The dramatic production of a Robin Swados play

A Quiet End

Three men of diverse backgrounds and aspirations face their greatest test of all—living with AIDS. You will experience the human side of the present health crisis through their friendship, loyalty and love .

"The play, as quiet in its message as in its ending, gets the measure of pain and love in a bitter-chill climate." -

N.Y. Post

"In a situation that will be recognizable to most gay people, it is the chosen family rather than the biological family, that has become important to these men. Robin Swados has made an impressive debut with 'A Quiet End' by accurately representing the touching relationships in such a group." -

N.Y. Native

Lily White & Company's production of

comes to Harrisburg this July.

All proceeds will benefit the Lily White Patient Relief Fund.
