BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Augusta McClintock was born in Carlisle, Pennsylvania to John McClintock Jr. and Caroline Augusta Wakeman McClintock in 1843. Augusta (known as Gussie to her family) had three siblings, but only her older brother, John Emory McClintock, lived to adulthood. Augusta married James Madison Longacre, and the couple had four children.

Augusta's father was employed as a professor at Dickinson College when she was born. Her mother died in 1850, and John remarried in 1851 to Caroline Wilkins Stevenson, and the couple had a daughter together, Anne, in 1859, who was their only child to live to adulthood. Caroline Stevenson had previously been married to Robert Emory (who died in 1848), and they had one child, Maria Emory. Maria and Augusta, who were step-sisters, grew to be quite close. John McClintock and his family moved to France during the Civil War when he served as pastor for the American Chapel in Paris.

John Emory McClintock attended Dickinson College for a time, but ultimately graduated from Columbia University in 1859. He earned doctoral degrees and then worked in the insurance industry. Other individuals represented in this collection include Andrew Longacre, Augusta's brother-in-law, and Margaret McClintock, Augusta's aunt.

COLLECTION DESCRIPTION

The Augusta McClintock Collection was purchased via eBay in 2018, and the contents of the collection are housed in one letter-sized archival box. The collection is primarily composed of personal correspondence among the various family members. The correspondence is largely organized according to the sender of a particular letter and thereafter chronologically, but there is also a grouping of letters received by Augusta from various individuals, as well as a grouping of miscellaneous letters arranged chronologically. The collection has been named for Augusta because there are more letters coming to and from Augusta than anyone else. One folder with a note and newspaper clippings completes the collection.
