Announce Program for the 168th Commencement

FEW changes appear in the program for the 168th Commencement which will be held from June 6 to 9, other than a better attempt to arrange for fair weather for all the events. Satisfaction having marked the successful programs of recent years officers of the College, student representatives and Alumni Day Committee members have nodded an assent to a "return engagement."

The greatest departure for returning alumni will be the presentation of the new Bosler Hall, and the only insertion other than the changing of names elsewhere occurs in the events scheduled for Saturday evening where it will be noted appears "8:00 P.M.—Inspection of Bosler Hall." Members of the library staff will be on duty that evening to show visitors the new building, and it will be open throughout the Alumni Prom.

A distinct highlight will be the appearance of His Excellency, the Ambassador of the Republic of China as the speaker at the 168th Commencement Exercises when seven honorary degrees will be conferred and degrees will be awarded to the graduates of the College and of the law school. The exercises will again be held in the Alumni Gymnasium.

The program for Alumni Day provides a very full day for all returning alumni beginning with the meeting of Phi Beta Kappa for the selected few at 9 o'clock in the morning and winding up after midnight for the members of Raven's Claw and many reunion class members. Between times there will be the morning meeting of the Alumni Council and the meeting of the General Alumni Association at 10:30 A.M. when annual reports of the officers will be given.

The Alumni Luncheon will be held at noon in the Alumni Gymnasium, and will be followed by a costumed Alumni Parade, which will march led by the College Band to Biddle Field where Alma Mater will be sung.

A strong Dickinson baseball team which has been making a fine record this spring will face the Drew University nine after the arrival of the paraders, probably at 2:30 o'clock.

The President's Reception will be held from 4:30 to 6 P.M. and at 5:30 the fraternity banquets will begin.

The campus will be specially lighted for the evening events of Commencement and especially for the Alumni Prom beginning at 9 o'clock on Saturday night. The American Legion Band of Harrisburg will give a concert from a stand erected near Old West.

Class reunion dinners are being planned for Sunday immediately following the Baccalaureate Services. The morning will begin at 10:30 with the academic procession from Old West to the Alumni Gymnasium where the services will again be held. President Fred P. Corson will deliver the sermon and the choir of Allison Methodist Church under the direction of Mrs. Leslie M. Karper will provide the music. An electric organ will be installed for use in the services.

From 4:30 to 6 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, there will be a tea at Metzger Hall and at 8:30 Sunday evening, a sacred concert will be given in Allison Methodist Church sponsored by the Women's Glee Club.

The Commencement program will begin on Friday afternoon, June 6, at 3:30 o'clock when the Ivy Oration will be delivered from the Old Stone Steps. This will be followed by the Senior Induction in which Dean E. A. Vuilleumier and George C. Hering, Jr., '17, president of the General Alumni Association, will participate.

The McFarland Twins and their Orchestra will furnish the music for the Senior Ball which will be held in the Alumni Gymnasium on Friday night from 9 to 1 o'clock.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees will meet on Friday afternoon and the annual meeting of the Board will be held on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Physics lecture room.

Alumni should note that all Commencement events are scheduled for Daylight Saving Time, and also the warnings concerning room reservations. It is important also that all alumni and commencement visitors register first upon arrival in Carlisle in the registration room on the first floor of Old West. There tickets for the Alumni Luncheon and all events for which tickets are required can be secured, and answers given to any question concerning the commencement season.

Officers of the college also point out that the long standing rule against solicitation of funds for college purposes at Commencement will be adhered to this year as in the past.

Central Pennsylvania Conference to Seek $100,000

AT A time when the Trustees of the College are considering questions relating to the launching of a financial campaign, the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church at its annual session in Grace Church, Harrisburg, voted on April 19 for a joint campaign which will be held this fall for $250,000 for Dickinson College, Williamsport Dickinson Seminary and the Wesley Foundation at State College. The College will receive approximately $100,000 if the goal is reached.

Members of the committee charged with carrying on the campaign will hold meetings this month to set the appeal in motion. The campaign will be made wholly within the boundaries of the Central Pennsylvania Conference and the campaign will be held in the fall, under present plans.

A year ago, the Conference authorized the appointment of a committee to consider the question of launching a campaign for the three institutions. President Fred P. Corson was later elected chairman of that committee and several meetings were held in Harrisburg, Lewisport and Carlisle during the past year. While a larger goal was first envisioned by the committee, at the final meeting during the April session of Conference it was decided to set the goal at $250,000 and this recommendation was approved by the Conference. Officials of the three institutions each have pointed out that the campaign will meet pressing needs only in part.

Dickinson College and the Seminary will share the costs of the campaign and the receipts will be divided on a 3-3-1 basis between the College, Seminary and the Wesley Foundation. It is expected that the College and the Seminary will each receive approximately $100,000 and the Wesley Foundation about $35,000.

In the discussion before the Conference, President Corson stated that he would recommend to the Board of Trustees of the College that the $100,000 share of the college be added to the permanent endowment of the college for the creation of scholarships for the use of children from Methodist homes, preference first being given to those from Central Pennsylvania.

Dr. John W. Long, '07, president of the Williamsport Dickinson Seminary, stated that his institution needs the $100,000 "and more" for the restoration of the main building on the campus and for additional endowment.

Dr. George W. Babcock of the Wesley Foundation, plans to use the $35,000 to defray part of the cost of a building at State College, which can be erected if that amount is received though other financing will be necessary to meet the entire cost of the structure.

Observe Founders' Day in Completed Bosler Hall

The New Bosler Hall

WITH the presentation to the College of the original deed granted in 1773 by the Penn heirs to the trustees of a grammar school in Carlisle, out of which the College grew, Dickinson observed its annual Founders' Day on May 3, holding the exercises in the newly-completed, enlarged Bosler Hall.

On the same occasion, Dr. Guy E. Snavely, executive director of the American Association of Colleges, declared that unless the present Selective Service Act is amended, colleges may have to institute summer quarters and graduate students in three years. It is absolutely necessary, he declared, to maintain "a sizable reservoir of educated leadership for all the problems that will arise during the war and immediately thereafter," and that not only in the physical sciences which contribute directly to the war effort, but in the humanities as well.

Boyd Lee Spahr, '00, president of the Board of Trustees, presided at the ceremonies, which were attended by the senior class, wearing for the first time their academic caps and gowns. On behalf of his class Dr. S. Luther Bare, '02, of Westminster, Md., presented to George F. Myers, of Lemoyne, Pa., son of John E. Myers, '17, the annual 1902 Award, a gold watch given to the member of the junior class voted by his classmates the most all-around Dickinsonian.

Merrill Hummel, '08L, president of the Carlisle school board, made the presentation of the ancient parchment, which had been preserved since 1773 in the archives of the school district. This deed, bearing the date March 3, 1773, is tangible evidence of the new founding date adopted for the College by the Board of Trustees at its December meeting. Hitherto, the College had observed the date September 9, 1783, the date of the legislative act of incorporation.

Speaking in the remodeled chapel, now used for the first time, Dr. Snavely, warning liberal arts colleges of receiving state subsidies, declared that they must take stock of their situation and "be prepared to oppose any trend toward shackling the college with governmental control, which follows inexorably upon state support. The democratic way of life cannot survive the waves of totalitarianism that have begun to lap at our shores if the twofold system of publicly- and privately-supported education, which is the genius of our educational philosophy, is unbalanced by the imposition of state supervision."

Alumni and other visitors to the campus after the ceremonies visited the new library. All but a few unimportant details of decoration have been completed. On the first floor there are, in addition to the old library and reading room, now freshly painted, a large reference room and an office for the librarian.

On the second floor is the chapel, not recognizable as the old Bosler chapel, what with its lower roof, new seats, neat balcony, and colonial lines. There are three other rooms on the same floor. One of these will be a faculty room, another will be set aside for the exhibition of articles in the Dickinsoniana collection; while the third is a recreational reading room, furnished by the gift of Alexander A. Sharp, '83, of Chicago. Equipped with comfortable chairs and good reading lamps, this room will contain a collection of books of a general nature, accessible to students at all times, for reading not connected with their class work.

The third floor of the library contains three more rooms, one a music room, a second the English Research Room, the gift of the class of 1900, and a third room, whose purpose is as yet undesignated. There is also a large space in the attic for the storage of books; and in the basement is additional storage space and the reserve book room.

The reconstruction and enlargement of Bosler Hall, authorized by the Trustees in 1939, was begun in April, 1940, and proceeded during the last summer and during the current academic year. During the rebuilding, however, the library remained open, reference and reserve collections were transferred to West College, and no interruption in students' work occurred as a consequence.

Alumni returning to Carlisle at Commencement will want to inspect the new building; and for that purpose the library will be specially open, with its staff in attendance, on the evening of Alumni Day, June 7.

Philadelphia Club Dines

The annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Philadelphia was held in the Hotel Wellington on April 29 with 82 present when Dr. Roy W. Mohler, '17, retiring president acted as toastmaster. The Rev. Frank D. Lawrence, '02, offered the invocation.

Mrs. Gertrude Biddle, widow of Judge Edward W. Biddle, former president of the Board of Trustees, was guest of honor and was presented by Dr. Mohler as was Mrs. Fred P. Corson.

In the business session, Robert L. Ganoe, '16, was elected president of the club; David A. Kinley, '17L, and Ruth V. Teitrich, '26, were each named vice-presidents, and Dr. William C. Sampson, '02, was again re-elected secretary-treasurer, a post he has held many years.

George E. Lloyd, '01, vice-president of the Board of Incorporators, spoke briefly and introduced Dean W. H. Hitchler, who was followed by Gilbert Malcolm. Boyd Lee Spahr, president of the Board of Trustees, spoke and introduced President F. P. Corson.

Among those present were 20 Dickinsonians who now attend graduate schools in Philadelphia.

Provides Recreational Reading Room in Bosler

THE gift of the furnishings for the recreational reading room in the new Bosler Hall by Colonel Alexander A. Sharp, '83, of Chicago, Ill., has been announced by President F. P. Corson.

Located on the second floor of the northern wing, the room has an entrance from the hall and an ornate stairway from the main chapel floor. It is also equipped with a tea pantry.

The furnishings include fine rugs, leather chairs of various types, tables, floor and reading lamps. Around the walls are bookcases which at present are only partially filled. On one of the walls is a portrait of Colonel Sharp.

In planning for the use of the room, Miss May Morris, college librarian, has said that it will be for recreational reading and not for study and that the books will be selected with this in mind. Her plan is to equip the room with contemporary and standard fiction, plays, classical and modern poetry and an assortment of other books for pleasure reading.

Colonel Sharp, whose military title comes from service with the 35th Division in the World War, was born in Newville, Pa. He prepared for college at the Dickinson Preparatory School, and received his A.B. degree from the College in 1883. He then entered the University of Pennsylvania Medical School and received the M.D. degree in 1885. In 1926, he received an A.M. degree from the College.

He later forsook the practice of medicine to become representative of the Mortgage Trust Company of Pennsylvania in Kansas where he resided until 1921, when he moved to Chicago to head the offices of that concern there. During his years in Kansas, he served a term as a member of the state legislature and he was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kansas, F. & A. M.

To many Dickinsonians and other men in the college world, Colonel Sharp is known as "the daddy of Sigma Chi." Since his undergraduate days, he has exercised an active interest in his fraternity and in 1921 became chairman of the executive committee of the national organization. He was named chairman of the National Undergraduate Fraternity Council in 1925. He is also a member of the Dickinson chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Receives Unusual Award

Through an anonymous donor an award of $250 for exceptional work in the field of education was recently made to Lloyd W. Roberts, '32, by the West Hartford, Conn., Board of Education, where he is teacher of English at the William Hall High School.

Commenting on the award a Hartford newspaper said "Mr. Roberts, lending his interest to innumerable school activities, is a study in perpetual motion." The report shows that he merited the award through the organization and management of an unusual winter sports program while also acting as soccer coach and heading the camera club.

After teaching at Lawrenceville for six years, Mr. Roberts went to West Hartford. He has done graduate work at Columbia University.

Recreational Reading Room in Bosler Hall

Pittsburgh Club Meets And Plans Fall Dinner

With 41 present, the annual luncheon of the Dickinson Club of Pittsburgh was held in the Hotel Roosevelt on March 22, when Abner H. Bagenstose, '17, retiring president, acted as toastmaster.

One of the features of the luncheon was the presence of Conway Wing Hillman, '73, second oldest living alumnus of the College. In a brief speech, he delighted his hearers.

Professor Herbert Wing, Jr., secretary of the faculty, spoke as the representative of the College in the absence of President Fred P. Corsón, who was called to New York to officiate at the funeral of J. Hope Caldwell, of the Board of Trustees. Dean W. H. Hitchler attended as representative of the Law School. George Shuman, Jr., was the other delegate from the college staff.

Andrew H. Phelps, trustee of the college, attended the luncheon with his wife and daughter, and spoke briefly.

Blanche E. Stewart, '19, was elected president for the coming year, after serving as vice-president and Edward Taylor Daugherty, '99, was named vice-president. Nicholas Unkovic, '32L, who for some years has been doing a perfect job as secretary-treasurer of the club, was again re-elected to that post.

It was announced that the club will plan to hold a dinner at Washington, Pa., on October 11 when the Dickinson football team will play W. & J. there. Notices of the event will be sent to the alumni in the fall.

Again the Class of 1914 had the largest attendance at the Pittsburgh meeting.

IN THESE days when all of the higher values for which both religion and education stand are being threatened, the Church and the College are renewing their kinship in the realization that they have an obligation to God and society which can be fulfilled only by active and intelligent cooperation. Freedom, truth, the dignity of man and the supremacy of God are all being challenged and the institutions to which we must look for the perpetuation of these values are the Church and the School. To them we should rally as the bulwark of our privileges and to their support we should respond in a day when they are fighting the free man's battle.

The Central Pennsylvania Annual Conference of the Methodist Church has recognized the need of keeping our independent colleges active in the education of American youth and theistic in point of view by authorizing a campaign to raise $250,000 for Dickinson College, Williamsport-Dickinson Seminary and the Wesley Foundation at State College. At a time when other church needs are pressing, the Conference believed that the need of the educational institutions was imperative and should have priority.

This action should be very encouraging to the College and should strengthen the larger constituency of the College in the effort to put the College on a sound financial foundation at a time when so many forces threaten its life.

Another action of the Central Pennsylvania Conference took Dr. W. Emory Hartman from the pastorate of the Allison Memorial Church and put him in charge of the Altoona District as District Superintendent. Dr. Hartman came to Carlisle in 1932 and in addition to the regular work of the parish spent much time among the students of the College, demonstrating that in these days there is a vital approach to religion which will challenge and enlist the American student. I am glad that the President's Page affords me an opportunity to express to Dr. and Mrs. Hartman my appreciation for the splendid work they did in Carlisle and for their leadership in the religious life of the College.

We also welcome gladly Reverend and Mrs. J. Resler Shultz, both graduates of Dickinson, who come to take the place of Dr. and Mrs. Hartman.

The College has always recognized the primacy of a spiritual interpretation of life and has been glad to have the aid of the Church in maintaining that point of view in its philosophy of education.

—FRED PIERCE CORSON.

School of Family Relationships

The School of Family Relationships, which has for its theme "The improvement and perpetuation of the American Way in family living" will be held at the college from June 11 to 16, it was recently announced by Mrs. Mulford Stough, general director.

An outstanding feature of the school is in the type of instructors and lecturers who will come to Carlisle for the session. Among these is Edward L. Bernays, another Lyman Beecher Stowe, and the list continues with the names of Judge Lois Mary McBride, of Pittsburgh; Dr. Mary Wentworth McConaughy, of Swarthmore College; Dr. Charlotte E. Grave, of Philadelphia; Dr. Valeria H. Parker, of New York City, and others.

Ten different courses, apart from unusual lectures, will be offered during the session. These will embrace personality development; parent-child relationships; social health of the family; consumer-buyer problems; and others dealing with family life.

Full information concerning the school can be secured from Mrs. Mulford Stough, Carlisle, Pa.

Need More Gifts to Reach Alumni Fund Goals

Unless 263 more subscriptions totaling $3,132.30 to the Alumni Fund are received on or before Commencement, the 1941 campaign will fall short of the goals for more subscribers and at least $10,000 in gifts.

As of May 12, 402 have given a total of $6,867.70. While this total in money is above last year's $6,435.81 as of May 15 it is below the 421 number of subscribers. Last year when the final returns were in there were 664 contributors who gave $10,325.81.

From President F. P. Corson as chairman through the various class agents every effort will be made in the three closing weeks of the campaign to pass last year's figures. As President Corson has repeatedly pointed out this year there is a greater need than ever to meet the goals because of the added costs to the College in the rebuilding of Bosler Hall. Alumni who have not yet sent in their subscriptions are urged to mail them on or before May 31.

Announcement will be made at Commencement of the total subscribed as of that date. The names of all subscribers and the complete report of the fund will be published in the July issue of the Dickinson College Bulletin.

To Hold Summer School of Christian Education

THE 19th session of the Dickinson Summer School of Christian Education will be held at the college from July 13 to 19 under the auspices of the Boards of Education of the Central Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Peninsula, and Wyoming Conferences of the Methodist Church, and will offer practical courses for ministers and lay workers in churches and Sunday schools. An enrollment of 200 with a faculty and administrative staff of 35 is expected in attendance at the session.

Dr. W. Emory Hartman, of Altoona, until last month pastor of Allison Methodist Church of Carlisle and now district superintendent of the Altoona district of the Central Pennsylvania Conference, will be dean of the school. The Rev. P. W. Poley, of Brookline, Upper Darby, Pa., will act as registrar. The Rev. A. F. Shank, '27, of Waynesboro, will be dean of men, and Mrs. W. L. Crowding, wife of the Rev. W. L. Crowding, '25, will be dean of women, with Mrs. James Cunningham as associate dean of women.

The school offers courses for ministers and laymen in two fields, first basic courses in religion and second basic courses in Christian education. The courses in religion cover the Bible, Church history, and the Christian outlook on life.

One of the distinguishing features of this school is that the courses in Christian education are graded according to the various age-groups, and are conducted chiefly on the observation, practise school plan.

The entire cost for the session is $11 made up of a $3 registration fee and a charge of $8 to cover room and board. The students will room in Metzger and Conway Halls and the meals will be served in the Old Gymnasium.

The Rev. J. Resler Shultz, '26, now pastor of Allison Methodist Church, will conduct the daily chapel services in the church.

Meeting simultaneously at the college will be the conference school of ministerial training and outstanding teachers will offer courses for the ministers. Among them will be Dr. Edgar S. Brightman, professor of philosophy in Boston University and Dr. Frank McKibben, professor of education in Northwestern University. The Rev. R. R. Lehman, '23, will serve as dean of this school and the Rev. N. G. McCloskey will be registrar.

The Board of Managers of the summer school is composed of the Rev. W. Galloway Tyson, '15, president; Dr. Fred P. Corson, vice-president and L. E. Wilson, of Lewisburg, as secretary.

Seven Receive Honorary Degrees at Commencement

Robert F. Rich

Dr. Hu Shih

HONORARY degrees will be awarded to seven men at the annual commencement exercises at the College on June 9, one of them going to United States Congressman Robert F. Rich, '07, who will receive the degree of bachelor of philosophy, dated June 5, 1907, which he would have received had he completed his college course 35 years ago.

Five of the seven recipients of degrees are Dickinsonians, and two of these are Methodist clergymen who will receive the degree of doctor of divinity. Other degrees which will be awarded are doctor of laws, doctor of science, and doctor of pedagogy.

The commencement speaker, the Honorable Hu Shih, Chinese Ambassador to the United States, will receive an honorary laws degree. Philosopher, writer, and diplomat, Hu Shih was born in Shanghai in 1891; he was educated in China and in 1910 won a scholarship for study in the United States, where in 1914 he was graduated from Cornell University and then received his doctorate at Columbia University.

Returning to China in 1917, he became professor of philosophy and dean of the department of English literature at Peking National University until 1926; then he served as professor of philosophy in Kwang Hua University, Shanghai, and as president of the China Institute at Woosung; in 1931 he returned to Peiping National University as dean. More than a dozen volumes of philosophy, history, criticism, and poetry have come from his pen; and he has edited a series of Chinese translations of European classics of history and literature.

Dr. Shih was chairman of the Hangchow Conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations in 1931. He has been his country's representative at Washington since 1938.

The second honorary doctor of laws degree will also go to one not a Dickinsonian. Robert H. Montgomery, lawyer and accountant, since 1898 a partner in the firm of Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery, accountants of New York and Philadelphia, was born in Mahanoy City, Pa., in 1872, and educated in public and night schools.

From 1912 to 1931 he was variously instructor in economics, assistant professor, and professor of accounting, and a member of the administrative board of the School of Business of Columbia University. During the World War he was attached to the General Staff as a section chief in the office of the director of purchases; and he was the organizer and a member of the War Department's Board of Appraisers.

A member of the Philadelphia and New York bars, Mr. Montgomery is a member of the New York City, New York State, and American Bar Associations, and is a former president of the American Institute of Accountants and former president of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants. He is the author of a number of books on tax procedure and auditing.

Professor Curvin H. Gingrich, '03, since 1909 a member of the faculty of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., and since 1926 editor of Popular Astronomy, will receive the honorary degree of doctor of science. Born in York, Pa., in 1882, Dr. Gingrich received his bachelor's degree from Dickinson in 1903 and his master's degree from the same institution two years later. He took his doctorate at the University of Chicago in 1912.

From 1903 to 1909, when he joined the faculty at Carleton College, Professor Gingrich taught at Maryville Seminary, Mo., Northwest Missouri College, Albany, Mo., and Baker University, Baldwin, Kans. In 1929 and 1930 he was in charge of the courses in astronomy offered during the Columbia University summer session, and in the summer of 1935 was a research assistant at the McCormick Observatory.

Dr. Gingrich was an instructor in mathematics at Carleton from 1909 to 1912 and since that time has been professor of mathematics and astronomy. He was acting dean and dean of the college in 1914-1917, and assistant to the president and registrar in 1917-1919. His work at the Goodsell Observatory at Carleton College has consisted principally of micrometric measures of comet positions and double stars and of celestial photography and the photographic determination of the positions of asteroids.

Professor Gingrich is a member of the American Astronomical Society, the Mathematical Association of America, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, and Kappa Sigma.

President of West Chester State Teachers College, West Chester, Pa., since 1925, Charles S. Swope, '25, will be awarded the honorary degree of doctor of pedagogy. Born at Saltillo, Pa., in 1899, he was graduated from West Chester State Normal School in 1921 and from Dickinson College four years later. He received a master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1929. From 1916-1918 Mr. Swope taught in a rural school near Beavertown, Pa., and after graduation from normal school taught at Pennington School, Pennington, N. J. In 1926-1927 he was superintendent of schools in Everett, Pa., and then returned to West Chester as an instructor. In 1935 he was appointed president of the institution.

Charles S. Swope

Alexander K. Smith

Mr. Swope is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the National Education Association, the Pennsylvania State Education Association, and Phi Kappa Sigma. He is also a member of the board of trustees of the Pennington School for Boys and is active in community affairs.

Two Dickinsonians will receive honorary divinity degrees. They are the Rev. Mr. J. Luther Neff, '15, pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church, Chevy Chase, Washington, and the Rev. Mr. Alexander K. Smith, '23, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, Olney, Philadelphia.

Robert F. Rich, '07, who will receive his bachelor's degree, nunc pro tunc, has been a member of the United States Congress since 1929. Born in Woolrich, Pa., in 1883, he is general manager and treasurer of the Woolrich Woolen Mills, president of the State Bank of Avis, and a director and officer in the Chatham Water Company, the Pierce Manufacturing Company, and the Oak Grove Improvement Company, and the Lock Haven Trust Company.

A member of the board of trustees of Dickinson College since 1917, he is also a member of its executive committee, and is president of the board of trustees of Williamsport-Dickinson Seminary. He is also a trustee of the Lock Haven, Pa., Hospital and a member of the alumni council of Mercersburg Academy, where he prepared for college.

Mr. Rich is a member of Phi Kappa Psi and is a 33d degree Mason.

Another Honor in Delaware

Harry K. Hoch, '11, attorney of Wilmington, Del., and one time star pitcher of the Dickinson baseball team, was appointed Recorder of Deeds of Newcastle County by Governor Walter W. Bacon early this month.

J. Luther Neff

Arrested In Spy Scare

Under the caption "Ex-Yale Professor Freed in Spy Scare," the New York Times of March 25 carried a special cable dispatch referring to Dr. Milton Conover, '13, as follows:

SAN JUAN, P. R., March 25—The behavior of Milton Conover, a former associate professor of political science at Yale and independent Republican candidate for United States Senator from Connecticut in 1932, so aroused the suspicious of a waiter in the Hotel Palace at Guayama that he informed the police, who arrested the stranger and had him held in $5,000 bail as a possible spy.

Today, after spending a night in jail, Mr. Conover is free, thanks to an investigation made by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which more than a month ago accepted Mr. Conover's story that he was gathering material for a book.

Professor Conover, who fought with the Rainbow Division in the World War, was born in Swedesboro, N. J., forty-one years ago. In recent weeks he has been to Nevis, in the British West Indies, seeking new data on the life of Alexander Hamilton, who was born there.

Washington Club Dinner

An enthusiastic dinner meeting of the Dickinson Club of Washington was held on May 5, at the Kennedy-Warren in Washington. Forty-five club members and their friends were present to hear a stirring address on some current phases of the European situation by Dean Elmer Louis Kayser of George Washington University. He earnestly urged immediate and unanimous cooperation with the administration policy.

Owing to the fact that President and Mrs. Corson's Reception to the Faculty and the Washington Dinner were coincidental, but one representative from the College, Professor Swift, was present. In a light vein, he presented his hearers with some side-lights of college life of today. Paul H. Neff, who holds the Washington Club scholarship, represented the student body.

The dinner was adequately and wittily presided over by Earl S. Johnston, '13, who at the end of the addresses called a brief business meeting at which Dr. Fred L. Mohler, '14, was elected president; Paul A. Mangan, '34, treasurer; and Miss Maude E. Wilson, '14, secretary.

Following the dinner a pleasantly informal reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. Harold Keatley.

Atlantic City Club Meets

A dinner of the Dickinson Club of Atlantic City was held in the Hotel Morton on February 24, during a national educational convention at the shore resort, with 30 present. Most of them were school superintendents and principals who went to Atlantic City for the convention.

A. Haven Smith, '04, of Orange, California, who attended the dinner with his wife, came from the greatest distance. Others were from Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey.

Professor Charles L. Swift and Gilbert Malcolm were the representatives from the college and Marjorie L. McIntire, '10, president of the club, acted as toastmaster.

Two Hundred Sixty-Eight Alumni Are Lifers

WITH a gain of sixteen names since the publication of the roster of Life Members was last published in the May 1940 number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, the roll published in this issue lists 268 Life Members of the General Alumni Association, five new subscriptions having been received since February. By direction of the Alumni Council, the life membership roll is published annually in the May number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS.

One of the new Lifers is Dr. Edward S. Conlyn, of Carlisle, who gave his $40 check in April. A member of the Class of 1878, he becomes the oldest living Life Member of the General Alumni Association.

When Dr. S. Luther Bare, of Westminster, Md., retiring president of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore, handed the alumni secretary $40 in cash during a lull while he was acting as toastmaster at the annual dinner of the Baltimore club, he sent the Class of 1902 further into the lead in the number of Lifers. 1902 now boasts nineteen, and 1917 which is in second place has ten.

Crawford N. Kirkpatrick, of Waynesboro, Pa., became a Lifer in April and sent the Class of 1913 into third place with nine members. Four classes, 1903, 1910, 1915 and 1926, have eight Lifers each, while three classes, 1893, 1897 and 1931 each have seven.

When Charles S. Williams, Williamsport attorney, became a Lifer, he sent 1926 into the four way tie and Albert M. Bear, superintendent of schools in Camden, N. J., put his Class of 1910 in the same position.

John B. Fowler, Jr., '34, of Carlisle, became a Lifer in April. He is in the securities business as a representative of the Chas. H. Jones Company of New York, and has a part-time job as director of publicity for the college.

The Class of 1925 made the greatest gain during the year in the addition of three Lifers. President Charles S. Swope, of West Chester State Teachers College, Mrs. Anna M. Preble, of Harrisburg, and Russel B. Updegraff, of New Cumberland, member of the Cumberland County bar, having added their names to the roster this year. The Class of 1940 appears for the first time with the listing of Grace A. Dempewolff, of Bronxville, N. Y., and George H. Jones, Jr., who is a student at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School.

Others whose names appear on the roll for the first time are George Ross Hull, '07, prominent attorney of Harrisburg, Pa.; Rev. Dr. Walter A. Hearn, '14, Dover, Del., District Superintendent in the Methodist Church; Dr. Raymond M. Bell, '28, member of the faculty of Washington and Jefferson College; William D. Gordon, '36, of Coatesville, Pa. and Eleanor M. Swope, '37.

Thirty-six of the 268 names are now marked by an asterisk, an addition of five in the roll of the deceased during the year. Those who died were James Hope Caldwell, '80; Thomas M. Whiteman, '99; Judge E. Foster Heller, '04; Willis K. Glauser, '12 and Dr. William G. Kimmel, '19.

Every class, except three from 1866 to 1940 inclusive, is now listed in the life membership roll with one or more names. The exceptions are the classes of 1890, 1938 and 1939.

Some of the Lifers are making installment payments on their subscriptions but when the 268 are paid in full, the Lemuel Towers Appold Life Membership Fund will total $10,720. The fund is named in honor of the late Mr. Appold, who when president of the alumni body founded the present General Alumni Association and the life membership fund. It is invested by action of the Alumni Council and only the income is used by the association. By action of that body last fall, the bulk of the money was turned over to the Trustees of the college who approved a proposal at the December meeting to pay interest at the rate of the average yield of the investments of the college. This places the investment of the fund in the hands of the trustees.

Life Membership costs $40 and may be paid in annual installments of $10 or $20. It carries with it a life subscription to THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, ends the payment of annual dues and gives all the rights and privileges of membership in the General Alumni Association. Checks should be sent to THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

Officers of the association point out that the growing list of Lifers is a guarantee of the continuance of alumni work in the days to come and for that reason seek to add more names to the growing fund.

Becomes Allison Pastor

The Rev. J. Resler Shultz, '26, who has been pastor of the Methodist Church at Tyrone, Pa., and secretary of the Dickinson Club of Altoona, was appointed pastor of the Allison Methodist Church, Carlisle, at the April session of the Central Pennsylvania Conference.

He succeeds Dr. W. Emory Hartman, who was named District Superintendent of the Altoona District succeeding the Rev. George H. Ketterer, '08, who completed the six-year term in that office and who was appointed to Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Mrs. Shultz is the former R. Mae Mountz, '25.

Leads His Class At Drew

John J. Bunting, '40, son of the Rev. J. J. Bunting, D.D., '08, received one of the Drew Honor Scholarships at the Drew Theological Seminary through his Dickinson College grades, a competitive examination and the recommendation of President Fred P. Corson.

In an April letter to President Corson, Registrar F. Taylor Jones writes "I know you will be pleased to know that at the end of the first semester at Drew, he stood first in the junior class. He certainly has proved well the good background he got at Dickinson."

Reserve Rooms Early

Difficulty in finding rooms faces visitors returning for Commencement this year because of conditions in Carlisle and all are urged to register early and to use the agency which will be operated by the college to recommend accommodations. Requests for reservations should be sent to John A. Novack, Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

Since the opening of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, Carlisle hotels and tourist homes have been crowded, and this condition has become more acute with more soldiers and officers coming for training at the U. S. Field Medical School. None of these trainees knows the length of his stay in Carlisle and this makes it almost impossible for hotels to give reservations in advance.

Mr. Novack is making a complete survey to find rooms in hotels, tourist homes and in private homes. Members of the faculty and people of town will open their homes for the Commencement visitors.

More rooms will be prepared in Conway Hall than in former years, but these will be available only for the male alumni. Some accommodations will be opened at Metzger for alumnae.

These facts should not deter alumni from returning to Commencement for it is believed that suitable accommodations will be available for all who come back. Any finding difficulty in securing an abiding place should go at once to the Registration Room which will be located as usual in West College, where a list of available rooms will be kept.

Youth And The Emergency

COLLEGE graduates will scarcely need any "coaching" to see that the greatest error youth could commit is to abandon thoughts or plans for higher education unless their country needs or calls them. By the President of the Nation and the president of the college, Dickinson and all others, young men are being urged to adhere to their college enrollments or their college aspirations until their country specifically calls them to service.

This attitude on the part of college administrators stems less from a desire to maintain student enrollments than to save youth from error and the nation from loss. As the defense program is geared, at the moment, the Government will call the men it needs. Youth awaiting that call is not "slacking." It is patriotic.

As President Corson's recent bulletin emphasizes, emergencies pass and after them the need for mentally trained citizenship is greater than before. Thus the problem develops not as a personal but as a public one. It is as much the welfare of the nation as the welfare of the individual that justifies leaders in government and education to exhort young men not to interrupt their college courses unless the summons come not from an adventurous spirit within but from official authority.

College administrators, faculties, boards of trustees, loyal alumni may be pardonably exercised about the future of institutions to which they are attached by strong bonds, but obviously in times of national and international crisis, each of them owes and pays a more vital fealty to the security of his own country.

For them it is a happy circumstance that in urging upon youth the folly of abandoning college or college matriculation, they are promoting not only the interest of their institutions, but those of youth and their own country, and doing it with the benediction of their government.

Where alumni agree with this viewpoint, they can with all propriety disseminate it in circles where the mistaken view is held that "all out" defense means the unnecessary interruption or side-tracking of college careers and thus a shrinkage of supply of those college trained leaders who after the emergency will be needed by the nation to help solve its problems.

To exchange the camp for the campus once had a color of romance about it. It was the order of that day. But the order has changed. Under the selective service principle Uncle Sam asks for the man he wants. After he cleans up the present mess, he will also need other men and those for whom he does not ask now, should be ready to serve him then.

Endowment Addition

A $250,000 goal has been set by the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist church in a campaign soon to be launched within that jurisdiction. Of the total, Dickinson is to receive $100,000, Dickinson Seminary at Williamsport an equal amount and the Wesley Foundation at Penn State, $50,000.

The $100,000, in the case of the College is to be added to the permanent endowment funds and the income used for scholarships for students from the homes of Methodists.

Here is a project which every Dickinsonian trusts will end triumphantly. It is a generous act on the part of the Conference and one hopes the campaign will find its constituents enthusiastic and responsible.

Endowment each year becomes a more vital part of the equipment and security of the privately owned college. Indeed without such a backlog of income, colleges of that type face an uninviting future in competition for students with the tax-supported institutions. There is grave doubt that this fact is adequately understood by the rank and file of college alumni and friends of such institutions.

The prospect of having another $100,000 added to this fund through the generosity of Central Pennsylvania Methodists, is entirely a pleasant one.

A Club In Action

FOR many years, older graduates will recall, Dickinson had a substantial bloc of students from the Delmarva Peninsula, Delaware, the "Eastern Sho" of Maryland and Virginia. Then for another period of years that section was sparsely represented on the Dickinson campus. Within the last two years, the Delmarva Peninsula has been sending once again its sons to Carlisle.

What is the explanation? It appears to be the founding of the Dickinson Club of Delaware and its realization that it has something more on its program than an annual dinner.

As becomes an alumni club of any college, the Delaware graduates believe they have an obligation to send worthy students to Alma Mater. Instead of just believing it, they work on it. At the last dinner, the club invited a dozen or more prospects with their parents and since none will dispute the accuracy of a Wilmington newspaper description that the membership of the Dickinson Club reads like a Who's Who of Delaware, one may be reasonably sure that the prospective students did not sit unimpressed at the dinner.

Dickinsonians of Delaware are likely to writhe under this bouquet barrage but the facts in the case seem to warrant this citation of a club for performing a very genuine service to its college and a service which ought not to be ignored by any of the twenty-two clubs now on the roster.

Persuading worthy students to matriculate at Dickinson is an appropriate and, in these days, a highly essential alumni service. Many of the Dickinson Clubs are doing it now. Some are maintaining scholarships. Other services are being rendered. It is splendid that some clubs are doing this. It would be more so if all were doing it.

The New "Bosler"

THE new James W. Bosler Memorial Library, "Bosler" to all Dickinsonians, has been put to use, though dedication awaits Commencement. Were it an entirely new structure, which in some respects it is, it could not adorn the campus more than it does.

Its tower eliminated and its facade completely reconstructed, the building with its facing on four sides with native limestone, completes the architectural harmony of the campus. A little more time for its limestone to weather and the new "Bosler" will fit even more ideally into the picture of Old West and East and the Alumni Gymnasium on the opposite side of High Street.

Commencement visitors are certain to experience the satisfaction of others over the pleasing effect both inside and outside the building. "Old Bosler" was erected in 1884 and served the needs of that time adequately but it was not qualified to meet the more pressing and varied needs of later years.

The new building's facilities as recited elsewhere, are in keeping with modern standards. The structure is as nearly fireproof as may be. Its ante and auxiliary rooms are supplied in number and kind as present library usage warrants. The second-floor chapel is impressively beautiful with a 600 seating capacity and all done in simplicity and good taste.

If a special incentive is necessary to get alumni and friends to return to the Commencement campus, the opportunity to see the new Bosler should be adequate.

Death Claims Vice-President of Board of Trustees

JAMES HOPE CALDWELL, vice-president of the Board of Trustees and for 50 years a prominent attorney in New York City, who graduated from the College with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1880, died while vacationing in Miami Beach, Florida, on March 19, after a brief illness.

Becoming a member of the board in 1930, Mr. Caldwell was a member of the Executive Committee and contributed generously of his time and means to the college.

He was born in Newman, Georgia, on September 25, 1860, the son of the educator and minister, Dr. John H. Caldwell and Elizabeth Hodnett Caldwell. His father founded Andrew College at Cuthbert, Ga., of which Mr. Caldwell was a trustee.

He prepared for college at the Wilmington Conference Academy, received his A.B. from the college in 1880 and an A.M. in 1883. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Law School with an LL.B. degree in 1884. Following his graduation from Dickinson College, he taught a year in the high school at Crisfield, Md., and he was instructor in mathematics at Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, Pa., in 1881-1882. He was admitted to the Philadelphia bar in 1884 and shortly thereafter located in New York City.

He was senior partner of the firm of Caldwell & Raymond, a law firm which specialized in municipal and state bond issues. Mr. Caldwell served as bond counsel to the cities of Buffalo, Syracuse, Miami Beach, Nashville and Chattanooga. Shortly before his death, he served in negotiations covering the purchase of certain electric properties from the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation for use by the Tennessee Valley authority.

Some years ago, Mr. Caldwell had an important part in litigation in which the then Attorney General George W. Wickersham sued for dissolution of the alleged motion-picture trust. Mr. Caldwell represented the leading motion picture companies of the time.

He was a member of the Methodist Church, Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, The Pilgrims, Metropolitan Club of New York, Garden City Golf Club, Wyandanch Club, Lawyers Club, American Bar Association, New York State Bar Association, and the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Ella H. Caldwell, a daughter, Olive, wife of Major John Dean Blanchard of the United States Marines. Major Blanchard is stationed at Kodiak Island, Alaska.

Funeral services were held in Christ Church, New York City, with the Rev. Ralph W. Sockman, D.D., and President Fred P. Corson officiating. Interment was made in Kensico Cemetery.

Under the terms of his will recently probated, Mr. Caldwell made a substantial bequest to the college in the form of the gift of one-fifth of his estate following the termination of a life estate to his widow.

Former Governor H. W. Nice Dies on Motor Trip

Harry Whinna Nice, '99, Governor of Maryland from 1935 to 1939, one of three Republicans ever elected to that office, who received the LL.D. degree from the College at the 1937 Commencement, died on February 25 in the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Howard I. Schulz, in Richmond, Va., where he and Mrs. Nice were guests. He was 63 years old.

Although the former Governor had been in poor health, his death was unexpected. He and Mrs. Nice arrived at Richmond the day before his death by motor from Florida and had planned to drive on to Baltimore that day. He was stricken with a heart attack during the night and died early in the morning.

He became a national figure by his 6,000 majority in the 1934 Maryland Gubernatorial election over Governor Albert C. Ritchie, who had been proposed for the Democratic Presidential nomination. Mr. Nice won the election at a time when the political outlook of his party was not bright, and was therefore soon mentioned as being of Presidential timber.

The platform on which he had been elected charged Governor Ritchie with "failure and unwillingness" to cooperate with the President in national recovery efforts. Some saw as a departure from this stand Governor Nice's vigorous support of the Constitution and his opposition to New Deal policies of the national Democratic Administration. Governor Nice was quick to point out many reservations in the pledge to aid the President. Mr. Nice and Mr. Ritchie were old political rivals. Mr. Nice first aspired to the Governorship in 1919, and was defeated then by Governor Ritchie by the slim majority of 165 votes.

When Mr. Nice ran for re-election in November elections of 1938, he was defeated by Herbert R. O'Connor, Democratic candidate for Governor. Likewise unsuccessful was his race for the United States Senate last autumn, when Senator George L. Radcliffe won the Maryland seat.

Harry W. Nice

Mr. Nice began his political career as a member of the Baltimore City Council, serving from 1903 to 1905. In 1901 he had been defeated in the primary for a legislative post. From 1905 to 1908 he was secretary to the Mayor of Baltimore.

In the next four years he served as a supervisor of elections in Baltimore. From 1912 to 1919 he was Assistant State's Attorney and State's Attorney. He served as a judge of the Appeal Tax Court in Baltimore from 1920 to 1924. He was admitted to the Maryland bar in 1899 and in 1920 became a member of the law firm of Dickerson & Nice, specializing in criminal law.

Mr. Nice was born in Washington, D. C., on December 5, 1877, the son of Henry and Drucilla Arnold Nice. His father was a Methodist Episcopal minister. The son studied in the public schools of Baltimore, where his family moved when he was 8 years old, and later attended Baltimore City College, Dickinson College and the University of Maryland. He received an LL.B. degree in 1899 from the latter institution, where he and Governor Ritchie were classmates.

He was a member of the American, Maryland State and Baltimore City bar associations and of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He was a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows, Elk and Moose.

Besides his widow, the former Miss Edna Viola Amos, member of an old Maryland family, he leaves a son, Harry W. Nice, Jr., and a sister, Miss Mary I. Nice, both of Baltimore.

Wilkes-Barre Alumni Club Resumes Operations

AFTER a lapse of two years, the Dickinson Club of Northeastern Pennsylvania held a rousing, gala party at the Westmoreland Club in Wilkes-Barre on the night of February 27 when Joseph E. Fleitz, '04L, proved himself a master master of ceremonies.

An address made by Dean W. H. Hitchler, of the Law School, at that dinner and later repeated in part at other alumni club functions, was widely quoted at the time and became a topic for editorial comment in various Pennsylvania newspapers.

The gist of his address which became the subject of comment was his statement that instead of an over-supply of lawyers as is commonly thought there is a very real shortage of legally trained men at the present time and that "a person entering the legal profession can look forward to a very good future if he is a diligent student of the law."

He supported his statements by telling of calls being made upon him by insurance companies, banks, federal agencies and corporations for legally trained men which he could not supply. He said this was true in a day when law schools over the country were experiencing a great decrease in enrollment, though he could state proudly that the Dickinson School of Law was one of the few schools in the country which had as great as or a greater enrollment this year than last.

Judge W. Alfred Valentine, '01L, of Wilkes-Barre, was elected president of the club, while R. Wallace White, '29, '31L, of Scranton was chosen as vice-president, and Albert H. Aston, '32, '35L, was named treasurer. Hopkin T. Rowlands, '33L, who has served efficiently as secretary for several years was re-elected to that post.

Judge Ethan Allen Gearhart, of the Lehigh County courts, who was sitting in Luzerne County, opened the formal speaking program and considerably enlivened the festivities with a procession of Pennsylvania Dutch stories. He was followed by Judge Valentine, Dean Hitchler and Gilbert Malcolm in that order.

Following the custom of the years, the toastmaster, Mr. Fleitz, then called for impromptu speeches, reports and songs from many of those who were present until time ran out on him. Among those who took the floor in this bright feature of the program were Daniel R. Reese, veteran Scranton attorney; Lorrie Holcomb, Donald B. Cahoon, Daniel J. F. Flood, Roscoe B. Smith, Thomas Byron Miller, Harry A. Kolb, Stephen Teller, E. C. Marianelli, Albert H. Aston, John Hibbard, Frank J. Flannery, George Puhak, and Edward C. Johnson. Two visitors also came before the dias, Fred B. Davis, a Cornell graduate, whose son recently graduated from the Law School, and Frank Jones, a graduate of W. & J. and the University of Pittsburgh Law School.

Dine at Country Church

After many years at exclusive hotels and fine eating places, the officers of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore tried an experiment which proved unusually successful on April 21. That night 77 attended the annual dinner which was held at a country church famous for its fried chicken dinners a few miles from the city. The Rev. S. J. McFarland, '27, is pastor of the church.

After a very fine fried chicken dinner, and with Dr. S. Luther Bare, '02, retiring president as toastmaster Gilbert Malcolm, Dean W. H. Hitchler and President F. P. Corson spoke. Then Professor Mulford Stough, of the department of history, conducted "a class in history" which dealt with the Mediterranean.

Lieut. Robert A. Waidner, '32, was elected president; Rev. J. J. Resh, '97, and Dr. M. Gibson Porter, vice-presidents; Ann V. Reese, '39, secretary and Charles Wesley Orem, '35, treasurer.

Annual Law School Alumni Fund Campaign Opens

WITH the mailing of a four page printed leaflet in March, the third annual campaign of the Dickinson School of Law Alumni Fund was launched. In it were appeals made by Judge W. C. Sheely, president of the Board of Incorporators; Dean W. H. Hitchler, a report of the 1940 campaign by Prof. Harold S. Irwin, Treasurer, and a listing of the fund officers.

In his letter, Judge Sheely writes in part "Our annual income has been just sufficient to meet our current operating expenses. The current income has not been sufficient to make essential improvements to the building, and the funds donated by the alumni in the annual appeals have provided the means of making such improvements. By its use the floor of the library has been reinforced, new lights have been provided for the library, and new offices built for the accommodation of the faculty. These improvements were much needed, and could not have been made in any other way."

In concluding his letter, Judge Sheely says "During the coming year we will be faced with a possible reduction in the size of the student body because of the draft, and it will be even more difficult to meet our operating expenses. For this reason, and in order to provide other essential repairs, we again ask the alumni to contribute as liberally as possible."

In his report, Dean Hitchler says "the call of the law school men to the service of their country and the fact that the Law School, because of its standards and traditions, is competing with the most powerful law schools of the country render it imperative that the Law School should have at this time enthusiastic and efficient cooperation of its alumni. There are many ways in which an alumnus can help the school. Among others, you can contribute to the Alumni Fund and you can use your influence in persuading the prospective law students to enter the Dickinson Law School. The Law School earnestly beseeches you to avail yourself of the opportunity immediately to assist the Law School in both of these ways."

In making the report of the last year's campaign, Prof. Irwin reveals that 165 persons contributed $1,505.36 as compared with 166 gifts in 1939 when a total of $2,285 was received, and he says "we should have at least 500 contributors from our body of some 2,300 graduates and attenders of the Law School since its rebirth in 1890."

He also reports that last year's campaign cost $214.18, and that "new fluorescent lights for the library which have made night studying almost a pleasure, cost us $543.97." He then reveals that when bills are paid for building two new faculty offices behind the Junior classroom, the balance of the 1940 fund will be exhausted.

Reading-Berks Alumni Dinner

With 56 present, the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Reading-Berks was held in the Berkshire Hotel, Reading, Pa., on April 21 when William L. Eshelman, '15, retiring president acted as toastmaster. Two groups of vocal solos by Mrs. Morgan D. Reinhold and cornet solos by Miss Marion Leininger brightened the program.

Besides the delegation from Carlisle which included President and Mrs. Corson, Dean W. H. Hitchler, Prof. Charles L. Swift and Gilbert Malcolm, Boyd Lee Spahr, president of the Board of Trustees, attended the dinner and was one of the speakers. Judge Frederick A. Marx, '03L, of the Berks County court and father of two Dickinsonians, made a challenging address urging support to the liberal arts colleges of today.

Llewellyn R. Bingaman, '31, '33L, was elected president of the club to succeed Mr. Eshelman, while Robert H. Stewart, '27, was named vice-president and Edna M. L. Handwork, '12, of Birdsboro, Pa., was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Organize Dickinson Club of Michigan at Ann Arbor

With 18 present, the Dickinson Club of Michigan was organized following a luncheon at the Michigan Union in Ann Arbor on March 22 and plans were made for another meeting when alumni in northwestern Ohio and Indiana will be invited to attend.

One of the features of the meeting was the presence of the great, great grandson of Dr. Charles Nisbet, first president of the College, S. M. Stanton, who is an architect in Ann Arbor. His wife also attended the meeting.

Greetings were given to the Dickinsonians by Dr. Charles A. Sink, as the representative of the University of Michigan, in one of whose buildings the luncheon was held.

A committee composed of Roscoe O. Bonisteel, '12, Wendell J. Lcoe, '26, and Mrs. James E. Wark, '23, all of whom reside in Ann Arbor, planned the affair and sought the organization of a Dickinson Club of Michigan.

In the business session at which Alumni Secretary Gilbert Malcolm presided, the vote was unanimous to form the club. Mr. Bonisteel was then elected first president of the new club, and Mr. Lcoe was named secretary-treasurer. Ellsworth H. Mish, '09, a former officer of the Dickinson Club of New York, who now lives in Detroit, was elected vice-president.

The attendance prize went to Dr. Frances Willoughby, '27, who traveled 280 miles from Traverse City, Mich., where she is on the staff of the State Hospital, to attend the meeting.

At the opening of the meeting, the invocation was offered by the Rev. Richard B. Townsend, Jr., '34, Episcopal clergyman, who now resides in Grand Ledge, Mich.

Tenth Dinner at Trenton

In spite of a near blizzard, 55 attended the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Trenton which was held at Fisher's on the night of March 7. As was true a year ago, group singing led by William Green, '29, proved one of the highlights of the evening.

The room was attractively decorated by a committee headed by Mary T. Burttschell, '39. At each plate there was a souvenir program in red and white with a drawing of the new Bosler Hall on the cover.

John H. Platt, '25, who served the club faithfully as secretary since its organization ten years ago, was elected president to succeed Stanley G. Wilson, '15, who acted as toastmaster. Dr. Joseph S. Vanneman, '10, was re-elected first vice-president and Charles Quinn, '25L, as second vice-president. Douglas B. Wicoff, '35L, was chosen as the new secretary-treasurer.

George C. Hering, Jr., of Wilmington, president of the General Alumni Association, opened the speaking program and was followed by Professor Charles L. Swift of the College faculty. Following the address of Dean W. H. Hitchler, Gilbert Malcolm concluded the speaking program. The Rev. William L. Guffick, '25, offered the invocation at the opening of the meeting.

Harrisburgers Try New Stunts

Departing from the usual program of alumni club activity, the coeds of the Dickinson Club of Harrisburg staged a benefit bridge party on March 29, while the men gathered at a smoker at the West Shore Country Club, Camp Hill, on April 1. Plans were discussed at the smoker for a picnic during the summer and a joint dinner of the men and women in the fall.

Yates Catlin, '19, was elected president at the April 1 meeting, Morris E. Swartz, Jr., '23, was chosen vice-president and Robertson C. Cameron, '28, was named secretary-treasurer. A co-ed vice-president will be elected at the fall dinner meeting.

A new alumni catalogue will be published by the Dickinson School of Law this spring, it has been announced. Copies will be mailed free to contributors to the Dickinson School of Law Alumni Fund, it has been stated by Prof. Harold S. Irwin, treasurer of the fund.

John F. Morgenthaler, '21, served as master of ceremonies at the smoker, which was carried through entirely informally. Before a buffet supper was served he introduced Prof. Charles L. Swift, who acted as introducer of distinguished alumni. Among these were Governor Arthur H. James, '04L, Attorney General Claude T. Reno, '05L; Harry W. Showalter, '04, of the Public Utilities Commission; Robertson C. Cameron, '28, Secretary of the Commission; Frank Simon, deputy attorney general; Charles Auker and Robert E. Woodside, Dean W. H. Hitchler, President Fred P. Corson and Gilbert Malcolm each spoke briefly at the smoker.

Club Meets in Altoona

With 26 present, the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Altoona was held in the Penn Alto Hotel on April 28. Conflicting dates caused a cancellation of reservations which disappointed club officers, but did not mar the program.

Students of the Altoona High School presented some unusual entertainment including an accordion quintet, a contortionist, a tap dancer and a soprano soloist.

The speakers from Carlisle were Prof. Charles L. Swift, Dean W. H. Hitchler, Gilbert Malcolm and President F. P. Corson.

Park H. Loose, '27, '29L, who acted as toastmaster, was re-elected president of the club. Margaret N. Horner, '30, was elected vice-president, while the Rev. George H. Ketterer, D.D., '08, was chosen secretary and John M. Klepser, '22, '24L, was re-elected treasurer.

Delaware Club Again Draws Large Attendance

More than 100 attended the second annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Delaware held in the DuBarry Room of the Hotel DuPont, Wilmington, on the evening of March 25. Included in the group were several prospective students and their parents and the parents of children now in college.

The Rev. Ralph L. Minker, '20, retiring president, acted as toastmaster. The invocation was offered by the Rev. J. W. Colona, D.D., '99, member of the Board of Trustees.

The formal addresses were made by Robert H. Richards, '95, member of the Board of Trustees; Dean W. H. Hitchler, who was introduced by Ivan Culbertson, '29L, and President Fred P. Corson, who was introduced by his classmate, George C. Hering, Jr., '17, president of the General Alumni Association.

Other speeches were made by Earle D. Willey, '13, Delaware's Secretary of State; Attorney General James G. Morford; Albert W. James, '27L, mayor of Wilmington; Dr. Roy W. Mohler, '17, president of the Dickinson Club of Philadelphia, and Alumni Secretary Gilbert Malcolm.

Bill Green Goes to Hawaii For Y. M. C. A. Service

By I. HOWELL KANE, '21

William G. ("Bill") Green, '29, popular song-leader at the last two dinners of the Dickinson Club of Trenton, has resigned his position as Activities and Promotion Secretary at the Trenton Young Men's Christian Association to become a member of the staff of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. at Honolulu, Hawaii. This new placement comes as a fitting reward for the accomplishment of a varied program of religious and civic work during the past four and one-half years in Trenton. The Hawaii field touches fifty thousand soldiers, sailors, and marines in and around Honolulu.

As a fitting tribute for his activities in the many organizations of which he was a member, Mr. Green was rendered a testimonial dinner by friends and associates. More than one hundred persons attended. The climax of the program was a surprise two-way radio connection to Honolulu whereby the guest of honor was permitted to talk with W. J. Wilke, his new Executive Secretary.

After Mr. Green graduated from Dickinson he served for three years as a minor executive with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The following year he became an interviewer and general social worker for the United States Federal Transient Bureau. From 1933 to 1936 he was a specialty salesman for the Remington-Rand Corporation. In the latter year he joined the staff of the Trenton Y. M. C. A. Since that time he has been active in numerous religious and civic organizations in the city. He served as a local preacher of the Methodist Church, director of young people's work in the Hamilton Avenue Methodist Church, and taught a class in Young People's Methods in the Trenton Community School of Religious Education. He was a member of the Trenton Lions Club.

Mr. Green does not go to Hawaii alone. On April 19, four days after he left the Trenton Association, he was married to Miss Stella Sinclair in the Cadwalader Heights Methodist Church of Trenton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. Vance Green, '25, brother of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. Pennington Corson, pastor of the church. The bride is a senior in the Trenton State Teachers' College and will be permitted to complete her course at the University of Hawaii. The couple arrived in Honolulu on April 30 on the S. S. Matsonia and the following day Mr. Green's new work began.

He is survived by his widow, Amy; three daughters, Mrs. F. D. Tarr, West Newton, Pa., Mrs. Jesse Butler, Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. L. W. Strook, Gary, Ind.; one son, George, of Omaha, Neb.; four grandchildren and one brother, Burton Miller, Rockwood, Pa.

Dr. John A. Schaeffer, president of Franklin and Marshall College, died of a cerebral hemorrhage on April 6, apparently while reading in bed at his home on the college campus at Lancaster, Pa. He was 54 years old.

In 1937, he received the degree of Doctor of Laws from the college, and the following year he was similarly honored by Muhlenberg College and in 1939 by the University of Pennsylvania. Upon his graduation from college, he did graduate work in chemistry, receiving his Ph.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, and for three years he was on the faculty of Carnegie Tech. He resigned from that post to become chief chemist for the Eagle-Pitcher Lead Company of Joplin, Mo. He became vice-president of that company and was credited with a number of paint and ceramics inventions.

After nearly a quarter of a century in industry, Dr. Schaeffer returned to Lancaster in 1935 to become president of his alma mater, succeeding Dr. Henry A. Apple, who had resigned. During his administration, the enrollment rose from 600 to more than 950.

Dr. Schaeffer leaves two daughters, Miss Mary Schaeffer and Mrs. Francis Bennett, Jr., of Joplin; two sons, John N. Schaeffer of Reading and William R. Schaeffer of Lancaster; a brother, Frederick Schaeffer of Philadelphia, and three sisters, Mrs. Franklin Williamson and Miss Anne Schaeffer of Lancaster and Mrs. Elwood Augustine of Bedford.

Mrs. Minnie Berkheimer Eslinger, wife of the Rev. D. L. Eslinger, Methodist minister, died at her home in Waynesboro, Pa., on April 16 at the age of 72 years. She was the mother of Ruth H. Eslinger, '18, teacher at Somerville, N. J., and M. Margaret Eslinger, '23, member of the faculty of Hood College, Frederick, Md. Two other daughters, Mrs. Walter Shenton, Upper Darby, Pa., and Mrs. Joel Black, of Camp Hill, Pa., also survive.
