MAY 1958

Complete Program for 185th Commencement

ONE of the features of the 185th Commencement will be the holding of the Baccalaureate Services in the new Dickinson College Chapel-Allison Methodist Church on Sunday morning, June 1. The preacher will be the Rev. Edgar A. Henry, '27, pastor of the First Methodist Church, York, Pa.

In the afternoon the Honorable Arthur B. Langlie, former Governor of Washington and now president of McCall Corporation, will be the speaker at the Commencement Exercises in the Alumni Gymnasium. Six will receive honorary degrees, ROTC graduates will receive their commissions and probably 160 seniors will receive their diplomas.

Reports from reunion chairman indicate that there will be a large gathering of alumni for the three-day Commencement weekend. Many alumni will have holidays for the opening day of Commencement which is Memorial Day, May 30, and are planning to reach Carlisle that day.

Again this year, the Trustees will meet Thursday and will be free for the events beginning Friday afternoon of Senior Day. The annual dinner meeting of the Alumni Council and the officers of alumni clubs will be held that evening in Morgan Hall at 6 o'clock. After their fine time last year, the Class of 1907 has planned a 51st reunion dinner at the James Wilson Hotel at the same hour. The Class of 1908 will also meet then for its 50th.

The Class of 1908 will be seated on the platform at the Alumni Luncheon on Saturday, May 31, which is Alumni Day, and will also be the guests of the College at a dinner on Sunday, June 1, in Morgan Hall.

Highlights of the Alumni Luncheon

Register In Old West

Alumni returning for Commencement should register in Old West upon their arrival. Tickets will be available there for any events for which tickets are necessary.

Information concerning hotel, motel or tourist home reservations can be secured there.

will be the presentation of two portraits, the one of Dr. C. Scott Althouse, member of the Board of Trustees, for whom the new science building is named and the other that of Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., Robert Coleman Professor of History, head of the department and senior member of the faculty. Dr. Wing's portrait will be the gift of the Class of 1933, meeting in its 25th reunion, though he is an adopted member of the Class of 1923, which gave the Leon C. Prince portrait at an earlier reunion.

Alumni Day, as usual, will be a full day opening with the meeting of Phi Beta Kappa at 9:30 in Memorial Hall. The Law School Commencement will be held at 10:30 at the Sadler Curtilage and the Alumni Luncheon will be at noon. It will be the popular buffet luncheon (boxes were thrown away long ago) at $1 per person. Class standards will be displayed and alumni should sit in the indicated areas. The program will be short and informal.

The traditional President's Reception will be held at the President's House that afternoon from 3 to 4:30 o'clock and will be followed by fraternity banquets at 6 o'clock.

Good weather will be all that will be needed for a fine evening on the campus on Saturday night. Old and new Glee Club members will gather on the steps of Old West for a sing at 8:15 and the Carlisle Band will play an open-air concert beginning at 9 o'clock.

After tapping the new members before the Alumni Luncheon, the Raven's Claw reunion will be held at South College starting at 10:30 Saturday night.

Any unattached alumni who may want rooms in dormitories over Commencement should write to either Gilbert Malcolm or George Shuman, Jr. Some rooms will be available in Drayer Hall and Morgan Hall. Information concerning rooms in hotels, motels or guest houses will be available in the Registration Room in Old West. Go there first on arrival.

To Attend Ceremonies and Preach In England

PRESIDENT William W. Edel will attend the ceremonies of the 800th anniversary of the founding of Carlisle, England, July 6-9, and as Honorary Freeman of the British city, will have an official part in the welcoming ceremonies for Queen Elizabeth.

While in the British Isles, President Edel will also preach in eight churches, under the auspices of the Interchange of Preachers Program of the National Council of Churches. One of his invitations is to Wesley's Chapel, City Road, London, where he will preach from the pulpit occupied by John Wesley during the last 30 years of his life.

President Edel also will read the Scripture Lesson at Sunday Worship Services of the 1,000-year old Cathedral of Carlisle, during the octo-centennial celebrations of the city. He will be accompanied to Carlisle by Mrs. Edel and they will be among the notables to be presented to Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

President Edel was elected Honorary Freeman of Carlisle, during a visit in 1951, when he was an official emissary of Carlisle, Pa., which celebrated its bi-centennial in that year. President Edel is one of four living Honorary Freeman of Carlisle and the only American, other than Woodrow Wilson, to be accorded the honor. In 1951 he also was the first American to participate in the Worship Services of historic Carlisle Cathedral.

Dr. Frank E. Masland, Jr., '18, and Mrs. Masland, also will attend the octo-centennial celebrations of Carlisle, England, while on their European tour.

Professor John D. Pusey, Artist-in-Residence of Dickinson College, has been commissioned by the Borough Council of Carlisle, Pa., to do a painting to be presented by President Edel as a gift to Carlisle, England.

President Edel will preach in the following churches in the British Isles:

Emanuel Congregational Church, West Wickham, Kent; Wesley's Chapel, City Road, London; Wigton Road Methodist Church, Carlisle; St. James Church, Handsworth, Birmingham; Worthing Presbyterian Church, Sussex; all of England; St. John's Church, Galashiels, Scotland; and Abbey Presbyterian Church, Dublin, Eire. He also will speak in Wrekin College, Wellington, Shropshire, England.

At St. James' Church in Birmingham, President Edel has been given special permission of the Bishop of Birmingham, under the Rules of Canterbury Convocation, to preach from an Anglican pulpit.

To Commemorate Centennial of Horatio C. King

By PROF. CHARLES COLEMAN SELLERS, Librarian

A STRONG, gay and gallant spirit is remembered in this year's Commencement. This year marks the centennial of the graduation of Horatio Collins King, author of our Alma Mater and a never-to-be-forgotten figure in Dickinson College history. Last year the personal papers of General King came to us as the gift of his grandson, Edward D. Gray. Auspiciously also, a great-granddaughter, Miss E. Dorsey Gray, is completing her first year as a student.

A large part of the King Papers will be on exhibit in the Library, illustrating his career at the College, as a law student with Edwin M. Stanton, as a Federal soldier in the Civil War, as a prominent New York lawyer, and showing also his love of music, his many songs, his love for the College and for the fraternal circle of Phi Kappa Sigma. Most revealing of all the papers are King's diaries. That covering his four years at Dickinson College should eventually be published, for it is almost certainly the most charming and forthright record of mid-century American student life. That recording his dash down the Shenandoah Valley with Sheridan's cavalry is written with the same light-hearted gaiety and is even more a part of history. He was a captain at the outset of that campaign and, at its close, a colonel and holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Among the papers are autographs of Lincoln, Grant, Sherman and many other leaders in military and civilian life. General King was a close friend and parishioner and Henry Ward Beecher, and the papers include many intimate personal letters from both Beecher and his sister, Harriet Beecher Stowe. In this exhibit may be seen the echoes of the long and happy life of a man of action, whose dedication to his college remained throughout as strong and true as his loyalty to his country.

Gets Achievement Award

Benjamin O. Nelson, '28, received the first annual Achievement Award from the Philadelphia Chapter, American Association of Hospital Accountants, at a dinner in Philadelphia on February 11. He is business manager of Abington Memorial Hospital, Abington, Pa.

An attractive plaque was presented to him as the Benjamin Franklin Annual Award "for outstanding service in the field of hospital accounting."

For some time he was associated with the firm of Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery, specializing in hospital accounting systems. His development at the "Lybrand System of Management Accounting for Hospitals" has enabled many Philadelphia and suburban hospitals to install cost systems and procedures in a way previously unknown to the hospital field. Beginning in September he will teach a course at Temple University "Management Accounting for Hospitals."

Lay Cornerstone During Priestley Day Celebration

Admiring Priestley Medallion
Prof. H. R. Rogers, Alden H. Emery, James B. Killian, Jr., President Edel and George B. Kistiakowsky

THE new C. Scott Althouse Science Hall at the College provided a significant backdrop for the 1958 Priestley Day celebration, which again drew to the campus distinguished men of science. The laying of the cornerstone of the imposing new structure, scheduled for completion in August, was one of the major events of the day-long celebration.

Climactic event as always was the presentation by President Edel of Dickinson's Priestley Memorial Award, which this year went to George B. Kistiakowsky, chairman of the department of chemistry at Harvard University and member of the President's Science Advisory Committee, for contributions to "the safety of the country and to the welfare of mankind through research in physical chemistry."

The seventh recipient of the award was introduced at the public award ceremony by another noted educator-scientist in service to the country at the highest level of national security planning, James R. Killian, Jr., president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and President Eisenhower's special assistant for science and technology. Dr. Killian and Dr. Kistiakowsky came to the campus directly from the White House where they have their offices.

The Russian-born Dr. Kistiakowsky is "a scientist's scientist" upon whose brilliant fundamental research in thermodynamics, kinetics and spectroscopy have been built much of the recent progress in fields of high-temperature syntheses, missile alloys and rocket fuels. He built the explosive device for the first atomic bomb and has helped perfect propellants for rockets.

"He is," said Dr. Killian in introducing the award winner, "a man of strongest loyalty, an indefatigable worker, a distinguished scientist and in every sense worthy of this recognition." Since his appointment to the Science Advisory Committee last December, Dr. Kistiakowsky has spent practically full-time in Washington on problems of greatest importance to the nation, Dr. Killian revealed.

Both Dr. Kistiakowsky and another Priestley Day speaker, Alden H. Emery, executive secretary of the 70,000-member American Chemical Society, called for a new emphasis upon the teaching of science at all levels of the educational process in order to maintain and enrich our society in the space age.

It is necessary that the nation maintain a technological know-how superior to any, but it is even more important that all our people—our leaders, politicians, men of affairs and the general public—be aware of the implications of science on their lives, said the Harvard scientist. "To help insure ourselves from the consequences of unwise decisions by national planners, we must return to education the belief that the study of science is essential to the study of liberal arts. Today, education without science is not education at all."

Much the same idea was expressed by Dr. Emery, honorary Dickinsonian, in the day's opening address. Declaring that the Sputniks are a challenge to America to toughen its educational system and to give a place of honor to the intellectual person, he said the public at last now understands that the technical developments necessary for national safety come from trained and disciplined minds.

To Dr. Kistiakowsky as the award winner went the handsomely mounted Wedgwood portrait medallion of Joseph Priestley which the College has presented to all recipients since the award was established by President Edel in 1952. For the fourth year the award was accompanied by a draft for $1,000, made possible by the gift in that amount to the College by the National Cylinder Gas Company of Chicago. The company's check was presented at the award ceremony by W. Roberts Wood, Louisville, Ky., president of the NCGC's Girdler Construction Division.

The ceremony followed a dinner for celebration participants and members of the faculty and their wives. Also at the dinner were several score members of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Section, American Chemical Society. For a number of years the section has held its March meeting on the campus to coincide with Priestley Day.

Construction work on the new science hall, begun last Fall, was halted for the cornerstone ceremony, central figure in which was Dr. C. Scott Althouse, trustee of the College, who made the major gift for the building. He heard himself described as a great benefactor of the College by Dr. Edel, who presided, and Boyd Lee Spahr, president of the board of trustees. Dr. Althouse was given a replica of the Priestley Award medallion with an inscribed silver attesting to his support of the college.

Others taking part in the cornerstone program were Dr. E. A. Vuilleumier, chairman of the department of chemistry, who each year has headed the committee arranging Priestley Day; M. W. Allen, chairman of the building committee of the board of trustees; Dr. Gilbert Malcolm, George Shuman, Jr., and Dean Frederic W. Ness, vice-presidents of the college, and Prof. Richard Sia of the chemistry department.

Dickinson Alumnae Club Holds Theater Party

THE Dickinson Alumnae Club of the New York Area met in New York City on February 1, for its annual luncheon and theater party. After lunching at Schrafft's at Broadway and 43rd Streets, the group went to the Schubert Theater to see "Bells are Ringing." Sixteen alumnae and five guests were in attendance.

This is the forty-second anniversary of the founding of the Alumnae organization in this area. Because of the pre-dominance of members from New Jersey, the club has decided to drop New York from its name, but the object, membership requirements, list of officers and by-laws remain as set forth in the constitution in 1916.

Three of the original members of the club were present at the theater party. They were: Mrs. Grace Hertzler Towers, '07, Miss Linette Lee, '09, and Miss Lydia Gooding, '10.

The Dickinson Alumnae Club holds two meetings a year, the first of which is the theater party that usually takes place in February or March. The other is a luncheon which is held late in October in New Jersey, either in a club member's home or at a restaurant. Any alumna who is residing in this area and who wishes to be a part of this organization to further pleasant social communication and to keep alive memories and ideals of their college days, and who is not already on the club's mailing list, is invited to contact the secretary.

The current officers are: President, Mrs. Elinor Green Spencer, '30 (Mrs. William M. Spencer); Vice President, Mrs. Ruth Cain Conner, '30 (Mrs. Clifford E. Conner); Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Pauline Bloser Gibson, '40 (Mrs. William R. Gibson), 434 Birch Place, Westfield, N. J.

Holds National Office

The Rev. Dr. Victor B. Hann, '28, has been named president-elect of the National Association of Methodist Hospitals and Homes for 1958-59. Officers were chosen at the National Convention held in Chicago in March.

Establish Two Alumni Clubs in Florida

THE Gulf Coast Dickinson Club and the Southern Florida Dickinson Club held organization dinner meetings in February and made plans for future get-togethers. These meetings came a year after informal meetings had been held in the same areas early in 1957.

The dates were set to coincide with a combined business and pleasure trip made by George Shuman, Jr., Financial Vice President, and Mrs. Shuman. They attended both dinners.

Harry P. Swain, '07, of St. Petersburg, was elected president of the Gulf Coast club and Arthur A. Pendleton, '48, of Miami, became the first president of the Southern Florida Club. All officers in the two clubs are residents of Florida. In planning for 1959, the officers hope that all Dickinsonians visiting in Florida will attend the dinners there. The Gulf Coast club set Friday, February 27, 1959 as the date for its next annual dinner in St. Petersburg.

Gulf Coast Club

Forty-one attended the dinner of the Gulf Coast club held in the "Johnny Applesseed" room in Craft Village, St. Petersburg on February 25. After a delicious dinner, Harry P. Swain, president, presided at a short business meeting when he was elected to office. The other officers elected were Mrs. Harriet Sanderson Poffenberger, '10, of Clearwater, vice-president and Mrs. Evelyn Carr Gilman, '21, 5240 1st Avenue North, St. Petersburg, secretary-treasurer.

George Shuman was the principal speaker and it is reported that "he gave a very interesting account of the progress being made at the college." The same reporter wrote that "A wonderful spirit of Dickinson fellowship prevailed throughout the evening and everyone agreed that it was a delightful occasion.

Those attending from the Sarasota district included Mr. and Mrs. Allan D. Thompson, Rev. Dr. E. C. Keboch and Mrs. Keboch, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Vanneman and Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Waldman.

Among those from St. Petersburg were Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Greybill, Dean M. Hoffman and Dean M. Hoffman II, Leland S. Smith and wife, (Myra Shearer).

Among those unable to be present but who sent greeting were Col. William Ganoe, Sarasota; Miss Helen Wehrle, Orlando; Dr. Lynn Harold Harris, Tampa; Rev. Dr. Francis Bayley and Rev. R. N. Edwards, both of Orlando.

Southern Florida Club

The Southern Florida Club was formed at a dinner at Grandma's Kitchen in Miami on Thursday, February 27 with 30 persons present.

Dr. Frank Y. Jagers, '14, presided and offered the invocation. He with George S. Southwick, '16, of West Palm Beach, arranged for the dinner and contacted alumni in that area.

Officers elected for a two-year term were Arthur A. Pendleton, '48, president; J. Robert Fiscella, '56, of Fort Lauderdale, vice president, and Mrs. Norman L. Houlberg, the former Dorothy A. Heck, '40, of 11299 S.W. 50th St., Miami, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Forest Adams, '11, was chairman of the nominating committee.

The club is planning two or more meetings during the year and under its youthful leadership rapid expansion of its membership has been promised by the officers.

The group were entertained by Mr. Maynard Reitz, of Lewisburg, Pa., who showed colored moving pictures of Polar bear and seal hunting in Alaska. Dickinson songs were sung accompanied on the accordian by Dottie Heck Houlberg.

A highlight of the dinner was the presence of Dr. Guy H. Shadinger, former professor of chemistry, at the college and Mrs. Shadinger, who live all year in Miami. Two of the northern visitors were Walter H. E. Scott, '24L and Mrs. Scott, of Detroit.

Others at the dinner included Dr. Maurice E. Heck, '08, and Mrs. Heck; Mervin B. Wise, '12; Charles D. Karns, '19; Walter E. Harnish, '20, and Mrs.

Harnish; Herman R. Koltnow, '51, and Mrs. Koltnow; Dr. Martin H. Matz, '53, and Mrs. Matz; and Richard E. Ross, '53, and Mrs. Ross.

George Shuman was the representative of the College and spoke as he did at the St. Petersburg dinner.

Athletic Teams Enjoying Brilliant Seasons

The intercollegiate athletic program of the College is nearing the end of an unusually successful year that has already produced two undefeated teams and may provide a third by term's end.

Cross-country, reinstated last Fall after a lapse of eight years, won three meets without a loss, setting a pattern for the swimmers who gave the College its first perfect tank season by outscoring all opponents in nine dual and triangular meets and lowering nearly all school and pool records in the process. The tankers have won sixteen straight matches.

Taking up where the swimmers left off, the track team won its first six dual meets and the lacrosse team ran over five successive opponents before being stopped finally by Baltimore University, national Class B champions for the past two years.

By the first week in May, the baseball nine was 3-3-1 and the tennis team had won five of its first seven matches. The composite record of the four spring sports teams stood by then at 19 victories against only six defeats and one tie.

The year's sports picture was not without its shadows. The football eleven had to settle for one of Dickinson's few winless seasons and the basketball team, which very much improved over recent years, lost more than it won, 9-10.

The year has been characterized by individual brilliance. Raymond Weaver, senior basketball star, became the first Dickinson player ever to score more than 1,000 points over three seasons. He established a new individual scoring record for the Alumni Gymnasium with 42 points against F and M and at season's end led the entire Northern Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference in total points, 367.

Edward Mulligan, great sophomore freestyle swimmer, was undefeated at 220 and 440 yards during the season. In the post-season Middle Atlantic Conference championships against the best from 10 colleges, he won the 220-yard title and Willis Coston, a junior, annexed the 50-yard freestyle title.

Don O'Neill, senior, who captained the undefeated swimming team and who was awarded the Gene Beck Memorial Cup for contributing most to the spirit of the team, has been the individual star of the lacrosse stickmen this spring. A great offensive player, he scored 39 goals in the first six matches to come within striking distance of the national individual one-season record of 48 goals. He is almost sure to win All-American recognition.

All in all, unsubsidized Dickinson athletes are still finding it possible to win a share of individual and team honors.

To Coach Lafayette Football

James P. McConlogue, '42, who spent one semester at Dickinson and then transferred to Moravian College, was named head football coach at Lafayette College in February. He had been back-field coach there for the past five years. After he graduated from Moravian in 1947, he coached at Netcong, N. J., and Allentown Central Catholic High School before joining the Lafayette staff.

Good Attendance at Annual Baltimore Club Dinner

THE annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore was held on February 26 with 60 present in Lovely Lane Methodist Church, Baltimore. The Rev. Dr. Kenneth Rose, '44, pastor of the church, offered the invocation and ladies of the church served a fine dinner.

Henry C. Engel, Jr., '53, president of the club, presided and Ruth Pritchard read the minutes of the previous meeting. Mr. Engel first introduced four Baltimoreans, who are Trustees of the College, S. M. Drayer, Charles C. Duke, W. Gibbs McKenney and Robert A. Waidner.

Before the formal program, Mrs. Edna Eitemiller Miller, '52, made a good report of the work of the Mary Dickinson Club of Baltimore. She told of several meetings which had been held and the club had made two awards to students in the college from Baltimore.

Homer M. Respass, '17, secretary of the General Alumni Association, opened the speaking program. He gave an interesting account of the Education Fund of the Baltimore Annual Conference, of which he is the secretary, in the aid it has given to the college through the years. He then paid tribute to Dr. William W. Edel for his accomplishments as president of the College and in turn introduced him to speak.

The guest speaker was Dr. James S. Leslie, Director of the Danforth Experiment at the College, who explained the studies being made into the religious life of the campus.

Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., senior member of the faculty, Robert B. Coleman, Professor of History and head of the department and Vice President Gilbert Malcolm also spoke briefly.

Robert C. Respass, '41, was elected president; the Rev. Elmer L. Kimmel, '36, and Henry C. Engel, Jr., '53, were elected vice presidents, while E. Elizabeth Tipton, '30, was named treasurer and Phyllis J. Engel, '55, of 923 Southerly Road, Towson, 4, Md., was chosen for secretary. The officers were elected for two-year terms.

Gains In Who's Who

In a letter to President William W. Edel, Mr. Arthur E. Nealy, Educational Director of the A. N. Marquis Company, publishers of "Who's Who In America" writes:

"In connection with our efforts to perpetuate what we believe to be the bulwark of democracy, the small liberal arts college with traditions stretching far back into the past, it always gives us pleasure to note the progress being made in leadership production at Dickinson College.

Pennsylvania is a state that has a large and enviable group of independent higher educational institutions. The ranking of Dickinson College with regard to the number of its graduates appearing as new names in each issue of Who's Who in America indicates that its impact on the business and professional life of the nation is very much on the increase in Pennsylvania.

In Volume 30 there are only two co-educational liberal arts institutions having more new names than the eight credited to Dickinson.

We want you to feel free to use this information in any way that you see fit in gaining the support necessary to a continuance of your fine record."

The Rev. Dr. Edward G. THE Rev. Robert J. Thomas, '40, pastor of the Rockefeller Memorial Methodist Church, Syracuse, N. Society Honors Historian

Charles Gilbert Beeten, '04, retired manufacturer of Carlisle and Philadelphia, has made the study of local history a lively avocation for 61 years, or from the time he was 16.

His numerous published papers on matters of historical import in Carlisle and Cumberland County are widely read and have helped to quicken public interest in the preservation of matters of local history.

Last February, 77 members of the Hamilton Library and Cumberland County Historical Association gathered in the James Wilson Hotel, in Carlisle, at a dinner in his honor. Dr. Milton E. Flower, '31, presided. Mr. Gilbert spoke and two of his papers were read.

Sent the Scriptures All Over the World

REV. Dr. Gilbert Darlington, '12, treasurer since 1920 of the American Bible Society, has retired from that office, but will continue as investment officer. During his distinguished career, he has made his work felt all over the world.

He was in charge of the society's publishing work, in addition to the administration of its finances, the investment of its funds and the supervision of its properties.

During his administration, the society published, imported and issued a total of 360,000,000 volumes of Scriptures, about two and a half times the total of the preceding 105 years. During World War II, his efforts contributed greatly to the high level of Scripture production, particularly for the armed forces, refugees and war-stricken foreign areas. The speed of the recovery of Scripture publication in Germany is regarded as being due largely to his initiative in investigation and sending supplies and machinery.

Ordained a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1915, he served as a Navy chaplain during World War I. Dr. Darlington initiated the improvements in the appearance of pocket Gospels published by the society and thus increased their circulation greatly. In the past ten years, these issues have totaled 75,000,000 in 16 languages.

He guided the development of an entirely new series of English Bibles and New Testaments, with greatly improved appearance and binding and lower cost.

One of his most recent contributions was the development of Gospels and other New Testament portions in magazine format in six languages, with profuse illustrations. The American society has published 9,124,000 copies and sister societies in other countries have published 700,000 more in 15 additional languages. These Gospels have been published in book form in both English and in German as the Illustrated New Testament, with 566 photographs and maps.

Gilbert Darlington

Dr. Darlington helped secure the present site of the Bible House at 450 Park Av., New York, and had a major role in the planning of Bible Houses in Peiping, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo and Buenos Aires.

He was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., the son of Bishop and Mrs. James H. Darlington, and educated at Dickinson College, Columbia, General Theological Seminary and Union Theological Seminary. He received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Dickinson in 1945. He is president of the Huguenot Society of America, regional commander of the Military Order of World Wars and chaplain general of the Naval Order of the United States.

His home is in Lawrence, N.Y., and in Manhattan.

Serves As Delegate

Dr. Dayton E. McClain, '06, served as the delegate of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Dr. William Joseph McDonald as Rector of The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., on April 16. Dr. McClain is vice president of American University.

Receives Doctor's Degree In Field of Music

C. David McNaughton, '33, a member of the music faculty at the State Teachers College, Indiana, Pa., will receive his doctor of philosophy degree from New York University in October. His doctoral thesis was written as a biography of a famous American musician and is entitled "Albert Stoessel, American Musician."

During the period 1939-1942 Dr. McNaughton had a fellowship in conducting at the Julliard Graduate School in New York City under Dr. Stoessel.

Prior to going to Indiana as a member of the music education faculty in 1948, he taught from 1946-48 at the University of Chattanooga in Tenn. From 1942-46 he was a warrant officer band leader in the United States Army.

Before World War II, he was an instructor at the Institute of Musical Art in New York City, and at Hotchkiss School and Indian Mountain School in Conn. He also taught from 1933-35 at the Hershey School, Hershey, Pa.

A graduate of William Penn High School, Harrisburg, Pa., and the College, he received his master of arts degree at New York University in music supervision.

He also received a diploma in conducting from Julliard School, and has taken private instruction from noted instructors on the piano, French horn and violin.

In addition to his experience in conducting school and army band groups, he has been director of the VFW band in Harrisburg, the Lookout Mountain (Tenn.) Presbyterian Church Choir, Indiana Municipal Band and Johnstown Symphony Orchestra.

He has directed public performances of the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra, the Julliard Graduate School Orchestra and the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra. He has also played the French horn professionally with a number of musical groups.

former Shirley Hamilton of Caldwell, N. J. They have three children, JoAnn, age 15, David, age 13 and John, age 9.

He is president of the Pennsylvania Collegiate Bandmaster's Association, a member of the American Musicological Society, the Music Educators' National Conference, Pennsylvania Music Educators' Association, the Band Directors' National Association and Phi Mu Alpha.

He is also a member of the National Education Association, the Pennsylvania State Education Association, the Association of State Teachers College Faculties and the American Federation of Musicians.

Candidate for Legislature

A. Todd Coronway, '20, is a candidate for the Pennsylvania Legislature on the Republican ticket at the May 20 primaries of the third district of Delaware County. His home is in Glenolden, Pa.

His daughter, Gwendolyn, has been accepted for admission as a member of the freshman class for the year in September at the College. She is a student at Westtown.

Reactivate Trenton Club

After a lapse of several years, the Dickinson Club of Central New Jersey held a dinner on May 6 at Landwehr's in Trenton with 40 present. The Rev. Dr. Ira S. Pimm, '19, headmaster of the Pennington School, offered the invocation.

A proposal was made to change the name of the club to the Delaware Valley Dickinson Club. With the development of new residential areas and new roads, officers believe many living in Pennsylvania could attend dinners in Trenton easier than to go to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Helen Laird Winkler, '29, wife of Dr. Albert F. Winkler, '20, was elected the new president for a two-year term. Bernard L. Green, '32, attorney, was elected vice-president and C. Walter Benner, '47, vice-principal of the Trenton High School, secretary-treasurer.

In the absence of Royce V. Haines, '30, president of the club, "Bernie" Green served as toastmaster. Opening the program, George Shuman spoke briefly and introduced the Kappa Sigma Trio, who delighted their hearers.

Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., was the principal speaker and he was followed by Gilbert Malcolm. The Rev. Harold W. Keller, '23, who is both a high school teacher and an ordained minister, pronounced the benediction.

Chosen by Chamber

Karl W. Goosman, '52, became manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Bellefonte, Pa., in March.

A graduate of Clearfield High School and with Phi Beta Kappa honors from the College, he studied at the University of Munich, Germany, for a year. Since last September he was a graduate assistant and a student at Pennsylvania State University.

He served with the Counter Intelligence Corps of the U. S. Army in Italy for two years. There in December 1953 he married Bianca-Maria Lorenzon at Trieste.

Chosen For New Posts

F. Lamont Henninger

A number of new jobs have been acquired by the Rev. Dr. F. Lamont Henninger, '24, in recent months culminating in his appointment to be Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the College, succeeding the late Dr. George Henry Ketterer, '08. This appointment was made in February by President Boyd Lee Spahr.

Two weeks earlier at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches in Pittsburgh, he was elected vice president of the Council.

A week later in Lancaster, at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Temperance League, he was elected a Trustee, a member of the Executive Committee, a member of the Committee on Policy, and a Director of the National Temperance League representing the Pennsylvania League.

When he isn't doing these things, he is superintendent of the Harrisburg District of the Central Pennsylvania Annual Conference of the Methodist Church. He is making plans for the session of the Conference to be held on the campus in June.

Present Addition to Steese Collection

Miss Sophia M. Steese, Washington, D.C. and Colonel Charles M. Steese, '07, have presented to the College a colorful collection of the papers of their brother, Brigadier General James G. Steese, '02, who died January 11 at Bangui, French Equatorial Africa.

The papers are of interest chiefly as they document the career of an able soldier, engineer and distinguished alumnus. General Steese proceeded from Dickinson to West Point, and after graduation there he worked for five years on construction of the Panama Canal, studying incidentally the problems of construction and maintenance of the Panama Railway. In the years immediately preceding World War I, he taught engineering at West Point, during that war he served as Assistant to the Chief of Engineers, and in 1920-27 he held simultaneously an astonishing number and variety of important federal posts in Alaska. The Army used to the full his wide experience, especially in highway and railroad engineering. In 1927 he retired from the Army, to spend the next fourteen years as an engineer and executive in the world's great oil fields. Recalled to active duty in 1941, he served in the Canal Zone until 1947.

All in all, General Steese traveled well over half a million miles, and his civilian career was frequently interrupted by special missions for the government. The papers now presented to the College are mainly scrapbooks and journals of his travels. Perhaps the item of greatest interest is an unpublished manuscript of 121 pages entitled "Through War-Torn Europe," an account of his experiences on a special military mission in the summer of 1919.

The present gift constitutes a substantial addition to the Library's Steese Collection, a body of personal and family papers which General Steese himself presented in 1952, and to which he added on subsequent occasions.

Luncheon At Pittsburgh

The annual luncheon of the Dickinson Club of Pittsburgh was held on Saturday noon, April 26, at Kauffmans when there were 30 present.

James L. Bruggeman, '50, who completed a two-year term as president of the club, presided. Robert W. McWhinney, '41, who among his other accomplishments is an Episcopalian Lay Leader, offered the invocation.

Dr. E. A. Vuilleumier, C. Scott Alt-house Professor of Chemistry and head of the department, was the principal speaker and performed in his own inimitable style. Trailing behind him were George Shuman, Jr., and Gilbert Malcolm.

James M. McElfish, '43, was chairman of the nominating committee and his report was adopted. The new officers are James G. Park, '52, president; William D. Gordon, '36, vice president and Mrs. E. A. Witt, the former Helen Mercer, '55, of 36 Chapman St., Pittsburgh 5, Pa., secretary-treasurer.

Guest On CBS Broadcast

In Radio Interview
F. E. Masland, Jr. and Galen Drake

Frank E. Masland, Jr., '18, president of C. H. Masland & Sons, manufacturers of rugs and carpets, recently appeared as a featured guest on the Galen Drake Radio Interview which was broadcast coast-to-coast over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Included in the topics discussed on the program were Mr. Masland's many travels into the wildernesses of Panama, the San Blas Archipelago, the Darien Jungle, the Galapagos Islands and the Florida Everglades, and his four trips down the Colorado River which have made him eligible for membership in the exclusive order of Colorado River Rats.

Also discussed by Mr. Masland and Galen Drake was the Masland Radio Color Roundup which the CBS Radio Network broadcast on May 4.

Ralph Bellamy was host in the musical-variety spectacular which starred such personalities as Judy Holliday, Robert Preston, Andy Griffith, Edyie Gorme, Andy Williams, Herb Shriner, the Ames Brothers, Edgar Bergen and the Ray Charles Singers. Special music composed and conducted by David Rose highlighted the show.

Library Needs

Opportunities for a library to acquire needed and important books as gifts occur fairly often in metropolitan centers, but are rare in what the College fathers used to call the "retired and healthy situation" of Carlisle. We look to our alumni to offset this disadvantage by calling the attention of possible donors to our needs.

Above all, we should be on the lookout for long runs of learned and literary periodicals. The Dickinson College Library has an excellent subscription list of over 500 titles, but most of these began recently—our "Journal of Heredity" for instance, in 1932, our "Cornhill Magazine" in 1947 and our "Journal of Consulting Psychology" in 1950. In some cases, this is like having the head without the body, and full sets are urgently needed. Others we lack entirely. Sets of some of the old historical series, such as the Camden and Chetham Society publications, would be most useful. If one of our active Baltimore alumni could find for us a complete set of the "Maryland Historical Magazine" he would earn the gratitude of Dickinson's scholars, young and old, for many years to come.

For our most notable recent gift of this sort we are indebted to a friend only remotely associated with the College. Dr. John F. Norton, of Tryon, N. C., sent us his complete sets of the "Journal of Bacteriology" and "Bacteriological Reviews." We immediately entered current subscriptions for both, and both now represent an immediate and substantial advance for our Biology Department and for the Library as a whole.

Washington Club to Seek More Scholarship Funds

PLANS to launch an effort to increase the amount of the Dickinson Club of Washington Scholarship were announced at the annual dinner of the club held in the Kenwood Country Club, Bethesda on April 30, when there were 71 present. The Rev. Dr. S. Carroll Coale, '08, offered the invocation.

William J. Batrus, '38, chairman of the scholarship committee, made the report and urged that the amount of $150 given for the past twenty years was far too low in the light of college costs.

Dr. Robert N. Coale, '39, president of the club, presided and presented William R. Schmucker, of the Class of 1901, and Margaret Cleveland Clark, of the Class of 1957, as representatives of the earliest and latest classes represented at the dinner.

Dr. Karl T. Waugh, who was the President of the College in 1932-33, was introduced and spoke of his attachment for Dickinson and in approval of the aims of the college.

He was followed by Dr. Edgar M. Finck, Henry Ford Professor of Education, who simply offered a word of greeting. Then Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr. told of the developing work of the college in preparing students for graduate studies and the practice of teaching.

President William W. Edel was the principal speaker, and he kept on an informal plane and spoke intimately. Gilbert Malcolm wound up the program.

The dinner was followed by dancing with a group of young people from Washington furnishing the music.

Fine Dinner At Chatham

As usual the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Northern New Jersey held at the William Pitt in Chatham on May 7 was a fine affair and well attended. There were 75 present.

The Rev. Clark L. VanAuken, '16, pastor of the Park Avenue Methodist Church, East Orange, N. J., offered the invocation. Mrs. Mary Read Oerther, '26, president of the club, presided ably.

Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., was the principal speaker and his topic dealt with the development of the teaching of science at the College. He contrasted the number of faculty members and the courses offered when he became a member of the faculty in 1915 with those of the present day.

When he spoke, Gilbert Malcolm announced that Betty Ann Keat, daughter of the late S. Harold Keat, '16, who had been awarded the scholarship of the club for the present year, had a 4.000 average in the first semester. To those who do not understand the present grading system this also means a grade of "A" in each subject.

The officers having been elected for two-year terms last year, no business session was held. The other officers are Edward E. Johnson, '32, vice-president, and Randolph T. Jacobsen, '32, secretary-treasurer.

Speaks at Inaugural

President William W. Edel was one of the speakers at inaugural ceremonies at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, Neb., on April 18, when Dr. Vance Donald Rogers, one of his life-long friends, was inaugurated as the thirteenth president of the university.

"No Greater Need" was the title of the address delivered by President Edel and the inauguration held on the morning of Inaugural Day. His conclusion was "There is no greater need, than the need for Christian Teachers, for they are the hope of the world."

Nebraska Wesleyan University has asked Dr. Edel for permission to publish his address.

Writes Inspiring Biography of Bishop Spencer

By GILBERT MALCOLM

SEED FOR A SONG, by Lee Hastings Bristol, Jr., Little, Brown & Company, Boston, Mass. 244 pp. $3.75.

AN INSPIRING biography of Bishop Robert Nelson Spencer, '03, one of Dickinson's finest products, "a man of great humor and compassion, a man of fierce courage and spiritual insight, a man of whimsy and fine talent and achievement in lives touched and made better by him" has just come from the presses of Little, Brown & Co.

The author is Lee Hastings Bristol, Jr., Director of Public Relations at the Bristol-Myers Products Division. "In addition," writes Edward R. Murrow, "he is an author, organist and composer, and a prominent Episcopal layman. This substantial achievement in such a diversity of fields would be remarkable in a man of any age. It is all the more so in view of the fact that Dr. Bristol has done all this at the age of thirty-five."

Seed For A Song begins when "Little Robbie" was a seven-year-old boy in 1884 on a farm in Tunnel, N. Y. It tells how his childhood was marred by a crippling accident that kept him from going to school until he was a grown man. It reports the long seven years of pain and suffering until a surgeon in Binghamton operated on his arm and then the odd jobs in a cheese factory, work on the farm and as a signalman's helper until the day he entered the Methodist parsonage at Port Crane, N. Y., and told the Rev. Guy Snowden of his decision to enter the ministry.

Dr. Snowden, a graduate of Johns Hopkins and Drew Seminary, told his protegee of what lay ahead and started him on the career which was to overcome every barrier of physical hardship and poverty to become a man of God. He became Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Western Missouri.

Through Dr. Snowden's help, Bishop

Spencer first went to Wyoming Seminary in Wilkes-Barre, where near the end of his first year he was stricken with "a kind of osteomyelitis" in the cavity of the mastoid and another boyhood operation nearly took his life. When he left the hospital, Dr. Snowden took him to his parsonage promising "Mother will fatten you up in no time." To which he added "It may do us Methodists some good, having an Episcopalian like you around the place." The sense of humor, which was to become one of the fine facets of Bishop Spencer, was revealed that day when he replied "You know what they say: If we could get the fire of Methodism under the water of the Baptists, we might get enough steam to run the Episcopal Church!"

A chapter in the book tells how "Robert, a lanky twenty-one-year-old, arrived in Carlisle late on a September afternoon in 1898" to enter the Dickinson Preparatory School, which was then housed in South College, now the site of the Alumni Gymnasium. "Professor" Heckman, the book says—probably the late Dr. Edgar R. Heckman, '97, met him at the door and assigned him to Room 13. "You're not superstitious, are you, Bob?" "No, sir, I'm not," Robert said with a grin.

Fred Downes, later Superintendent of the Harrisburg schools, was the principal then and also taught Math, which Bob "found very hard to handle. He even wrote a poem on the subject called 'Aftermath.'"

*"If, in a crucible, I beld
The nether god's most with'ring wrath,
With hardened heart and steady hand,
I'd pour the contents out on math."*

At the end of the year, President George Edward Reed told him that he would be admitted to the freshman class of the college in the fall, and got him a job in the State library during the summer to help with his finances. The author capably chronicles some of the "Dickinson Doings," which were not academic, among them how the young Bishop, after a Beta Theta Pi affair spent the night with a fellow student at the grave of Molly Pitcher. The next morning, the book says "It had begun to drizzle, and Frank Sellers ('97), a fellow Beta, spotted Robert in his damp, soiled evening clothes, grabbed him by the arm, and headed him to the street toward the campus. They had not gone more than a few yards when they spotted Frank's brother, Montgomery Sellers, a professor at the College. The professor looked somewhat startled."

These are the beginnings of the man about whom President Harry S. Truman was to say "I admire Bishop Spencer very much. He is a wonderful man and a great churchman."

Dr. Bristol writes an illuminating and intimate portrait of the man, who was to open his church to the freezing unemployed, who was to walk unarmed to rescue a captive from four gangsters, who bested the skeptical lawyer Clarence Darrow and silenced Sinclair Lewis, who comforted the poor and served as one of the spiritual giants of his Church.

Now 81 and retired Bishop Spencer lives in Kansas City, Mo. Perhaps when he returns for his 55th Reunion at the end of this month, he will quote to his fellow-members of 1903 his Processional which appeared in the Dickinson Literary Monthly nearly 60 years ago and is reprinted in Seed For A Song:

*"The bell that tolls the summer out is done,
And, like unto a chancel, Dickinson
Comes our processional, bowing low before
Thy shrine of Knowledge and Thy God of Love."*

Receives Danforth Fellowship

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ford, both of the Class of 1956, will be at Mississippi State College for the academic year 1958-59. Mrs. Ford is the former Helen Herr.

Joe has received a Danforth Foundation Fellowship to work as an intern in student religious activities there. Since his graduation he has been a student at Drew Theological Seminary.

Wins Two Awards

The year 1957 brought two awards to Jacob L. Barber, Jr., '46, for consistently high caliber of work as a supervisory experimental psychologist in the Camouflage Branch of the U. S. Army Engineering and Development Laboratories, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The first award of $300 for "sustained superior performance" was followed in November by a certificate of "outstanding work performance." The commanding officer of the laboratories made the presentation in both instances.

Barber, who is married to the former Fern L. McCormick, '47, has been a civilian employe at Belvoir since 1950. A physics major at Dickinson, he did graduate work in physics and psychology at Lehigh and received a master's degree there in 1948. He spent the following year in further work in psychology at Johns Hopkins.

Seeks Assembly Seat

William H. McCrea, Jr., '31, attorney of Newville and Shippensburg, Pa., is a candidate for the Pennsylvania House of Representatives in the Democratic primaries on May 20.

He is associated with his brother, John McCrea, '29, in the law firm of McCrea and McCrea. His father served as prothonotary in Cumberland County in the 1890s. He is president of the Cumberland County Association for Retarded Children and has been active in this association since its inception. He is a school director and president of the Mifflin Parent-Teacher Association.

A Presbyterian and an elder of his church, he is a member of S.A.E., Skull and Key, Delta Theta Phi and Corpus Juris.

His wife is the former Mary K. Herb, of Halifax, a graduate of Hood College. They have two daughters and two sons.

Following his graduation from the college, he attended Shippensburg State Teachers College for work toward a teacher's certification. He expects to receive a Master's degree in psychology and guidance from Scranton University in June.

Philadelphia Dinner Different

A departure from the customary alumni club dinner took place at the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Philadelphia held at the Rolling Green Country Club on April 28 when there were 125 present, perhaps sixty per cent of them alumni of the past fifteen years.

Instead of a number of speeches, a delegation from the college visited with the alumni before, during and after an excellent buffet dinner catered by William E. Kurtzhalz, '36, and his wife. Weston C. Overholt, Jr., '50, president of the club, was the master of ceremonies.

Following the dinner, the Kappa Sigma Trio sang a group of songs. The trio is composed of Walter Barnes, Jr., '58, of Philadelphia; William E. Rogers, '58, son of Prof. and Mrs. Horace E. Rogers, and Earl Weiner, '60, of Baltimore.

After they sang "Wes" recognized Boyd Lee Spahr, president of the Board of Trustees, and he was given an ovation in recognition of the 50th anniversary of his election as a trustee of the college. Then Vice President Gilbert Malcolm and President Edel both talked for a few minutes.

Others from the campus were George Shuman, Jr., treasurer and Financial Vice President, Prof. Benjamin D. James, Director of Admissions; Victoria K. Hann, Dean of Women; David B. Eavenson, Director of Athletics and Head of the Department of Physical Education and Donald R. Seibert, Assistant Professor of Physical Education and coach of football.

"The Witness of William Penn"

By CHARLES COLEMAN SELLERS,
Librarian

The Witness of William Penn. Edited by E. Gordon Alderfer and Frederick B. Tolles. New York, Macmillan, 1957. $3.75.

E. Gordon Alderfer, '40, the present Director of Research and Development at CARE in New York, is co-editor of the first broadly representative selection of the writings of William Penn to be published since 1825. The work is both concise and authoritative, and will prove immediately useful to students of Pennsylvania history and of the struggle for religious liberty which brought our commonwealth into existence. It is divided into three sections, "The Apostolic Christian," "The Christian Statesman," and "The Final Distillation," appropriate headings which however hardly suggest the dramatic quality of the material and the sequence. This reaches its climax midway in the book with the report of the trial of William Penn and William Mead, in 1670, for the crime of "preaching in Gracious Street."

Penn as a writer was more learned than lucid, and to this may be ascribed the fact that Pennsylvanians are far more familiar with his thought as it was translated into action than as he wrote it. The editors of this work have gone far, within in the scholarly formula, in presenting our founder's faith and philosophy with directness and clarity.

Dr. Tolles, Mr. Alderfer's associate in the work, is an eminent Quaker historian now on the faculty of Swarthmore College, and is remembered on our campus for his Spahr Lecture, "John Dickinson and the Quakers," delivered in 1956.

This type of research concerns Chemotherapy, with chemicals entering the tests as a possible effective anti-cancer agent. It is an attempt to find some effective chemical affinity for particular cells or parts of cells, or to take advantage of some indicated difference between cancer and normal cells.
