Plan New Women's Dormitory On Mooreland Campus

THE recommendation of a special committee that a new women's dormitory be erected on the Mooreland Campus when "the time is propitious to proceed with this undertaking" was approved at the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees held in the Physics Lecture Room of the Tome Building at Commencement on June 2. The Trustees also approved the continuance of the college commons and suggested further consideration of a proposal to rebuild the Old Gym for this purpose and they also recommended studying plans for the complete renovation and reequipping of the chemistry laboratories.

For some time a special committee has been considering the need for a new women's dormitory and the possible site for this building. For several years the women students have been housed in Metzger Hall, the Gibbs House, which is also called the Senior House and which is owned by the College, and the Parker House, opposite Metzger, which is rented. During the last academic year and in the present Summer Session, the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house has been occupied by women. In the coming year to open October 8, the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house, which has been rented by the College, will also accommodate sixteen women students, resulting in the fact that the women will be housed in five separate units. Those residing in the Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi houses will take their meals in the College Commons in the Old Gym, while those residing in Metzger, the Parker House and the Gibbs House will eat at Metzger.

For a time at least one other site on Louthier and College Streets was being considered, and this site may yet be purchased by the College. However the Trustee committee recommended that the new building be erected on Mooreland. This committee was composed of Samuel M. Goodyear, Judge E. M. Biddle, Jr., S. M. Drayer, and Boyd Lee Spahr, ex-officio. The recommendation approved by the Board was as follows:

"Your Committee is of the unanimous opinion and accordingly recommends that if and when the Board of Trustees sees proper to begin the erection of a women's dormitory that the said building be erected on the Mooreland Campus, adequate to house at least 125 girls, if and when the time is propitious to proceed with this undertaking."

Since the termination of the war, members of the committee have said that they believe plans should be prepared at once for the erection of a building of native limestone conforming to the other buildings of the campus and that it should be one to house 150 women students. The question will doubtless be considered early this fall at a meeting of the Executive Committee if the Board is not called into a meeting earlier than the mid-winter meeting in December.

At any forthcoming meeting the Executive Committee will also consider plans and costs for the renovation of the chemical laboratories in Tome. An engineer is preparing a study which will be submitted to the Trustees. Early estimates indicate that this work may cost from $50,000 to $75,000. It will provide for all new modern laboratory equipment, the installation of new hoods with exhaust fans, new storage space and the conversion of the museum into a laboratory.

Another committee composed of Andrew H. Phelps, Merkel Landis and

Judge Karl E. Richards recommended the continuance of the operation of the commons in the post-war period. This committee also proposed the desirability of considering the transformation of the Old Gym into a fine dining hall and suggested further study of this project when funds could be available and when it would be possible to secure the necessary materials.

Named President of University of Redlands

DR. GEORGE H. ARMACOST, '26, acting dean of men at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va., was elected President of the University of Redlands, a liberal arts college in southern California, in June. Going to William and Mary in 1937 as associate professor of education, he was chairman of the Department of Education, director of the summer session and acting dean of men when he was selected for the Redlands presidency.

The University of Redlands, founded in 1909, is at Redlands, California, located in the center of the orange-growing district, 66 miles east of Los Angeles. It is a co-educational institution, under Baptist auspices, and has an enrollment of about 800 students with a faculty of 70 members. The campus consists of 100 acres on which there are buildings valued at more than $1,500,000. The endowment of the university exceeds $2,500,000.

Following his graduation from the college in 1926, Dr. Armacost taught science in the high school at Kane, Pa., where he later became principal, while doing graduate work in Teachers College, Columbia University, from which he received his M.A. in 1930 and the Ph.D. in 1940. He was a teacher in the summer sessions at Columbia University from 1931 to 1937. He also did graduate work in education at Johns Hopkins University.

Holding membership in various professional and educational associations, at Dickinson he became a member of the Commons Club. He is also a member of Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Delta Kappa fraternities and of the Baptist Church.

Graduating from the Franklin High School, Reistertown, Md., in 1922, he entered the College and graduated with an A.B. degree in 1926. Known to his colleagues as "Army" he was on the staff of the Microcosm, served as assistant editor of the Handbook, was president of the Union Philosophical Literary Society and active in the affairs of the Y. M. C. A., Glee Club and Greek Club.

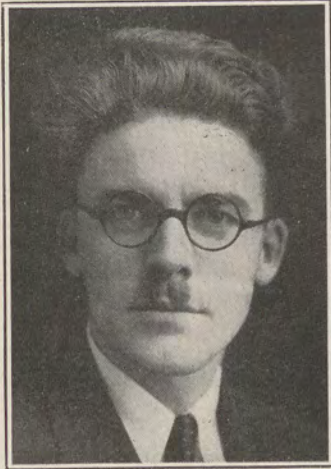

Born in Upperco, Md., on May 6, 1905, he is the son of J. Franklin and Matilda Nolte Armacost. He was married to Miss Verda Gay Hayden of Oberlin, Ohio, on June 14, 1933. They have three sons, Peter, Michael and Samuel, aged 10, 8 and 6, and a three year old daughter, Mary.

Conducts Important Experiments

It can now be revealed that Dr. E. A. Vuilleumier, dean of the College and head of the department of chemistry, conducted many experiments during the war for the National Defense Research Committee of which the chairman is Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University. As early as April, 1942, Dean Vuilleumier received a letter from Dr. Conant, thanking him for his studies on Eutectic Diagrams and for his "fine cooperation and for your very substantial help."

The Eutectic Diagrams were made in many experiments with chemicals used in the manufacture of explosives. Prof. Vuilleumier does not now know whether these studies concerned the development of the atomic bomb, though he does know that many chemists were absorbed in the studies of the project.

Call Prof. Ayres To University Study Center

Prof. Frank Ayres, Jr.

C. Chauncey Butler

PROF. FRANK AYRES, JR., Susan Powers Hoffman Professor of Mathematics, and head of the department at the College, was called into government service in June to become a member of the mathematics branch at one of the University Study Centers set up by the Army for military personnel in the European theater of operations. While he first thought he would be sent to the Center at Shrivenham, England, he arrived on August 7 at Biarritz where the branch head is Prof. J. Irving Tracey, '06, who is a member of the faculty of Yale University.

Prof. Ayres has been granted a year's leave of absence. C. Chauncey Butler, graduate student of the University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed instructor in mathematics at the College, and will aid in carrying courses normally taught by Prof. Ayres.

At Biarritz the mathematics branch is composed of 23 teachers, 18 of them civilians, and 5 from the Army. Prof. Ayres is living in the Villa Flura, a short distance from the University. He sailed for Europe, leaving New York on July 26 on the Queen Elizabeth, landed in Scotland, then went to London and across the channel to Dieppe. Following a three-day trip to Paris, he journeyed to Biarritz, arriving there August 7.

Prof. Ayres, who has been a member of the College faculty for the past 17 years, received acclaim early in the war when he wrote a mathematics text book which was used by the Army Air Corps in its preflight college training program. During his absence Mrs. Ayres and their daughter, Margaret, will maintain their home in Carlisle.

Through the recommendation of the placement bureau of the University of Pennsylvania, the services of Mr. Butler were secured in June.

Following his graduation from the Bellevue High School in 1922, Mr. Butler attended the U. S. Naval Academy for 3 years where he was a member of the gymnastics team. He then took work in mechanical engineering at Carnegie Tech for 2 years before beginning to specialize in mathematics. He received his A. B. degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1929, and his A. M. degree from Teachers College, Columbia University, in 1936. Since 1929 he has been a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania in mathematics, and has completed practically all of his work for his doctorate. He has also taken summer courses at the University of Minnesota, West Chester State Teachers College, and the University of Pennsylvania.

From 1926 to 1929 Mr. Butler was physical director at the West Pennsylvania School for the Blind in Pittsburgh. He then taught mathematics for a year in the Winnwood School, Lake Grove, N. Y. before becoming a member of the faculty of the Radnor High School, Wayne, Penna., where, from 1931 to 1944, he taught mathematics, was football and tennis coach and assistant track coach. Last year he was teacher of mathematics and physics and dean of boys at the Daycroft School, Stamford, Conn.

Mr. Butler is a member of Phi Delta Kappa fraternity, the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, and various national educational associations. He has traveled extensively abroad.

Rounds Out a Half Century With F & D

GUY LEROY STEVICK, '85, vice-president in charge of the Pacific Executive Office of the Fidelity & Deposit Company of Maryland, and dean of West Coast surety men, rounded out his 50th year with the Company on July 1. Recognition was given to him in The Listening Post, weekly bulletin of the Company, which carried a short sketch of his life, and paid tribute to his business ability and character. It concluded with a commendation of an official from another company saying, "Perhaps the greatest compliment that can be paid Guy LeRoy Stevick is to say of him that his word is as good as his bond".

Probably outstanding among the many brilliant achievements of his surety career is the part he played in obtaining for surety companies the largest premium ever paid for a bond. It was for the performance of the nearly $50,000,000. contract for the Hoover Dam and Power Plant for which the premium totalled more than $825,000. Indicative of Mr. Stevick's ability to size up a situation is the fact that the final agreement between the contractors and the participating sureties contained no material changes from his original proposals.

After his graduation in 1885, Mr. Stevick was graduated with an LL.B. degree in 1888 from the University of Pennsylvania, was admitted to the Bar, and started the practice of law in Philadelphia. In 1889, he married Marion Pratt, daughter of Col. Richard H. Pratt, founder and commandant of the Carlisle Indian School. Shortly afterward the young couple moved to Denver where Mr. Stevick became a successful practitioner and later a leading authority on water rights and special lecturer at Harvard and Columbia Universities. One of his clients was the Fidelity & Deposit Company which appointed him as an advising underwriter for its representatives in California. Some time later the Company asked him to go to San Francisco to take over the executive office there which he did.

Presents Brookings Report

After the war government will cost Americans about twice as much as in 1940, a report of the Brookings Institution estimated in June. Lewis H. Kimmel, '20, who has been with the Institution for the past four years submitted the report which stated: "The debt service would not represent the primary post-war fiscal problem." It is predicted that instead it would be "large and growing expenditures" for all functions of the government.

PAUL LOOMIS HUTCHISON, '18, '23L, prominent attorney of Harrisburg, Pa., son of Dr. William A. Hutchison, '92, former headmaster of Conway Hall, was elected president of the General Alumni Association at the annual meeting on June 2, succeeding Judge Karl E. Richards, '11. After his discharge from the service he taught school a year at Lewistown, and then entered the Law School, graduating with an LL.B. degree in 1923, and receiving an A.M. from the College that year. After a year's clerkship in a lawyer's office in Florida, he became assistant trust officer of the Lincoln Trust Company,

Paul L. Hutchison

Scranton, Pa., in 1924. From 1924 to 1931 he was counsel to the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, and from 1931 to 1934, deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania. From 1935 to 1941 he was in a law partnership with Robert E. Woodside, '26, now judge of Dauphin County, and Phillips Brooks Scott, '21. Since 1941 he has been in private practice.

He married Florence Baker, '17, of Mt. Holly Springs, on July 15, 1926.

Long active in alumni and fraternity affairs, he served as president of the Dickinson Club of Harrisburg in 1938, and since 1933 has been chapter visitor of the Dickinson chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity and is treasurer or the board of trustees of the fraternity. He has been a trustee and lay leader of the Camp Hill Methodist Church, and since 1941 has been a trustee of the Methodist Children's Home at Shiremanstown. He has served as commander in the American Legion, and at the present time is a lieutenant colonel of the Pennsylvania State Guard, attached to the staff of the Adjutant General. He is a member of the board of directors of the Harrisburg Rotary Club, and of Cumberland Star Lodge No. 197, F. & A. M., of Carlisle, and also of the Dauphin County Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

This year he was general chairman of the Harrisburg area in the Red Cross campaign, and since last year has been on the delegate council of the Harrisburg Welfare Federation.

27 New Lifers Raise Total to 536

TWENTY-SEVEN new subscriptions to life membership in the General Alumni Association have been received since the publication of the life membership roster in the May issue of the DICKINSON ALUMNUS, raising the total to 536.

The new additions began on May 23 when two coeds sent in their subscriptions on the same day. One came from Mrs. H. M. Weitzel, the former Emma Wentzel, of the Class of 1934, who lives in Shippensburg. The other came from Miss Jeanie R. Deans, '38, who lives in North Adams, Mass.

As a graduation present, William K. Hartzell bought a life membership for his daughter, Dorothy J. Hartzell, '45, who received her diploma in June.

On the last day of May a subscription came from William C. Schultz, Jr., '30, who lives in Berwyn.

When he was home on furlough on June 4, Pfc. James E. Nolen, '30, who was then stationed in Mississippi, became a Lifer. On that same day Milton E. Flower, '31, of the Carlisle High School faculty, and the Rev. Ralph L. Minker, '30, superintendent of the Ferris Industrial School, Wilmington, Del., made their subscriptions. A few days later a subscription was received from Rev. J. Roy Strock, D.D., '03, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Lutheran Church in America, who was then in Baltimore. The final July subscription was received from Lt. Donald R. Morrison, '41, who is serving in the Pacific as a clinical psychologist in the 311th General Hospital, where he is assigned to the neuro-psychiatric section and assists in the diagnosis and treatment of mental disorders.

Three new subscriptions were received during the month of August. The first of these came from George Compton Kerr, '18, executive secretary of Goodwill Industries of Scranton, Inc. Max I. D., '96, of Mountain Home, Pa., retired clergyman of the Philadelphia Conference.

Subscriptions to life membership are not Alumni Fund contributions, and Alumni Fund contributions cannot purchase life membership subscriptions. There are three classes of membership in the General Alumni Association: class membership, which costs $1 a year and to which an alumnus is eligible for only three years after his graduation from college; annual membership of $2 a year; and life membership, which costs $40 and ends the payment of annual dues and carries with it a life subscription to the DICKINSON ALUMNUS. The $40 life membership fee may be paid in full or in installments of $10 or $20. Subscriptions should be sent to the Dickinson Alumnus, West College, Carlisle, Pa.

In Europe Judge Reese will assist in the establishment of a system of law regulating the work of the Public Health and Welfare Division in the Allied Control Commission which has jurisdiction over health control, welfare, religion and education. This group will be engaged in an effort to "De-Nazify the laws that regulate these four fields and to institute American procedures."

AFTER 41 missions with the 10th Air Force as navigator and bombardier, 1st Lt. Theodore C. Strouse, '44, was killed in an airplane crash while traveling as a passenger over India on July 11, 1945, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarion H. Strouse of 2133 Rudy St., Bellevue Park, Harrisburg.

Following a long period of training as a navigator and bombardier, Lt. Strouse went to India in January of this year, and soon had completed 41 missions. He was awarded the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf cluster and the Bronze Star for his service in the Burma campaign. He was probably flying to a rest area when the crash occurred which caused his death.

Born in Harrisburg on March 28, 1922, he was a graduate of the John Harris High School and a member of Zion Lutheran Church of Harrisburg. He entered the College in 1940 and was in the last semester of his senior year when he enlisted in the Air Corps. During his undergraduate days he served as editor-in-chief of the Dickinsonian, was an officer of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and a member of Alpha Sigma Gamma.

Following his cadet training in the Air Corps, he attended the Army school at San Marcus, Tex., where he received his commission and graduated as a navigator on February 26, 1944. He was then sent to the bombardier school at Roswell, N. Mex., where he was graduated in June, 1944. Following that he trained in a B-25 medium bomber in which he flew during his 41 missions in Burma.

While serving with Co. H, 3rd Battalion, 29th Marine Regt., 6th Division, which Division was part of the 10th Army under General Buckner, who was later killed on Okinawa. Cpl. Martin was killed in action there on May 15. It is believed that he was killed in the action before Naha at a place called Sugar Loaf Hill.

When Jack finished his work at the College in 1943, he was already in a Marine camp when his class received their diplomas. His diploma was sent to his father, and, as he never had a long enough leave before going overseas to visit his home, he may be the only student graduated from the College who never saw the diploma he had earned.

His father, John E. Martin, '17, is himself a veteran of World War I. Jack was born in Philadelphia on June 26, 1920, moving with his parents to Camp Hill in 1921. He graduated from the Camp Hill High School in 1938, played football for 3 years, and edited the first school year book published in that school. He was a member of the Camp Hill Presbyterian Church. Like his father he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. While in College he was a member of the football team, and played in a half-back position.

He was awarded the Purple Heart and the Asiatic-Pacific medal. His parents have received word that he was buried in the cemetery on Okinawa.

Following his training at Parris Island, S. C., he went to O. C. S. at Camp Le Jeune, N. C., receiving his commission in October, 1944. Early last December he went overseas, and for a time was stationed at Guadalcanal, and then, as a member of the 1st Battalion, 1st Marine Division, took part in the invasion of Okinawa.

Besides his father he is survived by two brothers in the service, Pfc. Daniel S. Dieffenderfer and Lt. (j.g.) Paul W. Dieffenderfer, USNR, and also by a brother, John F. Dieffenderfer, Audubon, N. J., and a sister, Mrs. Isabelle Miller, Nazareth, Pa. His mother died in 1927.

Lt. Milton H. Fussell, III

2nd Lt. Milton H. Fussell, III, '45, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Fussell of Swarthmore, Pa., was killed in action on Okinawa on May 27, 1945, while serving with a Marine Corps unit.

Born April 20, 1923, at Swarthmore, Pa., he prepared for College at the Swarthmore High School. He entered Dickinson in September, 1941, and became a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Wounded On Okinawa

Captain Louis Reuter, Jr., '35, received a severe head wound in the fighting on Okinawa on May 13 when serving with the 96th Infantry Division. He is now a patient in the McGuire General Hospital, Richmond, Va.

Captain Reuter was shot by a Japanese sniper at very close range. The bullet went through his helmet and stopped in his brain. The bullet was removed on the battlefield where he fell, and after the operation he was removed to a field hospital. He lay unconscious for several days, and at first there was little hope for his recovery. When he regained semi-consciousness, he was evacuated from the island.

On August 27 an operation was performed on his brain at the McGuire General Hospital, with his sister, who is an Army nurse stationed at the hospital, assisting in the operation.

He has been awarded the Silver Star, an Oak Leaf cluster, and the Purple Heart medal.

Killed By German Sniper Shortly Before V-E Day

PFC. ROBERT S. GRISSINGER, 19 year old member of the Class of 1947, was killed by a sniper at Heilbrom, Germany, on April 7, 1945. On April 25 his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Grissinger of York Springs, Pa., received a telegram saying that he was missing in action since April 7, and on June 8 they received word that he had been killed in action on that day. Later they received a letter from a chaplain telling them that Robert had been killed by a sniper while fixing his radio while serving with an advance patrol.

Inducted into the service on January 24, 1944, while in his first year at the College, he was with the ASTP until it was discontinued, and then received infantry training. He went overseas in October, and a month later, on November 19, 1944, was wounded in action for which he received the Purple Heart. Shortly after Christmas he returned to his unit, Co. G., 397th Infantry of the 100th Division. A second Purple Heart was awarded posthumously and sent to his parents.

Born in Harrisburg, October 25, 1925, his family later moved to R. D. 1, York Springs, and he graduated from the Dillsburg High School with honors. He became a member of the Theta Chi fraternity, and was a pre-medical student at the College when he was inducted into the service.

Besides his parents he is survived by a twin brother, John M. Grissinger, Jr., PhM3/c, and his maternal grandparents. His parents have received word that he was buried in a U. S. military cemetery in western Germany.

Former Coach Killed

Frank Grube, former assistant football coach at Dickinson College, died on July 2 in New York City from bullet wounds apparently inflicted by mistake.

Pfc. Robert S. Grissinger, '47

Police said Grube walked into a fusilade of revolver shots when he investigated a noise in the hallway of the apartment house in which he lived.

An All American football star at Lafayette College, he was catcher for the Chicago White Sox in 1931, and was later with the St. Louis Browns. He was forty years of age.

His leg had to be amputated between the knee and the hip, and he has been confined to a hospital ever since. He was brought back to this country and is now a patient in Ward 3E, McGuire General Hospital, Richmond, Va.

Awarded Bronze Star Medal

For heroism displayed in action against the Japanese at San Jose, Luzon, P. I., Capt. Lyman G. Hertzler, '39, of Carlisle, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal by the commanding general of the 6th Infantry Division in Luzon.

When an attacking rifle company received direct fire from two anti-tank guns to its front, it was forced to halt and take cover. Hertzler, in command of the company, then personally led two tanks into position from which he directed fire on the guns. Despite intense enemy fire which scored a direct hit on one of the tanks, he remained at his post, directing fire until both guns had been destroyed.

Hertzler is now plans and training officer of a battalion of the 63rd Infantry Regiment of the "Red Star" 6th Infantry Division.

Returns Home Wearing Distinguished Flying Cross

FIRST Lieutenant William L. Paterson, '43, returned to his home in Clearfield in August on a leave after service as the co-pilot on the B-17 Flying Fortress "Chesty II," wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross. His father is Robert Bruce Paterson, '13.

The award was conferred upon him for "extraordinary achievement, cool courage and devotion to duty" during the Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on military and industrial targets throughout Germany and Nazi occupied Europe. He has also received two Presidential citations, holds the Air Medal with eight Oak Leaf clusters, and completed thirty-four missions.

As a member of the 34th Bomb Group Lt. Paterson is a veteran of many heavy bombardment missions over enemy territory. One of his Presidential citations was conferred upon his division for its now historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, Germany.

His roughest mission was directed on industrial installations at Brussels, Belgium. On that mission he had a close call when the flak was very intense and a piece of flak came to a stop directly under the seat of his plane.

Many will remember him as the player of the Scottish bagpipes, for he brought one of them to College, and frequently appeared on the campus in his kilts. During a visit to Edinburgh, Scotland, he had the pleasure of hearing and playing with the Scotts champion piper, a member of the famous Black Watch Regiment.

Lt. Paterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Paterson of 411 E. Locust St., Clearfield, Pa. He graduated from the College in January, 1943, and entered the Army Air Force the following April. At the College he became a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Lieutenant William L. Paterson, '43

Cited For Bravery

Capt. David A. Streger, '39, has been awarded the Silver Star for exceptional service under fire. He lead a spearhead task force of infantry and tanks in the drive up the west coast of Italy to capture Genoa last April. The 130-mile, three-week drive had many bitter engagements, during which Captain Streger served as a rifle company commander.

"Capt. Streger's gallant and heroic action," the citation reads, "put an end to the stalled attack, restored the high morale of our troops, and pioneered a way for expediting our whole flow of supplies."

Resigns From Faculty

Dr. Bernice K. Grubb, who has been an instructor in the Department of Romance Language for the past three years, and director of the Women's Glee Club last year, resigned at the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees in June. She had accepted appointment as an associate professor at Thiel College.

Sinks Five Ships of Jap Convoy in One Night

THE most amazing feat of sinking in one night an enemy convoy of five ships off the coast of Formosa is one of the high spots in the brilliant record of Lt. (j.g.) J. E. Kennedy, '42, who came to his home in Carlisle on leave in July after a strenuous tour of duty in the Pacific during which he flew 116 missions as a Patrol Plan Co-Pilot. Last month he was assigned to the Banana River, Florida, Naval Air Training Station as an instructor.

Wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with a Star in lieu of the Second Air Medal, Jack and his crew have been accredited with sinking 20,000 tons of Japanese shipping off the coastlines of both Formosa and China. They also rescued two fliers from the open sea and evacuated seven-teen wounded American soldiers and Filipino guerrillas.

He was recommended for these awards after flying 41 missions, among them anti-shipping strikes, patrols, sector searches, and air-sea rescue missions in the face of enemy action and in constant danger from enemy fighters and anti-aircraft fire.

The plane in which Lt. Kennedy flew is one of the Navy's twin-engined patrol seaplanes, the famous "PBM" or Martin "Mariner." In a crew of twelve, his duties as co-pilot and navigator consisted of both flying the plane and keeping track of the plane's course and position.

He flew a total of 760 hours in the Mariner and saw action with his squadron at Saipan, in the Bonin Group, at Ulithi Atoll, and Paulau and the Philippines. While in the Mariannas, he met Coach Arthur D. Kahler.

The story of the sinking of the five ships in an enemy convoy off the coast of Formosa in one night is one of the unusual tales of the war. His plane was patrolling from the Philippines toward Formosa and was "black catting"

Lt. (j.g.) J. E. Kennedy, '42

at night. This means that the plane had been painted black to make it as invisible as possible in the dark of night, and also that the plane was flying at an altitude of only 250 feet a great part of the time. The plane's radar picked up something nearby and a few minutes later, the lookout called that it was a ship. Believing that the vessel was alone, all the bombs on the plane were dropped, and the tail-gunner peering through the darkness reported that he thought it was a "near miss."

Another call from the lookout announced there was another ship ahead and Lt. Kennedy sent his plane into the proper course to fire the 50 caliber machine guns at the new target. The salvo hardly struck the second vessel when it burst into flame lighting the sea for miles and revealing the three other ships in the Jap convoy. With the sea aflame these vessels became easy targets though both opened their anti-aircraft batteries. When the fourth was sent to the bottom, Lt. Kennedy turned his plane back to see what had happened to the first ship, and found that instead of a "near miss" its stern was pointed heavenward as it plunged into the depths of the sea. It was estimated that this convoy totalled 17,000 tons.

Jack, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cash Kennedy, 551 Highland Ave., Carlisle, is a graduate of the Carlisle

High School and he graduated from the College in 1942. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity and was on the Microcosm staff while an undergraduate and he was a member of the German Club.

Establishes Scholarship in Memory of His Wife

BY A GIFT of $5,000, the Ruth Sellers Maxwell Scholarships in English Literature were established in August by Mrs. Maxwell's husband, Robert H. Maxwell, of Carlisle.

Mr. Maxwell presented the gift in memory of his wife, who, for many years, was a teacher in English Literature, and who died last March 7. Mrs. Maxwell graduated from the College in 1915, and her husband was a classmate.

The $5,000 gift creates a scholarship fund, the income from which will be used for three scholarships to be presented each year to students of the College at the annual commencement exercises. One of these will be of $50, and will be presented to the member of the sophomore class with the highest standing in the sophomore course in English Literature. Two other scholarships of $100 each will be awarded, one to a member of the junior class, and the other to a member of the senior class, each with the highest scholastic standing in the advanced English courses of their respective classes.

Mrs. Maxwell was a daughter of the late Elmer E. and Annie Ernst Sellers of Carlisle, and a graduate of the Carlisle High School. Following her graduation from the College she taught in the Carlisle High School, and then for a number of years in the Lemoyne High School. On February 11 of this year she fell on an icy sidewalk while walking to church and suffered a fracture of her right leg. Just a few days before she was scheduled to leave the hospital for her home, she died suddenly on March 7 of an embolism.

Mr. Maxwell, who formerly was associated with a public utility company in Pottstown, has been employed during the war period at the Mechanicsburg Naval Supply Depot.

Two Missing in Action

Lt. James M. Loenshal, '45, of the Army Air Corps, has been listed as missing in action since February 7. Up to August 29, his mother, Mrs. Myrtle O. Loenshal, of 311 Allegheny St., Hollidaysburg, Pa., had not had any further word about her son.

Pvt. F. Thorley Hollinger, '47, of the 112th Infantry Regiment, was listed as missing in action December 20 in Luxembourg. In April his father, Franklin T. Hollinger, of 426 S. High St., Mechanicsburg, received word that his son was being held a prisoner of war by the Germans. Since then no further word has arrived, though his parents have made inquiry through the Adjutant General's Department and the Red Cross.

Receives Air Medal

Lt. Glenn M. Smith, '43, has received the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf clusters. He received the award for his service with one of the bomb groups of the Eighth Army Air Force which was based in England. He completed 35 missions over Germany.

He returned to his home in Waynesboro, Pa., in June, for a 30-day leave before reporting to Miami Beach for reassignment.

A New Women's Dorm

D OUBTLESS the co-ed alumni will send up the first cheer in learning that the Trustees of the College are planning to erect a new women's dormitory on the Mooreland Campus as soon as practicable. That there is a need for this building has long been admitted.

Older alumni will recall Lloyd Hall, the early days which followed at Metzger and then in the recent years the addition of the Parker House, the Gibbs House and now two fraternity houses. Since the days of the presidency of Dr. James H. Morgan when Metzger was acquired for college use, that building has served the college well. Many alterations were made within and a few years ago the front of the building lost its old porch, the covering vines and clustered shrubbery and was adorned with a new stairway. Today, it is doubtless a better dormitory than when the College first moved in.

Like everything else in a modern world, however, women's dormitories must provide facilities today which were not the mode not long ago. Today, there should be a number of living rooms rather than a parlor. The dining hall whether in the dorm or in another building should be a fine room. Today, there has to be a lot more plumbing to provide lavatories and baths, with a number of showers. Well ventilated, well lighted, well heated bedrooms should have built in closets and lots of storage space. To provide these and other musts, the Trustees have decided that the best way to do it is to erect a new limestone building on the Mooreland Campus. It will probably mean a $250,000 undertaking but it will be one which will merit the help and support of every alumnus, and a fine addition to a campus adorned by Old West, the Alumni Gymnasium and the Bosler Library.

More Lasting Than Granite

O N OTHER pages and in other recent college publications, there have been reports of many enduring gifts to the college. At Commencement, the Class of 1915 presented a $2,500 addition to the permanent endowment fund to create a scholarship and thus joined the procession of classes whose numerals will forever appear in the catalogues and financial reports. More recently, two alumni have established endowed funds as living memorials to their wives. Robert H. Maxwell, by a gift of $5,000, has created the Ruth Sellers Maxwell Scholarships in English Literature, and Raymond B. Whitmoyer has created the M. Helen Lehman Whitmoyer Fund for scholarship grants.

Many alumni have sent in contributions to the Paul Herbert Doney Memorial Fund, which is and will be used through the years for the purchase of books for the library. Recently, a Chicago friend of the College, Mr. William B. Greenlee, has made a special gift for books for the library.

These are all enduring gifts in which every donor has rejoiced, and they set a worthy example for many to follow. In these days when memorials are being considered everywhere by so many, there can be no better suggestion that a gift to the endowed funds of the College creates a memorial more lasting than granite.

Presents Library Fund For Collection of Books

MR. WILLIAM B. GREENLEE, of Chicago, recently presented a gift of $500 for the purchase of a collection of books for the college library on paleography, printing, library history and like subjects. Mr. Greenlee is an author and a trustee of the Newberry Library, Chicago.

Though born with the instincts of an historian, Mr. Greenlee prepared himself for his inherited responsibilities as the only son of a pioneer manufacturer of Chicago by pursuing a technical course at college. He attended Beloit and was graduated from Cornell with the B.S. degree in 1895.

After a long and successful business career, Mr. Greenlee retired in 1927 and has since devoted himself to the studies for which he had long been preparing in his leisure hours. His special interest is the Portuguese discoveries of the 15th and 16th centuries. His first contribution in this field, a volume on Cabral, the discoverer of Brazil, was published by the Hakluyt Society of London and has been accepted as the definitive work on this subject among Brazilian and Portuguese scholars as well as those in Britain and America. He is now at work on a similar study of Vespucci.

He has also written a descriptive bibliography of the history of Portugal which was published in "The Hispanic American Historical Review," August, 1940; and an article on the first-century of Brazilian history in Mid-America, April, 1943, besides various book reviews and notes.

During his business career, Mr. Greenlee was secretary of Greenlee Bros. and Co., Rockford, Ill., manufacturers of machinery and tools from 1896 to 1902 when he became president of the firm. He was also president and treasurer of the Northwestern Stove Repair Company and president of the Northwestern Foundry Company, of which he is now chairman of the board.

A trustee of Newberry, he is also a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society and of the American Geographical Society. He is a member of the American Institute of Metallurgical Engineers, the American Historical Association, the British Institute of Philosophy, the Hakluyt Society and the Geographical Society of Chicago. A member of Sigma Chi Fraternity, his clubs are University, Cliff Dwellers, Caxton Saddle and Cycle. He is married and has a son and two daughters.

Wins Many Awards

During his two tours overseas Lt. James H. Yeingst, '43, of the Army Air Corps, has been awarded two battle stars, the Air Medal with five clusters, two Distinguished Unit Citations, and is entitled to wear the ETO ribbon, the South Pacific ribbon, the American theater ribbon, and the Pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon. He returned to the States in April, and in July was assigned to Williams Field, Ariz., to train men to serve in the Pacific.

Entering the Army in October, 1941, he served 13 months in the South Pacific, returning to the States to enter the cadet training program in May, 1943. He received his commission as a navigator at Selman Field, La., in January, 1944, and then spent eleven months in the European theater.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Yeingst, and his wife, Mrs. Ethyleen Yeingst, and his small son reside in Mt. Holly Springs.

A Marked Man in Science

Dr. Paul R. Burkholder, '24, was one of the young scientists starred in the recent seventh edition of American Men of Science. This publication places a star after the names of men who have done outstanding work in some scientific field, and is the authoritative listing of men of science. Dr. Burkholder is professor of botany at Yale University.

Tell Story of Nazi Reign of Terror in Poland

THE eye-witness chronicle of terrorized Poland during the Nazi occupation is told in full and exact detail by Gaither and Hania Warfield in "Call Us to Witness" ($3.00), published June 15 by the Ziff-Davis Publishing Company.

Dr. Warfield, who graduated from the College in 1917, and Mrs. Warfield expose in their journal of violence the daily horrors committed by the Nazis in their plan for the scientific eradication of every living Pole in occupied territories. Husband and wife take up the tale in alternating chapters, a device which not only makes for diversity of incident, since Gaither is carried into Russia along with a wave of captured Polish refugees and, later Hania and Gaither's venturesome journeys take them into different parts of Poland and even into Berlin, but also serves to highlight the contrasting natures of two extremely interesting and likeable people. Hania is proud, intuitive, somewhat hot-tempered, generous and almost unbelievably fearless. Her husband is cautious, shrewd, ingenious, self-sacrificing, cool-headed.

Startling chapters reveal the fiendish persecution by the Nazis at Pawiak prison in the Warsaw ghetto, the Oswiecim crematory, Konopnica, Jozefow, Ostrow Mazowiecki, Zielonka, Bochina and the 90-odd other slaughter houses of Poland.

"Call Us to Witness" is not alone a warning against the dangers of complacency and self-interest. It is also an affirmation of the strength of United Nations forces—a profession of faith, courage, and love for one's fellow man. It is a sensitive book, extremely moving—but factual. It is an account of exciting, unexpected—and, often, horrifying—happenings of daily city and country life under German oppression. It gives intimate glimpses of Gestapo headquarters. It reveals the steadfast courage and heroic resistance of a people whose spirit was indomitable.

The Warfields have written an historical document—for here is what the Germans did to Poland, and how the Polish people retaliated.

Dr. Warfield went to Poland in 1924 as a missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He prepared for foreign service at Dickinson College, Drew Theological Seminary, and Union Theological Seminary. When war broke out on September 1, 1939, he was living in Warsaw.

He organized the American Colony and was eventually arrested by the Gestapo in December, 1941, and put in Pawiak prison in Warsaw. Later, he was interned at Laufen, Bavaria, with other Americans. His Polish-born wife and daughter, Monica, who was born in 1935, were kept under constant surveillance by the Gestapo.

Hania Warfield was born in Lwow, Poland. She attended the Conservatory of Music there and was educated in Brussels, at Oxford and Cambridge. She speaks Polish, English, French, and German. She married Dr. Warfield in 1928, and they worked together in Warsaw.

Two years later, they came to America and spent most of the following eighteen months in New York City. She became a naturalized citizen. In 1931, the Warfields returned to Poland to carry on their work.

They were finally repatriated to the United States as exchange prisoners and are at present on an extensive lecture tour to raise twenty-five million dollars for relief and rehabilitation, outside the scope of UNRRA.

Their present residence is at 110 North Bentz Avenue, Frederick, Md.

Organize Dickinson Club of Chicago

WITH 28 present, the Dickinson Club of Chicago was organized on July 6 at a dinner held at the Merchants and Manufacturers Club. The group had been called together by an organization committee consisting of Dr. Pierce Butler, '06, Dr. Blair S. Latshaw, '09, and Samuel W. Witwer, Jr., '30. Dr. Butler presided as toastmaster, and Dr. Latshaw offered the invocation.

Mr. Witwer, who practices law in Chicago, was elected as the first president of the club, and Dr. Butler was elected vice-president. Mrs. William G. Gray, the former Mary Rombach, '27, was elected secretary-treasurer. These officers, with Arthur H. Carver, '02, the Rev. Stanley B. Crosland, Jr., '21, and Dr. Latshaw, will form the executive committee.

It was voted that dinner meetings be held at least once a year on the call of the officers of the club. By formal action the club sent greetings to President C. William Prettyman who was prevented by illness from attending the meeting.

Dean Josephine B. Meredith, who in July was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Christina Vestling, '34, at Urbana, Ill., attended the dinner. Mrs. Meredith and Gilbert Malcolm, alumni secretary, were the representatives from the College and the speakers. Informal talks were made by various alumni present.

There was one unusual incident at the dinner when William C. Phares, '11, sat at the table and saw the Rev. Stanley Crosland present. Probably because 10 years had separated these men at college, it was not until the dinner that Mr. Phares, a frequent visitor at the Congregational Church in Chicago, discovered that the man he went to hear preach was Stanley Crosland of the Class of 1921.

Those who attended the organization meeting were as follows: David K. McMillam, '02, and his two daughters, Mrs. Doerr and Mrs. Hedgebach; Arthur H. Carver, '02, and Mrs. Carver; Dr. Pierce Butler, '06 and Mrs. Butler; William B. L. Drawbaugh, '07, and Mrs. Drawbaugh; Dr. Blair S. Latshaw, '09 and Mrs. Latshaw; William C. Phares, '11 and Mrs. Phares; Dr. Forrest E. Adams, '11; Dr. Karl K. Quimby, '11; Rev. E. L. Geissinger, '14 and Mrs. Geissinger; John W. Garrett, Jr., '19; Rev. Stanley B. Crosland, '21; Paul C. Behanna, '27; Mrs. Mary Rombach Gray, '27 and Mr. Gray; William M. Shaeffer, '27 and Mrs. Shaeffer; Samuel W. Witwer, Jr., '30 and Mrs. Witwer; Dean Josephine B. Meredith and Gilbert Malcolm.

Walks 500 Miles After Escape From Prison Camp

TWO months after his plane had been shot down over Slovakia, T/Sgt. Charles Walter Benner, Jr., '44, was one of 32 soldiers who escaped from a German prison camp and walked 500 miles to arrive safely in Italy two months later. He has returned home wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross, an Air Medal with five clusters, the Purple Heart, the Bronze Star, and a Distinguished Unit Badge. He will reenter the College as a student next month.

Serving with the 454th Bomb Group, which was based near Foggia, Italy, T/Sgt. Benner was a turret gunner on a B-24 Liberator bomber. He had made a number of missions when, on July 7, 1944, his plane was sent to Odertal, an oil target between Vienna and Breslau. As the plane approached the target it was hit by flak, and again by flak after leaving the target. Shortly afterward the bomber was attacked by eleven fighters and the gun crews were able to shoot down five of them. However, their own ship had been badly hit, and it was necessary for the crew to bail out. One of their number had already been killed, and the nine other members of the crew had all been hit. T/Sgt. Benner was wounded in both of his legs, but parachuted safely to the ground, landing about thirty miles north-east of Bratislava in Slovakia, where he was taken prisoner by the Germans. He was held there until September 2 when he was one of thirty-two who succeeded in escaping, traveling by foot, sometimes by day and sometimes by night, and staying in peasant homes or receiving help from underground sources. The group reached Italy safely in November. T/Sgt. Benner was then flown back to the United States, and for more than six months was a patient in the Fort Thomas Convalescent Hospital in Kentucky. For a time he taught English in the hospital school for wounded veterans, and was finally discharged from the Army on August 23.

T/Sgt. Charles Walter Benner, Jr., '44
receiving his D.F.C.

All ten members of T/Sgt. Benner's crew received the Distinguished Flying Cross, one of them being awarded posthumously. The citation reads as follows: "For extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight in the Mediterranean and North Africa Theater of Operations. Showing a high order of courage, leadership and professional skill, these gallant air crew members have distinguished themselves throughout many long and hazardous combat missions against the enemy despite severe and adverse weather conditions and enemy opposition by large numbers of aircraft and intense, accurate, and heavy antiaircraft fire. Displaying great combat spirit and aggressiveness, these men have met, engaged, and defeated the enemy regardless of the odds and in spite of the fact that at times their planes were so severely damaged that only by extraordinary skill and fortitude were they able to fight their way through to the objective and aid in the grave damage inflicted upon the enemy. By their heroism, skill, and air-manship, as shown throughout their combat careers, together with their intense devotion to duty during this period of intense combat operations against the enemy, these men have upheld the highest traditions of the military service, thereby reflecting great credit upon themselves and the Armed Forces of the United States of America."

T/Sgt. Benner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Walter Benner of 20 Ashmire Ave., Trenton, N. J. He was born in Trenton on February 18, 1922, graduated from the Trenton Central High School in 1940, and was a student at the College until his enlistment in the Air Corps. He is a member of S. A. E. fraternity.

Report Hooshmand Dead

A report originating in a letter from Captain Louis Reuter, Jr., '35, which is unconfirmed, is that Falhoullah Hooshmand, '38, Persian who was a student of the College in 1935, may have been executed.

In a letter written by Captain Reuter on April 9, when he was serving with the 381st Infantry at Camp White, Oregon, he says, "Today for the first time I met an officer who knew a Dickinsonian that I once knew. The man in question is the Persian, Hooshmand. I am told that Hooshmand received his doctorate from the University of Pittsburgh and was recalled to his homeland by way of the Pacific. Some alarm is felt for him since no word has been received in a year and a half, plus the fact that about seventy-five other Persian students were executed when they reached their homes because of 'pink tendencies'".

What Ails the Church?

The Rev. Alson J. Smith, '30, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Brooklyn, N. Y., is the author of an article, "What Ails the Church?" published in the August, 1945, number of American Mercury. He has written for magazines on a wide range of religious, political and economic subjects.

His article deals with what he considers "the three worst blights of the Christian Church." He names these as: (1) the pitiful and all-too-apparent gap between the church's profession and its practice; (2) Protestantism's emphasis on conduct rather than on motive; and (3) Catholicism's constitutional inability to resist the temptation to temporal power.

Whit Bell Becomes Associate Prof. of History

AFTER several narrow escapes from death or serious injury, Lt. Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., '35, former instructor of the department of history and associate editor of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, returned to his home last month after two years in Italy and Germany with the American Field Service. He has been appointed associate professor of history at the College, and will begin his work with the opening of the fall term on October 8.

Rejected by the Army and Navy, and by Selective Service, he volunteered as an ambulance driver and was assigned first to duty in Africa. He then served throughout the campaign in Italy during which he was mostly assigned to the British front. He was on duty throughout the whole battle for Cassino during which he had many close calls. On one occasion he was stunned by an exploding shell, knocked to the ground while walking away from his ambulance, and for two weeks the left side of his face was paralyzed. With the cessation of warfare in Italy, he went to Germany when he was commissioned and was stationed at the Belsen concentration camp.

He is now completing work on his thesis which will qualify him for his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania. Just before his return, the May 1945 issue of the Bulletin of the History of Medicine printed an article he had written, "Suggestions for Research in the Local History of Medicine in the United States."

James, USNR, '34, former member of the faculty and football coach, was one of the first Americans to land in Tokyo and served as the only Beachmaster in his area when the troops went ashore on August 30. It is believed that another faculty member, Capt. Roy R. Kuebler, '33, of Army Ordnance, landed at the same time or shortly afterward.

Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., '35

Lt. James is serving on the USS Garrard, an attack transport, which had been preparing for the invasion of Japan when V-J Day changed its future tasks. As Beachmaster for the occupation, he attended all the conferences with the generals and admirals before the landing and was the only officer of his ship's company with official sanction to go ashore.

In a letter to his wife written August 30, Ben wrote "Today was a memorable day, we landed in Tokyo Bay. I was a Beachmaster on one of the beaches and was one of the first to land on Japan! We were underway early this morning and as soon as we anchored in the bay we and the troops went into the beach in our LCVP boats. There were a few Jap officials there but there was no shooting. As the day went on we landed many troops and much cargo. These troops will patrol the area and eventually the whole country will be occupied. These are the first to go ashore. We landed and took over the largest airfield in this vicinity. I was able to pick up a Jap helmet and a megaphone, which I
