual competition this year, Ed Mulligan was also the top point gatherer of the squad.

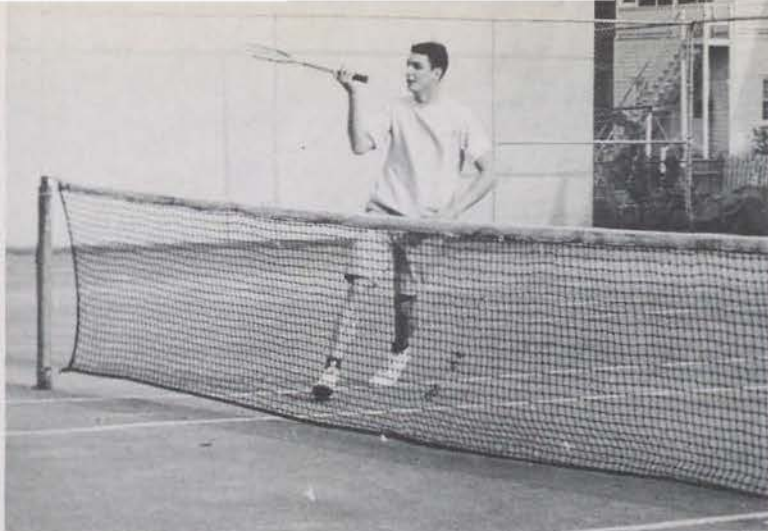

At the Mid-Atlantics, D-son placed fourth. In so doing, Coston set a pool and conference record in the 50 yard freestyle and Mulligan established a new pool standard in the 220 yard freestyle.

Seniors Kline, O'Neill, and Altaker will be hard to replace, but with such freshmen as Templeton and Thieler, and the excellent coaching of Dave Eavenson, the mermen should enjoy continued success in the future.

THE SWIMMING TEAM

Seated: J. Logan, R. Brasler, D. O'Neil, M. Singer, Coach Evanson's son, R. Kline, D. Ayres, J. Kulp, R. Mannis. Standing: L. Shoemaker, G. Hornbein, W. Pollock, L. Hagler, R. Gillfilen, H. Danner, J. Templeton, E. Mulligan, W. Thieler, L. Altaker, W. Coston, Coach Evanson.

The Devil netmen, coached by Gardner Hayes and captained by Junior Kit Spahr, are looking forward to another successful court season. Veteran depth will be provided by lettermen Duel, Willard, Ayers, and Rowe, with freshmen Ronnie Waxman and Byron Quann giving added strength to the squad.

Last year the team enjoyed an 8-2 record—their fifth straight winning season. The team now ranks as one of the top small college squads in the East, and prospects of them continuing in this vein are excellent. The experience and enthusiasm of the team will undoubtedly keep them on top for another successful season.

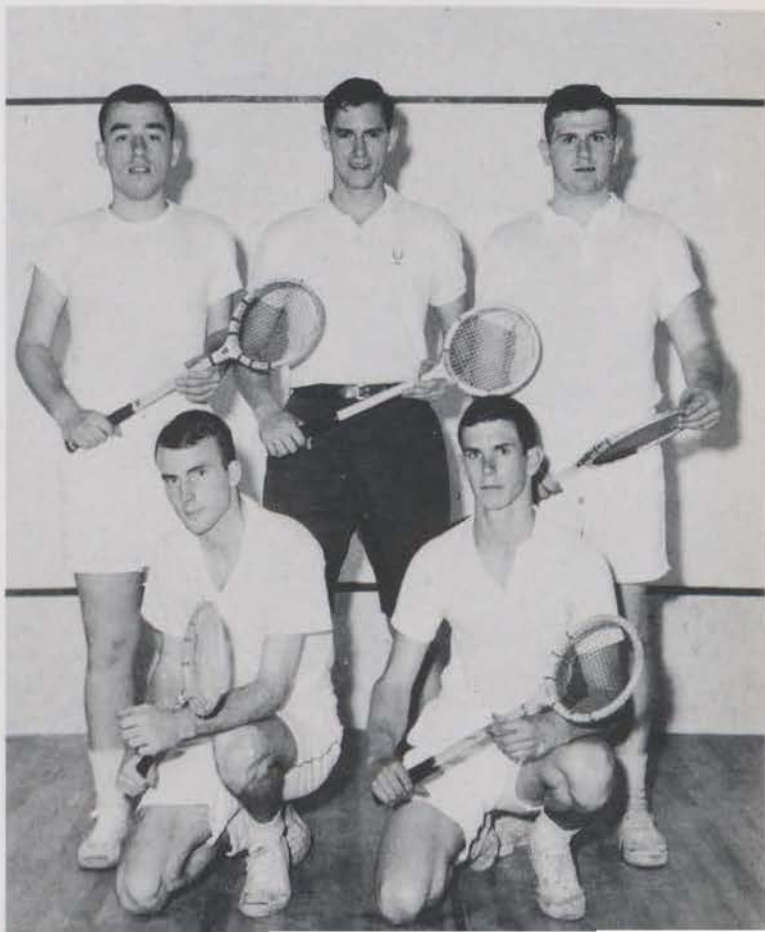

TENNIS

In its second year of existence as an inter-collegiate sport at Dickinson, the squash team, coached by player Kit Spahr and supervised by Professor Arnold, split even with a 3-3 record. The Devil squashmen battered the Army War College twice and the York YMCA, while dropping matches to the University of Pennsylvania, Haverford, and the Navy Plebes.

The hard work and enthusiasm shown by the team has not gone unnoticed, however, and squash is slated to become a varsity sport next year. With the majority of its members returning, the team ought to enjoy the success and recognition it deserves.

First Row: M. Phillips, C. Spahr. Second Row: R. Waxman, A. Duel, D. McGavic.

Wrestling, under the tutelage of Coach Ream, had its debut this year as an inter-collegiate sport at Dickinson. The majority of the men on the team were also making their initial appearance in competitive wrestling, which makes their 2-3 record quite impressive. The Devil grapplers took the toll of Lebanon Valley and Western Maryland, while losing to Lehigh, Albright, and Lycoming.

The men who held slots this year and will undoubtedly see considerable action next year are: 123 lbs.—Marcucci; 130 lbs.—Smeltz; 137 lbs.—Beaver; 147 lbs.—Sackman; 157 lbs.—Mowrer; 167 lbs.—Sklandany; 177 lbs.—Hoberman; and wrestling unlimited—Joe Miele.

The matmen will wrestle a ten-match slate next year, and with the entire team returning, the prospects for a successful season are excellent.

First Row: A. Smeltz, S. Lindberg, A. Sackman, G. Mowrer, J. Sklandany, M. Kirkpatrick, A. Hoberman, J. Miele. Second Row: Coach Ream, C. Marcucci, A. Beaver, J. Miller, R. Jeager, G. Hart, B. Bartoli.

WRESTLING

CROSS-COUNTRY

After an absence of fifteen years, cross-country, under the tutelage of Coach Joe DuCharme, was reintroduced as an inter-collegiate sport at Dickinson. Three wins, over Albright, 21-40, Franklin and Marshall, 21-37, and Elizabethtown, 28-31, successively, gave the harriers an undefeated season.

The squad was paced in its victories by sophomore Howie Maat, recipient of the most valuable runner award, and supported with great depth by runners Bob Bartoli, Norm Keyes, Kirk Perry, Wink Lebo; Jim Bartoli, and Don and Bob Davis. The experience gained by the squad this year and the loss of only one senior, Bob Bartoli, makes the future of the cross-country team seem very bright indeed.

The Dickinson lacrosse team goes to the field this year with a new coach, Chuck Ream, a man who, being new to the sport, will learn the fundamentals of the game at the same time he coaches them. The stickmen are up against a tough eleven game schedule which will provide such rugged opponents as Baltimore University and Washington College, two of the top lacrosse clubs in the East.

The nucleus of eleven experienced stickmen comprised of attackmen O'Neill, Kerr, and Rose; midfielders Corey, Laird, Shepard, and Stafford; defensemen Bair, Taylor, and Trunzo, and goalie Scott Clements, will be backed up by freshmen Mark, Metzger, Gilfillen, and Tickner, who have shown great pre-season promise.

Although the team lacks depth, the skill of the returning veterans, especially that of Don O'Neill and Sam Rose who received honorable mention All-American in 1957, plus the determination of the freshmen, will continue to make D-son a tough opponent.

BASEBALL

The 1958 diamondmen, coached by Dave Eavenson, are looking forward to improving their 6-11 record of last Spring. With the same opponents as 1957, the team is slated to come up against some tough competition.

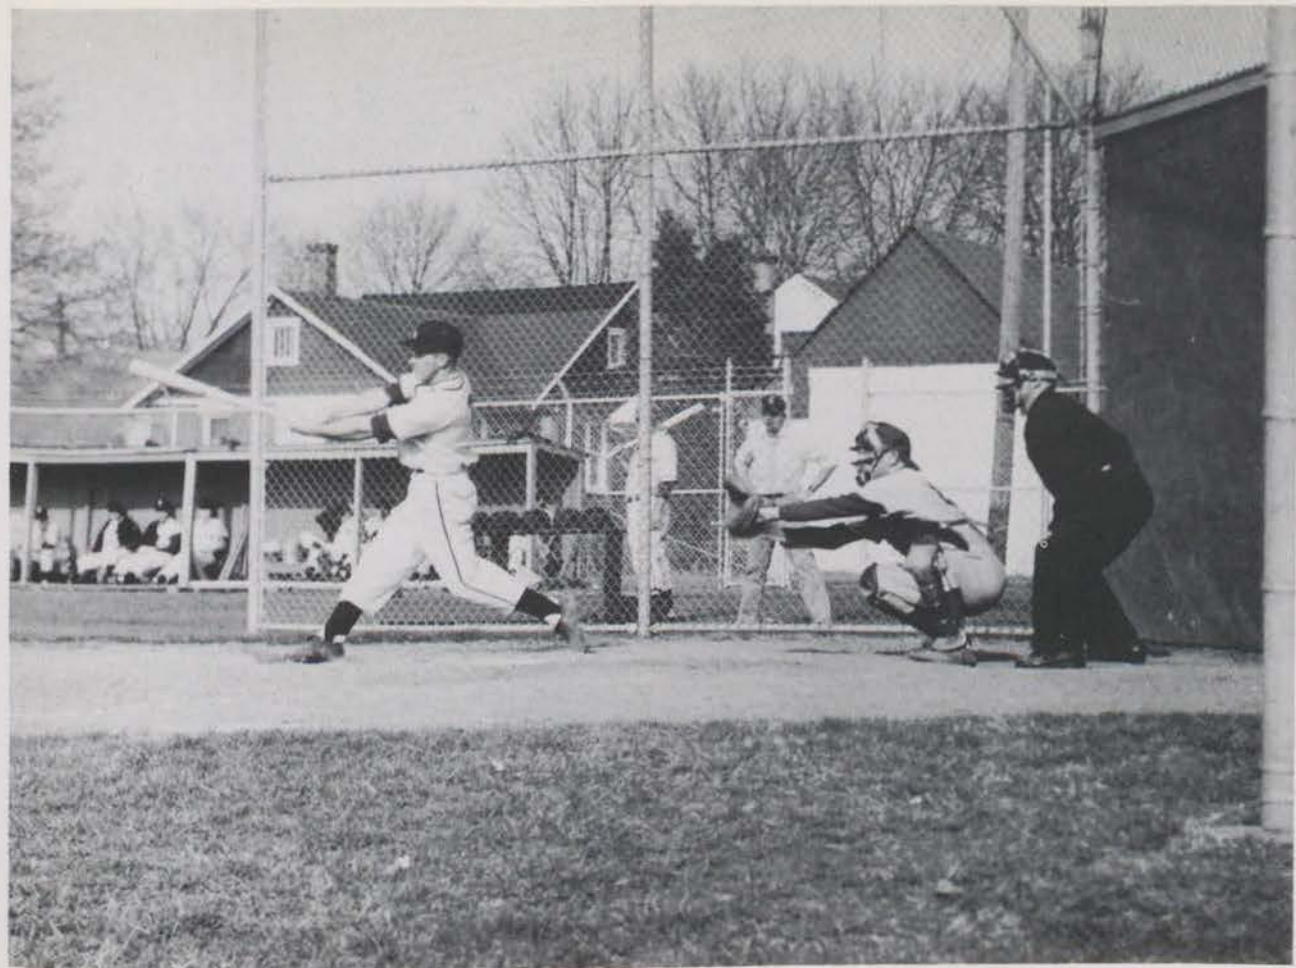

Guided by the returning lettermen Weaver, Riley, Caswell, Ewing, Lovsnes, Surrick, Thompson, Wachter, and Woodruff, and backed up by sophomores Capper, Crayton, Eisenstat, Freeman, and Lacy, the Devil club is certainly not lacking in its potential depth. The added efforts of promising freshmen Trevlyn, Hermann, Davison, and Smyth will offer additional strength. Outstanding performances are expected from pitchers Caswell and Surrick, shortstop Weaver, catcher Riley, 3rd baseman Woodruff, and outfielders Ewing, Thompson, and Wachter.

The squad has a capable mound staff that could hurl it to a winning season, and the defense will be more than adequate. Offensive strength, however, can only be determined when the wrists snap and the wood meets or misses horsehide.

The trackmen of Dickinson, with fourteen returning lettermen and an excellent showing of Freshmen, anticipate one of the most successful seasons in recent track history. With an enlarged eleven meet schedule, they expect easily to better last year's six and two record.

This year's edition of the team has more depth than any team in recent years. The distance events with six returning lettermen, Clair and Gardner in the 440, Lebo and Pusey in the 880, and Maat and Bartoli in the mile events, are particularly strong. The discus, javelin, and pole vault are the strongest field events. Veterans are Smith, javelin and discus; Gery, discus; and Davis, Bendell, and Heck in the pole vault. Freshmen expected to aid the team this year are Arters, Kohlmeier, Bruen, Freeman, Skladany, Mercer, McShane, and Cope. With these competitors, the thinclads should have a near perfect season.

CHEERLEADERS

In red skirts and bulky white sweaters, eight cheerleaders spark Dickinson's school spirit by leading songs and yells at all the games, both home and away. Aside from their activities at the games, these enthusiastic coeds capably undertake such tasks as the organization of pep rallies, introduction of new cheers, and planning different ways to arouse student support of the teams. This year's squad, captained by Anne Saunders, included Louie Cowling, Judy Graham, Helen Kollas, Lucy Purvis, and Greta Stetser, as well as the newly-chosen freshmen, Joan Spire and Mary Lloyd Thomson.

The “D” Club, an organization composed of men who have won their varsity letter in a major sport at Dickinson, plays an important role in the smooth functioning and coordination of the men’s athletic program. Besides handling all the concessions and ushering at athletic events, the Club sponsors a scholarship program designed to aid the sons and daughters of alumni lettermen.

Another major function is the presentation of outstanding athlete awards, now donated by the various fraternities. Many of these are presented at the annual banquet for “D” Club members given in the spring.

The “D” Club is active throughout the entire year and will continue to be a major part of our intercollegiate sports program.

W. A. A.

The planning and execution of the various athletic activities for Dickinson coeds are the main functions of the Women's Athletic Association. Primary emphasis in the past has been on interclass, interfraternity, and individual sports, but this year a varsity hockey team which entered into competition with other schools and hockey clubs in the area was instituted. Varsity basketball and volleyball teams also participated in a Sports Day at Penn State and two playdays at Dickinson.

Points are awarded to each girl on the basis of her participation in sports, and records of these are kept by the WAA. At a banquet in the Spring, to which each girl who has participated in at least two sports is invited, Junior Sportsmanship Awards—white flannel blazers bearing the Dickinson insignia—are awarded to those juniors who have accumulated over one hundred points in at least three sports and have shown the most interest, enthusiasm, ability, and sportsmanship.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY

For the past two years Dickinson hockey players have been devoting their time and skill to both interclass and varsity competition. Because of pressure on the players and a desire for more intercollegiate meetings, the interclass competition was dropped entirely this year and concentration was placed on training varsity and junior varsity teams.

The varsity schedule consisted of games with Elizabethtown, Lockhaven, and the Reading and Keystone hockey clubs. Of these four games Dickinson was able to win only one, playing to a 1-0 victory over the Reading club. This score, made by half-back Sue Hansell, was the only goal made by the team during the season.

Playing fewer games than the varsity, the junior varsity team went to defeat at the hands of the Blue Ridge Hockey

Club but managed to tie the Elizabethtown J.V. with a 1-1 score. This game, while not too skillfully played, was perhaps the most even match and thus the most exciting game of the season. The one goal was scored by freshman Betsy Wylie, one of several freshmen who filled out the ranks of the two teams.

The varsity season was climaxed by a trip to Wilson College for an all-college tournament. Although Dickinson was beaten in all of its matches, against Penn State, Wilson, and Lockhaven, the experience of participating in such an event was valuable. Special acclaim is due Carol McCarty who was given honorable mention for her play in this tournament and who participated in the Mid-East tourney as a member of the Central Pennsylvania team.

BASKETBALL

In a hard-fought match the Seniors downed the Freshmen team 25 to 12 to win the championship in interclass basketball. Senior Ginger Wolford was top scorer with 12 points; Sue Palmer second with 11. The sophomores then defeated the juniors 17 to 8, to take over third place.

Outstanding players from all four classes were chosen to make up the Red and White team which represented Dickinson in the March 1st Playday at Penn State and the two subsequent home tournaments.

The deciding game of the interfraternity basketball tourney, between Pi Phi and Phi Mu, was won by the Phi Mu's, who racked up 23 points to their rivals' 15.

AND VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball continued this year to maintain its position as one of the most exciting and competitive sports engaged in by Dickinson co-eds. The tournament was restricted to just one team from each class, which was a little hard on the freshmen who had a host of talented players from which to choose. Their choices were excellent however, for the freshman team, captained by Judy Engelke, defeated all its opponents to win the tournament. The seniors, defeated by the freshmen, won their other two games to capture second place, while the juniors, defending champions, and the sophomores claimed the third and fourth places. The amount of spirit and enthusiasm displayed by both the freshman and senior teams as they battled for the championship was a tribute to women's athletics at Dickinson.

GIRL'S BOWLING TEAM
First Row: S. Hollister, W. Shea, J. Matuska. Second Row: C. Bond, J. Dorr.

Continuing with its emphasis on individual as well as team sports, the Women's Athletic Association is again offering bowling as a competitive sport. Interested girls bowl in class groups, forming four teams which compete for the tournament crown. Each class has a team composed of five players who practice and bowl their matches at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The sophomores are the defending champions this year as they, captained by Ginger Stayer and sparked by high-scorer Sally Hollister, defeated all of their opponents in last year's tourney. The freshmen, who have displayed exceptional skill in all previous sports, and the seniors, who took second place in the tournament last year, should provide some stiff competition for the sophomores.

Social Events

Campus Queens

For the past four years it has been the custom of the Microcosm to select a Dickinson coed to be presented as Miss Microcosm along with her court. These girls are chosen from the nominations of the fourteen national fraternities by the Editorial Staff of the Microcosm. The photographs of nine girls are submitted to a final board of judges. From the nine beauties, the judges, Mr. William C. Meads, local photographer; Mrs. Charles Peterson, Vice President of the Mary Dickinson Club, and Mrs. John Russell, wife of Captain Russell, made their choice. Miss Microcosm of 1958 is presented to you as Dickinson's finest in grace, beauty, and charm.

Judges for the Miss Microcosm Contest—Mrs. Russell, Mr. Meads, Mrs. Peterson.

THE MILITARY BALL

November 8th found every ROTC cadet with his date . . . campus, import, town, or from home, supporting the "corps" by going to "his" military ball. Ray Eberly and his orchestra provided the soothing sounds of voice and instrument, while the colorful flags of foreign nations and pretty Inge Paul, crowned "Little Colonel 1957" delighted the eye. Thus . . . this year's military ball.

THE MIDWINTER BALL

To start the yuletide festivities Elliott Lawrence played "I'm in the Mood for Love." Approximately 250 co-eds, collegiate men, and guests danced around the picturesque Christmas tree in the center of the gym. Many fanciers were also captivated by Santa's quaint sleigh. Elliott Lawrence, the pianist, arranger, and leader of his own band, provided everyone with a most enjoyable and unforgettable time.

. . . THE END OF A CHAPTER
THE BEGINNING OF A NEW ERA . . .

"And knows that yesterday is but today's memory and tomorrow is today's dream."

And in the end, memories are all that will remain. On to a new and revealing future go those with whom we have spent four years of this, college life. What lies ahead, no one can say; but what is past will not soon be forgotten. That is the way with the past; it cannot be altered.

"And let today embrace the past with remembrance and the future with longing."
