Small Squad Preparing For Football Season

A SOPHOMORE-dominated squad began pre-season football practice at the College on September 1 for the attractive eight-game schedule that opens September 26 with Western Maryland on Biddle Field and reaches climax on Homecoming Day, November 14, against Johns Hopkins. Washington and Jefferson on October 3 and Juniata on October 17, Parents Day, are other home games.

Coach A. C. "Slim" Ransom, starting his second season at Dickinson, and his assistants, Lindy Lauro and Harry Bush, were not unduly alarmed by a manpower shortage posed by a squad of only 26 players, one of the smallest at the College in years. With 18 lettermen and a number of other players with varsity experience on hand, there was little dead wood in the squad. Virtually the entire 1952 line was back again. Also enheartening the coaches was high squad morale.

Heading the strong line contingent were last year's defensive standouts—Gordon Haney, Don Bush and Paul Tarr, seniors, and Jim Nellis, sophomore. Also on hand were such bulky veterans as Andy Cominsky, 195; Hugh Haughney, 195; Jone Minkevitch, 215, and Frank Carney, 215, all tackles, and Joe Kunda, 190, guard, and three fine ends, Bob Mauro, David Orbock and Craig Wyckoff. With more experience, much is expected of Wyckoff, a 220-pound, 6-4 sophomore, who never played football in high school.

The situation is not as promising in the backfield. Graduation hit this department hard. The only lettermen on hand by the opening of the term were Charles Garwood, the fullback, George Padjen, Dick Desvernine and Harold Kissell. Only Garwood was a regular in 1952. The coaches hoped to strengthen the backfield by converting some of the linemen.

The small size of the squad numerically was brought about by an Eastern Collegiate Athletic Association ruling making freshmen ineligible for varsity play at the College this fall for the first time in four years and the voluntary decision of a number of holdovers to forego football for greater concentration on their studies. In the latter group were Robert Jones, the passer, who ran Coach Ransom's split-T offense from quarterback last season, and Dick Jones, a star end and best of the pass receivers.

The coaches worked fast during pre-season practice to bring along a quarterback for Jones' vacant shoes. Harold Kissell, a sophomore, who was an understudy in 1952, appeared to be the best prospect.

This season sees arch-rival Gettysburg on the schedule for the last time and the return of W. and J. after an absence of six years. The freshmen will have their own schedule. Varsity home games will begin at 2 p. m.

Board of Trustees in Important Sessions

JAMES Q. duPONT

WILLIAM F. HUFSTADER

THE election of five new Trustees, instructions to the Nominating Committee "to submit the name of at least one woman for election in June 1954," consideration of the erection of a building on the Rush Campus, the razing of the Commons (the old gym) and consideration of the heating system were among the matters before the Board of Trustees in June.

The new Trustees elected Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the Methodist Church, resident in the Washington area; Henry Logan, '10, attorney of Brooklyn, N. Y.; James Q. duPont, of Wilmington, Del., who is in the Public Relations Department of the company founded by his great-great-grandfather; Dr. Joel Claster, '14, of Philadelphia, President of Luria Bros. & Co., and Dr. William F. Hufstader, of Detroit, vice president of General Motors in charge of distribution.

The officers of the Board were re-elected as follows: Boyd Lee Spahr, president; J. Henry Baker, vice-president; William C. Sampson, secretary; and George Shuman, Jr., treasurer. The Trustees whose terms expired this year and who were reelected for another four-year term are: Revelle W. Brown, Dr. Carl C. Chambers, S. M. Drayer, Charles C. Duke, Samuel M. Goodyear, Frank E. Masland, Jr., S. Walter Stauffer and Robert A. Waidner.

A proposal submitted by the Committee on Nominations, of which Lewis M. Bacon, Jr., was chairman, was adopted by the Board. It read "The Committee recommends that the Board recognize the eligibility of women to election thereto and that the Board instruct the Nominating Committee to submit the name of at least one woman for election in June 1954."

Last May during a severe electrical, wind and rain storm the west end of the Commons collapsed. Below that building was the central heating plant and from World War II days it had been used as a mess hall and then as a student dining room. Prior to this happening a survey of the heating needs of the college was underway and consideration was also being given to the erection of a building on the Rush campus to provide a large auditorium, student activities offices and other needs. With the problem before it, the Board took three actions.

JOEL CLASTER

HENRY LOGAN

The first was to direct the Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings to provide emergency heating for the 1953-54 academic year at the least possible cost, and referred the matter of permanent heating to the Committee on Grounds and Buildings to report back at the December 1953 meeting.

The second authorized the razing of the Commons building and directed that a Special Building Committee be set up to prepare plans for a building on the Benjamin Rush Campus to provide for dining room facilities, space for the drama program (in effect a little theater) and space for a rifle range for the ROTC unit.

The third action was to direct the 10 Year Development Committee to plan a financial campaign to defray the costs of heating the college and of the new building to be erected on the Benjamin Rush campus.

The adoption of a program presented by a Special Committee on Insurance, of which Frank E. Masland, Jr., was chairman, was also taken by the Board. This will entail the installation of a sprinkler system in Old West and electronic fire detection equipment in Bosler Hall. A standby water system with a separate water line to West College was completed earlier this year. This provided two hose lines on each floor.

Installation of the sprinkler system in Old West will cost approximately $25,000 while the fire detection system in Bosler will cost $2,687. The Committee also recommended the installation of wire glass windows on the east side of Denny Hall at a cost of $630 to provide added fire protection.

The sessions of the Board and several committee meetings were held on June 5 at King's Gap, and the members were the guests of Frank E. Masland, Jr., for the sessions, luncheon and dinner.

Second Chapel Wedding

Mary-Edythe Shelley, '53, was married to G. Carroll Lindsay, who was a student in the Law School the past two years, in the Prayer of Old West on Saturday morning, June 27, by President William W. Edell. It was second wedding held in the Prayer Chapel. The bride is the daughter of Carl B. Shelley, '17, of Steelton, Pa.

The couple now reside at Parkella Crest, Cochranville, Pa.

Council Broadens Alumni Association Work

RESULTS of last spring's mail election for Alumni Trustee and five seats on the Alumni Council were announced, the constitution of the General Alumni Association was revised to provide a broader base of alumni representation on the Council, and a new setup for conducting the Alumni Annual Giving Fund appeal was formulated, at the Council's commencement meeting in June.

It was announced that Alumni Association members had reelected by mail ballot Paul L. Hutchison, '19, a Harrisburg, Pa. lawyer, to his second four-year term as Alumni Trustee and had chosen the following persons to serve three-year terms on the Alumni Council: Mrs. Helen Wiener Smethurst, '25, Montclair, N. J., housewife; Winfield C. Cook, '32, manufacturer of Ambler, Pa.; Joseph G. Hildenberger, '33, Bethlehem, Pa., a U. S. Attorney, Judge Charles F. Greevy, '35, of Williamsport, Pa., and Dr. R. Edward Steele, '35, Harrisburg, Pa., surgeon. Carl F. Skinner, now in law school, was elected representative of the class of 1953.

Retiring members are Maud E. Wilson, '14, and H. Lynn Edwards, '36, both of Washington, D. C.; Urie D. Lutz, '19, Carlisle, Pa.; William M. Young, '21, Harrisburg, Pa.; Dr. Robert L. D. Davidson, '31, Flowertown, Pa., and Weston Overholt, '50.

Young, who had been vice president, was succeeded in that office by H. Monroe Ridgely, '26, Hagerstown, Md., an officer of the Mohler Organ Company. C. Wendell Holmes, '21, Upper Darby, Pa., president since 1950; Mrs. Helen Douglass Gallagher, '26, Short Hills, N. J., secretary, and Hyman Goldstein, '15, Carlisle, Pa., treasurer, were reelected.

Now for the first time, alumni clubs and reunion classes can have their own chosen representatives on the Alumni Council, under terms of new provisions of the Constitution approved by the Council on recommendation of a special committee of which Bill Young had been the chairman. Each alumni club and each class in its fifth-year reunion is empowered to elect one of its members as a "non-voting delegate" to the Council. Each person so elected will serve for one year and will have the privilege of attending all meetings of the Council in that year and participating in all deliberations save voting.

Another new Constitution provision entitles alumni to write in their own individual choices upon the printed ballot that is mailed each spring to members of the General Alumni Association for the election of five persons to the Council. From now on, each voter will be allowed one write-in for each of the five Council seats to be filled. In the past, the voter could vote only for the candidates whose names appeared upon the printed ballot.

Foreseeing the need to raise much larger sums for the College, the Council set up a permanent Alumni Annual Giving Fund organization to provide the leadership and select the manpower for the yearly appeals.

Key group in the new setup is a Steering Committee of five members, including one Trustee, one Alumni Council member, one College-Law School alumnus and two other alumni, one of whom must be a woman. This Steering Committee was made responsible for selecting a campaign general chairman each year and staffing standing committees on large gifts and corporate gifts. The new setup also provides for class agents, who will assist the general chairman.

Wendell Holmes was empowered as Alumni Association president to appoint the Steering Committee and he named Judge Robert E. Woodside, '26, a Trustee; Dr. E. Roger Samuel, '10, a member of the Council; Clyde Williamson, '25, '27L, J. Milton Davidson, II, '33, and Mrs. Sidney D. Kline, '27. Terms of members are for three years.

Thirty-three More Alumni Become Life Members

WITH the receipt of 33 subscriptions since the publication of the roster of Life Members of the General Alumni Association in the May number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, the roll is nearing the 1,300 mark. In that issue 1,248 names were listed so that there are now a total of 1,281 Lifers.

Life membership costs $40, and may be paid in one sum, making the remittance payable to Dickinson College, or in annual installments of $10 or $20. Life membership carries a life subscription to THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS and all the rights of membership in the General Alumni Association.

The first subscription in the new series came from Dr. Joseph Jordan Storlazzi, '31, who is head of the science department at Pennsylvania Military Academy, Chester, Pa.

A member of the Class of 1895 became Life Number 1,250 when a check was received from the Rev. John E. McVeigh, of Stanhope, N. J.

At the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore on May 13, Chaplain Robert E. Miller, USN, of the Class of 1912, wrote his check for $40 to become a Lifer.

The next subscriber was James W. Evans, '15, who graduated from the Dickinson Law School in June.

Two subscriptions came in the next day. The one was from Bernice M. Gotshall, '35, of Aldan, Pa., and the other from Frederick M. H. Currie, '28, of Philadelphia.

A $40 check was then received from Dr. Frank E. Baker of Philadelphia, who was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters at the June 1949 Commencement.

On the same day $40 checks were received from two lawyers, Regis T. Mutzabaugh, '23, whose offices are 804 Hooker-Fulton Building, Bradford, Pa., and W. Gibbs McKenney, Jr., '39, who is president of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore.

On Memorial Day a $40 check arrived to pay for life membership for Mrs. Donald W. Bloedon, the former Virginia Bartholomew, '41, of 248 D Avenue, Coronado, Calif.

On June 1, Robert L. Keuch, of Hazleton, Pa., got the distinction of being the first member of the Class of 1953 to become a Lifer. He entered OCS training in the Navy in July.

The next day a subscription was received from Mrs. John S. Heckman, of 38 Simpson Avenue, Pitman, N. J., the former Evelyn Carr, '21.

When he came to the campus for the meeting of the Alumni Council to which he had just been elected, Charles F. Greevy, '35, of Williamsport, Judge of Lycoming County, wrote his check for $40 saying "Red, I've meant to do it for a long time." A few minutes later his classmate, William H. Quay, came into the same office and made the same speech. "Butch" Quay is head of the Reading, Pa., office of the Atlantic Refining Company and lives in Shillington, Pa.

On Alumni Day seven alumni became Life Members. Early in the morning of that day Mrs. Richard W. Lins, the former Ruth Booty, '23, of Bedford, Pa., made her subscription. At the Alumni Luncheon Mrs. Paul P. Collins subscribed for Life Membership for her husband, Paul P. Collins, '03, who is celebrating his 50th reunion. Their home is in Norfolk, Va. Another member of 1903, William G. Gordon, lawyer of Coatesville, also marked his 50th reunion by becoming a Lifer.

In the afternoon of Alumni Day, Walter L. Sandercock, '31, attorney of Pen Argyl, made a subscription in his own name and also one for his wife, the former Evelyn Learn, '29.

Mrs. George W. Atkins, of York, Pa., then purchased a Life Membership as a Father's Day gift for her husband, George W. Atkins, '30, attorney of York, Pa., who is a candidate for District Attorney of York County in the November elections.

The last subscriber of the day was S. Carroll Miller, '12, who for years has been on the faculty of the William Penn High School in Harrisburg.

Two other Commencement visitors became Lifers, when Hugh D. Woodward, '08, attorney of Albuquerque, N. M., wrote his check for eighty dollars to cover his own membership and that of his wife and college classmate, the former Helen Kisner.

The second member of the Class of 1953 to become a Lifer was Carl F. Skinner, who is now a student at the Law School. While his mother, Mrs. J. H. Haugh, of Tucson, Ariz., was at Commencement, she wrote her check to cover Life Membership for her son.

The first member of the faculty who is not a graduate of the College, to become a Life Member of the General Alumni Association is Professor George R. Gardner, who has served several years beyond his retirement as a teacher in accounting ending his tenure last June. He is now living in Auburn, Maine.

Returning from his 30th reunion, Leighton J. Heller, '23, attorney with law offices at 12 North 7th St., Camden 2, N. J., mailed in his check for forty dollars.

The next subscription came from the Rev. Dr. C. W. Kitto, '12, retired member of the Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Church, former district superintendent.

A few days after Commencement, a forty dollar check arrived from A. H. "Ash" Allison of the Class of 1916, who is associate general agent of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa at the Philadelphia office, Suite 1225 Broad-Locust Building.

Kathryn Williamson, '52, became the next Life Member when her father, Clyde E. Williamson, '25, lawyer of Williamsport, Pa., sent in his check for his daughter.

Later in July a subscription was received from Nelson M. Chitterling, '52, of Glen Ridge, N. J., who is a second year student at Jefferson Medical College.

The first subscription in August came from Dr. George M. Sleichter, '32, professor of chemistry and director of research at the Cincinnati College of Embalming.

Dr. Evelyn P. Nickey of Scranton, Pa., sent in a check to pay for Life membership for her son, Pvt. David A. Nickey, '52, who is serving with the Army in Germany. His address is 7807th U. S. A. Reur. Det., A. P. O. 154, c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

While he was visiting his brother, Merkel Landis, '96, in Carlisle, in August, Norman Landis, '94, called at the Alumni Office and wrote his check for forty dollars for life membership. His home is in Flemington, N. J.

Dr. Waugh Retires

Dr. Karl T. Waugh, who was president of the college from 1931 to 1934, retired from his post as chief guidance officer in the counselling service for G. I. bill trainees under the Veterans Administration on July 31. He completed 15 years of government service.

He was born of American parents in India, attended Ohio Wesleyan and Columbia University and received a Ph. D. degree from Harvard University. He was Dean of the University of Southern California prior to his election as president of the College. He went to Washington in 1942 with the Office of Education in charge of students loans.

Becomes Professor Emeritus

Professor Hazel J. Bullock, who was a member of the Dickinson College Faculty for eight years, retired last June with the title of Professor Emeritus of Romance Languages at Syracuse University. She plans to continue to make her home in Syracuse and is now living at 100 Bristol Place, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

Named Superintendents in Central Pennsylvania

D. FRED WERTZ

F. LaMONT HENNINGER

REV. Dr. F. LaMont Henninger, '24, and Rev. D. Frederick Wertz, '37, were appointed district superintendents and the retirement of Rev. Dr. William L. Armstrong, '00, and Rev. Dr. W. Edward Watkins, '05, was announced at the meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Conference in May.

Dr. Henninger, who had been pastor of the First Church, Altoona, was named superintendent of the Harrisburg District, succeeding Dr. Watkins, who moved to Williamsport upon his retirement. Dr. Watkins had lived in that city when he was superintendent of the Williamsport District in the Thirties.

Dr. Armstrong at his retirement was pastor of the Audenried-Jeansville charge in the Sunbury District. He had held many other pastorates and served on a number of conference boards in a career spanning 53 years. Both he and Dr. Watkins have honorary degrees from the College.

Rev. Wertz was appointed head of the Williamsport District from the pastorate of the Allison Memorial Church, in Carlisle, which he served four years. Besides his pastoral duties in Carlisle, he worked closely with the College in furthering its religious program for students.

His earlier charges included, in order, Doylestown, Stewartstown and Harrisburg (Camp Curtin). Rev. Wertz holds bachelor and master degrees in theology from Boston University. He and Mrs. Wertz and their children, Robert, Joan, Donna and Elizabeth, are now living in the district parsonage at 11 Market Street, Williamsport.

Dr. Henninger's present appointment is his second to a superintendency in the Central Pennsylvania Conference. He was head of the Sunbury District from 1939 until entering the Navy in World War II. He was a member of the Northeast Jurisdictional Conference in 1940 and 1944 and has been a member of the Methodist Commission of World Service and Finance since 1948.

A Doctor of Theology of Drew University, he has served pastorates in Lattimer, Shippensburg, Danville, Harrisburg, Carlisle, and Altoona, all in Pennsylvania, and in Rochester, N. Y. He and Mrs. Henninger and their two children, Carolyn Mary and William, are living in Harrisburg.

Accepts Appointment to Superior Court of Penna.

PENNSYLVANIA'S Governor John S. Fine, '14L, appointed Attorney General Robert E. Woodside, '26, '28L, to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania in July. The Governor had named him Attorney General of the State a little more than a year before in February 1951, when he was President Judge of Dauphin County.

Several hours after the nomination was made, he was unanimously confirmed by the State Senate which was then in session. He was named to a vacancy caused by the death of Judge W. Heber Dithrich to a term which expires in January, 1955. The salary of a Superior Court judge is $23,000 a year.

Prior to the appointment, Woodside's name had been mentioned prominently as a possible candidate for the Republican State gubernatorial nomination next year as a successor to Governor Fine. In Pennsylvania, a governor may not succeed himself.

Woodside, a Trustee of the College and the Law School, began his public career when a boy as a Senate page. He subsequently served five terms in the House of Representatives, one as GOP floor leader, before being elected to the Dauphin County Court in 1941.

Joins Monmouth Faculty

Dr. John J. Ketterer, '43, took up his duties this month as assistant professor of Biology at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill. He received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the graduate school of Arts and Sciences at New York University on June 10. His thesis dealt with the field of protozoology.

Dr. Ketterer had been teaching biology at New York University since 1946. From 1946 to 1952 he was graduate assistant in biology and in the academic year 1952-53, served as instructor in biology with full responsibility for the course in General Physiology.

ROBERT E. WOODSIDE

Trustee Receives Degree

C. Scott Althouse, Dickinson trustee and honorary alumnus, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Textile Science in June by the Philadelphia Textile Institute.

The president of the Althouse Chemical Company was cited for his numerous inventions and processes, many of which he has given freely to the dyeing and dyestuff industry on both sides of the Atlantic.

Dickinson recognized his contributions to the industry and his interest in education in 1948 when it made him an honorary Doctor of Science and again in 1950 when it established the C. Scott Althouse Chair of Chemistry.

Elect Conference Trustees

Dr. F. Lamont Henninger, '24, and Dr. Lynn Crowding, '25, were elected trustees of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church at the annual sessions in May.

Appointed Judge of Common Pleas

SWIRLES L. HIMES, '31L, was appointed Common Pleas judge of Huntingdon County, in central Pennsylvania, last May to fill an office left vacant by the death of Judge Chester D. Fetterhoff, '10L, and is assured of election to a full 10-year term at the general election this fall. He won the nomination of both parties at the May primaries.

The appointment was made by Gov. John S. Fine, '14L, who had the oath-of-office ceremony performed in his own spacious office in the Capitol in Harrisburg.

Judge Himes practiced in Huntingdon, seat of the county of that name, since his admission to the bar 21 years ago. He has had cases in several states and before the Pennsylvania and U. S. Supreme Courts. He has been solicitor for four banks and a number of boroughs and school districts.

In his youth, Judge Himes had a teaching career in mind and attended Shippensburg Normal School and Juniata College, but after teaching a year at Orbisonia High School he entered the Dickinson School of Law in 1929. While attending the Law School he taught at Juniata summer sessions and even after admission to the bar he did part-time teaching at Juniata until 1938. By then a growing practice took all of his time.

He was a navy officer in World War II, saw combat duty in the Mediterranean area, served at Toulon, France, and Oran, North Africa, and on return to the States was on duty in the Judge Advocate General's office in Washington.

In 1931 he married Hazel R. Walls, of Orbisonia. They reside in Huntingdon and have three children, James, Sydney and Sarah.

Writes Centennial Pageant

Joseph F. Ingham, '24L, former member of the faculty of the Law School and attorney of Selinsgrove, Pa., wrote "Out of this Wilderness" the centennial pageant of Selinsgrove, Pa., where he practices law.

The pageant was presented on August 20, 21 and 22 on the Selinsgrove Fair-ground outdoor stage as part of the four day celebration.

He is the father of Joyce Ingham, '52, and Patricia Ingham, '55.

Retires At Mercersburg

James Gelwix Miller, '97, who had been registrar and director of studies at Mercersburg Academy for more than 50 years, retired in June. From 1901 until 1904 he was head of the mathematics department of Mercersburg and then taught at the Grier School until 1907 when he returned to Mercersburg as registrar. He is a member of the Cum Laude Society of the school and an honorary member of the class of 1910. Early in his service he was the first secretary-treasurer of the alumni association.

He is a native of Franklin County, a graduate of the Dickinson Preparatory School and received his A. B. from the college in 1897.

Fine Attendance Marks Baltimore Club Dinner

AN ADDRESS by General James P. S. Devereaux, "Hero of Wake Island" and Member of Congress, and a banner attendance of 95 featured the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore held in the Green Spring Inn on May 13. It was one of the nicest dinners of that group in many years, due largely to the work of the president, W. Gibbs McKenney, Jr., '39.

Much interest was also manifested in the speech of Catherine Eitemiller, '46, one of the club's vice-presidents, in her role as president of the Mary Dickinson Club of Baltimore. She told of that group's interest in the election of women to the Board of Trustees, a proposal which was adopted a few weeks later by the Board at the June meeting.

Another feature of the dinner was the introduction of several newly enrolled students by Prof. Benjamin D. James, Director of Admissions, who also spoke briefly. Other speakers were President William W. Edel and Gilbert Malcolm. George Shuman, Jr., treasurer of the college, also attended.

Alumni present welcomed the Rev. Kenneth R. Rose, '44, who offered the invocation, and his wife the former Jo An Wilson, '45. At the age of 32 he had just been appointed pastor of the First Methodist Church, Baltimore's oldest and one of its two largest Methodist churches. He had been serving as pastor of Lewisburg, Pa., and preached his first sermon in Baltimore ten days before the dinner. First Methodist is the lineal successor to the Lovely Lane Meeting House, where, on Christmas eve, 1784, the Methodist Episcopal Church in America was organized. This church and Mount Vernon Place Methodist are the two largest Methodist Churches in Baltimore. They are in the district which Dr. J. Luther Neff, '15, serves as superintendent.

In the business session, Gibbs McKenney was elected president and Kay Eitemiller vice-president. John L. Bitner, '22, '24L, was elected a vice-president and Marion V. Bell, '46, was elected secretary and William B. Suter, '52, treasurer.

Northern N. J. Club Establishes Scholarship Fund

THE establishment of the Dickinson Club of Northern New Jersey Scholarship and the immediate contribution of about $200 from those present featured the annual dinner held in the William Pitt Inn at Chatham on May 7 when there were 72 present.

The Rev. Louis E. Young, '38, retiring president, who acted as toastmaster, announced that the officers and other interested alumni had been discussing the project for some time. He proposed that immediate action be taken and there was unanimous assent to this proposal. The new president, Mrs. William Smethurst, the former Helen Wiener, '25, plans for a committee to carry out the project and seek additional gifts for the grant.

Probably the first recipient will be

Miss Eunice Stockard, who entertained at the dinner by playing two groups of numbers on the marimba.

The principal speaker at the dinner was Dr. Frederic W. Ness, '33, who was then nearing the end of his first year as Dean of the College and who took as his theme "A Better Dickinson." Other speakers were President C. Wendell Holmes, of the General Alumni Association; Prof. Benjamin D. James, Director of Admissions, and Gilbert Malcolm. The Rev. J. Thurman Shook offered the invocation.

In the business session, Mrs. Smethurst was elected president while Roy D. Tolliver, '31, was elected vice-president and Fred H. Green, Jr., '35, was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Harrisburg Club Stages Panel of Experts

A departure in conventional alumni club programs and a record attendance in response to the promise of no speeches marked the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Harrisburg held at the West Shore Country Club in Camp Hill on May 6.

There were 104 present, the best attendance in Harrisburg in years and second only to the Philadelphia club which set a new mark of 150 last April 15. The Rev. Victor B. Hann, '28, offered the invocation and I. Emmanuel Meyers, '37, '39L, retiring president, acted as master of ceremonies.

After a fine dinner, the Men's Glee Club presented an excellent half hour program. Then, instead of speeches, there was a panel of experts to answer a barrage of questions, most of them revealing the sincere interest of the alumni and some in a lighter vein. The panel was composed of Dean W. H. Hitchler of the Law School; Prof. A. E. Ransom, head of physical education and coach of football and basketball; Prof. Benjamin D. James, Director Admissions; C. Wendell Holmes, president of the General Alumni Association; Roger H. Steck, director of publicity, and Gilbert Malcolm.

Paul J. Smith, '24, '26L, was elected president of the club for a two-year term and the other officers chosen were as follows: Mrs. Mary Rhein, '32, vice-president; Edward E. Congressman Addresses Washington Club

An address by the Hon. S. Walter Stauffer, '12, who is in his first year in Congress, and some fine colored photographs shown by Charles W. Karns, II, '41, were features of the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Washington held in the Hotel Burlington on May 14 with 68 present.

If there had been a prize for the longest alumni club dinner program, Washington would have won the award. Though it was lengthy it was filled with interest. One of the highlights was the report of H. Lynn Edwards, '36, as chairman of the club's scholarship committee and the presentation of the two holders, Walter Beach and Philip Anderson. The club, he said, is receiving increasing support for these annual awards.

In the business session, Mr. Edwards, who is a member of the Alumni Council, was elected president to succeed F. Estol Simmons, '26. Lawrence D. Dibble, '28, former officer of the Dickinson Club of Chicago, who has since moved to Washington, was elected first vice-president, and Paul A. Mangan, '34, was named second vice-president. Maude E. Wilson, '14, and John W. Springer, '48, were re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively while Mrs. John L. Rowland, the former Louise Patterson, '27, was elected assistant secretary.

Dr. Edward G. Latch, '21, offered the invocation and there were short speeches by C. Wendell Holmes, president of the General Alumni Association; Dean W. H. Hitchler; President William W. Edel and Gilbert Malcolm before Congressman Stauffer's address. Following the speaking program, Mr. Karns showed pictures of Japan and the Philippines which he had taken while serving there. George Shuman, Jr., treasurer of the college, was in the delegation from Carlisle, but did not speak.

Korea Makes Trustee Honorary Citizen

THE Republic of Korea has made Dickinson trustee Frank E. Masland, Jr., '18, an honorary citizen in gratitude for his support of the American Korean Relief Committee's recent nation-wide clothing drive for Korean war orphans.

Col. Ben Limb, Korea's ambassador to the U. N., acting for President Syngman Rhee, bestowed the citizenship honors on Masland in a ceremony in New York City that was nationally televised.

Masland, president of C. H. Masland & Sons, Inc., manufacturers of carpet and sportswear, had decided last spring that the Korean clothing appeal should be dramatized on the Garry Moore shows on CBS-TV sponsored by his firm. As a result of this decision extra thousands of pounds of clothing were contributed by American homes.

Behind Masland's interest in the dire needs of Korean orphans is a story that may be typical of American friendship for the harassed little republic. A U. S. Army nurse in Korea, writing home to her father, described the intense joy with which a group of war orphans listened to a gay little tune on a Swiss music box that her father had sent to her.

"Accustomed only to the dreadful sounds of war, they had never heard music before," wrote Nurse Fay Smiley. She mentioned the children's terrible need for clothing.

The father, a New York merchant handling Masland carpets, recalled that the music box had been distributed by the Masland firm as a souvenir at a national carpet show he attended. He had the letter sent to the firm. Later Frank Masland, casting about for ways to aid the Korean clothing drive, remembered the touching words of Nurse Smiley. TV scriptwriters got busy. Masland's idea plus two TV shows (Miss Smiley and the little music box appeared on one of them) plus the swift response of many American homes added up to additional hundreds of bales of clothing for the Korean orphans.

A Kinsey Slant?

Two interesting class rosters were published at Commencement time, the one by the Class of 1933 as part of its 20th reunion and the other on May 20 by the Class of 1937, which celebrated its 15th reunion in 1952.

The four-page legal size roster of 1933 lists names, addresses, graduate schools, professions, marital status, year of marriage and number of children and whether boys or girls.

The Reunion Committee of 1937 reports on the 1952 reunion, advocates attendance at Commencement every year, and lists "the story in brief about the class members about whom information is available." There is a paragraph which is at least unusual which reads: "With not all precincts reporting, the class has about 160 nieces and nephews. These include two sets of twins, one both boys and one both girls. The men of the class (together with their wives) have produced five boys to every four girls, while the girls of the class (together with their husbands) have produced two boys to every three girls. Where both husband and wife were '37, its girls three to one. Ten men of the class have begotten only boy babies (where there has been more than one child) but only one girl (Grace Carver Kline) has all boys. Four men with plural children have all girls as compared to six women with only female young ones. Of 85 marriages with children, 30 showed increases from the time of the tenth reunion and of this number, eight had two children and one (Flash Miller's) had three. Twenty-four marriages (better than one-fourth of all) have resulted in three or more children. At the latest count three men and seven women of the class are unmarried. Elizabeth is the most popular name among the class female children with Susan second. Among the boys John is first followed by Robert, William and David. Jeanne Dum Birrell is the only one who has both an Elizabeth and a John. We have three all 1937 marriages and 11 all-Dickinson with about 35 other colleges represented among the spouses. Attorneys lead the vocational field with 17, followed by 12 teachers, five physicians and four ministers. Class members now reside in 18 states and three foreign countries."

To which the Alumni Secretary expresses the hope that the reunion committees of other classes would gather biographical data for the permanent Alumni Office records as well as 1933 and 1937 have done.
