

A Candle
Burned
With a Remarkably Vigorous
Flame

THE
DICKINSON ALUMNUS

Alumni
College
May 7 and 8

Dickinsonian
On Broadway

Record
Turnouts
At Alumni
Club Dinners

May 1965

THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS

May 1965, Vol. 42, No. 2

PUBLISHER

The General Alumni Association of Dickinson College

EDITOR

Vincent J. Schafmeister, Jr., '49

HONORARY EDITORS

Dean Hoffman, '02
Gilbert Malcolm, '15

ALUMNI PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

Harry E. Hinebauch, '34, Chairman
Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., '35
William B. Harlan, '50
Carl High, '51
David McGahey, '60
M. Charles Sellar, '55
Martha Young, '62

Honorary President

Gilbert Malcolm, '15

OFFICERS

President Robert Grant Crist, '47
Vice President Howell C. Mette, '48
Secretary Kathryn Coulter Brougher, '27

THE ALUMNI COUNCIL

Mrs. Mary McCrone Waltman, '29
Robert G. Crist, '47 (President)
Constance Klages, '56
(elected to fill Mrs. Griesemer's unexpired term)
Austin W. Brizendine, '39
Sidney D. Kline, Jr., '54
Kenneth R. Bowling, '62
Mrs. Kathryn Coulter Brougher, '27
(Secretary)
Harry E. Hinebauch, '34
Mrs. Margaret Burt Burtner, '41
James M. McElfish, '43
Howell C. Mette, '48 (Vice President)
George G. Lindsay, '48
George C. Hering III, '53
Jerry D. Bole, '63
Virginia Watts, '24
Robertson C. Cameron, '28
Mrs. Helen Dickey Morris, '33
Samuel J. McCartney, '41
Mrs. Mary Mackie Eshelman, '43
Rev. Ralph L. Minker, Jr., '47
Rev. Kermit L. Lloyd, '52
Douglas McPherson, '64

THE ALUMNI TRUSTEES

Mrs. Helen Douglass Gallagher, '26
Professor Roy R. Kuehler, Jr., '33
Weston C. Overholt, Jr., '50
Winfield C. Cook, '32

The Dickinson Alumnus is published
February, May, August, October and December. Entered as second class matter May 23, 1923, at the Post Office at Carlisle, Pa., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

In This Issue

	Page
Gift of Priestley Memorabilia	1
Around the Campus	4
Hoop Team MAC Champions	6
Letters to the Editor	9
Alumni College	10
Alumni Notes	11
Pre-Theo, '61—Island Parson, '64	14
Dickinsonian on Broadway	16
Alumni Author	20
Personal Mention	21
Obituaries	32
Who Remembers?	Inside back cover
Alumni Day, Commencement	Back cover

Dr. Hildebrand, recipient of Priestley Award, studies statue of famed scientist. Photograph above depicts our Burning Glass.

“A Candle
Burned
With a Remarkably Vigorous Flame”

JOSEPH PRIESTLEY

Largest Private Gathering of Priestley Memorabilia in America Given to College

The largest and one of the most valuable private collections of Joseph Priestley material in America has been given to Dickinson College by a direct descendant of the famed 18th century English scientist and theologian.

Mrs. Temple Fay, Philadelphia, the donor, is a great-great-great granddaughter of Priestley, discoverer of oxygen. She received the collection from her father, the late Joseph Priestley Button, textile manufacturer of Philadelphia and a painter of note.

The gift includes 84 books and pamphlets by Priestley, 92 works about him, including many of the controversial pieces written at the height of his fame, and a great number of family letters and documents extending from Priestley's forebears into his own career and on through the lives of his children.

With these are dozens of portraits, busts, caricatures, commemorative medals, an archive of newspaper clippings and other ephemera extending from early dates down to the present.

Dr. Charles Coleman Sellers, the librarian of Dickinson College, said that for nearly a century this collection has been known as a major resource for scholars. It is cited in such learned works as Henry Bolton's "Scientific Correspondence of Joseph Priestley" and John F. Fulton's "Works of Joseph Priestley."

The collection has been exhibited at Yale, the University of Pennsylvania and at other institutions. At Dickinson, it joins scientific apparatus from Priestley's laboratory acquired by the college after his death in 1804 at nearby Northumberland, Pa., where he spent the last 10 years of his life in self-imposed exile. Priestley had left England be-

Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, then chancellor of the University, was the recipient in 1960 and Kenneth S. Pitzer in 1963. Dr. Pitzer, now president of Rice University, is a native Californian and taught at the University of California, Berkeley.

There have been 13 other winners, among them Willard F. Libby, pioneer in radiocarbon dating; Harold C. Urey, discoverer of deuterium, and Edward Teller, "father of the hydrogen bomb." Isidor I. Rabi, Columbia University physicist and Nobel Prize winner, was the winner last year.

"The feeling of it to my lungs was not sensibly different from that of common air; but I fancied that my breast felt peculiarly light and easy for some time afterwards. Who can tell but that, in time, this pure air may become a fashionable article of luxury? Hitherto, only two mice and myself have had the privilege of breathing it."

cause of persecution for his political and religious views.

A part of the gift collection was exhibited during Dickinson's annual Priestley Day celebration on March 18. At that time the Dickinson Award in Memory of Priestley (a portrait medallion of the great man and $1000) was presented to Joel H. Hildebrand, the noted physical chemist. Mrs. Fay was a special guest.

Dr. Hildebrand was honored for his "contributions to mankind through research in the fields of solubility and the structure of liquids." The scientist is the author of over 200 research articles and many books.

Dr. Hildebrand, professor of chemistry emeritus at the University of California, Berkeley, is the third U. of C. scientist to be chosen for the award.

Howard L. Rubendall, Dickinson president, presented the award following an address by Dr. Hildebrand on the subject "Order from Chaos." The scientist said that most of the order that has been brought into contemporary chemistry in this century was constructed out of chaos.

Dr. Hildebrand challenged ambitious young scientists anxious to do research. The former president of the American Chemical Society suggested that they "undertake experiments in order to get answers to significant questions—not just to measure something or other."

"Measurement of some (chemical) property seems to be the only aim of many of the research proposals I am called upon to appraise," he said. "Some of these requests for research grants read as though they were prompted not by scientific curiosity but by a dean saying 'Look here, Bill, we ought to get in on some of this government money; can't you think up a project?'

Shown during the Priestley Day celebration with Joel H. Hildebrand, noted physical chemist, who holds the Priestley Memorial Award, are Mrs. Temple Fay, direct descendant of the famed scientist, and Dr. Howard L. Rubendall, president of the College.

He said data gathered "more or less at random are not those most likely to be useful in extending the conceptual structure of science."

"I do not deprecate the gathering of reliable data. I only say, try to think up good questions to investigate."

Dr. Hildebrand has been honored many times and among his awards are the American Chemical Society's Priestley Medal, the William Proctor Prize of the Scientific Research Society of America, the Willard Gibbs Medal and the William H. Nichols Medal.

Mrs. Fay's gift also includes a Rembrandt Peale portrait of Priestley and an equally valuable likeness in the form of a plaster bust, 11½ inches high, made in Birmingham, England, between 1786 and 1791 by P. Berni. Only one other example of the Berni work was recorded and is believed lost.

There are many examples of the Wedgwood profile, most famous of all Priestley likenesses. One of these medallions is the familiar white on blue, another a rare large-size oval 13 x 10 inches, the early type entirely in black jasper, another in white on black, a casting in brass and in still smaller size four intaglio jewels.

Also in the gift are Priestley seals in various forms, including an electrotype of that used by him in dispatching his letters.

Dr. Charles C. Sellers, College Librarian, examines reflecting telescope of Priestley. Top right is a portrait of the famous chemist beside one of his refracting telescopes.

Priestley designed this gun, which can still fire a lead bullet, to demonstrate the propulsive qualities of compressed air. Many Dickinsonians will recall the "Annual Senior Target Shoot" staged with this gun.

Other memorabilia extend from pieces of original scientific apparatus, the Priestley bookplate (made by James Baylis Allen, one of the great landscape engravers of his day) on down to such intimate items as Priestley's snuff box and a little barrel organ brought to America with the Priestley family in 1794 three years after the Priestley home was burned in the Birmingham riots.

A rare print in the collection depicts the Birmingham riots, showing people throwing furniture from the Priestley home into the street. There is a bronze model of Frances Darlington's seated statue, with the artist's original study in crayon.

Mrs. Fay, the donor, has indicated that the family was anxious to keep the collection together and in Pennsylvania. At Dickinson, it will be placed in a museum of Priestleiana in a new library to be built by the college next year, it was announced.

Joseph Priestley, born in 1733, was one of the first persons to have rendered chemistry as a precise science. He discovered oxygen, carbon monoxide and other chemical elements and early recognized that respiration and combustion were similar processes. For these and other contributions he has been called the father of modern chemistry and the American Chemical Society looks upon him as its patron saint.

He also made major contributions to other fields of thought—religion, political theory, educational philosophy. He was one of the most controversial figures of his day.

Around The Campus

Memorial Scholarship

The Dickinson College chapter of Theta Chi has created a scholarship in memory of Joseph A. Borelli, of Reading, a sophomore member, who was killed in an automobile accident last December 5.

The Joseph Borelli Scholarship will be given each year to a sophomore on the basis of grade average, financial need and service to the fraternity. The recipient's name will be inscribed upon a permanent plaque and all of his fraternity bills for one semester will be paid by the chapter.

William E. Benner, Sellersville, chapter secretary, said that if any other children of the Borelli family attend Dickinson, funds in the Theta Chi Scholarship, created with proceeds of sale of the chapter's former house on West High Street, would be available to them.

Borelli suffered fatal injuries when his car ran off the Gov. Ritner highway, six miles west of Carlisle, and struck a tree. He had borrowed the car from a fraternity brother.

Gates to Williamsburg

Dr. Warren J. Gates, professor of history at Dickinson College, has been awarded a grant-in-aid of research by Colonial Williamsburg for the coming summer.

As part of a larger study, Dr. Gates will investigate the 18th century Virginian's awareness of English economic writings and his reactions to interpretations of the role of the colonies in the economy of imperial Britain.

He will use the resources at Williamsburg and consult major libraries in other parts of Virginia, in North and South Carolina and Washington, D. C.

Other aspects of his study took Dr. Gates to England for several weeks last summer and fall.

Six Methodist Scholarships

Dickinson College has been allotted six National Methodist Scholarships for the 1965-1966 term, an increase of two over recent years.

The scholarships are worth up to $500 each and are granted on the basis of superior academic standing, leadership ability, character and need. Applicants must be active members of the Methodist Church and leaders in Christian activities on the campus.

According to the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., additional scholarships for all of the church's senior colleges were made possible by greater Student Day offerings in the churches and good income from invested funds.

More than 5000 Methodist scholarships have been granted since the program was started in 1945.

Honor System Working

At least one honor system is working well these days.

This one is an honor code for women's residence halls at Dickinson College, a co-educational school with 1300 students.

Barbara S. Wishmeyer, dean of women, reports that 293 out of 305 co-eds feel the honor system is "working quite successfully."

The honor system was instituted last September on a trial basis subject to evaluation at the end of the fall term in February. Professor Wishmeyer in a questionnaire asked the students to give their opinion on the new system.

An "overwhelming number" reported that the code was operating better than they had expected. All but seven of the students polled indicated the honor system is better than any form of dormitory government previously experienced by them, and all but 12 out of 305 co-eds urged that the honor system be continued.

Superior Achievement

Prof. William W. Virgin of the Dickinson College faculty, a geologist, has been informed of his election to full membership in Sigma Xi by the Lehigh University chapter of the science honor society. He was elected an associate member in 1955.

Sigma Xi seeks to promote research in both pure and applied sciences. Membership demonstrates a high order of achievement in conducting independent research which contributes to the total of scientific knowledge.

A University of New Hampshire graduate, Dr. Virgin earned a master's degree and his Ph.D. at Lehigh.

Herber Reappointed

Dr. Elmer C. Herber of Dickinson College has been reappointed an honorary collaborator of the famed Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., in recognition of his research and writings.

Chairman of the department of biology at Dickinson, Dr. Herber has been engaged for a number of years in preparing a biography of Spencer Fullerton Baird, early Dickinson alumnus and the foremost naturalist of his day, who was secretary of the Smithsonian from 1878 until his death in 1887.

Dr. Herber was first made an honorary collaborator in 1957. According to T. Dale Stewart, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian, the reappointment will afford Dr. Herber "opportunity for further productive research" there.

Schiffman to France

Dr. Joseph H. Schiffman, professor of English at Dickinson College, who was in India last year, has received a Fulbright Appointment to teach at the University of Bordeaux in France next year.

He will lecture in American literature, his special field of interest. In addition, he will do research in the French influence on Hemingway and other contemporary American writers who have lived in France for extended periods.

The Fulbright grant is the second for Dr. Schiffman in as many years. He spent eight months in India last year setting up and administering the East's first American Studies Center under assignment by the State Department.

In India he dealt exclusively with professors and government officials. In France he will work with students in the setting of the lecture hall.

The new appointment permits Dr. Schiffman to take Mrs. Schiffman and their children, Jessica, 12, and Joshua, 10, with him. They were also in India together. They will leave for France about August 1.

Dickinson has given Dr. Schiffman a sabbatical leave permitting him to accept the foreign lectureship.

Science Grant to Finance Faculty Research

President Howard L. Rubendall, left, Prof. Carl E. Kerr, Dean Samuel H. Magill, Mr. Alfred Kelleher of Research Corp., Prof. Horace Rogers, and Prof. William B. Jeffries meet to discuss the $85,000 grant given to Dickinson for research in the sciences. (Dickinsonian photo)

Research Corporation, New York, has made a science grant of $85,000 to Dickinson College, according to Howard L. Rubendall, Dickinson president.

He said the grant will enable the college to undertake at once a three-year, $173,000 program for increasing faculty research in the sciences.

The grant will be paid over three years and during this time Dickinson will spend $88,000 of its own on the program.

Dr. Rubendall said the program is part of the long-range planning of the college. With the grant, Dickinson takes the step sooner and on a larger scale than would have been possible with the college acting alone.

Under the plan, the college will add one new faculty member in each of the departments of biology, chemistry and mathematics, increase the number of teaching and laboratory assistants and finance initial research needs of younger members of the faculty.

Intellectual Elite Feted

Left to right are Liennea Imler, R. Bruce Canright, Jr., Dr. William E. Buckler, Robert A. Martin, Jr., and Mary Troxler.

The intellectual elite of the Dickinson College student body was feted recently by the faculty at the Annual Scholarship Dinner at Allenberry.

Present with the faculty were the 127 students in all four classes who achieved averages of 3.5 or better in either of the last two semesters.

Special guests were five seniors just elected to Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest scholarship society, and Weston G. Donehower, the Senior Sophister, who was elected last June.

The five as announced by Prof. Horace E. Rogers are: R. Bruce Canright, Jr., Pacific Palisades, Calif.; Judith Ruth Greenfield, Cherry Hill, N. J.; Liennea Darlene Imler, Vienna, Va.; Robert A. Martin, Jr., Fort Knox, Ky., and Mary Ellen Troxler, Lansdowne, who is blind.

Howard L. Rubendall, president of the college, presided and the speaker was William E. Buckler, dean of New York University's Washington Square College of Arts and Sciences and a noted specialist in the field of English literature of the 19th Century.

Recognition of the student-scholars was led by Dean Samuel H. Magill and Prof. William R. Bowden, president of the Dickinson chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. The chapter, chartered in 1887 and the society's oldest in Pennsylvania, held an initiation ceremony prior to the dinner.

Reduces Load

Also, library holdings in the three departments will be strengthened and clerical assistance increased.

Dr. Rubendall said the additional staff will reduce teaching loads, thereby giving the science faculty more time for research and other scholarly work. Research, he said, is an important corollary of excellence in teaching.

In other new moves at Dickinson stressing science, the college is requiring its 1300 students to take two years of science and is moving from almost exclusive emphasis upon pre-medical science education to the preparation for graduate study.

"The college intends to produce a larger share of college teachers and researchers in the years ahead," said Dean Samuel H. Magill.

According to Research Corporation, the Dickinson grant is part of the foundation's efforts "to help strengthen research-oriented departments at private liberal arts colleges which have undertaken programs for advancement in excellence."

Founded in 1912 to support research in the natural sciences, Research Corporation is one of the earliest foundations in the country.

Hoop Team MAC Southern Division Champs

Four varsity sports produced 41 letter winners during the winter season. At a recent dinner these letters were awarded and at the same time election of basketball and swimming captains for next year.

Don Smith of Wayne, who set two hoop records, will captain the basketball squad while Bill Moyer of Laurel, Delaware and John Winfield of Little Silver, New Jersey, will co-captain the swimmers. Moyer and Winfield also hold Dickinson records.

Coach Ed Ashnault's five finished with a 16-5 standing and claimed the championship of the Middle Atlantic Conference's Southern Division. The 16 conquests equalled the most ever scored in one season—a record formerly held by the 1946-47 squad.

Smith tallied 414 points which eclipsed the former season high by 25 points and his 184 field goals were also a new mark. Richie Shapiro connected 124 times from the free throw line to establish a new record on foul shots.

Dave Thomas was elected honorary captain of the previous year out of recognition for his outstanding play.

Coaches named the following "Most Valuable Players": basketball, Dave Thomas; swimming, Ken Freed; and wrestling, John Rhody. The Gene Beck Award was given to John Winfield as the athlete who had done most for the morale of the swimming team. (Beck '49, was crippled and eventually died from injuries sustained during an attempted rescue of a girl who was drowning. He was a Life Guard at Atlantic City at the time.)

Left to right (front) Ed Ashnault, head coach, Jeff Meyer, Ed Fedok, Tony Hermann, Phil Fogli, and Jerry Solot. (Back) Don Smith, Jon Zimmerman, Dallas Winslow, Richie Shapiro, Dave Howell, Scott Fosler, and Dave Thomas.

The swimmers finished second in the MAC college division championships after posting a 7-4 record on the season.

We produced seven individual champions in the title events:

William Moyer, 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke; French Gray, 100-yard and 200-yard backstroke, and Ken Freed, 500-yard freestyle. Dickinson also won the 400-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relay events in the championships.

The wrestlers won four meets, lost five and tied one, while the ROTC rifle team, considered a varsity sport, finished with a 3-8 record.

George Crawshaw, 157, and John Rhody, 167, were the top scorers in wrestling, finishing with identical 8-2 records.

The list of letter winners follow:

Basketball: Scott Fosler, David Howell, Jeffrey Meyer, Edward Fedok, Philip Fogli, Tony Hermann, Richie Shapiro, Donald Smith, Jerald Solot, David Thomas, Dallas Winslow, Jon Zimmerman and Bruce Canright, manager.

Larry Bayley blasts into Notre Dame defenders in effort to score. He did. But the Irish overcame a 7-4 Dickinson lead in the final minutes to eke out an 8-7 victory.

Moyer and Winfield Elected Co-Captains

William Moyer, Laurel, Del., a sophomore, and John Winfield, Little Silver, N. J., a junior, have been elected co-captains of the Dickinson College swimming team for next year (1965-66).

Moyer holds the Dickinson and Middle Atlantic Conference College Division breaststroke records and he and Winfield, a freestyle sprinter, swam on two winning relay teams—400-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle—at the recent conference championships.

The college also announced that Winfield, who captained the 1964-65 team, has been awarded the Gene Beck Memorial Cup for sportsmanship and exemplary conduct during the season.

Wilbur (Wib) Gobrecht, '52, football backfield coach at the College for the past five years, was moved up to the head coach position.

Gobrecht, 34, who was one of Dickinson's finest all-around athletes, succeeds Don Seibert, the head coach for eight years, who resigned in order to give more time to his other work in the department of physical education at the college.

It was also announced that Ed Ashnault, head basketball coach, will take on the added job of backfield coach under Gobrecht.

Gobrecht is a full-time member of the Dickinson faculty and besides his football chores he is the lacrosse and freshman basketball coach and teaches physical education. He has a master's degree in educational administration from Duke.

Wilbur Gobrecht, '52

A native of Hanover, Pa., he came to the Dickinson staff in 1960 from Littlestown (Pa.) High School where he was the football coach for six years. His teams compiled a 42-10-2 record and won the Laurel Conference title four of the six years.

Gobrecht was a star halfback as a Dickinson student. He was runner-up for individual scoring honors in Pennsylvania in 1950, his junior year, with 72 points on 12 touchdowns. He earned 10 varsity letters for football, track and basketball and is the only person to receive Dickinson's Athlete-of-the-Year Award two years in a row.

After graduation he spent two years on active duty as an officer in the Marines and began his coaching career in 1954 at Littlestown.

He is married to the former Joanne Dehoff, of Littlestown.

Young and Wilson Co-Rule 1965 Soccer Team

T. Rumsey Young, Jr., Riverside, Conn., and Thomas S. Wilson, Jr., Garrett Park, Md., have been elected co-captains of the 1965 Dickinson College soccer team.

Young, a product of Deerfield Academy, is a left wing and Wilson, who attended Blair Academy, is a center half. They are sophomores.

They will succeed Tony Hermann, Middleburg, Pa., captain of the 1964 team which has closed its season with a 4-3-1 won-lost-tied record. Twenty-four players, including five from abroad, won varsity letters.

Hermann, first athlete at Dickinson in modern times to captain three sports (basketball, baseball, soccer), was the team's most valuable player, individual star and leading scorer. His five goals against Franklin & Marshall and 14 for the season are new single-game and seasonal records at Dickinson.

According to Coach Dave Eavenson, who is also the school's athletic director, soccer is firmly established at Dickinson, which did not take up the sport until 1963. The Red Devils were easy prey that year, but this season managed close scores with all opponents and outscored the opposition over the season, 24 goals to 23.

High points were a 2-1 upset of Washington College which had won six matches in a row and a double overtime match with F. & M. which won 7-5 and went on to the NCAA eliminations.

Only three lettermen will be lost by graduation. In addition to Capt. Hermann, they are Leslie Leong, a fullback, and Thomas Rafalsky, the goalie, both of New York City.

Some of the best performances of the season were contributed by foreign students, especially Hassan Abbey, Somalia; Saad El Fassi, Morocco; William Hamel, the Netherlands, and Dick Chen Lin, Taiwan.

The 1964 letter winners follow:

Seniors

Tony Hermann, Middleburg, Pa., Leslie Leong, New York City, N. Y., Thomas Rafalsky, New York City, N.Y.

Juniors

Hassan Abbey, Hargeisa, Somalia, Dick Lin, Taipei, Taiwan.

Sophomores

Saad El Fassi, Tangier, Morocco, John Ferguson, Meadowbrook, Pa., Thomas Force, Belmar, N.J., David Johnson, Wilmington, Del., Robert Mark, Beaver, Pa., John Vogan, Abington, Pa., Thomas Wilson, Garrett Park, Md., Rumsey Young, Riverside, Conn.

Freshmen

Charles Borneman, Elkhart, Ind., Lon Cobrin, Cynwyd, Pa., Baer Connard, Bath, Maine, Ronald Gross, Cleveland Heights, O., William Hamel, Leeuwarden, Netherlands, John Langdon, Narberth, Pa.

Stewart Mohr, Media, Pa., Robert Nutting, Abington, Pa., Peter Schweitzer, Baltimore, Md., Douglas Smith, St. Davids, Pa., David Thompson, Munhall, Pa., Donald Zane, Drexel Hill, Pa., Thomas Zug, Haverford, Pa.

Awarded Field Hockey Letters

Dickinson has awarded varsity letters to 12 members of its successful field hockey team, according to Prof. Kathleen W. Barber, the coach.

Three of the 12 are seniors—Judith Greenfield, Cherry Hill, N. J.; Anne Tindall, Wayne, N. J., the captain, and Mary Ellen Troxler, Lansdowne, Pa., who starred on defense despite the handicap of partial blindness.

Other award winners: Doris Detweiler, Jenkintown, Pa., junior; Carolyn Freas, Conshohocken, Pa., sophomore; Cheryl Kachelriess, North Plainfield, N. J., junior; Kathy Kelley, Baltimore, Maryland, sophomore; Roberta Matthews, Malvern, Pa., junior; Ellen Mogensen, Baltimore, Maryland, freshman; Elizabeth McNeal, Easton, Pa., junior; Jane Orr, Wilmington, Delaware, freshman; Pam White, Ruxton, Maryland, sophomore.

Offensive honors were won by Miss Freas and Miss Mogensen who each had six goals. Miss Kelley, the goalie, set a school record with 52 saves.

Dickinson won four matches, lost three and tied one.

Three Coeds perform Pinocchio in the annual Doll Show, the proceeds from which benefit needy children. Left to right are Nelda Jane Davis, Westchester; Ann Wheeler, Batavia, New York; and Susan Kimmerle, Tarrytown, New Jersey.

Dickinson College students have become involved with the national civil rights movement without resorting to picket lines and demonstrations.

More than 800 of the college's 1200 students went without their evening meal the night of March 23rd so that money normally allotted to the purchase and preparation of food in the college-run dining room could be turned over to the Mississippi Council on Human Relations. The Council is an organization of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish affiliations concerned with rebuilding 33 churches destroyed by arsonists in Mississippi.

The abstinence move was sponsored by Faith and Society, a Dickinson campus organization.

Members of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity donated many hours of labor recently to the cleaning up and marking of trails at the Carlisle Nature Center. This is one of the many community service projects supported annually by Dickinson fraternities and sororities. Shown preparing to go to work are (left to right) Steven Kelty, social service chairman; Arch Batista, Russell Tyson, William Diefenderfer, fraternity president and Robert Ryndes. Two commission members are pictured in the background.

Letters To The Editor

American Ambassadors

To The Editor:

Just as proof that I have not forgotten my American college, where I spend one of my happiest years, I am sending the first installment of my life membership dues in the Alumni Association.

I was one of several foreign students on the campus and I am sure that I am speaking on behalf of all these students when I say that the very best way of making propaganda for the U.S.A. is to invite foreign students to the United States and then send them home as American ambassadors.

I do believe that these foreign students have done more for your country in their native countries than the entire Voice of America—and why shouldn't they?

Erik Bengtsson, '51
Stationsgaten 22
Halmstad, Sweden

To The Editor:

I am in my ninetieth year and still going strong. Dickinson is still dear to my heart and I always feel that I can never repay her for all she has contributed to my life's happiness! I wish I were financially able to leave her a million dollars for all she has done for me. May she continue in her noble work for years to come. While life continues for me, she will always live in my heart!

Nell Davis Bostwick, '03
Elms Manor Nursing Home
Chicopee, Mass.

(Nell Davis Bostwick assumed many responsibilities in the literary life of Chicopee and Springfield, Massachusetts. In addition to having much of her poetry published, she has served as president of the Springfield Poetry Society, president of the Unitarian Guild, treasurer of the Connecticut Valley Unitarian Woman's Church Society and vice president of the Chicopee Women's Club. Ed.)

Approves Directory

To the Editor:

I have finally had a chance to look through, in some length, your excellent directory of living alumni. It alone should encourage them to contribute to the annual giving funds.

It must have been quite a job deciding what "occupational symbols" to give some people. In my 11 years out of Carlisle I have been in the fields of af, gr st, jour, pub, pr, phot, publ, writ and rad. I was, therefore, surprised to see ent next to my name. Actually, today I am a writ, pr, publ and sometimes phot and jour for a rad firm, the CBS Television Network.

Your book, however, is wonderful, and Mr. Schafmeister should be commended for it. I recently met Howard J. Kline, '54, (MD, BS, PEP, med), and he agreed. And it's a good thing I found him. Any writ, pr, publ, jour, rad, phot, ent in N.Y.C. can use him. He's a heart specialist.

Seriously, anyone who used your directory to find one address to send one Christmas card should send in some cash to pay for it.

Michael G. Silver, '54
(TC, AB, MS, etc.)

(While the Directory was mailed to Alumni without charge, the Alumni Council hoped for contributions of $3.00 or more from each recipient to meet the costs. Response was good and we are still receiving checks. Ed.)

Oops!

To the Editor:

The number of alumni who read the Dickinson Alumnus must be far greater than I had realized. Within several days after publication of the February issue, quite a few alumni 'phoned my wife and me with congratulations on the announcement of our engagement. Implications? The truth is that most of these "well wishers" had attended our wedding last June. We were actually engaged in October, 1963, and shortly thereafter, the exact announcement which appeared in this past issue was published in the Alumnus. Should we feel honored that it appeared a second time?

Human nature being as it is, we too often tend to note only the errors and fail to acknowledge a job well done. Thus, I would like to add that it's really enjoyable maintaining some contact with the happenings of Dickinson and her alumni through the Alumnus.

David J. Eskin '63

Don't Insult Us

To the Editor:

We are writing this because we are weary, weary of being asked to contribute to Dickinson and at the same time being told that we undoubtedly would never be able to gain admission to our Alma Mater today and that, even if by some mistake we were allowed to enter Dickinson, we would surely flunk out very quickly.

The above text, it seems to us, was the basis of most of the talks given at our tenth reunion dinner, and it is also the text of most of the letters written by our class agent.

We wonder if it is really good psychology, when asking for donations, to hint that a person is a mental incompetent?

We envy the students of the Dickinson of 1965, not because we feel they are superior to us, but because we feel the whole atmosphere at the College has improved. We are pleased that Dickinson is raising her standards, but please don't insult our contemporaries and us by intimating that we could never make it today!

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Jr.
'53
(Shirley Chace)

P. S. We would appreciate having this letter appear in the Dickinson Alumnus, as we are sure that the opinions in it are shared by many.

Touche! How this editor boils when, through innuendo, as harmlessly as it is uttered (or written) it is suggested that today I would have to settle for Dropout U. Often Dickinsonians find themselves skewered on this aimless barb shot by a fellow alumnus (hopefully, no member of the Faculty or Administration has been guilty of this sort of blasphemy). What your contemporaries are saying, of course, is that Dickinson has truly been on the move! Superior students spar with superior faculty and only the properly trained youth survives the duel. I would like to think that in my day ('49. Has it been that long?) the first-rate high school that prepared me for Dickinson then would successfully prepare me today and that I would negotiate these intricate passages with the same favorable end result. (Ed.)

Alumni College Scheduled for May 7 and 8

By Lester Kern, '48

Nostalgia! Webster's Collegiate Dictionary (Fifth Edition) purchased in the College Bookstore, underneath the Alumni Gymnasium at the end of World War II, defines it: "Return home. Homesickness." When was the last time you "returned home?" Where you lived for two, three, and in most cases, four years?

When did you last put your mind to some serious thinking—other than your vocation?

Based on early registrations, from the Middle Atlantic states, upwards of 150 alumni of all ages will gather on the Dickinson campus May 7th and 8th for an Alumni College—the first in several years!

If you are one of the fortunate ones who has registered, a real treat is in store for you! If you haven't registered, but now think you can make it, there is still time—consult the brochure mailed early in April or just drop around on May 7th and enter into this most interesting weekend.

The Alumni Council Committee on Continuing Education, Sidney D. Kline, Jr., '54, Chairman, has been preparing this program for well over a year. Other members of the committee are: Robert Young, '59, Peggy Burtner, '41, and Lester Kern, '48. The committee has received much valued assistance from Dr. Milton E. Flower, '31, and Alumni Secretary, Vincent J. Schafmeister, Jr., '49.

TO BEGIN this memorable weekend the curtain rises at 8 P.M. Friday in the Little Theater, College Union. Professor Brubaker and his Mermaid Players will present Beckett's "Endgame" and Fielding's "Tom Thumb." A reception in the Social Hall will immediately follow the performance. Professors Brubaker and Leroy Morrissey, and some of the students who appear in these plays, will informally discuss the evenings presentation and the "Theater of Today." A question and answer period will follow.

After this admirable beginning, Alumni will retire to hotel and motel accommodations of their own choosing to prepare for the big tomorrow. Needless to say no books will be cracked and cramming is frowned upon. Renewal of old friendships is encouraged however. Many of the local citizenry, while somewhat older, are still doing business at the same old stands! They too would welcome you!

Alumni College Committee completes plans for May 7 and 8 program. Left to right are Dr. Milton E. Flower, '31, Robert E. Young, '59, L. Alvin Kern, '48, Alumni Secretary Vincent J. Schafmeister, Jr., '49, and Sidney D. Kline, Jr., Esq. '54, chairman of the Alumni Council Committee on Continuing Education, sponsors of the "College." Margaret Burtner, '41, is also a member of the committee.

At the crack of dawn—well, not quite, 9:45 A.M. Saturday, May 8th, in The College Union's Little Theater, President Rubendall will bring the welcoming address.

Sid Kline, Jr., will then present the panel for the morning session: The Contemporary Arts. Professor Hilbert Sabin will discuss "Contemporary Painting," Professor John Doebler, "The Film as an Art" and Professor Frank Warlow, "Trends in Contemporary Writing." Each speaker will lecture for 25 minutes, with a discussion period following.

After adjournment at 11:45, lunch will be served in the Main Dining Room.

The scene will shift to the Social Hall for the afternoon activities. Promptly at 1:30 Professors Arthur M. Prinz and K. Robert Nilsson will discuss the timely topic "The United States in the World Today." Professor Milton E. Flower will moderate the question period until 3:00 P.M.

The final session will be held from 3:30 until 5:00 P.M. Professors Ray Crist and Kenneth Laws will speak on the "Implications of Modern Science." The moderator for the question period will be Professor Horace E. Rogers.

Dean Samuel Magill will then present Certificates to each "graduate" who participated in the Alumni College.

A registration charge of $10.00 will cover the entire program. This fee covers the admission to the plays on Friday evening and Saturday lunch. For those who can attend the Saturday sessions only, the fee is $8.00. Registrants will make their own arrangements for hotel or motel accommodations and all other meals. The College cafeteria will be available at a nominal cost. Registration will begin at 6:00 P.M. Friday under the auspices of the Mary Dickinson Club.

FOR those of you who have been looking for an excuse to return to your Alma Mater, this is it! Call Grandma, or your regular baby sitter, throw a clean shirt, or your latest shift (as the case may be) into your "overniter" and head for Carlisle!

See you in class! By the way, there will be no "excused" cuts!

New York

No questions remained unanswered

Bill Stuart, '32

Rolland Adams, '27

Jack Snyder, '33

Ben Epstein, '33

Bob Weinstein, '50

Filled to capacity

Visit with President

Ambassador Patterson joins President

Bill Stuart describes new Library

Homer C. Holland, '13 (center) chats with Mrs. Holland and trustee of the college, Henry Logan, Esq., '10.

Slides attract visitors

Dickinsonians responded in record numbers at the first three annual spring dinners of Alumni Clubs this year. 221 turned out in New York City, double any previous gathering; 131 collected in Washington, a figure that tripled other dinners; and 119 proved to be twice the number of any former Baltimore meeting. While pictures of the Philadelphia dinner and that of our Connecticut constituency will not appear due to an inconvenient press time for this issue of the Dickinson Alumnus, 235 were expected in the City of Brotherly Love with 32 reserving dinners in Connecticut.

Baltimore

Richard Cheshire, left, and Mrs. Tawes

Strategy huddle for southern campaign by team of Tawes, Nuttle and Rubendall

Dr. Rubendall is guest of Maryland's Governor Tawes

Mr. and Mrs. Judd Smith approach reception line.

The Kappa Sigma Minstrels exact a response just short of the floor-stomping variety (from even the most sophisticated audiences) when they render their own arrangement of such songs as "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and "Let the Rest of the World Go By." The Kappa Sigs have appeared at Alumni Club dinners in New York, Washington and Baltimore this spring and they are scheduled for Philadelphia, Lehigh Valley and Harrisburg. Likely, preparations for final examinations will not permit them to perform at additional dinners although they are hopeful that some of the closer meetings might be attended. Left to right they are Arthur MacDonald, Cranbury, New Jersey; William Aldred, Springfield, Del. County, Pa.; Jay Ferguson, Abington, Pa.; William Sharer, Springfield, Del. County, Pa.; Alex Hendry, Emmaus, Pa.; Mark Lauer, Wellesley, Massachusetts; James Davis, York, Maine; Richard Jacobs, Westchester, Pa.; Douglas Wright, Syracuse, New York; and Christopher Adams, Caldwell, New Jersey. Sharer is the leader.

Washington

The 19th president of the College Dr. Karl T. Waugh, left, (1932-33) shares a light moment with President Rubendall, '31 and Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, '09. Dr. Harris is in his 20th year as Chaplain of the United States Senate.

G. Harold Keatley, Esq., '27, tells "Why we are here" at the annual dinner of the Dickinson Alumni Club of Washington. He is co-chairman of the Southern Division, Six Million for Dickinson. Seated beside President Rubendall is Mrs. Keatley.

Rolland L. Adams, '27, Chairman of the National Executive Committee, Six Million for Dickinson, points out the highlights of our new library to Dr. Fred L. Mohler, '14.

Parents of a 1962 graduate, Griffith Garwood, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Garwood continue their interest in Dickinson.

Major Richard Kim, '52 chats with Mrs. Rubendall.

Visit with Dean Magill

A full house

That's my boy!

Conway's coming down?

Pre-Theo, '61 — Island Parson, '64

The year 1964 saw many of the "pre-theos" of the class of 1961 in their first ministerial appointments. During a visit to the Southern Del-Mar-Va Alumni Club last August we met one of these young men, the Rev. Kendall K. McCabe, who was chairing the meeting in his capacity as vice-president. Rev. McCabe responded to a request to write a description of the appointment so that it might be shared with the other alumni.

I graduated from the Yale Divinity School on June 15, and two days later moved to Smith Island, Maryland. Smith Island is a group of three communities in Maryland's Chesapeake Bay, twelve miles from the Eastern Shore. I was appointed by my bishop to be the minister for this wholly Methodist community of approximately 850 population.

The first recorded sighting of the island was made in 1603 when a ship captained by Bartholomew Gilbert was driven by storm into the Chesapeake Bay. Gilbert's original mission was to look for survivors of Sir Walter Raleigh's colony in North Carolina, but upon entering the bay he decided to sail up it in search of fresh water. When he and three of his men went ashore, they were ambushed by hostile Indians who killed Gilbert and one of his men. The others escaped and sailed back to their homes in New England.

THE second visit by a white man occurred in June of 1608 when Captain John Smith sailed up the bay from Jamestown in search of salt. The local residents believe that the island was christened "Smith's" by the seamen in honor of their captain; nevertheless, its location was entered upon their chart. I have discovered since being here that the first property on the island was deeded to a man named Smith, which is most likely the source of the island's name.

The first settlers on the island were Protestants from St. Mary's County, who were discontent with the Catholic influence there, and who migrated across the bay during the first half of the seventeenth century. Finding a pleasant combination of high, fertile land surrounded by water in which seafood was plentiful, these emigrants decided to make it their home. From that time until now the names of Tyler, Bradshaw, Evans, and Marshall have been central in the life of the island, as the tombstones bear witness.

When approaching the island, the first sign of settlement which is spotted is a church. This is significant since the church plays a central role for the islanders. The pastor is the only generally recognized source of authority, there being no formal civil government on the island. Community improvements are as much a function of the Official Board as are church improvements. The class meeting, or "testimony meeting," once so important in Methodism, is still held weekly by the islanders. An annual feature on the island is the camp meeting, now seventy-five years old. Outstanding preachers are invited to attend, and the natives open their homes to provide room and board for the many visitors who come from the mainland. A large tabernacle has been erected on the site where the men once draped upon the trees the sails from their boats in order to provide shelter during the services.

There are three churches, one on each part of the island. These parts are Tylerton, formerly called Drum Point,

Ewell, formerly called North End, and Rhodes Point, which appears on the old maps as Rogue's Point, because it was a gathering place for pirates. The three congregations are served by one minister who "makes the circuit" every three weeks. If the preacher is not at a church, the service is still held with members of the community leading. While two of the towns are connected by road, one is accessible only by water, so the pastor has a boat, "The Methodist," named after the canoe used by an early Methodist itinerant evangelist on the islands.

Just as the people share one minister, so they share one doctor. Socialized medicine is a fact on Smith Island, with every family contributing to the support of the doctor, and the home and clinic being owned and cared for by the Woman's Society of Christian Service. The present doctor is Thomas C. Gentry, the physician to the Flying Tigers in World War II. Helicopter service is provided by a nearby naval base to take emergency cases to the hospital.

THE water and its abundant products supply the livelihood of almost every man on the island. Oysters in the winter and crabs in the summer are the primary seafoods sold commercially. Since the arts of dredging, scraping, netting, and potting have been handed down from generation to generation, it is almost impossible for a newcomer to move in and accommodate himself to the business. The contact with and dependence upon nature's whims has produced a hardy, rugged race with a great amount of self-reliance, as state and county officials often learn.

Life itself upon the island is far from primitive, however. The natives have all the comforts of the mainland with the exception of freedom to travel. All families own most modern conveniences and luxuries, a change which has occurred in only thirty years, for as late as 1939 the island was without telephones and electricity. It was here that the Bell Company first perfected the radio phone technique for regular use. Education is provided through the eighth grade on the island, and for the last four years the students make a weekly trip to the mainland and live in private homes there to attend school at the expense of the county.

Blue Claw Crabs—an Island specialty

Rev. McCabe pilots his craft . . . ties it up . . . and swaps sea talk with ferry skipper.

Today, tourists and sportsmen are more than ever attracted to the island because of its interesting heritage, good food, and water sports. From April until October, fishing, crabbing, swimming, and water skiing are popular, and in the winter many nimrods visit here to hunt the black ducks, which are abundant.

Others simply come to relax. The narrow lanes, lined with fig trees, pomegranate bushes, mimosa trees, picket fences, gleaming white houses and elaborately manicured lawns provide an atmosphere for rest and relaxation.

The islanders are making preparations to accommodate increasing numbers of visitors. Plans are now underway to enlarge the present docking area and build a large marina for the benefit of the yachts and pleasure boats coming out of Washington, Baltimore, and Norfolk. A mail and passenger boat runs daily between the island and the town of Crisfield on the Eastern Shore.

The CBS television program "Twentieth Century," featured Smith Island shortly after the beginning of the year. If you are wondering where to go for this summer's vacation, visit a fellow Dickinsonian!

Commonwealth Salutes Edwin W. Tompkins

Edwin W. Tompkins, '25, was recently saluted by the Pennsylvania State Senate in advance of accepting the post of Deputy Attorney General in the Department of Justice in charge of legislative matters. The resolution adopted in behalf of Tompkins illustrates that there are few within the Commonwealth who have devoted their entire lives to public service as conscientiously and capably as he.

"Edwin W. Tompkins, a native of Emporium, Pennsylvania, and a graduate of its public schools, obtained his Ph.B. Degree and M.A. Degree from Dickinson College and his LL.B. Degree from the Dickinson School of Law. In 1929, two years after his graduation and admission to practice before the county, State and Federal Courts, Ed Tompkins began his political career by running successfully for Emporium Borough Council. In 1930 he was elected District Attorney of Cameron County and was continuously re-elected to that office until his election to the House of Representatives in 1947. He served continuously as a member of the House of Representatives from 1947 through the session of 1962, and was elected Republican Whip for the sessions of 1959, 1961 and 1962.

"His numerous awards for meritorious service include the Distinguished Service Medal of Pennsylvania, Department of the American Legion, awarded in 1952. In that same year he was awarded the Certificate of Merit by the Pennsylvania Joint Veterans Council.

"As Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau he brought about many changes and improvements in services and the functions of that bureau, resulting in more efficient operations and reductions in legislative costs which will be enjoyed for many years to come. His counsel to the members of the General Assembly on matters involving legislation was consistently of the highest quality and of immeasurable value.

"Edwin W. Tompkins is indeed worthy of our admiration and respect, and we owe him our thanks for a job well done; therefore be it

Edwin W. Tompkins, '25

"RESOLVED, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania express to Edwin W. Tompkins its deep appreciation for his many past services and express the hope that his future will be as rewarding to him and to our Commonwealth as has been his past; and be it further

"RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Edwin W. Tompkins."

Adopted, January 26, 1965.

His son, Edwin W. Tompkins, Jr., is also a Dickinsonian, Class of '53.

By David L. McGahey, '60

When the curtain went up on the new musical, Bajour, something occurred which may never have happened before; there was a Dickinsonian on Broadway! His name—Harry Danner—a 1961 graduate of the College and a member of the Bajour company. And that, incidentally, is pretty good company since the show stars Chita Rivera of West Side Story and Bye Bye Birdie, Nancy Dussault of Do Re Mi, Herschel Bernardi, who is Lt. Jacoby in Peter Gunn and Richard Burr, Burton's Hamlet understudy.

Backstage was another Dickinsonian, Norman Twain, '52, the producer! Among Norman's triumphs—Lady of the Camellias, starring Susan Strasburg; Epitaph for George Dillon, with John Osborne in the lead role, brought from England; and Tennessee Williams' Garden District, last summer made into a movie.

More about Norman later.

Harry's a member of the singing chorus, and for a young man of twenty five, only four years out of college and one year out of the Army, it's a good start on a Broadway career. Many of today's stars began this way, and with any luck, Harry can build on the experience gained in Bajour to move on to larger roles. He won't, fortunately, have to depend entirely on luck. He is a handsome leading-man type, with a fine tenor voice; and possessing all the credentials to be a Broadway success.

This isn't to say that Harry doesn't have his limitations. He's not the most agile dancer. "I used to be clumsy until Peter (Peter Gennaro, Bajour's choreographer) worked with me. Now I'm only awkward."

As yet he is not an accomplished actor. "Actually, I'm not all that bad. I do have six lines in this show . . . had thirteen in Boston, but they cut out some scenes."

HARRY IS aware of the areas in which he must work harder, and now takes acting lessons with some of the money he earns in Bajour.

"I'll let Peter worry about my dancing."

Bajour is Harry's first Broadway show, and the third for which he has auditioned (a phenomenally good showing for someone trying to break in). Following his graduation from Dickinson, and two weeks prior to entering the Army, he arrived at an "open call" for Bravo Giovanni.

Dickinsonian On Broadway

Harry Danner plays the "Bum" in MY FAIR LADY during Lambertville Music Circus production.

"I waited backstage with about a hundred and fifty others for over three and a half hours. Finally I was called, and sang on a bare stage in an empty theatre for five very long and nervous minutes. The producer and his staff listened politely, thanked me for coming, and that concluded my first attempt at Broadway."

After his Army discharge, having gained some justifiable confidence, Harry tried out for Ben Franklin in Paris. This time he made it down the last twelve, and then was cut. When Bajour put out a call for singers, Harry was ready. "I felt confident, but was a little worried because Bajour is a show about gypsies. I'm somewhat light complexioned and was afraid that I might not be 'right' for the show." But light complexion and all, Harry did make the show, and is now getting a pleasant taste of Broadway.

That Harry Danner is in a Broadway show comes as no surprise; how he got there, however, is an interesting and fascinating story.

To be accurate the story begins with Harry's father, Harry Danner, Sr. As a young man in Philadelphia, Harry, Sr. sang professionally in choirs, won opera competitions, and appeared in amateur theatre productions. Music was his chief interest and claimed most of his attention. Music also took up the time of Harry, Sr.'s two friends, Manny Sachs and Keith Andes. The late Manny Sachs went on to become an RCA Victor executive and the discoverer of such talents as Frank Sinatra, Dinah Shore, and Sid Caesar. Keith Andes became a television star and most recently appeared opposite Lucille Ball in Wildcat. Although he seriously considered following his friends into show business, Harry Danner, Sr. finally chose to go into banking. (Today he is the Senior Vice President of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company in charge of the bank's some forty-nine branches.)

The senior Danner's interest in music and the arts, however, has always remained with him; and this interest was passed on to his children, all of whom have unique artistic abilities. Harry's older brother, Bill, is one of the few expert violin makers in the world, having been commissioned by every major symphony orchestra in this country. In his spare time he paints landscapes, and has sold a great many of his efforts.

Harry's younger sister, Blythe, is a senior at Bard College where the emphasis is on developing one's creative talents. Blythe acts, dances, and sings everything from opera to jazz. "Blythe is really the most talented one in the family because she can do so many things well." (Blythe will tell you Harry's the family star.) "It's really a good thing I made Bajour this year, because as soon as school lets out I'm sure Blythe will be at one of the neighboring theatres, and if my younger sister made Broadway before I did, I'd have never heard the end of it."

As a youngster, Tink, as he was called in those days, sang in church choirs and school choruses, and played the piano. While attending George School in Bucks County, Pa., he took up the trumpet, and eventually formed his own dance band. By his senior year in high school he wanted to make music his major field of study. Harry, Sr., Manny Sachs, and Keith Andes (all still close friends) convinced him that it was more important to prepare for his future with a good academic background first, and then, if his interest continued, to study music later. Consequently, Harry entered Dickinson in the Fall of 1957.

He joined the Kappa Sigma Fraternity, made the swimming team, dabbled in campus politics, and settled down to an academic life. He entered into only two other activities in his freshman year: he joined the Men's Glee Club; and played trumpet in the Dickinson Follies orchestra.

In his sophomore year he was urged, persuaded, and forced by his friends to tryout for the Follies. After hearing Harry's fine voice the Follies producer named him as the male romantic lead in a pleasant show called Katy Did. He had the lead in the Follies from then on doing Tonight's the Night in his junior year, and The Boy Friend the following year.

It was during his sophomore year that Harry actively studied music and began to cultivate his voice. He sent to the University of Colorado some tape recordings of opera selections he had done, and was awarded a scholarship to attend C. U.'s well known and highly competitive summer music camp. Here Harry trained with the best of the country's young college artists.

Returning to Dickinson in the Fall of his junior year he was elected director of the Glee Club. During his two years of leadership the club increased in ability, range, and popularity, making several successful tours of alumni clubs and nearby colleges as well as campus concerts.

By graduation Harry had decided to pursue a serious career in music. This time the Army intervened, and 2nd Lt. Harry Danner went to fulfill his military obligation. Because of his background he was not assigned to the Chemical Corps as scheduled, but transferred to the Special Services Division stationed at Fort Meyer outside Washington, D. C. At first he was a press photographer's assistant, but before long found himself as the leader of The President's Old Guard, a fife and drum unit complete with colonial uniforms, which played at selected government occasions. One of the great thrills in Harry's life came when Mrs. Kennedy invited the guard to play a special concert on the White House lawn for handicapped children.

IN HIS OFF duty hours he joined the American Light Opera Company in Georgetown. Here he met many of those with whom he had studied at Colorado University a few years before. Initially he played small roles, later he understudied the lead in Pajama Game, and finally got the part of Lt. Joe Cable ("Younger Than Springtime") in South Pacific. The production ran twenty five performances, one of which was attended by Mrs. Dean Rusk. A few days later Harry and five others in the cast were invited to entertain at a special State Department tea. "It was an experience I'll never forget. Mrs. Rusk was the loveliest, most unassuming person I had ever met . . . the whole thing was a real pleasure."

The experience of the American Light Opera Company encouraged and stimulated Harry to continue his voice training, so he began studying with Todd Duncan, star of Porgy and Bess and Lost in the Stars. (Now in New York, Harry is studying with Sarah Lee, Duncan's teacher.)

A realization that some acting instruction would be helpful in getting better parts led Harry to join a theatre group at American University. Here he appeared in Chekhov's Three Sisters, a rather difficult play for a novice. The performance drew favorable comment from Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn who made a special visit backstage to congratulate the cast.

Danner's stage career began in 1959 in KATY DID, a Dickinson Follies production. Sharing the singing lead with him was Betsy Graham ('62), now Mrs. Robert Harlow ('62).

His first serious dancing role occurred in SHOW BOAT.

IN MARCH 1964 Harry was discharged by the Army, returned to his home in Philadelphia, vacationed for awhile, and then decided to concentrate on a career in show business. Simultaneously he heard about a call for singers and dancers for the Lambertville Music Circus, a summer theatre on the banks of the Delaware across the river from New Hope, Pa. Since it was almost summer anyway, he decided that it wouldn't hurt to try out, and, if successful, he would have all summer to decide what he would like to do next. He also had two better reasons for wanting to work at Lambertville: (1) a summer at Lambertville would get him a card in Actors Equity in case he wanted to try Broadway, and (2) he hoped to get the role of Freddy Eynsford-Hill ("On the Street Where You Live") in the Music Circus production of My Fair Lady. After going through four auditions he was added to the Lambertville troupe. The Music Circus did provide summer-long work, a nice vacation, and the opportunity to do a good number of proven shows. As the summer progressed he did Camelot, The Music Man, The Sound of Music, and at last a small role in Showboat as Rubberface, an obnoxious drunk. At last it came time for My Fair Lady. Harry didn't get the Freddy Hill role. He was cast instead, as a cockney tipler. "You know, for the first time I began to get worried that I was becoming type cast. Really, I was quite disappointed, but it did give me more time to try out for Ben Franklin and Bajour, and in the end, it paid off in a Broadway show."

HARRY Danner is now on Broadway. To get there he's played in dance bands, played leads in Follies, directed a Glee Club, spent a summer in Colorado, led a fife and drum corps, sang at Mrs. Rusk's tea, acted in Chekhov, studied opera, went through a summer playing comic drunks, and made Broadway on his third attempt. An easy going, happy-go-lucky, talented young man, Harry Danner plans to stay on Broadway. Likely he will!

Norman Twain

Norman Twain, who is also currently presenting the new comedy, Peterpat starring Dick Shawn and Joan Hackett, has partnered in presenting the Franco Zeffirelli production of The Lady of the Camellias, Jean Anouilh's Traveller Without Luggage, John Osborne's Epitaph for George Dillon, Katherine Morrill's A Distant Bell and Arnold Wesker's Roots on Broadway. He was also concerned with the productions of Tennessee Williams' Garden District and Maxwell Anderson's The Golden Six which were done off-Broadway. Busy as he has been on Broadway, Norman has found time to work in television both in London and Hollywood, as producer, director, story editor and stager. He is currently preparing the Elihu Winer dramatization for the Broadway stage of Anatomy of a Murder for this season. He will produce the noted courtroom drama and that production will also serve as his Broadway directing debut.

Upon earning his Masters' in English at Columbia in '53, Norman was called into the service and spent two years in Korea as a Sergeant in the U. S. Army.

In 1955 he was drawn to the stage. "You have to want something badly," Twain insisted, "if you are going to be successful at it. I wanted the stage and aggressively went after a role in the Cleveland Playhouse. I got the job and it was my first serious acting performance. This was also the first time that I could call myself a 'pro.' I was in show business to stay."

The next year Norman moved to New York City and appeared in No Time for Sergeants and Murray Hill. He began producing. His first effort, Garden District, was very successful and Twain decided to concentrate in this field with the results noted above.

In 1961 he moved to Hollywood and spent two years in television, returning to New York in 1963, where he seems to be anchored. Norman bought the Anta Theatre last year and has attracted Vittorio Gassman for a three week engagement in September. Then Twain will concentrate on setting up a musical stock company in the city, his real ambition at this point in his escalating career in show business.

Unbelievably modest and unusually invisible, publicity wise, Norman didn't have a picture showing him in a Bajour environment when asked for an appropriate photograph in conjunction with this article. So we used a clipping from the show's program.

Twain learned of Danner's Dickinson background from Dr. Milton E. Flower, '31, who had corresponded for that purpose. Norman appraised Danner as "... performing in the chorus and handling several speaking and singing parts very well. (Danner is cast as a singing policeman and as Carmen Morales, a singing waiter.) I must say I had no knowledge of Harry's ever going to Dickinson, so there can never be any inference of nepotism in his getting the job."

Bajour has listed 130 performances to date and it is estimated that this exciting musical at the Shubert Theatre, concerning the tribulations of a band of gypsies living in New York, will run for at least another year.

Hopefully, all Dickinsonians visiting New York this Summer, will make a special effort to see Bajour.

Trumpets, Horns AND

Music

Dr. J. Murray Barbour, '18

Barbour, J. Murray. Trumpets, Horns and Music. East Lansing, Michigan: Michigan State University Press, 1964. xii, 190 pp. Reviewed by J. Forrest Posey, Jr., Professor of Music.

The experienced scholar setting out to examine in detail an unfamiliar body of material can never quite be certain what will turn up in the course of his study. If he is alert, he may have the good fortune to uncover a problem or a series of problems that transcend his original purpose. Such was the case with the present book; for, as Professor Barbour notes in his preface,

“... the first real impetus to write this book came about twenty-five years ago, when Professor Otto Kinkeldey's seminar in musicology at Cornell University was studying Bach's First Brandenburg Concerto. I happened to notice that the horns reached the final cadence of one of the movements a bar ahead of the other instruments, with resulting clashes . . . Curious as to the extent of the licenses permitted brass instruments at that time, I collected some striking specimens from Bach, Handel, and Steffani, and presented them in 1938 in the first part of a paper entitled, 'The Use of Brass Instruments in Early Scores.'”

Since then, Professor Barbour's interest in the brass parts in 17th- and 18th-century music has drawn him to a number of American and European libraries, and involved him in the examination of literally hundreds of scores. In addition to the present book and several monographs presenting the immediate results of his researches, Professor Barbour's investigations have also produced a significant contribution to the literature dealing with the early symphony (see The Musical Quarterly XLIX, Jan., 1963, 38-58).

The appearance of Trumpets, Horns and Music in print could hardly have been more timely. Popular interest in the music of the 17th and 18th centuries is widespread, if its presence in record catalogues and on concert programs, amateur as well as professional, is any indication. However, performance of this music poses, in many cases, some sticky problems for brass players and conductors alike. And it is to the nature of the various problems confronting trumpet and horn players that Professor Barbour has addressed himself in this book.

The first chapter deals with such general matters as the notation and transposition of brass parts, problems involved in modulation, and the use of crooks to change the key of instruments that, lacking the valves found in our modern instruments, were generally restricted to a single key. In the second chapter, the author informs his discussion of instrumental style with some perceptive observations about the technical limitations inherent in valveless horns and trumpets. The remaining chapters are more specific in character, treating the role of the horn in the symphony, the problem of high notes and pedal tones, and the “stopped” horn.

The book is profusely illustrated with more than two hundred examples, which are further identified by an index that follows the text. In addition, the reader is supplied with a select list of books, which is intended primarily as a “working” bibliography for those students interested in further research. In closing, one might express the regret that Professor Barbour did not hew more closely to the title of his book in his discussions, which are really more concerned with the music written for trumpets and horns than with the instruments themselves, as suggested in the title. While information about the history of both instruments, the relationship between the trumpet and the cornetto (Zink), the so-called Bach trumpet, etc., is readily available in most standard reference works, it is the feeling of this reviewer that a restatement of this material, informed by Professor Barbour's considerable insight into the music, would have made this book more useful for the general reader.

Dr. Barbour has been a Professor of Music since 1954 at Michigan State University. He earned his Ph.D at Cornell University in 1932, the first Doctorate in Musicology awarded in the United States. He has enjoyed four leaves of absences: Fulbright research professor, Vienna, 1953-54; exchange fellow, Germany, 1929-30; research at Library of Congress, Spring, 1946; musical research, Austria, 1953. He has composed many short works and a requiem for chorus and orchestra. He has written, in addition to this book, Equal Temperament: Its History from Ramis to Rameau; Tuning and Temperament; The Church Music of William Billings; and numerous journal articles on the use of mathematical formulas to give truer harmony. He was Phi Beta Kappa at Dickinson.

Personal Mention

assistant to director Product Development, Explosive Division. Mr. Rolland lives in McKeansburg.

1925

Three years after retiring from the vice presidency of San Francisco Theological Seminary, Dr. JACOB A. LONG came out of "retirement" in December to accept a call to become assistant minister and church administrator of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, California.

1927

ALVAH C. SMALL will retire from teaching in June. For the past 38 years he has been on the faculty of the Friends' Central School, where he was chairman of the science department since 1934.

FRANK B. WARFEL, district attorney of Blair County, announced his candidacy for judge of the Common Pleas of Blair County. He has filed for both Republican and Democratic nominations. He has been actively engaged in the practice of law in Blair County since his admission to the bar in 1930. Mr. Warfel served 16 years as assistant prosecuting attorney and was elected to the office of district attorney in 1959 and reelected in 1963.

1928

A. RUDOLPH GREEN, of Alton, Illinois, represented the College at the inauguration of John R. Haines as president of Monticello College, Godfrey, Illinois. Mr. Green is general manager of the Upper Leather Tanning Division of the International Shoe Company.

1922

The Rev. HARRY L. STEARNS, chairman of the division of education of the Board of National Missions, United Presbyterian Church, USA, served on a panel at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Scarborough, New York in March. Dr. Stearns assumed his present post with the division of education in 1962. His department supervises approximately 20 colleges, junior colleges, high schools and grade schools and an educational counseling service. Prior to his present position, he was superintendent of schools in Englewood, New Jersey, where he served for 18 years.

1923

GUY F. ROLLAND retired December 31, 1964 after more than 39 years service with Atlas Chemical Industries, Inc. as 1907

Mrs. EVA CASS JAHN notified us of the death of her husband, Gustave, on November 13, 1964 in Redlands, California.

LEON A. McINTIRE has moved to The Ward Homestead, Maplewood, New Jersey. His wife, Henrietta, died on April 11, 1964.

1910

HETTIE CRAIGHEAD is progressing slowly after a long illness. She would enjoy hearing from her friends. Her address is P. O. Box 12,427, Tucson, Arizona.

HENRY LOGAN, a trustee of the College, served as the College representative at the inauguration of Dr. Jacob J. Hartstein as the first president of the Kingsborough Community College of the City University of New York in Brooklyn in March.

1920

WALTON BUTTERFIELD retired as an actor-author in 1964. He now resides at 34 Gramercy Park East, New York City.

1921

ANTHONY F. VITORITTO,

You Are Invited

We are interested in establishing a second avenue of communication (feedback) and sincerely invite "Letters to the Editor."

The Dickinson Alumnus should be a form for expression of Alumni thinking on matters relevant to the College. Hopefully the contents of this issue will prove letter-provoking and will help to establish this two-way communication.

Please let us have your opinions. The next issue of The Alumnus will be published in August. The deadline for copy will be July 1.

Milton R. Priddis, '17

Milton R. (Red) Priddis, who has been a Rochester, N. Y. public school principal longer than any other principal now serving in the city, will retire in June after 43 years of service in the school system. He has held the top administrative post for 33 years. With wife Marion, Milton plans to move to California, where his son lives.

Guy F. Rolland, '23

In January, DeALTON PERIGO was appointed training supervisor of the United States Independent Telephone Association in Washington, D. C., where his address is 7401 Keystone Lane, S. E. #302. He is also a contributing editor of "Telephone Engineer and Management," a semi-monthly trade journal.

1929

FRED A. LUMB, a former general agent of New England Life in Detroit, was promoted in March from second vice president to a full vice president with New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

1930

Professor PAUL B. IRWIN represented the College at the inauguration of Mark Hubert Curtis as President of Scripps College, Claremont, California in February. Professor Irwin is on the faculty of Southern California School of Theology.

1931

Dr. ROBERT T. PATTERSON reports his latest book, The Great Boom and Panic, 1921-1929, is scheduled for publication in the spring. He is associated with the National Tax Equality Association in Washington and consulting economist to several organizations and individuals.

Colonel ROBERT O. RUPP retired from the Army on November 1. He is now teaching at the Colorado Springs School for Girls, which incorporates 6th to 12th grades and which has been in operation for the past three years. The Rupp now resides at 747 Crown Ridge Drive, Colorado Springs, Colorado. Their daughter is a freshman at the University of Colorado.

ROBERT E. DAWSON, director of the Scranton Center of Pennsylvania State University, was appointed a trustee of the Pennsylvania State Oral School by Governor William Scranton.

1932

FRANK S. MOSER, an attorney of Shamokin, is a candidate for Judge of Northumberland County in the primary election this month. During his 30 years of practice, he has covered all phases of legal activity. Although the major portion of his law experience has been before and through Northumberland County courts, he has appeared at various times before the appellate courts of the Commonwealth and numerous state and federal appeal boards and agencies. During World War II part of his Army career was spent in the service of the Judge Advocate General's office, including the teaching of military law at West Point Military Academy.

Mrs. MATILDA NOGI BOOTH, of Elizabeth, New Jersey, is serving as regional chairman on safety on the woman's auxiliary of the American Medical Association. During 1963-64, she served as president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Medical Society of New Jersey.

1934

Dr. RALPH THOMPSON served as the delegate of the College at the inauguration of Harvey Charles Bunke as President of Western Washington State College in February. Dr. Thompson is associate professor of education at Western Washington State College.

1935

A story about Benjamin Franklin's wife, Deborah, written by WHITFIELD J. BELL, JR., ran in a January issue of the magazine section of the Philadelphia Sunday Bulletin. Deborah is one of the Great Unknowns of American History and according to Dr. Bell, she deserves a better fate, for she played an important role in the life of her eminent husband. Dr. Bell is a top Franklin expert, and the associate librarian of the American Philosophical Society, founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1743.

After serving two and one-half years as regional medical officer with the Department of State in Bagdad, Dr. DONALD K. McINTYRE has been reassigned to Karachi, Pakistan.

1936

Dr. JOHN M. SWOMLEY, JR., associate professor of social ethics and philosophy at the St. Paul School of Theology, was the guest lecturer in February at the Melrose Methodist Church, Kansas City, Missouri. Dr. Swomley is the author of "America, Russia and the Bomb," "The Road to War," "The Peace Offensive and the Cold War," as well as other books, pamphlets and magazine articles. A Methodist minister, he served four years as an employee of the Pennsylvania State Senate. Before joining the faculty at St. Paul, he was executive secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, a religious peace organization which seeks to resolve personal, racial, international and other types of conflict without violence.

Fred A. Lumb, '29

Dr. Robert T. Patterson, '31

Robert E. Dawson, '31

Jacob A. Long, '25

Lilian Baker Carlisle, '33

Ralph H. Thompson, '34

Frank S. Moser, '32

Pat Nogi Booth, '32

1937

Rev. KENNETH CLINTON, Waterbury, Connecticut, reports that he is presently in the construction of a new church costing one million dollars. Since graduating from the College he has written three books. His daughter is a member of the freshman class.

JOHN T. BURNITE, JR. was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Reading Lions Club. Mr. Burnite has worked and lived in all of the major world marketing areas except Africa and the Middle East. A graduate of the University of Berlin, he has written on the subjects of foreign diplomacy and business and relationships abroad.

1939

Rev. MARION S. MICHAEL is completing his fourth year as district superintendent of the Washington-East District of the Methodist Church, which includes one half of the District of Columbia, and four counties of Southern Maryland.

VIRGINIA AUBURN ROBERTSON notified the Alumni Office that her husband, Dr. Gordon F. Robertson, died on February 6, 1964 at the age of 49 in Greenwich, Connecticut. Dr. Robertson, an alumnus of Harvard University and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, was engaged in the practice of internal medicine. Mrs. Robertson and her four children, William, Gordon, Alexander and Laurie, live at 65 Patterson Avenue, Greenwich, Connecticut.

GEORGE E. THOMAS reports that his son, John, a student at Dickinson, will graduate this summer, one year ahead of schedule, and has been accepted at Union Theological Seminary. Commander Thomas retired from the Navy in 1964 and is now serving as Chaplain at The Pennington School, Pennington, New Jersey.

1940

JOHN GRUENBERG joined the public relations staff of Lewis and Gilman, Inc., Philadelphia advertising and public relations firm, as an accountant executive. Prior to this he was a Philadelphia news correspondent for Mc-Graw-Hill, Inc., New York. He and his family live at 7 Overhill Road, Bala Cynwyd.

Dr. LEONARD S. SILK, senior editor and economist of Business Week, will be on leave next year to serve as the Ford Foundation Distinguished Visiting Research Professor at Carnegie Tech.

A. GLENN MOWER, JR., has been promoted to the rank of professor of political science at Hanover College. During the past year he has had two articles on international relations subjects published in national professional journals, and participated this spring in the Midwest Association of Political Scientists. A feature of Professor Mower's responsibilities at Hanover is the planning and conducting of political science field study.

HARRY HOUESHEL, assistant professor of flute at Indiana University, was on a three-week leave of absence in January to observe the master class plan of music instruction utilized in music conservatories in France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia. The study was undertaken under auspices of the Undergraduate Research Division and supported by a grant from the Indiana University Foundation. After 20 years of teaching, Professor Houdeshel feels that the master class plan not only rekindles a teacher's interest, but that the challenge and demands of class teaching have resulted in increased vitality in teacher and student alike.

1942

Mrs. ALICE ABBOTT MacGREGOR, of Philadelphia, was elected a member of the Women's Advisory Board of the Christian Association of the University of Pennsylvania last October. She was also reelected for a two-year term as chairman of Finance of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania.

1943

ALICE MAE HOLSTEIN is serving as Assistant Dean of Women and Financial Aid Advisor at Shippensburg State College.

Harry F. Houdeshel, '40

Leonard S. Silk, '40

Dr. A. Glenn Mower, Jr., '40

1944

The Rev. HOWELL O. WILKINS, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church, Seaford, Delaware, was the speaker at the annual Feast of Lights service at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Camden, in January. He is currently serving as president of the Delaware State Council of Churches.

NORMAN L. TIMMINS was transferred from Cleveland, Ohio, where he served as district sales manager for DuPont, to the Wilmington staff of the same company as product manager. His new address is 1861 Kimberwick Road, Rose Tree, Media, Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN G. ALLYN (SUSAN SMITH), of Bloomfield, New Jersey, report their daughter, Carol, is a sophomore at the University of Michigan School of Nursing; Jeff, their oldest son, is a high school senior and will enter Muhlenberg College in September; and Greg, their youngest son, is a sixth grade student.

1945

The Reverend GEORGE W. HARRISON served as the representative of the College at the April inauguration of Wayne Frederick Geisert as President of Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Virginia.

1946

Mrs. VIRGINIA TWYEFFORT WEBER completed a term this month as chairman of the New Canaan, Connecticut, First Presbyterian Church's Women's Program, the only such woman's organization in the church. Mrs. Weber organized this group, the first in the history of the eight-year old church.

JAMES H. SOLTOW is the recipient of a Research Fulbright for Belgium for the year 1965-66. The Soltows (MARTHA JANE STOUGH, '46) live in East Lansing, Michigan.

Norman L. Timmins, '44

1948

Announcement has been made of the engagement of the Rev. ALFRED NELSON BENNETT and Hazel Pauline Correll, of Leonia, New Jersey. The Rev. Bennett is pastor of the Methodist Church in Booton, New Jersey. His fiancée, an alumna of Pfeiffer College, is a member of the executive staff of the Methodist Board of Missions in New York City. The couple plan to be married on July 3.

NORMAN L. LEVIN, a member of the Mifflin County Bar Association for the past 14 years, was elected president of the association at the annual dinner and reorganization meeting in January. A graduate of the Dickinson School of Law in 1950, he was a partner in law with Robert Stuckenrath until 1954 when he opened his own office. Mr. Levin is married to the former Dorothy Herster, and they have two children, Allen, a high school senior, and Barbara Ann, a sophomore. The Levins live in Lewistown.

GEORGE G. LINDSAY, a member of the Alumni Council, was elected vice president of the American Bank and Trust Company of Pennsylvania. A specialist in law for theatrical and beverage industries, Mr. Lindsay is chairman of the Pennsylvania Beverage Association, a management consultant firm. His banking experience began in 1963 when he was elected trust officer for the Schuylkill Trust Company in Pottsville. Upon the merger of that bank with the American Bank and Trust Company of Reading, he was made senior trust officer of the combined bank, which is now the largest bank between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

EDWARD SIEBER, JR. was appointed district principal of South Lewis Central Schools by the New York Board of Education effective July 1. Mr. Sieber has served as assistant district principal for business management since the formation of the district in 1961. Prior to that time, he was supervising principal of the Lyons Falls High School and had also been a mathematics and science teacher. For the past two years he has also served as a guidance counsellor.

Mr. and Mrs. Sieber and their son and daughter live in Lyons Falls, New York.

Dr. RICHARD F. STAAR will represent Dickinson College at the inauguration of Dr. Paul Rensselaer Beall as President of Oglethorpe College, Atlanta, Georgia, on May 15.

1949

SALLY-JO BURGHEIM GUNDERSHEIMER is studying at Capital University (Columbia) for a teaching certificate in high school English and history.

Mr. and Mrs. William Scherzer (ELIZABETH MINERVA ADAMS), of Boiling Springs, announced the birth of their second child, Carl William, on February 27.

1950

Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE AHL, JR., of Rowayton, Connecticut, announced the birth of a son, Peter William, on January 23.

Dr. JOHN D. HOWELLS was promoted in January by Parke, Davis & Company to Senior Research Microbiologist. In this capacity he will continue to supervise the fermentation development section of the department. He was awarded his doctorate degree in bacteriology from Pennsylvania State University in 1957. He and his family reside at 1834 Norwood, Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan.

MILDRED E. HURLEY reports she has three paintings hanging in the Social Security Office in Germantown. She has appeared in three productions of The Town Playhouse: The Boy Friend, The Unsinkable Molly Brown and Pajama Game.

Dr. CHARLES L. EATER, JR., McClure, Pennsylvania, has been elected as the 1965 president of the Mifflin-Juniata County Medical Society.

BURRELL IVES HUMPHREYS was presented with the Brotherhood Award of the Wayne Ministerial Fellowship. The award reads, "... granted in recognition of his devotion to the ideals of brotherhood and his dedicated efforts on behalf of human dignity." Mr. Humphreys is a member of the law firm of Hoffmann, Humphreys & Lafer in Wayne, New Jersey.

T. Dean Lower, Esq., '41

John Gruenberg, Jr., '40

Virginia Twyeffort Weber, '46

Robert Gerhard, '47, elected President of The Greater Glenside Chamber of Commerce.

WILLIAM P. SIMONS, Captain in the U. S. Army Reserves, is responsible for a series of articles being prepared on the Berks County Reserve Units. Through these articles the Reserves hope to enlighten the general public what goes on inside the reserve center. Capt. Simons is the senior information officer of the 326th PI Detachment. In civilian life he is an executive with the Pennsylvania State University serving as regional director of the university's adult education program in a 32-county area of Eastern Pennsylvania.

Commander FRANK N. HOFER, JR., has been attached to the USS Independence for the past 14 months. During this period he has made two deployments to the Mediterranean and a NATO cruise to the Norwegian Sea. This month he will deploy for an extended trip to the Pacific. Last fall he received the Secretary of the Navy Commendation for Achievement medal for work which he accomplished while attached to the Chief of Naval Operations in Washington.

PHYLLIS TAFT STUDY writes that they are temporarily living in Hollywood while her husband, Lomas, who is an actor, does a movie at Universal. The Studys maintain a permanent residence in a rented chateau in a Paris suburb so their 4-year old daughter can learn French and for new business ventures. Their address is Chateau de la Renaudiere, Margency, Seine et Oise, France.

In January, DAVID H. TAYLOR, of Potomac, Maryland, purchased Music Masters, a background music company operating in Washington and Baltimore. Dave also has an interest in a broadcasting operation in Miami, Florida.

1951

Announcement has been made of the engagement of THOMAS H. McENTEE to Patricia E. Nagle, an alumna of Fordham University. Mr. McEntee is a vice president of Adams, McEntee & Co., Inc., municipal-bond company. Miss Nagle is associated with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith.

Dr. and Mrs. LEWIS E. STOVER (NAN GERTZ) announced the birth of a daughter Virginia Carol, on November 3, 1964. The Stovers recently moved to 831 St. Francis Street, Houston, Texas.

Dr. JOHN T. WHITMORE served as the representative of the College at the inauguration of Robert Donald Clark as President of San Jose State College, San Jose, California. Dr. Whitmore is in the private practice of medicine in Palo Alto.

ROGER L. SAYPOL and Alexandra Mayes were married on February 28 in New York City. After a honeymoon in Barbados the couple returned to the city.

FRANK B. SEABOLDT, JR., was promoted early this year to a newly created staff position of Co-ordinator of College Recruiting in the home office of Retail Credit Company, Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Seaboldt joined Retail Credit in 1953 and was promoted to a sales position in 1956. In 1959, he was promoted to a supervisory staff position in the home office and in 1962 he received a promotion to assistant district sales manager in Newark, New Jersey.

Representative JANE LEHMER ALEXANDER, member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives from York County, was the principal speaker at a rally sponsored by the Sunbury Democratic Committee in February. An actively practicing attorney in partnership with her husband, Mrs. Alexander is a member of the York County, Pennsylvania and American Bar Associations. She is a director of the York County Cerebral Palsy Association and serves as a member of the Planning Committee and Committee of 100 for the United Fund of York County. Mrs. Alexander was elected to represent the second district of York County in Pennsylvania House of Representatives 1964. The mother of four children, she is married to P. Nelson Alexander, a graduate of the Dickinson School of Law. The Alexanders live in Dillsburg.

WILLIAM A. HILL, JR., attorney of Warren, will serve as a co-chairman for the professional and public service divisions of the Warren County Red Cross

George G. Lindsay, Esq., '48

Edward Sieber, Jr., '48

The newspaper caption read "Glenside Family Adopts a Chinese Doll." The Donecker family (John J. '48) did indeed adopt Siu Ching, an orphan and gave her a warm welcome following her plane ride from Hong Kong to New York's Kennedy Airport and her new home in Pennsylvania. Left to right are Bruce, 12; Jay, 11; Mrs. Donecker; and Ann, 6.

Norman Levin, '48

Comm. Frank N. Hofer, Jr., '50

William P. Simons, '50

Mildred Hurley, '50

campaign for 1965. A member of the Warren County and Pennsylvania Bar Associations, he has been active in community affairs and is currently serving as vice president of the board of directors of the YMCA, vice president of the Warren County Motor Club, secretary of the board of trustees of the Methodist Church.

1952

CHARLES HERBER, assistant professor of history at George Washington University, was awarded his doctorate in history from the University of California at Berkeley in February. He has been elected to the Dean's Council, a six-man council, at George Washington for a three-year term, and is also serving on the Athletic Committee of the Faculty Senate. The Herbers live at 118 North Wayne Street, Arlington, Virginia.

JOHN L. MERSFELDER is serving as Academic Dean at Endicott Junior College, Beverly, Massachusetts.

GERALD WEINSTEIN, attorney of Margate City, New Jersey, was appointed earlier this year by Governor Richard J. Hughes to serve as a member of the New Jersey Area Re-development Authority.

1953

On February 1, JOHN F. TRICKETT was appointed vice president in charge of sales of the Delaware Lumber and Millwork Corporation, Wilmington, Delaware.

1954

C. ROBERT SMALL is creating diagnostic centers for Socony Mobil.

Mr. and Mrs. STANLEY W. RUTKOWSKI, of Levittown, announced the birth of a daughter, Kim, on January 9.

Mr. and Mrs. DONALD TERTMAN (DORIS WISE '55), of Springdale, Connecticut, announced the birth of their third child and first daughter, Lynne Elizabeth, on June 14, 1964.

The Rev. J. EDWIN LINTERN, former pastor of the Chinchilla Methodist Church, assumed the pastorate of the Factoryville Methodist Church on January 29. In his new post, Perhaps the first heart surgery done in the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal was performed on a Hindu holy man (foreground) during the past year. Dr. Robert E. Berry, '51, right, staff surgeon for Laymen's Overseas Service, and Dr. Howard Edwards, Jr., a volunteer anesthesiologist, joined forces for this initial operation. LAOS is headquartered in Jackson, Mississippi and is inter-denominational.

Rev. Lintern will also serve as director of Methodist student work at Keystone Junior College, LaPlume, Pennsylvania.

In February, BARBARA J. WINEY, of Harrisburg, was elected Director of Christian Education by the congregation of the Lutheran Church. She assumed her duties in March. Miss Winey has served as director of Christian Education at Messiah Church, South Williamsport since 1958 and had been associated with Camp Nawakwa for 12 years as a counselor and teacher-leader. During the first semester of this year, she was an instructor in sociology at Lycoming College. Since 1963 she has served as secretary of the Board of Parish Education, Central Pennsylvania Synod, Lutheran Church in America.

The Rev. and Mrs. ELTON P. RICHARDS, JR., of Levittown, announced the birth of their first child, Elton Russell, on December 14, 1964.

CHARLES W. NAYLOR was promoted to National Sales Manager of the Union Carbide Corporation Plastics Division in February. The Naylor's live at 229 East 51st Street, New York City.

Dr. and Mrs. MARK C. EISENSTEIN, of Trenton, New Jersey, announced the birth of their third son, Steven Bernard, on September 24, 1964.

JAY M. HUGHES, M.D., has established a private practice in internal medicine in Manchester, Connecticut.

1955

BARBARA BURKET RITTER reports that her husband, Paul, is a trust officer at the First National Bank in Williamsport. The Ritters have two sons and a daughter and live at 1113 Franklin Street, Williamsport. The recently published Alumni Directory incorrectly listed their address as Gettysburg.

WARD EWING BARNES was appointed chairman of the mathematics department of Bel Air Senior High School, Bel Air, Maryland.

Dr. and Mrs. JAMES W. DOW, JR., of Moorestown, New Jersey, announced the birth of a daughter, Lee Anne, on June 15, 1964.

Mr. and Mrs. STEPHEN ROSEMAN, of Newton, New Jersey, announced the birth of a daughter, Janet Lee, on December 22.

Mr. and Mrs. EUGENE CHELL, of Woodbury, New Jersey, announced the birth of a son, Timothy Wayne, on January 1, 1965.

In October, GEORGE J. MARTIN, JR., was transferred to Rochester as district manager, H. K. Porter Company, Inc., Thermoid Division. He is now living at 26-C Clintwood Drive, Rochester, New York.

On July 1, Dr. THEODORE L. PHILLIPS will assume the position of assistant professor of radiology at the University of California Medical Center, San Francisco. He will practice and teach therapeutic radiology. Dr. and Mrs. Phillips (JOAN CAPPELLO, '54) recently moved to 20 Mt. Tenaya Drive, San Rafael, California.

1956

In January, FREDERICK H. SPECHT, Carlisle, was named to the staff of United Utilities, Inc., Kansas City, Missouri, of which United Telephone is an affiliate. In his new position he will work on computer data methods for the entire United Telephone system. Prior to his promotion, he was data methods manager of the Carlisle branch of United Telephone. Since joining the company in 1957, he served in the Carlisle area as a commercial representative for two years and in 1961 was assigned to the general office as commercial practices supervisor and was named data methods manager a year ago. Married to the former

MARY STUART GADD, '57, the couple will move to Kansas City with their three children.

Mr. and Mrs. MILES I. OWEN (SUZANNE SINCLAIR, '60), of Ridgefield, New Jersey, announced the birth of a son, Bradley Damon, on October 22, 1964.

Mr. and Mrs. Donovan R. Allen (BARBARA SHILLINGSBURG) have announced the adoption of a son, David Richard, in July. They have recently moved to Moorestown, New Jersey.

SHIRLEY CRANWILL was married to Jerald M. Jordan on December 19, 1964. Both Shirley and her husband are on the faculty of Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C. The Jordans live at 5418 - 54th Avenue, Riverdale, Maryland.

Dr. JAMES R. SHINHOLT of Somerset, was appointed chairman of the Correct Posture Committee of the Pennsylvania Chiropractic Society in February. In addition to his committee posts, he is a member of the state board of directors representing the 10-county West Central Pennsylvania district.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of PHYLLIS L. FETTERMAN and Alan D. Sexton, an alumnus of Pennsylvania State University. Phyllis is teaching chemistry at the George School in Bucks County. Her fiance is science co-ordinator at Council Rock Intermediate School, Richboro Public Schools, Newtown.

LEONARD TINTNER, an attorney of Harrisburg, was elected secretary of the Dauphin County Bar Association in January.

KENNETH E. DIETRICH was the speaker at a meeting of the North East Chapter of the Archeological Society of Maryland, Inc., in the Cecil County Library, Elkton in February. Ken is the librarian at West Nottingham Academy, Coloma, Maryland. He joined the faculty as chairman of the history department in 1960 and was named to his present position in 1962.

Mrs. JUDITH KIRKPATRICK SIGLER of Pittsburgh, is assistant executive director of the Allegheny County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children. She also serves as parent counsellor.

Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM S. HUDSON (CYNTHIA PHILLIPS, '59) of Dover, Delaware, announced the birth of their second son, Robert Phillips, on September 3, 1964. Bill was elected as Delaware State Chairman of the Young Republicans last year and will hold the office until 1966.

Captain EDWIN E. SMITH has been assigned to the 95th Transportation Company in Pusan, Republic of Korea. His address is 95th Trans. Co. (T.S.), APO San Francisco, California.

1957

In October, FRED S. SEEWALD, JR., accepted a position in the Trust Department of the Pennsylvania National Bank in Pottsville. He and his wife recently moved to 521 East Mifflin Street, Orwigsburg.

Professor KENNETH SHORT, instructor in history at Lakeland College, New Holstein, Wisconsin, was the guest speaker for a series of lectures at St. John's United Church of Christ, New Holstein. He is an ordained American Baptist minister.

JANE BLACKMER FLYNN was married to Guy P. Chance, an alumnus of Amherst College, in the Memorial Congregational Church, Sudbury, Massachusetts on January 23. Mrs. Chance teaches in Hopkinton, Massachusetts. Her husband is studying for his master's degree at Babson Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Pennock, Jr. (EDITH JOHNSON) announced the birth of their second child, Holly Anne, on December 16. The Pennocks moved from California last summer to 12 Mountain Avenue, Maplewood, New Jersey.

WILLIAM HOUP has been working for the New York Telephone Company since July. Bill and Ann (LEMKAU, '59) extend an invitation to all Dickinsonians to stop and see them at 2 Watchung Place, Summit, New Jersey.

Dr. DAVID KNEPLEY, who is completing his third year of internal medicine residency at the University of Pennsylvania

100,000 Pennsylvanians is an organization for the promotion of state economic growth. Centered in Harrisburg, M. George Mooradian, Esq., '51, is its Executive Director. He is shown here providing honorary memberships for a trio of television stars. Left to right are: Skitch Henderson, Mooradian, Johnny Carson and Ed McMahon.

Medical College, received a coveted appointment as a resident in gastroenterology at Graduate Hospital, Philadelphia, beginning July 1. The Knepleys (ANNE BERCHET, '56) and their two sons live at 4-1 Bloomfield Avenue, Drexel Hill.

Dr. and Mrs. RICHARD F. SHUMAN (JUDITH PINKERTON), of Danville, announced the birth of their third child, Kristen Francis, on January 16. Dick has been transferred from the chemical to the Research Laboratories Division of Merck and Company, Inc.

1958

ROBERT S. PARKER was appointed to the staff of the Hoyt Library, Wilkes-Barre, in January. He will be primarily responsible for the public relation functions of the library during the 21-month demonstration period. His duties also include sharing the work in the reference department. Bob has done graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and Springfield College.

PETER J. SHARP is a candidate for a master degree in

William M. Hill, Jr., '51

Jane Alexander, Esq., '51

Education in Guidance and Counseling at Shippensburg State College. A past president of the Cedar Cliff Education Association, he has served on the Cumberland County Education Association Executive Council for three years. For the past four years he has been teaching psychology at the Cedar Cliff High School, Camp Hill.

NANCY KELLEY received a doctorate in pharmacology from Temple University in 1964. She is now working with the Nobel Prize winner, Dr. DeVigneud, as a research associate in the biochemistry department of Cornell University Medical School.

ANN SAUNDERS BURROWES received a master's degree in psychology from The New School of Social Research in New York City. She is now employed in the research division of Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. She and her husband, ROBERT BURROWES, '57, live at 53 Humbert Street, Princeton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kookogy (MARY LOU PLATT), of Titusville, announced the birth of their fourth child and first son in March.

In October, WALTER D. RUNKLE, Esq., resigned as Assistant Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, closed his law office in Middleburg, and moved his family to Naperville, Illinois. He is now serving as general counsel and executive director of Consumer Credit Insurance Association, trade association of insurance companies writing credit life and credit accident and health insurance. His new address is 38780 Naperville Road, Naperville, Illinois.

1959

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Straughn (BARBARASUE LOVEJOY), of Middletown, New Jersey, announced the birth of a daughter, Amy-Beth, on December 12.

JOHN E. WILLIAMS, III, is in the Credit Department of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Company. He is attending the American Institute of Banking, where he is taking financial courses. John lives in Clifton Heights, Pennsylvania.

JUDSON LAIRD, III, was recently promoted to the position of new product development manager of the Pfizer Labs division of Chas. Pfizer and Co., Inc., in New York City. He and his family are living at Hillandale Manor, Norwalk, Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. William Frengel (MARCIA BARNDT) announced the birth of a son, Peter Bayard, on January 28. The Frengels live in New Bloomfield, where Mr. Frengel is an attorney.

In the fall of 1964, ALAN M. SMITH was appointed assistant professor of history at California State College at Hayward, Hayward, California.

Mr. and Mrs. DAVID GROVE (BARBARA FOGG, '61) announced the birth of their first child, Jonathan Morgan, on December 13. The Groves live at 116 East 4th Street, Media, Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. CHRISTIAN C. F. SPAHR, JR. (BEVERLEY WILSON), of Haverford, announced the birth of a son, Christian Febiger, on December 21, 1964.

RICHARD R. BLOCK recently became associated with the law firm of Meltzer & Schiffrin, with offices at 1529 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

EDWARD F. JONES, III, represented Dickinson at the inauguration of Clifford Lee Lord as the President of Hofstra University on April 28.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of MARY E. AWAD and William J. Dyess, of Copenhagen, Denmark, on April 23. Mrs. Dyess also studied at the Sorbonne and the Institute of Political Science in Paris. A former teacher in the International School in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, she also worked in Kabul with a team from Teachers College, Columbia University. The groom, a graduate of the University of Alabama and studied at the University of Missouri, Syracuse University and Oxford University, is second secretary at the Embassy in Copenhagen.

Judith Kirkpatrick Sigler, '56

Rev. J. Edwin Lintern, '54

George C. Hering III, Esq., '53, left, is congratulated by C. Burke Elbrick, U. S. Ambassador to Yugoslavia, for being selected Junior Chamber of Commerce "Young Man of the Year" for 1964. Hering competed for the title in the Greater Wilmington, Del., area totalling 350,000 people. Ross E. Anderson, Executive Vice-president of the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce is in the center.

Robert S. Parker, '58

1960

Announcement has been made of the engagement of ROBERT S. ORT to Judith McFadden, a graduate of the All Souls Hospital School of Nursing, Morristown, New Jersey. Bob is a senior at the Hahnemann Medical College and his fiancée is an operating room nurse at Morristown Memorial Hospital. A June wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. H. SCOTT DUNCAN (JUDITH SIMONI) announced the birth of a daughter, Lesley Ruth, on December 16 in Roi-et, Thailand. The Duncans completed two years service as English teachers in the Peace Corps in March. After a two month tour of Europe they will return to the states this month.

ROBERT J. FRIED is a real estate broker in the Harrisburg area. The Frieds and their two children live at 1046 Custan Drive, Harrisburg.

JAN M. WILEY, an attorney of Dillsburg, was named to the legal aid staff of the York County Bar Association. As a member of this staff he will devote part-time services on behalf of criminal court defendants who cannot afford to pay for counsel.

Mr. and Mrs. ANTHONY J. DiGIOIA announced the birth of their first child, David Anthony, on November 14. The DiGioias live at Welsh Road, R. D. #1, North Wales, Pennsylvania.

ANN FREAS HINES is working for the C & P Telephone Company as assistant editor of the company newspaper. Her husband is studying for his doctorate in physics at the University of Maryland. The Hines live at 4325 Rowalt Drive, College Park, Maryland.

ROBERT A. WORTHINGTON was awarded his master of arts degree in January from the University of Iowa.

Lt. GEORGE F. GARDNER is serving with the Judge Advocate General Corps at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. His tour of duty will expire in March 1967.

ROSEMARY RICHTMYER MOREST and her husband, Dr. D. Kent Morest, have moved to Boston, Massachusetts after spending a year and a half in Chicago. Dr. Morest is a member of the faculty at Harvard Medical School where his wife is associated with him in neuroanatomical research.

Dr. CHARLES E. WISOR will complete his internship at Bryn Mawr Hospital on June 30. He and his wife (JOANNE MACAULEY, '61) will leave for Germany in August to begin a three-year tour of duty with the United States Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Jon D. Oplinger (CAROL M. OBERMILLER), of Herleysville, Pennsylvania, announced the birth of their first child, Keith Alan, on June 30, 1964.

Since November, ELLEN L. WEIGEL has been working as assistant fashion director of Spinnerin Yarn Company. Prior to this she was on the editorial staff of Woman's Day magazine. In her new job she edits instruction books, travels with fashion shows in the Eastern part of the country and teaches knitting classes.

Mr. and Mrs. THOMAS B. PRICE (NANCY CROSS), of Lakewood, Ohio, announced the birth of a son, Thomas, III, in September, 1963. Tom is a technical representative with Fisher Scientific Company in Cleveland, Ohio.

Lt. ROCCO A. FALVELLO is presently assigned to NATO Headquarters in Landsoutheast, located in Izmir, Turkey, as a Special Liaison Officer.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT A. WORTHINGTON announced the birth of a son, Kevin Anthony on February 6. Bob received a master of arts degree in City Planning and Urban Renewal from the University of Iowa on January 30. The Worthingtons live at 123 Iowa Avenue, Apartment 7, Iowa City, Iowa.

Lt. and Mrs. STEPHEN DAVIS and their son, Michael, who was born last September, are now living in Charlottesville, Virginia, where Steve is stationed at the Judge Advocate General's School as a member of the staff and faculty. Steve is a member of both the Connecticut and New York Bar Associations and plans to practice law in New York City upon completion of his military duty next January.

JOHN S. GORDON served as the representative of the College at the inauguration of Gordon Williams Blackwell as eighth President of Furman University, Greenville, South Carolina in April. John is a member of the faculty at Clemson College.

1961

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Heller recently announced the engagement of their daughter JEANNE G. HELLER, '63 to STANLEY W. LINDBERG. The couple plan to be married in June.

Lt. THOMAS E. FALEY, JR. is serving with the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. A 1962 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, he graduated from the Airborne and Ranger School in 1963. On June 6, 1964, he married the former Sue Clapsaddle.

MICHAEL J. HERMANN is office manager at Vantage Products, division of Hamilton Watch Company, in East Petersburg. The Hermanns live at 1640 Robert Road, Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. RONALD C. PAGE (LOIS MECUM) of Harrisburg, announced the birth of a daughter, Janet Elizabeth, on August 21, 1964.

GAIL MASSEY SIMPSON is a copy editor of medical journals for the J. B. Lippincott Company Publishers in Philadelphia.

GEORGE A. FORSYTH and Peggy E. Dale were married on January 24 in the West Raleigh Presbyterian Church, Raleigh, North Carolina. The bride is an alumna of North Carolina State University and is a graduate instructor at Purdue University where she is studying for her doctorate in child psychology. George received his master's degree in psychology from North Carolina State University and was awarded a research grant by Purdue, where he is studying for his doctorate.

Frank M. Caswell, Jr., '58

Announcement has been made of the engagement of ELIZABETH MATTA to Ronald M. Masters, an alumnus of the University of Detroit. Mr. Masters is with DECO Electronics, Leesburg, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. HAROLD N. FITZKEE, JR. (HARRIET HARDING, '62), of Philadelphia, announced the birth of a son, David Matthew, on January 4. Since graduation from the University of Pennsylvania Law School, Harold is associated with the law firm of Nix, Rhodes & Nix.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of JANE C. KISER and Robert P. Anderman. Jane is a member of the faculty at the General Wayne Junior High School, Malvern. Her fiancé plans to receive his bachelor of laws degree from Temple University School of Law in June. The couple plan a July wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Montanaro (JUDITH ENGELKE) of Silver Spring, Maryland, announced the birth of their first child, James Steven, last June.

DAVID G. STEVENSON graduated from George Washington Law School in February. He is now associated with the law office of James R. Stoner in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. WATSON LOHMANN announced the birth of their second son, David Leith, on January 20. Watty is employed with Shell Chemical Company, a division of Shell Oil Company. The Lohmanns live in Pitman, New Jersey.

Alan M. Smith, '59

MICHAEL C. BALDAUFF has been appointed field claim representative in the Fairfax, Virginia office of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company. A member of the board of governors of the Student Bar, he has served as president of the Young Democrats. He lives at 2910 Second Street, South, Arlington, Virginia.

1962

Since September, 1962, DAVID JENNY has been working for the Northern Chester County Herald, a weekly paper published in Honey Brook, Pennsylvania. His job is to write news copy, do rewrite work, proofread, advertising and keep the mailing list current.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of DAVID JAMES to Margaret P. Bodine, an alumna of Smith College.

Upon completion of his tour of duty with the Army, ROBERT R. GRAINGER, JR. was awarded the Army Commendation Medal. He is currently employed as College Personnel Representative for the Lehigh Portland Cement Company in Allentown.

KNUT S. ROYCE was the recipient of a graduate assistantship for spring semester at the University of Iowa School of Journalism. Knut is a candidate for the master of arts degree with a concentration in editorial journalism.

Robert E. Young, '59, left, was named as a Chrysler Corporation Turbine Car Motorist for three months in Chrysler's turbine market evaluation program and has been collecting crowds wherever he parks the unique vehicle. "It will run on anything combustible," Bob insists, "And the 130-horsepower turbine engine produces car activity equivalent to a 230-horsepower V-8 but, weighs only half as much."

Announcement has been made of the engagement of JAMES R. TOWNHILL and Mary M. Hobson, a senior at Wilson College. Jim is associated with Republic Steel Corporation in Warren, Ohio.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of PATRICIA L. CARDINALI to Vincent S. Guarrera, an alumnus of Alfred Agricultural Institute. Pat is a member of the faculty of Jamesville-Dewitt High School, Dewitt, New York. Her fiancé is employed with the Nestle Company. The couple plan an August wedding.

CHARLES W. HYMAN is teaching physics and mathematics at a private school in New Jersey. He is also attending graduate school.

GWENDOLYN CORONWAY was married to Drazen Radosevic at the bride's home on January 9. The groom is an alumnus of Technical Hochschule, Stuttgart, Germany and the University of Utrecht. The couple will reside in Los Angeles, California.

The Rev. and Mrs. David V. Voss (LYNN HAMMOND) announced the birth of a daughter, Jane Elizabeth, on January 23. The Vosses recently moved to 6226 Lone Oak Drive, Bethesda, Maryland, where Mr. Voss is serving as minister of education at the Bradley Hills Presbyterian Church.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of EUGENE M. BECKER and Helen M. Raymo, an alumna of Seton Hill College.

EUGENE C. DEVOL, JR. was awarded a master's degree in business administration from the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in May. After successfully passing his CLU examinations in June, he is presently associated with the Philadelphia-DeVol General Agency of the National Life of Vermont.

ROBERTA ARMSTRONG DeWIRE is enjoying part-time work as society editor for the Fort Campbell newspaper, "The Shield and Circle." The DeWires live at 1488-B Werner Park, Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

Upon completion of graduate school in June, MARGARET E. FATULA successfully passed the National Registration Examination of the American Occupational Therapy Association with honors. She is now working in the Children's Psychiatric Center at the State Hospital in Trenton, New Jersey.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of CAROL ANN LAWRENCE to Peter J. Reilly, an alumnus of Princeton University. Carol is a member of the faculty of Lower Moreland High School, Huntingdon Valley. Mr. Reilly received his doctorate at the University of Pennsylvania and is with the organic chemicals department of the DuPont Company, Jackson Laboratories, Deepwater, New Jersey.

1963

RICHARD A. REEDER was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force at Dyess Air Force Base, Texas. He is serving as a supply officer in a unit that supports the Strategic Air Command mission.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of DAVID R. CHIPKIN and Peggy Mae Schwartz, a graduate of the Cornell University New York Hospital School of Nursing. Dave is attending Cornell University School of Medicine. An August wedding is planned.

JAMES J. EYSTER, JR. and Susan Wade Brown, an alumna of Westminster College, were married on January 2. The couple now reside at 1915 Anderson Avenue, Manhattan, Kansas, where Jim is serving as a lieutenant in the Army Engineers Corps.

JOHN McGEE is in his second year in seminary at the Boston University School of Theology.

SUSAN PASTORE and DAVID P. CHAPIN were married on January 2. The couple now reside at 1820 Hardwood Lane, Norfolk, Virginia.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of SHIRLEY ANN BERBERIAN to George H. Skirven, a pre-theology student at Temple University. Shirley is teaching math in the Cheltenham High School in Wycote. A September wedding is planned.

This photograph graced the front cover of Bethlehem Steel Company's 1965 brochure and pictures at the left, Robert Lecron, '63, with two other "Loop Course" candidates. Bob is married to the former Susan Husted, also '63.

Second Lieutenant JON M. STEEN was awarded his silver wings upon graduation from U. S. Air Force navigator training at James Connally Air Force Base, Texas. He has been assigned to K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Michigan for flying duty.

Specialist Four DAVID A. LEONARD has been assigned to the U. S. Army Security Agency at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland.

CHARLES P. MERRICK, 3d and LINDA HAACK, '66, were married on January 30 in the Church of the Good Samaritan in Paoli. Charles is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Law.

ROBERT LOUIS KNUPP and Judith Ann Pettigrew were married on January 30 in the Calvary Methodist Church, Harrisburg. The bride attended Shippensburg College and Western Reserve University. Robert is in his second year at the Dickinson Law School. The couple now live at 216 West Pomfret Street.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of LOUIS J. VERDELLI and Constance L.

Fenner. Louis is a student at the Pennsylvania College of Optometry.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of WILLIAM E. CURTIS to Judy L. Huserik, a graduate of the Princeton, New Jersey Hospital School of Nursing, where she is in the pediatrics department. Bill is a student at Drew Theological Seminary.

Since her graduation in September from the University of Pennsylvania School of Allied Medical Professions, SUELLEN PELTZ is now working as a physical therapist at the Delaware Curative Workshop in Wilmington.

CHRISTINE ELLIS and Will C. Baird, Jr., an alumnus of the University of Miami, were married on August 8, 1964. Christine is currently appearing in the musical "Carnival" being presented by the Theatre Nashville. Her husband is manager of WSIX, an FM radio station. The Bairds live at 145 Woodmont Boulevard, Nashville, Tennessee.

Upon completion of a two-year tour of duty with the Army in September, WILLIAM M.

GORMLY will attend the University of Virginia Graduate School of Business.

Ensign WHITNEY B. SMYTH is serving as Gunnery Officer and Public Information Officer aboard the DSS St. Clair County, an LST, home-based in San Diego, Calif.

Since the last issue of The Dickinson Alumnus, BARBARA BUECHNER has received another promotion with STEEL magazine. She is now one of the magazine's assistant editors, handling mainly international metalworking news. Barbara is active in the Cleveland West Shore Chi Omega Alumnae and was recently elected treasurer for the coming year.

1964

Announcement has been made of the engagement of JUDITH WARREN to Richard W. Howarth, an alumnus of Bucknell University. Miss Warren is employed by the Montgomery County Public Schools in Bethesda, Maryland. Mr. Howarth is attending Drew Theological Seminary. A June wedding is planned.

CRAIG S. BROWN and Anita R. Brown were married on January 31 in the First Baptist Church, Walled Lake, Michigan. Both Craig and his bride are attending Murray State College in Kentucky, where they are residing on campus.

LEMAR R. FRANKHOU-SER and Barbara Craig were married on February 13 in the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church.

In January, JAMES E. GAUNTT began a six-month active tour of duty with the Army. Upon completion of this duty, he will return to the firm of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery in Philadelphia.

RONALD B. GLAZER and Adele Kay, of Melrose Park, will be married on June 12. Ron is presently attending the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

On April 1, CLARK A. McKNIGHT, II, began work with the Whitman Publishing Company as a sales representative.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of GORDON N. CROSBY and Susan Mac-

Master. Miss MacMaster attended Wilson College and is now a student at Boston University. A fall wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davidson have announced the engagement of their daughter, LESLIE JEAN DAVIDSON, to Roland C. Hobbs, an alumnus of the University of Baltimore. Leslie is teaching math at the Eastchester Senior High School. Her fiance is a senior at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Gettysburg. A summer wedding is planned.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of RODNEY R. HEEFNER and Karen G. McGarvie, a senior at the Moore College of Art. Rod is serving as a lieutenant in the Army and stationed at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of ROBERT A. MEADE and Karen Lee Almstead, a member of the senior class. Bob is attending the University of North Carolina Law School.

SANDRA M. SCHIAVO is presently enrolled in the graduate school of Boston University where she is working her doctorate in psychology. She is doing research on the problem of alcoholism.

HOWARD W. WHITE is attending the University of Pittsburgh School of Law.

CHARLES F. GaNUN is attending the Coast Guard Officer Candidate School.

1966

Announcement was made in February of the engagement of WALTER M. ECKMAN to Vony Nelson, a senior at Shippensburg State College. Wally is employed as a laboratory technician at the Carlisle Tire and Rubber Company.

JOHN R. LEAMAN and Margaret P. Graham were married on March 6 in the chapel of Allison Methodist Church. Mrs. Leaman is the grand-daughter of the late Dr. Milton E. Eddy, who served as chairman of the biology department for many years. John is employed by IBM in Mechanicsburg. The couple now resides in Memphis, Tennessee.

Obituaries

1901 WILLIAM R. SCHMUCKER, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, died on October 13, 1964, at the age of 86. A Life Member of the General Alumni Association, he was a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. A Mason, he also held memberships in the Methodist Church and Kiwanis International. He is survived by a daughter and a son.

1905 The Alumni Office just received word that RALPH E. SMITH, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, died on April 24, 1961.

1907 The Rev. WILLIAM WHITE BANKS, retired Methodist minister, died on October 26 in the Clearfield Hospital at the age of 85. His career in the ministry started at Bishopville, Maryland in 1904 and extended long past his retirement in 1952.

1914 JOHN FREEMAN MELROY, a retired public school administrator and teacher, died on October 22, of leukemia, having been ill for seven months. Following graduation from Dickinson, he received a master of arts degree in public school administration from New York University. He served the public school system for 38 years. He was also a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, the American Classical League, the Classical Association of the Middle Atlantic States and the Masons.

1914 CLARENCE E. ZORGER, a retired teacher, died in Harrisburg on December 8, 1964.

1915 The Rev. ROBERT C. GATES, of Norwood, died in the Taylor Hospital, Ridley Park, on October 21, 1964, at the age of 71. He was awarded the doctor of divinity degree from Dickinson in 1955. A veteran of World War I, he was a missionary of the Methodist Church under the Division of World Missions in Southern Rhodesia, Africa for 40 years until his retirement. He was a life member of the General Alumni Association. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

1916 The Rev. HARRY D. WEST, of Wilmington, Delaware, died on February 4 at the Wilmington General Hospital where he had been a patient since December 30. A teacher for more than 38 years, he served as a member of the Wilmington High School social studies department for 33 years prior to his retirement in 1959.

1916 Dr. CLAYTON C. PERRY, surgeon in Cleveland, Ohio, died on March 6 at his home. Prior to settling in Cleveland in 1925, he served hospitals in Pennsylvania and London, England. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He is survived by a son.

1916 The Rev. GEORGE S. SOUTHWICK, retired Methodist minister, died at his home in West Palm Beach, Florida on February 16 at the age of 72. Prior to moving to Florida, he served as a supply minister for the Methodist churches of Burlington County, New Jersey. A life member of the General Alumni Association. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

1917 W. SHUMAN HART, of Hollidaysburg, died on June 6 after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage on June 2. A graduate of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, he was a Golden Legionnaire of Phi Delta Theta. He is survived by his wife and two daughters.

1917 GEORGE W. LEIDIGH, of Camp Hill, died on March 7 in the Polyclinic Hospital at the age of 69. A former Carlisle resident, Mr. Leidigh graduated from the New Jersey Law School, now Rutgers University. For many years he was associated with Judge W. Edward Wolf, of Newark, New Jersey. A member of the Lutheran Church, he was also a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He is survived by his wife.

1925 ORLO B. JENKINSON, of Point Pleasant Beach, New Jersey, died on July 18 in the Point Pleasant Hospital after a lengthy illness at the age of 64. He was co-owner of Jenkinson's Pavilion, Point Pleasant Beach, for 36 years, and was a charter member of the Point Pleasant First Aid Squad. He is survived by his wife, two daughters and a son.

1925 DOUGLAS M. SMITH, a former consultant with the national office of the American Heart Association in New York, died in New York on March 1, at the age of 61. At the time of his death, he also was a public relations consultant for Al Hall Lefton Company. A graduate of Lehigh University and Temple University, he was former managing editor of the Philadelphia Forum. A life member of the General Alumni Association, he was a member of Beta Theta Pi. He held membership in Pi Delta Epsilon and Phi Delta Kappa. He is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter.

1927 The Alumni Office received word of the death of MATHUES P. DOUGHERTY.

1937 RUTH LaBAR DUNNING, wife of Roger A. Dunning, supervising principal of the Stroud Union elementary schools, died on January 14, in the General Hospital, Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania. She is survived by a son, Richard, and a sister, WILHELMINA LaBAR SMITH, '34.

1951 The Alumni Office has received word of the death of LEO L. BLEGGI, of St. Marys, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Josephine Brunyate Meredith, '02 for 29 years dean of women and professor of English at Dickinson College, died on January 15 in West Branch, Iowa. She was the widow of Arthur J. Meredith.

Born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, on April 14, 1879, Dean Meredith entered Dickinson as a student in 1901 with advanced standing and graduated one year later.

In 1919, after teaching in the high schools of Atlantic City, Pleasantville and Trenton, N. J., she was appointed to the Dickinson faculty as dean of women and associate professor of English. She continued as teacher and administrator until her retirement in 1948.

Mrs. Meredith was Dickinson's first dean of women and the first woman to obtain a full professorship at the college. Her interest in the problems of many generations of Dickinson co-eds was recognized at her 50th class reunion in 1951, when a group of alumnae presented the college with a portrait of Dean Meredith painted by Wilbur Fiske Noyes, the Boston artist.

As a teacher Dean Meredith had been deeply interested in the Dickinson library and for years had served on the faculty committee on the library. Some years ago friends and former students created the Josephine B. Meredith Library Fund in a tribute to her services to the library. When she retired she turned over many books and a large collection of pictures and photographs to the library.

Dean Meredith is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Carl S. Vastling, of Iowa City, Iowa, and three grandchildren. A private memorial service was held in the First Methodist Church of Iowa City.

Josephine B. Meredith, '02

Who Remembers?

Vincent Carty, '29, came across these photographs of Dickinsonians among some very dusty manuscripts. In fact, they have been out of sight so long that he is not certain himself, who the subjects are or what their purpose for posing for these group pictures might be. Obviously, the top photograph was taken on the stage of the "Little Theatre" in Denny Hall . . . or was it?

Coming Events

ALUMNI DAY

Saturday, June 5

COMMENCEMENT

Sunday, June 6

REUNION CLASSES

	'00	'05
'10	'15	'20
'25	'30	'35
'40	'45	'50
	'55	'60

THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS
Dickinson College
Carlisle, Pa.

Second Class Postage Paid at Carlisle,
Pennsylvania. Return Requested