Carlisle. Jan^y 10th 1798

Sir,

As Doctor Nesbit's Course of Lectures is to close in about ten days, & I shall immediately remove from this place, I must withdraw my subscription for your Universal Asylum & Columbian Magazine. I transmit herewith, by the hand of Mr. Rowan, one year's subscription money, although I have not yet received my complement of numbers. The Gentlemen belonging to the Divinity Class, who have subscribed, owing to the same causes, talk of withdrawing their subscriptions; but I expect they will give you particular information.

If you have Gaston's Scripture Practice, & give me a note of the price of it in the Asylum, I shall send down for it, by as early an opportunity as I can obtain.

By Mr. Tate I am informed that you propose to publish Edwards on the Will. Such books deserve every encouragement. Were proposals circulated here, a very considerable number of subscribers might be readily procured. The Students of College would take thirty or forty copies. If you go on with the design, as I earnestly hope you may, besides subscribing myself, I would cheerfully do every thing in my power to forward such a publication.

I am, dear Sir, with the utmost respect, your friend, & humble serv^t.

John Young.

If you have Gaston's Scripture Practice, & give so a note of the price of it in the Asylum, I shall send down for it, by as early an opportunity as I can obtain.

By Mr. Gate I am informed that you propose to publish Edwards on the Will. Such books deserve every encouragement. Were proposals circulated here, a very considerable number of Subscribers might be readily procured. The Students of College would take thirty or forty copies. If you go on with the design, as I earnestly hope you may, besides subscribing myself, I would cheerfully do every thing in my power to forward such a publication.
