Washington City,

June 2^d - '44.

My dear Sir;

You would be a shabby fellow, and "a bad man and an ugly Christian," if, for one moment, you could blame me for not writing or answering letters - Don't you well know, that it is only with our Enemies that we are apt to be careless and very punctual - Friendly we are slow of, and, therefore, care nothing about them -

In addition to this very philosophical reflection, let me say to you, that at no time do I write letters unless under the most deadly compulsion. And yet I wish you could be here for a little while to see how hard I work from 9 until 4 & 5 -

In reference to the Harbor improvement at Erie, I have had many applications - It is a work under the care of the Topographical Bureau, and I presume will be put in charge of an officer of that Corps.

As to Mr. Biddle, God knows the wish of my heart - Further than this, I know not one word. I have not as yet heard a sentence from the Dept. on the subject -

Yours very truly -

Wm. Wilkins

Mr. Biddle.

My dear Sir;

You would be a shabby fellow, and "a bad man and an ugly Christian," if, for one moment, you could blame me for not writing or answering letters. Don't you well know that it is only with our Enemies that we are apt to be careful and very punctual. Friends we are sure of, and, therefore, care nothing about them. In addition to this very philosophical reflection, let me say to you, that at no time do I write letters unless under the most dreadful compulsion. And yet I wish you could be here for a little while to see how hard I work from 9 until 4 & 5.

In reference to the Harbor improvement at ERie, I have had many applications. It is a work under the care of the Topographical Bureau, and I presume will be put in charge of an office of that Corps. As to W. Biddle, God knows the wish of my heart. Further than this, I know not one word. I have not as yet heard a sentence from the Pres't on the subject.

Yrs. very truly

Wm. Wilkins
