Complete Plans For First Outdoor Commencement

PROBABLY for the first time in the history of the College, the 181st Baccalaureate Service and Commencement Exercises will be held outdoors on Sunday, June 13. Plans have been completed to use the Benjamin Rush Campus with the Baird Biology Building as the background, and to have the Alumni Gymnasium also ready for use in the event of rain.

The present Senior Class petitioned the President of the College for this change, and when it was found that the needed additional chairs could be secured the request was approved. Last year the Law School Commencement was held outdoors at the Sadler Curtilage, and it will be held there again this year at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday morning, June 12.

Dr. William E. Kerstetter, '36, who was inaugurated this month as president of Simpson College, will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon. The service will be held at 10:30 o'clock on Sunday morning, June 13. The Commencement Exercises will be held that afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when Dr. Goodrich C. White, president of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and president of Emory University, will be the speaker.

The whole Commencement program follows closely the very enjoyable program of last year. Returning alumni will have a busy time during the three days of June 11, 12 and 13. It is also believed that there will be another banner attendance this year as Class Reunion chairmen are reporting many acceptances and requests for reservations at class functions and for hotel and motel rooms. The offer of a "baby sitting" service made in the last issue of the magazine has been withdrawn and will not be available for Commencement visitors.

The 181st Commencement will get under way on Friday afternoon, June 11, at 3 o'clock when Senior Day will be observed followed by the Dean of Women's tea and the Senior Ball that night.

The Alumni Luncheon at noon on Saturday, June 12, will be the highlight of Alumni Day. It will be held in the Alumni Gymnasium and it will be a buffet luncheon served by the Slater System. The tickets are $1 each and will be available in the Registration Room in Old West. Several classes will present gifts at the luncheon.

The time of the President's Reception at the President's House has been moved up half an hour this year to 3 o'clock, and it will end at 4:30 instead of 5 o'clock. It will be held on Saturday afternoon. Fraternity banquets will begin at 6 o'clock, and the dinner of the Mary Dickinson Club will be held in Drayer Hall at 6:30 followed by a coffee hour in the lounge there.

One of last year's innovations which proved highly popular was the presentation of a one-act play by Senior members of the Dramatic Club. There will be a return engagement this year in Bosler Hall at 8:30 o'clock, and this will be followed by the Alumni Prom and band concert on the John Dickinson campus with Old West as the background.

Alumni are reminded that in arriving on the campus they should register at the Registration Room in Old West. Commencement buttons will be issued and tickets will be available there for all events for which tickets are needed.

Seven Receive Honorary Degrees At Commencement

WILLIAM E. KERSTETTER

GOODRICH C. WHITE

THREE Dickinsonians are among the seven who will receive honorary degrees at the 181st Commencement Exercises on Sunday afternoon, June 13. The ceremonies will be held outdoors on the Benjamin Rush Campus, or in the event of rain in the Alumni Gymnasium.

The degree of Doctor of Laws will be conferred upon Dr. Goodrich C. White, president of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and the president of Emory University, who will be the Commencement speaker. That degree will also be awarded to Dr. William E. Kerstetter, '36, who was inaugurated this month as president of Simpson College, and who will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon.

Frank W. Abrams, former chairman of the Board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and Chairman, The Fund for the Advancement of Education, Ford Foundation, will receive the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

Three will be awarded the degree of Doctor of Science: Lewis Lichtenstein Strauss, Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Dr. Lewis H. Rohrbaugh, '30, newly elected Provost of the University of Arkansas and Dr. Janet A.

Kelley, '24, author and Professor of Psychology and Guidance, the City College of New York.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity will be conferred upon the Rev. Sheridan W. Bell, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dr. White, the Commencement Speaker, is a native of Georgia and a graduate of Emory University in 1908. He received his A.M. at Columbia and his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago. Three universities have confirmed the LL.D. degree upon him, Chattanooga in 1947; Hamline in 1949 and North Carolina in 1950. Last year he was awarded the Litt.D. by Cornell College, Iowa.

A member of the faculty of Emory since 1919, Dr. White was Professor of Psychology there from 1920 to 1942, while also serving at the same time as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences from 1923 to 1938, Dean of the Graduate School from 1938 to 1942 and Vice President from 1938 to 1942. He has been President since 1942.

After twice being president of his chapter and a senator, Dr. White became president of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa in 1952. He is also a member of Sigma Xi, Omicron Delta Kappa and Chi Phi. His clubs are Capital City and the Ten.

Dr. White holds numerous memberships in professional and educational societies. He has been a member of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, South and since 1940 has been a member of the University Senate of the Methodist Church. He served on the President's Commission on Higher Education, 1946-47.

His wife is the former Helen Dean Chappell. Their son, Goodrich C. White, was killed in action in September 1944 while serving with the Air Force. They have another son, Edwin Chappel Cook.

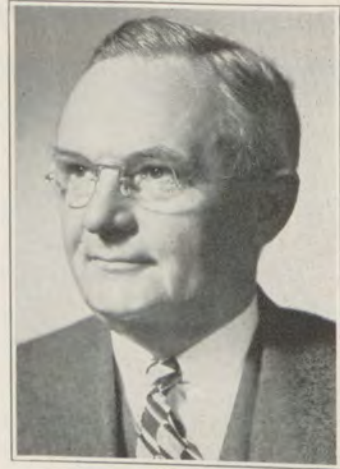

The biography of Dr. William E. Kerstetter, '36, the Baccalaureate preacher, was published in the February 1953 number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS.

Frank W. Abrams

After his graduation from Syracuse University in 1912, Frank W. Abrams spent 41 years with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, holding successive positions in petroleum refining and policy administration. His first job was at a draftsman's table in Eagle Works, Jersey City. Ten years later, he was not only manager of the Eagle Works but of the Parkersburg, W. Va., refinery, as well.

In 1927, when a Jersey affiliate now known as the Esso Standard Oil Company was formed, Mr. Abrams was elected to its board of directors and six years later became its president. After another three years, he was transferred to the parent organization as a director and became successively a vice president in 1944 and chairman of the board in 1946.

Mr. Abrams has been especially interested in the strengthening of the American educational system, believing that all segments of the national life, including business, are beneficiaries of education and should participate in its support. After serving as Director and Chairman of the Board of the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education, he resigned from that group and was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Ford Foundation in 1952. He is also a trustee of the Sloan Foundation and a Director of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, having helped organize the latter. He is a trustee with the Industrial Relations Counselors, an organization supported by business to promote the advancement of employer-employee relations. He is also a member of the Personnel Task Force of the Hoover Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government.

Mr. Abrams received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Syracuse University in 1946 and is a member and Vice-Chairman of its board of trustees. He has also received honorary doctorate degrees from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, New York University, Northeastern University, Lehigh University, Colgate University and the University of Miami.

He was born in Rockville Center, Long Island, in 1889, and married Ruth Florence Corrigan in 1915. They have one son, Frank, Jr. Although residents of New Jersey for over 25 years, Mr. and

JANET A. KELLEY

Mrs. Abrams now live in Mattituck, L. I., New York.

Lewis L. Strauss

As chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Lewis L. Strauss holds one of the very top spots in America and the world today. He was born in Charleston, West Virginia January 31, 1896 and educated in the Richmond schools. He holds an Sc.D. from the Medical College of Virginia, an LL.D. from Jewish Theological Seminary and an L.H.D. from Case Institute.

Associated with Kuhn, Leob & Co. from 1919 and a partner since 1929, he resigned in 1946 when he took the post with the Atomic Energy Commission, of which he became chairman last year. It is also interesting that he was secretary to Herbert Hoover during World War I days of 1917-19. Entering the U.S.N.R. as a lieutenant commander in 1926 he was promoted to commander and in 1945 became a rear admiral. He was decorated with the Legion of Merit and Gold Star, the Oak Leaf Cluster and Commendation Ribbon. He is also a member of the Legion of Honor of France.

His wide variety of interests is revealed in the post of director or trustee held by Mr. Strauss in Hampton Institute; the Institute for Advanced Study of the Sloan-Kettering Foundation; the Memorial and Cancer Hospitals of New York; the Metropolitan Opera Company, the Virginia Musical Fine Arts, the Belgian Educational Foundation, Industrial Rayon; R.C.A.; N.B.C. and Rockefeller Center.

His clubs are the Century Association and Metropolitan of New York and Army-Navy of Washington

Mr. Strauss married Alice Hanauer on March 5, 1923. They have one son, Lewis H.

The biography of Dr. Lewis H. Rohrbach, '30, who will also receive the Sc.D. degree appears elsewhere in this issue of the magazine, telling of his new post as provost of the University of Arkansas.

Janet A. Kelley

The third recipient of an Sc.D. degree is Dr. Janet A. Kelley, '24, a native of Shippensburg, Pa., who has been a member of the faculty of the City College of New York since 1947. She received her A.B. from the College in 1924, an A.M. from Pennsylvania State in 1936 and the degree of Doctor of Education from Teachers College, Columbia University in 1947. She has also done graduate study at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Kelley is widely known for her book College Life and the Mores for its contribution to educational personnel work and research in the United States. It won the national award of the National Council of Guidance and Personnel Associations, Inc. at the annual conference of that body in 1952.

Following her graduation from the college, Miss Kelley taught in the Chambersburg High School until 1942 and then was Dean and Head of the Foreign Language Department at Edinboro State Teachers College until she went to C.C. N. Y. in 1947. She has also served during the summers on the faculties of the University of Chicago, Pennsylvania State, Florida State University and the University of Texas. She has also been the lecturer at many other schools and colleges, school systems and state and municipal boards of education sessions.

Besides her book, Dr. Kelley has been a co-author of parts of the Encyclopaedia of Educational Research as well as the national brochure of the American Council of Education titled Students and Staff in a Social Context. She has in preparation under contract with Prentice-Hall, Inc. a professional book Integration of Guidance and Curriculum.

Sheridan W. Bell

The Rev. Sheridan Watson Bell, who will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, has been pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Harrisburg, since 1950.

He was born in a Methodist parsonage in Cincinnati, Ohio in 1908, the youngest of four children. He received his A.B. from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1930 and then was secretary at the Boston Y.M.C.A. for the next two years while doing graduate work at Boston University. The following year he was assistant Chaplain at the Worchester State Hospital, Worchester, Mass.

In 1934, his father was minister of the University Church at Morgantown, W. Va., and he returned home and took graduate work, receiving his M.A. in history at West Virginia Wesleyan. He then decided to enter the ministry and went to Yale Divinity School and in 1937 received the B.D. degree. Following his graduation he went to Columbus, Ohio where he was Associate at Indianola Methodist Church serving the students of Ohio State University. He served in two other Columbus churches and left the church he built there in February, 1943 to go into the Chaplaincy. He served three years as a Chaplain in the U. S. Navy and returned in December 1945 to be minister at Franklin for six months. In June 1946 he went to the Delaware, Ohio church where he was minister for the next four and a half years until 1950 when he was called to Harrisburg.

Mrs. Bell is the former Elizabeth Rich, daughter of Robert F. Rich, '07, member of the Board of Trustees. She is a graduate of Dickinson Seminary, the Cathedral School in Washington, Mount Holyoke College and the Yale School of Nursing. The Bells have four children: Julia Elizabeth, 15; Sheridan III, 12; Cynthia Ann, 7 and Robert Rich, 4.

The Rev. Mr. Bell is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi; Theta Alpha Phi and O.D.K. fraternities.

Washington Club Meets

The annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Washington was held in the Calvary Methodist Church on April 28, when there were 60 present.

In his report as President of the Club, H. Lynn Edwards, '36, stated that 'over $350 had been contributed as of that date for the Washington Club Scholarship. He also reported that officers of the club and other members had attended the annual Recognition Luncheon of the Pennsylvania All College Alumni Association and had two meetings at Dickinson and at Gettysburg Colleges.

Dr. Guy E. Snavely, executive director of the Association of American Colleges for nearly 20 years, was the first speaker and told of his contacts with many Dickinson men through the years.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Edgar M. Finck, who is in his second year as a member of the Dickinson College faculty. His subject was "A New Professor Looks at an Old College." Other speakers were President William W. Edel and Vice President Gilbert Malcolm. George Shuman, treasurer of the college, was also in the Carlisle delegation.

Group singing was led by W. R. Schmucker, '01, with Dr. Merle I. Protzman, '18, at the piano.

Dr. Asbury Smith, '23, superintendent of the Washington district of the Methodist Church, offered the invocation and Dr. Edward G. Latch, '21, pastor of Metropolitan Methodist Church in Washington pronounced the benediction. H. Lynn Edwards presided as toastmaster.

For the Unattached

A limited number of rooms in Drayer Hall will be provided for the accommodation of former coeds during Commencement. These may be used either Friday or Saturday, June 11 and 12, or for both nights.

Accommodations will also be available in Conway Hall for men desiring them.

So far as possible requests should be made in advance to George Shuman, Jr., Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., or at the Registration Room in Old West immediately upon arrival.

Called Outstanding Study

The volume College Life and the Mores by Dr. Janet A. Kelley, '24, is described as one of the seven "outstanding studies in higher education" listed by the Bureau of Publications of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Dr. Kelley will receive an honorary degree at Commencement this year.

The circular describes the seven books as seven resources for college administrators, professors, program planners and personnel workers.

Referring to Dr. Kelley's book, the circular reads "This study, an analysis of the college campus as a culture and a society, gives special attention to such problems as the function of mores in college social control; social stratification and cleavages; racial, religious and national discrimination; and clique structure.

Named Scholarship Counsellor

Dr. Robert L. D. Davidson, '31, of the Temple University, has been named National Scholarship Counsellor of Sigma Chi Fraternity. He was also recently elected president of the Dickinson Club of Philadelphia.

Named Provost Of the University of Arkansas

DR. LEWIS H. ROHRBAUGH, '30, educator and public administrator formerly with the United States Department of Agriculture, who has twice served on relief missions to the Near East, will become provost of the University of Arkansas in July. The appointment was announced in April by Dr. Joe Covington, acting president of the university.

Dr. Rohrbaugh has been a special associate of the American Council on Education since his return last winter from Iraq where for nearly three years he directed a USA Operations Missions (Point Four) while on leave from the Department of Agriculture.

He first went with the Department of Agriculture in 1941 as a field superintendent of the Management Division of the Farm Security Administration and the next year he became head of professional, scientific and technical training. The Department named him director of its Graduate School in 1943 and he continued to serve in that capacity for nine years.

He was on leave in 1944 and 1945 to serve in Egypt and Greece with missions of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

For a number of years after graduating from Dickinson in 1930 Dr. Rohrbaugh was engaged in social work with the University of Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia Board of Public Education. He received his Doctor of Philosophy Degree from Pennsylvania in 1939. The College will confer the honorary degree of Doctor of Science upon him at Commencement.

As a Dickinson student he was active in campus affairs and won election to Omicron Delta Kappa and Skull and Key. His fraternity is Alpha Chi Rho. He is a Quaker and a member of the Cosmos and Torch Clubs in Washington.

He and Mrs. Rohrbaugh and their three children, Stephen, Lewis and Joanna, will reside in Fayetteville, Ark.

LEWIS H. ROHRBAUGH

Dr. Rohrbaugh is the son of Dr. Lewis Guy Rohrbaugh, '07, for many years chairman of the department of religion and philosophy at Dickinson, and Mrs. Rohrbaugh.

On State Education Board

Lewis F. Gayner, '31, was named by Governor Driscoll as a member of the New Jersey State Board of Education and his appointment was confirmed by the State Senate in April. He is a member and former president of the Salem Board of Education.

President of the Gayner Glass Works, of Salem, N. J., he is a former president of the Glass Container Manufacturers' Institute. Active in civic and church affairs, he is a director of the Salem Y. M. C. A. and has directed financial drives for that institution.

He married his classmate, Sally Lukens. They are both Life Members of the General Alumni Association. Their son, Lewis F. Gayner, Jr., is a member of the Freshman Class at the college and their daughter, Dottie Lee, is a student at Salem High School.

Annual Priestley Award Goes to Karl T. Compton

THE annual Award in Memory of Joseph Priestley which Dickinson inaugurated in 1952 to honor scientists for outstanding service to mankind through research, invention or other work was given this year to Karl T. Compton, world-known physicist, member of the Atomic Energy Commission Panel and distinguished former president of M.I.T. For the first time the award was $1,000, in addition to the handsomely mounted portrait medallion of Priestley which goes to all recipients.

The presentation took place at a public ceremony April 22 in Bosler Hall, which climaxed the College's annual Priestley Celebration memorializing the discoverer of oxygen and honoring today's men of science. President William W. Edel spoke of Dr. Compton's leadership in the application of atomic energy to peacetime uses, his services to the nation through membership on many agencies of the government having to do with development of national resources, and his notable career as an educator and administrator.

The award's $1,000 grant was provided by a gift to the College by the National Cylinder Gas Company, Chicago, manufacturers of oxygen and other gases for medical and industrial uses and of oxygen piping for hospitals. W. Roberts Wood, vice-president of the company, took part in the award ceremony and made the first public announcement that the company had arranged with the College to add $1,000 to the award "for a period of years."

Noting that the company manufactures in great quantities the life-giving gas Priestley discovered in 1774, Mr. Wood said that it was a great privilege for his firm to have a part in perpetuating the memory of Priestley and in recognizing with Dickinson "the impressive contributions today's scientists are making for the welfare of mankind."

Priestley, Mr. Wood observed, recognized the therapeutic value of oxygen

Award Presentation
President Edel and Dr. Karl T. Compton

when he wrote that the gas "might be peculiarly salutary to the lungs (and) very useful as a medicine" but hardly suspected its use today in every modern hospital. The National Cylinder Gas Company alone has placed oxygen piping in more than 700 hospitals in the last five years.

"It is no wonder that we are anxious to join with Dickinson to recognize modern scientific achievement in the name of Joseph Priestley," he said. "We are grateful for the opportunity to be a part of such a worthy undertaking."

In accepting the company's gift, Dr. Edel noted this was the first time that "Dickinson and industry entered a program hand in hand for a period of years."

Dr. Compton gave the principal address. Using slides to illustrate his talk, he traced the early development of energy by drawing power out of the atom and described some of the applications of this energy in the fields of medicine and food technology.

Other recipients of the award have been Sir Hugh Stott Taylor, Princeton, N. J., the physical chemist, and Paul Rufus Burkholder, '24, the botanist, now of the University of Georgia.

The 1954 Priestley Celebration was a day-long event arranged by President Edel and a faculty committee of which Dr. E. A. Vuilleumier, head of the department of chemistry, was the chairman. It opened in the morning with a chapel address by Dr. George R. Seidel, research supervisor in the pigments department of E. I. duPont de Nemours Company, whose subject was "Faith in Chemical Research."

Alden H. Emery, executive secretary of the American Chemical Society, spoke on "Values for Living" at a dinner given by the College in conjunction with the April meeting of the Southeastern Pa. Section of the American Chemical Society and attended by 275 men and women. Special guests of the College were the chemistry teachers of all high schools in the seven counties of the Section's geographical area, while the outstanding chemistry seniors of the eight colleges in the area were the guests of the Section and received awards. Dr. C. Scott Althouse, president of the Althouse Chemical Company and the Dickinson trustee, presided.

The public meeting for presentation of the Priestley Award followed in Bosler Hall and was attended by many townspeople and other visitors, in addition to students and faculty. Dr. Edel presided. A display of the double burning glass and other apparatus from Priestley's laboratory which the College has owned for nearly 150 years gave the celebration an authentic backdrop.

Serves As Delegate

Hugh C. Morgan, '15, served as the delegate of Dickinson College at the Centennial Charter Day Convocation of Lincoln University on April 29. The program also included a Centennial Social Science Conference. He is supervising principal of schools at West Grove, Pa.

Hold Mary Dickinson Celebration

The fourth annual Mary Dickinson Celebration, sponsored by the Mary Dickinson Clubs in cooperation with the College, was held on the campus March 30 with Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College and one of the nation's foremost educators, as the guest of honor.

Climax of the day-long program was a dinner in the evening at which 375 co-eds and Mary Dickinson Club members from Harrisburg, Altoona, Reading, Carlisle and Baltimore were present. Dr. Blanding gave the address, her second of the day. Mrs. A. S. Ransom, national president of the Mary Dickinson Club, presided.

A new feature this year was a mid-afternoon workshop at which representatives of the various Mary Dickinson clubs discussed projects on behalf of the College and its women students. Steps were taken to make the annual meeting coincide with the Mary Dickinson Celebration to avoid distractions and competing events of Parents Day in the Fall.

President Blanding was on the campus throughout the day. She addressed the student chapel in the morning, had lunch with the co-eds and Mary Dickinson officers, was the honor guest at a tea in Drayer Hall and, as already mentioned, spoke at the evening dinner, which was held in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Speaks at Charter Night

Dr. John P. Milligan, '26, assistant New Jersey State education commissioner, came back to the campus March 16 to deliver the principal address at the chartering of Dickinson's new Benjamin Rush Chapter of the Future Teachers of America. His subject was "The Glory of Teaching." The chapter is named for the principal founder of the College who was also the first teacher of medicine in America.

New York Club Awards Two Citations

THE awarding of two citations to distinguished alumni, Henry J. Logan, '10, and B. O. McAnney, '13, highlighted the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of New York held at Stouffer's Restaurant, 540 Fifth Avenue, on April 23. There were 60 at the dinner.

Another feature of the dinner was a panel discussion on "Dickinson Today and in the Future," in which Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., head of the History Department, Professor Benjamin D. James, Director of Admissions, and Vice-President Gilbert Malcolm were the panel members.

After greetings by the retiring president George M. Davey, '25, who acted as toastmaster introduced Lorraine Y. McAnney, '15, who presented the first citation to his brother, Dr. B. O. McAnney, '13, managing editor of the New York World Telegram. "Bo" as he is best known to Dickinsonians, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature from the college at the June 1953 commencement.

The "Citation of Honor" awarded by the Dickinson Club of New York to B. O. McAnney read as follows: "For a brilliant career in the field of Journalism, where as city editor, feature editor and managing editor, he has contributed to the success of an outstanding metropolitan daily newspaper, the New York World Telegram. In tribute to a distinguished son of Lucretia McAnney a former Dean of Women at Dickinson College. For this we do him honor."

The citation given to Mr. McAnney and Mr. Logan bore the signatures of George M. Davey, as president, Benjamin Epstein, as vice president and Margaret L. McMullen, as secretary.

Charles S. VanAuken, '12, attorney of Patterson, N. J., who had been in college with Mr. Logan, made the presentation to him. His citation read as follows: "For a distinguished career in the profession of law. For his tireless community services, as Trustee of the Brooklyn Nassau Presbytery and of Dickinson College, Director of the Axe-Houghton Fund, and Commissioner of the Presbyterian General Assembly. In grateful appreciation for his contribution and selfless devotion to the welfare of our college, and serving as President of the Dickinson Club of New York. For this we do him honor."

The Rev. Clark Van Auken, '16, pastor of the Park Avenue Methodist Church in East Orange, N. J., offered the invocation and pronounced the benediction.

Benjamin Epstein, '33, was elected as the new president of the club for a two-year term, while J. Cameron Frenlich, '13, was elected vice president and Margaret L. McMullen, '51, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Named to the executive committee were George M. Davey, Alta Kimmell, '23, and John C. Carroll, '41.

There was also some group singing with Mrs. George M. Davey at the piano.

Hold Dinner in Altoona

The Dickinson Club of Altoona held its annual dinner meeting at the Penn Alto Hotel on April 30 with 30 present. Paul E. Beaver, '22, retiring president, was in charge of the meeting.

At the brief business meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Jeanette Stevens, '10; vice president, George M. Raines, '12; second vice president, Donald M. Geesey, Jr., '40; secretary, Dr. George Henry Ketterer, '08, and treasurer, George K. Cox, '40.

Donald M. Geesey, Jr., was master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers, all of whom were from the College: Prof. B. D. James, Director of Admissions; Professor Edgar M. Finck; President William W. Edel and Treasurer George Shuman, Jr.

The guest of honor was Mrs. Charlotte H. Prettyman, wife of the late Dr. C. William Prettyman, former professor and President of the College.

Receives Honorary Degree at Special Convocation

MARIAN ANDERSON, the contralto, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from the College at a special convocation on April 24 in Bosler Hall on the eve of her departure for a concert tour of South America.

President William W. Edel told the noted singer that Dickinson was honoring her, not so much for her golden voice, as for her deep religious faith and because she has regarded her voice as a trust given for the uplifting of others. He said that the award which Finland gave to Miss Anderson a few years ago, Probenignitate Humana, "benefactor of the human race," best expressed his own thoughts of her.

Many Negro men and women were in the large audience. Miss Anderson had come to the campus alone from New York and the convocation was an evening affair. The program consisted of a number by the College Choir, remarks by Dr. Edel, the degree ceremony and a brief response by Miss Anderson. She said that the honor made her "heart full with joy" and that she was "deeply grateful and humble for it." Afterwards she shook hands with several hundred students and visitors in the Sharp Reading Room.

The citation accompanying the degree read: "Endowed by God with a voice of surpassing beauty, you have made of song a religious experience, not only for yourself but for those who are privileged to listen. Through you we have known ourselves as better than our failures would warrant our believing. Because of your deeply religious interpretation of every aspect of your life, you have been to other cultures and peoples a representative of America at its best."

Serving as sponsor for Miss Anderson was Dr. Friedrich Sandels of the faculty, a close personal friend of the singer's accompanist.

The degree was to have been conferred last commencement, but Miss Anderson was then singing for American soldiers in Korea. Upon her return to the States recital tours and other engagements kept Miss Anderson from visiting the campus during the fall and winter.

Hold Pittsburgh Luncheon

The annual luncheon of the Dickinson Club of Pittsburgh was held in the Hotel Pittsburgher there at noon on Saturday, April 3, when there were 30 present.

Ending his two-year term as president of the club, James M. McElfish, '43, acted as toastmaster. His father, Russell C. McElfish, '14, offered the invocation.

Clarence B. Nixon, Jr., '46, who had served as secretary-treasurer for the past two years, was elected president of the club, while James L. Bruggeman, '50, was elected vice-president and Mrs. Abner H. Bagenstose, Jr., the former Charlotte M. Stopford, '43, of 13 McMurray Road, R. D. 2, Bridgeville, Pa., was elected secretary-treasurer.

The speakers at the luncheon were George Shuman, Jr., treasurer of the College and superintendent of grounds and buildings, and Vice-President Gilbert Malcolm.

Receives Degree During Religion-in-Life Week

FOR eminence in two careers, the College conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil and Canon Law upon the Very Rev. James A. Pike, dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, N. Y. C., and formerly a lawyer, at a public Sunday evening service March 7 that opened annual Religion-in-Life Week at the College.

During his career in law, Dean Pike was counsel to a number of Federal agencies, lectured on law at George Washington and Catholic Universities and had a busy private practice. He entered the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church after World War II, became chaplain of Columbia University and the head of its department of religion. He has written books in both the fields of law and theology.

In the degree citation, President William W. Edel noted that Dean Pike had turned away from "man's law" at the height of his first career and gave his finely trained mind to the study of Divine Law." The College was proud to honor him, the minister was told, for his "qualities of mind and spirit, in superb integration, as well as for the eminence of your double career."

Dean Pike gave five addresses during Religion-in-Life Week and headed the staff of visiting leaders. His associates were Rabbi Bertram W. Korn of Temple Keneseth Israel, Philadelphia; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lawrence F. Schott, pastor of Our Lady's Church, Mt. Carmel, Pa.; Miss Odlie Sweeney, member of the National Student Y. W. C. A. staff and the first member of the Negro race to serve at the College as a RILW leader, and Rev. Dr. Charles A. Sayre, minister of the First Methodist Church, Asbury, N. J.

By a program of chapel addresses, noon-day devotions, personal interviews, career counseling and nightly panel discussion, the visiting leaders challenged the students to put their religion to work in everyday life.

JAMES A. PIKE

Again Entertains Chicago Club

For the second year, Mrs. Proctor D. Foucht, daughter of the late Col. Alexander A. Shrap, '83, entertained the Dickinson Club of Chicago at its annual dinner in the exclusive South Shore Country Club on April 6 when there were 32 present.

John W. Garrett, '19, president of the club, presided and introduced J. Leeds Clarkson, '11, who acted as toastmaster. He first called upon Paul C. BeHanna, '27, to explain the absence of Mrs. Josephine B. Meredith. He read an amusing and clever letter from her in answer to a letter replying to his offer to pay "all" her expenses to the Chicago dinner in a club car ride from Urbana.

Samuel W. Witwer, '30, Trustee of the College, who is heading a vigorous campaign for further constitutional revision and apportionment in Illinois, was introduced as "one of Chicago's top young men" and briefly told of his work in that great effort.

The visitors from Carlisle and the other speakers were George Shuman, Jr., and Vice President Gilbert Malcolm.

City Pays Unusual Tribute To Andy Kerr

ANDY KERR, '00, one of America's greatest football coaches, now retired, who has taken in stride many honors in a busy and successful lifetime, admitted to being "flabbergasted" by an extraordinary tribute at Hamilton, N. Y., on March 18.

The occasion, which had been arranged to surprise Andy, was the presentation to him of the Hamilton Rotary Club's annual "Rose for the Living" award for outstanding service to his community, church and country. Andy was one of Hamilton's leading citizens long before he retired as coach of the Colgate football teams.

Several hundred townspeople gathered in Colgate Inn to witness the rose ceremony and to listen in on a series of telephone conversations between Andy and many of his friends and former associates across the country who couldn't be present in person.

Boyd Lee Spahr, classmate of Andy's at the College, set off the long-distance congratulatory calls by old friends after three grandchildren spoke to Andy from New Orleans. Then from North Carolina, California, Massachusetts, Florida and elsewhere came calls from Glenn "Pop" Warner, who followed Kerr at Stanford; Coaches Tuss McLaughry of Dartmouth and Lloyd Jordan of Harvard; Ernie Nevers, one of the great athletes of all-time, and from many others, including men prominent with Andy in promoting the New Year's East-West Shrine game for benefit of crippled children.

Other friends and old associates traveled many miles to join in the tribute in person. The citation that accompanied the rose award referred to Andy Kerr's life as one that "is grounded in integrity, lived with purpose and dedicated to service."

Though retired from football, Andy is in vigorous health and continues active in many civic and religious projects at Hamilton and helps guide the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco that has netted several million dollars for treatment of crippled children. He is also the president of the community hospital at Hamilton.

In answer to all the praise Andy said humbly that service to his family, church, community and country is the heart and core of his philosophy of life.

Typical of the warmth of the long-distance phone messages he received was this one from Boyd Lee Spahr:

"I am sure that I have known you longer than any one in Hamilton has. It is exactly sixty years since we were together in the old Preparatory School at Carlisle. That gives away our ages, but any curious person can find them in WHO'S WHO. Then we were classmates at Dickinson, graduating in 1900, after which you started on your career as a coach—at Pittsburgh, at Stanford, at Washington & Jefferson and at Colgate—making a record for fine clean sportsmanship equalled by few and surpassed by none. For this and for your numerous civic activities, the community of Hamilton very properly honors you—and all your old friends everywhere join in wishing you continued good health and prosperity."

Honor Dr. Bramble

More than 200 guests witnessed the retirement service honoring Dr. Charles C. Bramble, '12, director of research at the Dahlgren Naval Proving Grounds since 1951 and a government worker for 36 years.

In 1919 he became an assistant professor of mathematics and mechanics in the post graduate school of the U. S. Naval Academy. In 1942 he was placed in charge of the exterior ballistics section at Dahlgren and was transferred to the computation and ballistics department of the naval proving ground in 1947.

Dr. and Mrs. Bramble now make their home in White Plains, N. Y.

Banner Attendance Marks Philadelphia Club Dinner

SINGING by the Men's Glee Club, an inimitable address by Professor E. A. Vuilleumier, the proposal to found a Father and Son's Club high-lighted the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Philadelphia when there were 175 present at the Merion Cricket Club on April 21.

A year ago the same club set a modern attendance record when there were 150 present and reached the new high of 175 this year. The Philadelphia Club holds the all-time record of more than 200 at a dinner prior to World War II. Among those attending were 25 graduate students from professional schools in Philadelphia, who were the guests of Boyd Lee Spahr, president of the Board of Trustees.

The proposal to found a Father and Son Club of the College was made by Jack M. Cohen, '20L. In a very short presentation he told his own experiences of having a son attending the college and thought how much would be gained by establishing this medium to stimulate even greater interest of alumni.

In special introductions, Chris Spahr, '33, retiring president of the club, who acted as toastmaster, presented Frysinger Evans, '92, former treasurer of the college, as the representative of the earliest class. He then introduced his next in line, Dr. David W. Horn, '97. He also introduced four members of the Board of Trustees, Dr. William C. Sampson, Dr. Roy W. Mohler, Dr. Carl C. Chambers and Dr. J. Watson Pedlow. He also introduced William B. Jackson and William D. Gordon, both members of the Class of 1903.

Dr. Robert L. D. Davidson, '31, who had been vice president, was elected president of the Club. James L. McIntire, '35, was elected first vice president and Mrs. Sally Sigmund Lynch, '26, second vice president, while C. Wendell Holmes, '21, president of the General Alumni Association, was again re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Following the dinner, the Men's Glee Club presented an excellent program and then Dr. Boyd Lee Spahr, who had returned just a short time before from Europe, spoke briefly. He was followed by President William W. Edel. In his characteristic vein, Professor Earnest A. Vuilleumier then told what he called "the inside story of Joseph Priestley and Wedgwood."

Following the main address, vice president Gilbert Malcolm spoke briefly. At the opening of the dinner, Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., Robert Coleman Professor of History, offered the invocation. In the group from Carlisle was also George Shuman, Jr., treasurer of the college, who was introduced but did not speak.

Three Of A Kind

Three Dickinsonians, all lawyers, all named Johnson, all veterans of the Army Air Force, all Kappa Sigmas, now practice law in Woodbury, New Jersey.

This all came true when Charles D. "Chick" Johnson, '48, was admitted to practice in New Jersey in March and became associated with his father, Frank L. Johnson, '17L, who was a municipal judge for 18 years. "Chick" graduated from Rutgers University School of Law in June 1953, his brother, Frank L. Johnson, Jr., '46, '49L, lives in Woodbury with his parents and is a partner of Wellford H. Ware, '43. In January, Frank was named borough solicitor of Woodbury Heights.

"Chick" Johnson married his classmate, Jeannie E. Grant. They have two children, Kathleen Carol, born December 2, 1949 and Perry Lynn born July 23, 1952.

Last month Ware resigned his post of chief counsel of the Privileges and Elections subcommittee of the U. S. Senate to return to his private practice. With his wife, Janet, and their two sons, Bruce and Jack, they have moved into their former home in Pitman.

Names Professor United States Attorney

THEODORE F. BOWES, '27, member of the Syracuse University Law College faculty for the past 17 years, was appointed United States Attorney for the Northern District of New York by President Dwight D. Eisenhower last fall.

Following his graduation from the College he was for a time a representative of the Bankers Investment Trust of America, with offices in Altoona, Pa. He moved to Syracuse, N. Y., in 1931 and was appointed to the Syracuse University Law School faculty immediately upon his graduation from that school in 1936. This was a tribute to the high regard in which he was held as a student.

He was the first member of the Syracuse faculty to enter the Armed Forces at the outset of World War II. In January 1942, he was appointed a Captain in the Air Force and rose to the rank of Colonel before his discharge from the service in 1946, when he returned to the Syracuse faculty. During the war he was decorated with the Legion of Merit at a Pentagon ceremony. While in the service, he served as Chief Procurement Officer of the Materiel Command at Wright Field, the Air Force's big supply base in Dayton, Ohio.

While teaching, he has also maintained a law practice in Syracuse, N. Y., and is presently serving as general counsel for the Industrial Institute at Syracuse University. He is a member of the New York State Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

His wife, the former Erna Hoffman, whom he married in Syracuse on August 7, 1948, is also an attorney and formerly served as assistant district attorney. She is a member of the Syracuse Board of Education. His sister, Mrs. F. E. Berquist, Washington, D. C., is the former Kathryn U. Bowes, '19.

Born in Clearfield, Pa., on December 12, 1904, he graduated from the high school there and entered the College in

THEODORE F. BOWES

1923. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and of the Methodist Church.

Hold Dinner in Reading

The annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Reading-Berks was held on March 25 in the Walnut Room of the Berkshire Hotel in Reading when 49 were present.

Horace F. Shepherd, '20, general secretary of the Reading Y. M. C. A., retiring president of the club, acted as toastmaster.

Dr. Edgar Finck, of the Psychology Department, was the principal speaker. Other speakers were President William W. Edel, Professor D. Fenton Adams, '47, assistant to the dean of the Law School, Treasurer George Shuman, Jr., and Richard MacAndrews.

Harry W. Speidel, '42, was elected president and Frederick G. McGavin, '39, was elected vice president, while Mrs. W. Richard Eshelman, the former Mary Mackie, '43, of R. D. No. 2, Sinking Spring, Pa., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Heads Pennsylvania Bankers' Association

SIDNEY D. KLINE, '24, '26L, president of the Berks County Trust Company of Reading, Pa., will become president of the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association this month, stepping up from the vice-presidency to which he was elected a year ago. He is a trustee of the College and a member of the Board of Incorporators of the Law School.

The story of his career in banking is the portrayal of the work of a man who "has what it takes."

Born in West Reading on June 15, 1902, he graduated from the Reading High School on 1920; from the College in 1924 and the law school in 1926. After passing the bar examinations, he took a position in the trust department of the Mutual Trust Company of Philadelphia, where Paul Renn, '12, was then employed. That bank merged with the Union Bank and Trust Company in 1927 and he and Mr. Renn continued with the new trust department. In 1928, he was elected assistant trust officer and continued in this post when the Union merged with the Corn Exchange National Bank and Trust Company.

The next year, on May 1, he moved to Reading to become trust officer with the Colonial Trust Company, which merged in 1932 with the Berks County Trust Company to form the present great banking institution. In 1933, Mr. Kline was elected vice-president and trust officer and he has been president since 1944.

In 1939, the Colonial Trust Company had approximately $4,000,000 of trust funds and $4,000,000 of deposits. At the end of the last fiscal year, the Berks County Trust Company had Individual Trusts of more than $46,000,000; Corporate Trusts of more than $7,000,000 and deposits of more than $100,000,000.

Because of his stature in the banking world, Mr. Kline holds many directorships. Among these are: Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania; American Casualty Co.; Cassel's Store, Inc.; Provident Federal Savings and Loan Association; Reading Hotel Corporation and the Reading Hospital.

A trustee of the College and Law School, he is also a trustee of Albright College and the Bethany Orphans' Home, Womelsdorf, Pa.

A member of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, he is also a member of the Berkshire Country Club, the Wyomissing Club, the Rotary Club of Reading and St. James Evangelical and Reformed Church of West Reading.

His Dickinson ties are inescapable. On August 4, 1928, he married Leona C. Barkalow, of the Class of 1927. She is the present secretary of the Steering Committee of the Alumni Annual Giving Fund and a former member of the Alumni Council and a past officer of the Dickinson Club of Reading-Berks. They are both Life Members of the General Alumni Association as is their daughter, Joan, '51, who is the wife of Dr. Ralph M. Gingrich, '48. Their son, Sidney D. Kline, Jr., will graduate from the College on June 13 and go on in the Law School for two years. Their second son, Robert C. Kline, is enrolled as a freshman for next September. They have a younger daughter, E. Susan, now in high school.

Dedicate John Price Durbin Oratory

THE memory of the eighth president of the College was honored when the prayer room, in West College, was named the John Price Durbin Oratory at the dedicatory service on February 23 conducted by President Edel and Bishop W. Earl Ledden, '10. Sumner M. Drayer, '02, donor of the room and its main furnishings, and Mrs. Frances Durbin Spencer, of Richmond, Va., a granddaughter of President Durbin, took part in the ceremony.

The beautiful room, complete with altar, electric organ, pews for 75 persons and altar furnishings, had never been formally named although regularly used for private meditation and religious services of small groups ever since it was opened in 1948.

The room now commemorates one of the great churchmen of his day. Durbin, born in a Kentucky parsonage, was chaplain of the U. S. Senate and editor of The Christian Advocate before he became the first president of the College after its affiliation with the Methodist Church in 1833. For 25 years after leaving the presidency in 1845 he was the foreign missionary secretary of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Spencer, who was born in the Durbin home and spent her early life there, presented to the Oratory altar linens and two brocaded dossals. Among other gifts presented during the ceremony were: red-bound hymnals inscribed with gold lettering, the gift of Sir Robert Chance, British industrialist, in appreciation for the hospitality extended him and Lady Chance on their visit to the College in June, 1952; candelabra, cross and other altar brass, gift of President Edel; sterling silver Communion vessels, by family friends in memory of President Edel's parents, John W. and Annie Wilcox Edel; the Bible, by the Student Christian Association.

Taking part in the service with Dr. Edel and Bishop Ledden were Rev. Dr. F. LaMont Henninger, '24, superintendent of the Harrisburg District, Methodist Church; Margaret Elizabeth Zinck, president of the SCA, and the Dickinson Choir.

Descendants of President Durbin on the campus for the occasion were, in addition to Mrs. Spencer: Mrs. Archibald G. Robertson, Richmond, Va., and Mrs. William Rossmassler, Princeton, N. J., great-granddaughters, and T. Gilman Spencer, Jr., Swarthmore, Pa., a great-grandson.

New Wedgwood Plate

A handsome Wedgwood service plate commemorating Joseph Priestley, discoverer of oxygen, and his connections with Dickinson has been issued by the College and is on sale at the Dickinson Bookstore at $3.54, tax included.

The 10-inch plate is queens ware, Gadroon shape and has as centerpiece a portrait of Priestley made from life by John Flaxman in 1779 in England. The sketch was used by the first Josiah Wedgwood in making a ceramic portrait which appears on the Priestley jasper ware medallion given by the College with its annual Award in Memory of Priestley.

Centerpiece of the plate is surrounded by stylized leaves and flowers, in tribute to Priestley's discovery of the functions of vegetation in the chemical balance of the atmosphere. Around the plate are drawings of some of the major pieces of Priestley apparatus long owned by the College. These include the burning gas, air gun and telescopes.

The plate edge also contains nine of the symbols of Priestley's most celebrated discoveries plus the name originally given each gas by the discoverer included in the design.

Since the publication of a story about the plate in the Chemical and Engineering News, a publication of the American Chemical Society, scores of orders have been received by the bookstore from all sections of the country.

Preacher Writes From Mine Pit To Pulpit

THE Rev. James M. Brennan, '00, of Curwensville, Pa., has published his first novel From Mine Pit to Pulpit, which is reviewed by Prof. Charles Coleman Sellers, of the College faculty.

A member of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church, he is well known to many Dickinsonians. He is a graduate of Dickinson Seminary, the Dickinson Preparatory School, the College in 1900 and Drew Theological Seminary in 1903. His son, John M. Brennan, Jr., graduated from the College in 1926.

James M. Brennan, '00, has just published an autobiography, From Mine Pit to Pulpit (Christopher Publishing House, $3.50), which adds another chapter to the annals of one of Dickinson's famous classes. It is the story, as its title suggests, of a rise from poverty, with all its restrictions, to a life of active service in the ministry. The author escaped from the gruelling labor of the mines by learning the trade of barber, and by the same skill he worked his way, steady and determined, through Pennington, Dickinson Seminary, Dickinson College and Drew. Then followed the years of leadership in the Methodist Church, with those frequent changes of pastorate which have had so large a part in bringing vigor both to the Church and to its ministry.

So many similar life histories have come from Methodist ranks in past generations that they are almost a distinctive American literary form. They are written with an engaging simplicity and directness. Passages of introspection are rare, and people and church play as large a part in the story as the author himself. From Mine Pit to Pulpit, like its predecessors, will be of lasting value as a forthright description of American life. The picture of Dickinson College days, too, is a very happy one, showing us, as it does, a boy whom all about him liked and trusted. We see, for instance, Dr. Landis lending him the money for a trip abroad without hesitation or security.

"He wore a Vandyke beard, and I think he was always pleased the way I trimmed it for him." Perhaps so, but it is clear enough that Landis' quick response had a far deeper feeling behind it than that. Perhaps the best of this book is that it is not only a vivid glimpse of American life, but of one individual enjoying that life to the full. "Years need not make one old," the author says, describing some of the adventures that followed his retirement. Years, lived as these have been, can certainly only have brought a younger, brighter, spirit.

Dine in Allentown

With 38 present, the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Lehigh Valley was held on April 20 at the Lehigh Valley Club in Allentown. An exceptionally fine dinner was served at $3 a plate.

Joseph G. Hildenberger, '33, '35L, president of the club and member of the Alumni Council, served as toastmaster. The Rev. M. F. Davis, '17, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church in Bethlehem, offered the invocation and pronounced the benediction.

William A. Steckel, '42, former vice-president, was elected president of the club, while Max I. Mechanic, '17, who had been secretary-treasurer for several years, was named vice-president. Mrs. Ralph H. Griesemer, the former Katherine E. Keller, '33, of 1421 Linden St., Allentown, Pa., was elected secretary-treasurer. The three named to the executive committee were Walter L. Sandercock, '31, J. W. Burkepile, Jr., '40, and Mrs. Thomas E. Weaver, the former Emma H. Brenneman, '26.

The speakers were Dean W. H. Hitchler of the Law School, President W. W. Edel and Vice-President Gilbert Malcolm. George Shuman, Jr., treasurer of the College, also attended the dinner and was introduced but did not speak.

New Jersey Club Plans Scholarship Endowment

THE recommendation of the committee that funds be raised for the permanent endowment of its scholarship was endorsed by the Dickinson Club of New Jersey at the annual dinner held in the William Pitt Hotel at Chatham on April 8, when there were 60 present.

In making the report of the Scholarship Committee, Charles S. VanAuken, '12, stated that the club had been giving scholarships of $150. The committee proposed that all funds raised above that amount be designated for permanent endowment and outlined in methods by which this could be realized. The members of the club heartily endorsed this proposal.

H. G. Kenagy, assistant to the president, made his maiden speech to a Dickinson Alumni Club. His theme, "Have you read your diploma?"

Before the opening of the speaking program, Thomas K. Hawbecker, of Maplewood, N. J., lived up to his reputation as an outstanding magician. Once again he mystified everyone in his audience in a masterful 10-minute performance.

Mrs. William Smethurst, the former Helen Weiner, '25, president of the club, acted as toastmaster. She presented the Honorable C. D. Speakman, '27, who is Superior Court Judge of New Jersey. Dr. Purman Shook, of Madison, offered the invocation.

Helen Douglas Gallagher, secretary of the General Alumni Association, was the first speaker and told of the work of the Association. Other speakers were Prof. B. D. James, director of admissions, and Vice-President Gilbert Malcolm.

Officers having been elected a year ago for a two-year term, there were no elections.

Baltimore Club Meets

The annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore was held at the Green Springs Inn on May 5 with 50 present. W. Gibbs McKenney, Jr., '39, ended a two-year term as president of the club, and acted as toastmaster. The Rev. Dr. E. Cranston Riggan, '23, offered the invocation.

Announcement was made by Catharine Eitemiller, '46, vice-president of the club and the president of the Mary Dickinson Club of Baltimore that a portrait of the late Mrs. Agnes Pettigrew Drayer, wife of S. M. Drayer, was being painted. The portrait will be presented to the College at the Alumni Luncheon on June 12 as the gift of the Mary Dickinson Club of Baltimore. It will be hung in Drayer Hall. The artist is Mr. L. M. Bahr, the husband of the former Florence E. Rieffe, '31.

The speakers at the dinner were Dean W. H. Hitchler, of the Law School, Prof.

Edgar Finck, President William W. Edel, and Vice-President Gilbert Malcolm. George Shuman, Jr., treasurer of the college, was introduced.

Homer L. Respass, '17, was elected president of the club; Kay Eitemiller was reelected vice-president; Wm. B. Suter, '52, who had been treasurer was elected vice-president, while Martha L. Weis, '53, was elected secretary and Theodore R. Bonwit, '53, was chosen as treasurer.

To Hold Exhibits

For the third consecutive year, the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen will hold its annual States Craft Fair and exhibitions at the College; July 29, 30 and 31, and August 1. Each year the Fair has brought to the campus many hundreds of visitors from all parts of the East. The Guild has 13 chapters and 1,000 members.

Retired Minister Celebrates His 95th Birthday

THE Rev. Alpheus S. Mowbray, of the Class of 1885, the oldest minister in the Baltimore Methodist Conference, celebrated his 95th birthday in December and the December 30 issue of the Times-Herald, of Washington, D. C., carried his photo and a feature article. That article in part read as follows:

He plans a quiet family reunion at his home, 2906 Fort Baker Dr. SE., where he lives with his daughter, Margaret, librarian at Anacostia High school. Joining in the celebration will be his three other children, Edwin, a retired school treasurer from New Jersey; Alpheus Jr., a retired banker from Wilmington, and Donald, a District banker.

Rev. Mowbray retired from the active ministry in 1926 after 47 years of preaching from two to four sermons every Sunday. However, he was recalled to duty a few months later and worked for five additional years as substitute pastor of Metropolitan Methodist church and Gorsuch church.

Alert and active despite his years, Rev. Mowbray still attends services every Sunday at Ryland Methodist church and "preaches at every opportunity."

Looking back over the years, Rev. Mowbray thinks more people go to church today than they did during the early years of his ministry, which started in 1883. However, he adds, religion has taken a different form to what it did three quarters of a century ago.

Rev. Mowbray attributes his long and active life to his vegetarian diet, which started 40 years ago, and to what he calls the "right attitude." He defined that attitude as being hopeful, cheerful and busy at all times.

Since his retirement from the ministry, he spends his days gardening, doing church work, and at the workbench where he builds anything from pulpits to furniture. Evidence of his carpenter-abilities is a one-room study he erected in his backyard.

Rev. Mowbray is a former pastor of Chevy Chase Methodist church and Brookland Methodist church. It was under his leadership that the parsonage and sanctuary of the latter church were built.

He served as secretary of the Wilmington Methodist conference for 13 years and was superintendent of the Wilmington district for six years. He also was secretary of the publishing board of the Methodist church in New York for 12 years.

He was transferred to the Baltimore conference in 1911. During his service in Washington, he was elected dean of the National Training School and served three years in that capacity.

To Represent College

Dr. F. Donald Dorsey, '18, prominent physician of Portland, Maine, will serve as the representative of Dickinson College at a celebration commemorating the 150th Anniversary of the founding of Hebron Academy at Hebron, Maine, on May 22.

Named To Judicial Council of Methodist Church

THE Rev. Dr. Lester A. Welliver, '18, president of Westminster Theological Seminary, Westminster, Md., has been named to fill a vacancy in the judicial council of the Methodist Church caused by the death of Dr. Walter A. Stanbury.

The judicial council which is known as Methodism's "supreme court" passes on the constitutionality of laws enacted by the general conference, as well as the official rulings of the bishops of the church. It is composed of 9 members representing all of the jurisdictions of Methodism.

Dr. Welliver has been president of Westminster Theological Seminary since 1943. Prior to that he served as superintendent of the Harrisburg district of the Central Pennsylvania Conference and as pastor of various churches in that Conference. He was elected a delegate to the General Conference of the church in 1940, 1948 and 1952.

Interested in education, he has been a member of the General Board of Education of the church since 1940 and is treasurer of the National Association of Methodist schools and colleges. He is a member of the executive committee of the Association of Methodist Historical Societies and president of the Historical Society of the Northeastern Jurisdiction.

In 1951, he was one of the representatives of American Methodism at the World Methodist conference held in Oxford, England.

The college conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity upon him in 1940. His son, Glenn E., was about to begin his studies at the college this year as a member of the junior class when he received notification that he had been awarded a Foreign Exchange Scholarship. He is now a student in Germany.

LESTER A. WELLIVER

Wins Dansforth Scholarship

Anne Louise Davey, '54, has been awarded a Dansforth Fellowship, carrying a $1,600 grant and traveling expenses for a year. She will graduate from the College on June 13. In August she will go to the American Youth Foundation's camp in Michigan for pre-school training and begin a 10 months' service in the Christian Association of the college or university, at least 1,000 miles from her home. Her assignment will be to assist the director of the Inter-Faith Program on the campus to which she is assigned.

Miss Davey is the daughter of George A. Davey, '24, and Mrs. Davey whose home is on Staten Island, N. Y.

At Kalamazoo Ceremony

Fred A. Lumb, '29, served as the representative of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Weimer K. Hicks as President of Kalamazoo College in Kalamazoo, Mich. on May 9. Fred is head of the Grand Rapids, Mich., office of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Named President of Large Chemical Company

The directors of Brown-Allen Chemicals, Inc., elected John B. Fowler, Jr., '34, as president last month to succeed John O. Ekblom, who becomes chairman of the Board.

Mr. Fowler is also president and chairman of the Board of the Standard Piezo Company of Carlisle, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Brown-Allen, manufacturers of quartz crystals and electronic products.

Fowler is a senior partner of Cohu & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, whose principal office is at One Wall Street, New York City. He resides and makes his business headquarters in Carlisle, Pa.

Fowler is also president of Mooreland Apartments, Inc., and Bellaire Service Stations, Inc., of Carlisle. He is a director of the Carlisle Deposit Bank & Trust Company, Selectronics, Inc., Mathews, Inc., Dean Phipps Stores, Inc., and Highway Transport, Ltd.

Heads New Church Program

The Rev. Robert J. McCloskey, '41, Canon of St. John's Cathedral of Jacksonville, Fla., was named in March to a newly created office of Diocese, Director of Christian Social Relations which has been established by the Annual Council of the Diocese of Florida.

Canon McCloskey went to St. John's Cathedral in 1951, where he was also on the staff of St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in Jacksonville and instructor of psychology and guidance counselor.

His work at the Cathedral has been on a pretty wide basis in the field of Christian Social Relations. This has included marriage counseling, family problems, work with alcoholics and allied problems. His new field will cover the area of North Florida, from Jacksonville to Pensacola and as far South as St. Augustine and Palatka-Gainesville areas. Officially, he will now become a Diocesan Canon rather than a Canon Residentiary.

JOHN B. FOWLER, JR.

Holds Junior Bar Office

Paul L. Jaffe, '48, has been appointed National chairman of the Committee on Lawyers Reference of the Junior Bar Association. He is associated with the Philadelphia firm of Wolf, Block, Schorr & Solis-Cohen. He has served as a member of the Executive Committee of the Philadelphia Junior Bar Associations and is a member of the Pennsylvania, Philadelphia and American Bar Associations.

As an officer of the nationally organized Junior Bar Conference, he will direct the activities of the conference in the field of lawyer reference.

Holds Junior Chamber

When a Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized in Carlisle in December, Dickinsonians were elected to head it. George W. Ahl, Jr., '50, who is associated with his father, George W. Ahl, '17, in mining enterprises, is the president; Wallace Wilson, '52, a vice-president, and Carroll Brehm, '50, and William T. Morris, '52L, directors.

Roster Lists 1,351 Names of Life Members

THE roster of Life Members of the General Alumni Association, published annually in the May number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS by direction of the Alumni Council, lists a total of 1,351 names on following pages. Thirty subscriptions were received since the publication of the February number to bring the total during the year to 103 and to raise the grand total from 1,248 to 1,351.

It can be noted that as there are about 7,200 living alumni about one out of five is a Life Member.

There has been a shake-up in class standings though for the fourth consecutive year the Class of 1950 is in top place with 53, a gain of four during the year, while runner-up 1927 added only one to take second place with 39. That class is being threatened as other classes are climbing upward. The Class of 1938 added four and is now third, while 1917 added one but dropped into the fourth slot.

The Class of 1929 added five and jumped from 10th place to a three-way tie with 1917 and 1939 all of which have 36 Lifers. The Class of 1935 gained three and with 35 moved from 8th place to the 7th slot. Then follow 1931, which gained two, with 34 and 1933, which stood pat, with 33. The Class of 1926 also stood pat and is now tied with 31 Lifers with 1930, 1941 and 1943, which are all steadily climbing to get into contention.

Though not yet in the top brackets, the Class of 1952 added the greatest number of Lifers during the year of any class. Twelve more members of that class are now Lifers to raise the total to 25. Keep going '52!

The first subscription in the new series came from Dr. W. Emory Hartman, who is now pastor of the Bexley Methodist Church, Columbus, O. He was formerly pastor of Allison Methodist Church, Carlisle, and later of Grace Methodist Church in Harrisburg.

A forty dollar check was then received from Mrs. Edward Davis, of Butler, Pa., to pay for Life Membership for her son, Alan J. Davis, '52, who is now serving with the Army in Germany.

On Washington's birthday a check was received from R. Wayne Foor, '34, who is an insurance adjuster and lives in Harrisburg.

The next subscription came from another insurance man, C. Ross Willis, '19. He is manager of the Harrisburg branch office of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company.

On the last day of February a subscription was received from Catherine Louise Zug, '50, of Carlisle. She is chief operating room nurse at the Carlisle Hospital.

On the first day of March a forty dollar check came from James A. Nickel, '51, of Duncannon, Pa.

Three subscriptions came the next day, when one was received from Mrs. Harold Sourbeer, the former Patricia Rupp, '46, of Progress, Pa. The other came from John H. Bonin, who graduated from the Law School in 1917 and is practicing law with offices at 505 Traders Bank Building, Hazleton, Pa. The third subscription came from Bernard Forcey, '20, '23L, who is a member of the faculty of Wesley Junior College, Dover, Del.

The next check came from the Rev. Robert Nelson Yetter, '47, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Hazleton, Pa. He became pastor there last October following his graduation from the Yale University Divinity School.

The next subscription came from Mrs. Irving N. Weed, Jr., the former Shirley

L. Tanner, '42, 42 Kent Road, White Plains, N. Y.

A few days later two more Lifers were enrolled when checks came from Dr. John A. Gulden, '24, of Port Lavaca, Texas, and Walter E. Smith, '34, abrasive engineer with the Norton Company in Detroit, Mich.

On the same day two subscriptions were received when one came from Joseph S. Ammerman, '48, '50L, of Curwensville, Pa., who began his term as district attorney of Clearfield County in January. The other was from Mrs. R. Max Gingrich, the former Joan C. Kline, '51, of Williamsport, Pa.

The next day a forty dollar check was received from Willard F. Slifer, Jr., '53, who is now serving with the U. S. Navy and is stationed at Portsmouth, Va.

The next subscription came from Harry Rubenstein, who graduated from the Law School in 1927, and is practicing law and living in Wilmington, Del.

A month before her marriage, Nancy E. Cressman, '52, completed a secretarial course at the Katharine Gibbs School, New York, in February and became a Lifer. She was married to Mr. Wesley Cashatt on April 24 and is living in New York City.

A forty dollar check then came from Kathryn B. Ward, '37. For the past four years she has been with the Military Assistance Advisory Group for Denmark, American Embassy, Copenhagen. When President Eisenhower was Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in Europe, he visited Copenhagen and she took his speech on her stenotype machine. She has visited 14 different European countries.

When he and his wife were attending the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Northern New Jersey on April 8, Louis A. Hartheimer, '48, of Hackensack, made a subscription for Life Membership.

The next subscription came from Mrs. Thomas E. Gontz, '48, of Harrisburg, Pa., who is the former Ruth Hober.

The next day a check for forty dollars arrived from Mrs. Lloyd M. Kingsley, the former Janet M. Smith, '29, of Titusville, Pa.

On the eve of the New York Club dinner, Mrs. L. Y. McAnney, of Bronxville, N. Y., became a Lifer. She is the former Margaret Thompson, '14, and is the wife of Lorraine Y. McAnney, '15.

When she went home from the dinner of the Dickinson Club of New York, Erma H. Slaughter, '37, wrote a letter to the editor enclosing her check for $40 for Life Membership.

The third subscription to be received following the dinner of the Dickinson Club of New York came from Dr. Janet A. Kelley, '24, member of the faculty of the City College of New York.

Another member of the Pedlow family became a Lifer, when a subscription was received from Mrs. H. J. Maginniss, of Mansfield, O. She is the former Elizabeth Pedlow, '29.

The first member of the Class of 1954 to become a Lifer is Anne Louise Davey, who will graduate from the College on June 13. While on a visit to the campus, her father, George A. Davey, '25, purchased a Life Membership to present to his daughter as a graduation gift.

When Burrell Ives Humphreys, '50, lawyer of Newark, N. J., sent in his $40 check it raised the total number of Lifers in 1950 to 53, increasing the lead over second place 1927 with 39.

The last subscription in the new series was made by Edna Eitemiller, '52, at the dinner of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore on May 5. She is a supervisor at the Hutzler Brothers Co. store in Baltimore.

Elected to Phi Beta Kappa

The four top-ranking seniors were elected to Phi Beta Kappa by Dickinson's Pennsylvania Alpha Chapter at the close of the first semester in February. They are Frank C. Oglesby, Bloomfield, N. J.; Jacqueline A. Smith and Margaret Elizabeth Zinck, both of Allentown, Pa., and Elizabeth A. Swaim, Dillsburg, Pa. Election of several additional members of the class will take place just before Commencement.

To Hold Summer Session

The first Summer School at the College in three years opens on June 14, the day after the 181st Commencement, and runs to September 3. The program set up by Dr. Frederic W. Ness, dean of the College, who is director of the Summer School, offers courses from 15 departments of the College and is designed for students of all colleges or universities who wish to enrich their regular winter study, accelerate work for the bachelor's degree or fill gaps in their college work.

Also offered are basic courses which will help high school graduates adjust to college standards and courses for secondary school teachers interested in earning certification credits. The first session will run to July 24, with the second session starting July 26.

Pay Tribute to Dr. Shilling

Headed by the Honorable J. Caleb Bogs, Governor of Delaware, 400 friends of Dr. John Shilling, '08, held a big party in Dover, Del., marking his retirement on his 70th birthday. It was a wholehearted celebration when he was presented with a Hamilton watch and a 21" RCA TV set.

The printed program was a testimonial which had been adopted by the State Board of Education on February 18 which was printed in part "That the State Board of Education call public attention to the contributions to Delaware education of Dr. John Shilling, who has served uninterruptedly as Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Secondary Education for 36 years. We commend him for his leadership in school legislation which led to the development of an educational system unique in these United States. We cherish our professional relationships with him because of his keen insight, his deep understanding, and his ability to see a problem clearly. We honor him for the stature he achieved as an educational leader; the esteem he commanded; and the extent and warmth of his personal friendship."

J. Ohrum Small, '50, was one of those in attendance. He is president of the Delaware State Board of Education.

Form Law Firm

John M. Urey, '48, Joseph S. Ammerman, '48, and Donald R. Mikesell, '50, announce their association for the general practice of law under the firm name of Urey, Ammerman and Mikesell in March. They have offices in the Clearfield Trust Company Building, Clearfield, Pa.

Serves as Delegate

Dr. Roy W. Mohler, '17, trustee of the College, was the representative of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Major General Edward Elliott MacMorland as president of the Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa., on May 1.

PERSONALS

1892

Mrs. Lula Prettyman, the wife of Virgil Prettyman died on January 10, 1954. Dr. Prettyman has been an invalid for over a year, after suffering a slight stroke, which has impaired his vision.

1896

Charles S. Jacobs celebrated his 81st birthday last January 14 and reports that he is still in first class condition, though he has "partially retired" from his advertising agency's business. He is planning to return for Commencement this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Merkel Landis, of Carlisle, who made a trip to South America early this year, will sail on June 6 for a tour of the British Isles and the continent.

George S. Williams, former Delaware motor vehicle commissioner, has been administrative assistant to U. S. Senator John S. Williams of Delaware since January 1947.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Brennan, the wife of the Rev. James M. Brennan of Curwensville, Pa., died on April 19 after suffering a heart attack.

1904

All plans are completed for the 50th reunion of the class to be held at Commencement on June 11, 12 and 13. Ivo V. Otto, chairman of the Reunion Committee, reports that he has received a fine reply to his letter and expects a good representation for the reunion.

1905

Claude M. Stauffer, who is in the real estate and insurance business in Bethlehem, continues his activities as a musical director.

Since his retirement in 1947 after more than 33 years as executive secretary of the Atlanta Y. M. C. A., William L. Beyer, Jr., has been serving as financial secretary and business manager for St. Mark Methodist Church in Atlanta.

1905L

Mrs. Mary Knisely Smith, wife of Paul G. Smith, president judge of the Dauphin County Courts, died on April 20 after a long illness.

1906

John Brown University conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology on Dayton E. McClain in January. He received an L.H.D. from the same university in 1950.

Miss Nell Stevens, who has been with the Pennsylvania State Library since her graduation from the College, holds the title of "General Librarian." She makes her home in Carlisle.

1908

On the occasion of his 74th birthday on March 24, Rev. J. Walter Skillington was honored at a testimonial to mark his golden anniversary in the ministry. He retired two years ago, but was called from his Altoona home to supply at Hastings, Pa., where the 50th anniversary was celebrated. His wife is the former Louetta Hartzell.

1912

Mrs. S. Walter Stauffer and her sister sailed on the S. S. America on April 23 for a European tour. Mrs. Stauffer is the wife of Congressman Stauffer, member of the Board of Trustees.

1914

Plans for the 40th reunion of the class have been completed. The members of the class will first attend the Alumni Luncheon on Saturday, June 12, and the class dinner will be held at Allenberry, Sunday, June 13.

1917

Earlier this year, Dr. Roy W. Mohler, Obstetrician and Gynecologist-in-Chief, was named chief of staff of Methodist Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa. He is a trustee of the College and received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in 1944.

1918

Mr. Frank Donald Dorsey, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. F. Donald Dorsey, Portland, Me., will be married on May 21 to Miss Lorna Payson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips M. Payson, of Cumberland Foreside, Me.

1919

Sylvester M. Evans has recently been made Director of the Patent Department of Monsanto Chemical Company, whose main office is located in St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Urie D. Lutz sailed earlier this month on the U. S. S. United States for a trip to the British Isles and the continent.

1920

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Shuman, Sr., of Colonial Park, are the proud grandparents of a son born to their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Shuman, Jr., Oak Park, Ill. His name is Frank Shuman, III. Their son is an electrical engineer with the public service of Chicago and graduated from Purdue University in 1950.

Mrs. Minnie Stoner Auker, of Mifflintown, Pa., widow of Reuben L. Auker and mother of Assemblyman Charles A. Auker, of Altoona, died suddenly at her home on March 2.

The Rev. Edward G. Latch, minister of Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Church in Washington, offered the invocation at the opening session of the 42d annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States on April 26.

Mrs. Alfred M. Chapman, of Washington Crossing, Pa., the former Sarah M. McCrea, was given the "Delval Salute" by The Trentonian on April 24. It is significant that a woman was chosen in the column usually heralding "the man of the week." She was acclaimed for her activities within the Episcopal orbit and for the signal honor of presiding over the Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church at a Boston convention which numbered some 1,000 delegates and visitors, and also for her devoted work in welfare and related agencies.

Dr. William K. McBride, chief surgeon of the Polyclinic Hospital in Harrisburg, sailed on May 2 to Europe. He will attend regional meetings of the American College of Surgeons in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Leeds, Longs, Paris, Lyons and Strassburg. When the meetings are over he will spend two weeks in Vienna, where he took special post-graduate work in surgery some years ago.

1926

Susan Smith, youngest daughter of Mrs. Harold G. Oerther, Morristown, N. J., will sail on July 31 to first spend a month with her uncle, Dr. James Reed and his family, before going to Germany, where she will teach conversational English for one year. She has just completed her freshman year at Drew and will enroll there again in the fall of 1955.

Patrician Milligan, daughter of John P. Milligan, who will graduate from Cornell University in June, has been granted a Ford Foundation Fellowship for the next academic year. She plans to do graduate work in elementary education at Cornell. She was "Miss Atlantic City" in 1952.

Dr. and Mrs. James M. Read, who are now in Geneva, Switzerland, announce the birth of a son, Edward Morton, on March 27.

Fred A. Miller is personnel director of the U. S. Rubber Co., Mishawaka, Ind.

Mrs. Lloyd R. Evarts, the former Verna Long, wrote that she cannot attend the 25th reunion because she is teaching in the junior high school at Vergennes, Vt. She tells that after teaching eight years she married and has two sons. When they were both in school she did substitute teaching for five years and last summer decided to teach full time again. She took a refresher course at the University of Vermont and has accepted a position teaching 7th graders. She plans to continue next year.

The Rev. Paul A. Friedrich and Mrs. Friedrich sailed from New York on February 4 on the S. S. Independence on an educational cruise to the Mediterranean, the Middle East, India and Ceylon. They visited 17 countries and returned to New York on April 10 after a trip of 27,000 miles. Their daughter Pauline is a freshman at the College this year.

John N. Hall, prominent businessman of Harrisburg, will complete a 13-week course this month in advanced management sponsored by Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. He is president of Hall's Motor Transit Co., Hall's Furniture Store and Susquehanna Equipment Corp. He also serves as a member of the Board of Trustees of Goucher College, the Dauphin County Historical Society and the Harrisburg Symphony Association.

1931

John O. Rupp, of Carlisle, the father of Major Robert O. Rupp, died on March 21. He had been employed custodian of Denny Hall for 11 years.

1933

Benjamin R. Epstein, national director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, has recorded for Edward R. Murrow's radio program, "This I Believe," and is scheduled for broadcast this spring. He has also been listed in the new addition of "Who's Who in America."

Last year the Rev. Clarence E. Miller became pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Newport, Pa., coming there from the First Lutheran Church in Cincinnati, Ohio. His wife is the former Naomi Gibson, '36. They have a daughter, Naomi Carol, born October 1941; a son, Paul Martin, born November 1943 and a daughter Lois Kathryn born October 1945.

J. Milton Davidson, who is serving as general chairman of the Steering Committee for the Alumni Annual Giving Fund, has been appointed assistant sales manager of Metal Processing Department at Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Davidson announced the birth of a son, John Milton Davidson, 3d, on March 27.

1934

All arrangements have been completed for the 20th reunion of the class to be held at Commencement June 11, 12 and 13. Harry Zug, chairman of the Reunion Committee, predicts a fine attendance at the reunion.

1935

Elaine Stradling Chamberlain and her husband have moved to 2431 Ellsworth St., Berkeley 4, Calif. She resigned her teaching position at Bound Brook High School, New Jersey, when her husband was appointed traffic manager for Pabco Products, Inc., whose head office is in San Francisco. They are living at the home of her husband's parents until they secure a home. Last summer she was one of 25 French teachers who participated in the summer seminar in France on a Fulbright Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Finney sailed on the U. S. S. America on April 23 for a month's tour of England and the continent.

OBITUARY

1881—Dr. Persifor M. Cooke, who was the oldest living alumnus at the time of his death, died at his home in Denver on March 31. He was president of the Dickinson Club of Colorado and a Life Member of the General Alumni Association.

Born on a farm near Gettysburg on December 25, 1860, he was 93 years of age last Christmas Day. Dr. Cooke grew up in Carlisle where his father, Dr. William H. Cooke, was a physician. He graduated from Hahnemann Medical College in 1886 and moved to Denver in 1888 and practiced medicine there until 1899. He became associated with the Denver National Bank that year and served in various capacities with it until retiring in July 1929.

A deeply religious man, he was a member of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church. He was also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Denver Museum of Natural History for 45 years; a member of the University Club, of the Denver City Club and of the American Institute of Banking. He served as a member of the Colorado State Legislature in 1896-97.

In 1892 he married Miss Annie Shields, who died in 1932. He was married to Miss Helen Archbold in 1935 and she died in 1948. A son, Stanley, was lost in World War I, by the torpedoing of the U. S. Navy boat to which he was assigned.

His brother, Maurice L. Cooke, Philadelphia, is a nationally known engineer who is serving as advisor to President Eisenhower on Power and Water Questions.

1893, 94L—William M. Curry, a member of the Lackawanna Bar for 59 years, died on February 7 in Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, after an illness of 18 months.

Born in Danville, Pa., on November 25, 1870, he prepared for college at Danville Academy. He graduated from the college in 1893 and the Law School in 1894. That year he was admitted to the Cumberland, Montour and Lackawanna County Bars.

Always interested in Dickinson affairs, he was a Life Member of the General Alumni Association and active in the affairs of his fraternity, Phi Kappa Psi. He was a regular attendant at Dickinson alumni affairs both in the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton area and in gatherings at Carlisle.

A distinguished and busy lawyer, he always had time to devote to the Elm Park Methodist Church, Scranton, and served for many years as treasurer and at the time of his death was a member of its Board of Trustees. He was also a member of the Lackawanna County Historical Society, Peter Williamson Lodge of Masons, Keystone Consistory and the Y. M. C. A.

He is survived by his wife, the former Louise Albro, whom he married on October 10, 1910, and by several nieces and nephews.

1893—No previous report has been made of the death nearly a year ago on May 17, 1953 of the Rev. George Wilbur Shipley, D.D., of Washington, D. C. He was a minister of the Presbyterian Church.

Born on November 27, 1868 in Harmon, Maryland, he attended Wilmington Conference Academy. After two years at the college he withdrew to enter Union Theological Seminary at Hampden-Sidney, Va. For some years he served as a minister in the Methodist Church and in 1896 became pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Laurel, Md. He was a member of Theta Delta Chi and of Belles Lettres Society.

1894—The Rev. Norton T. Houser, clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church, died following a stroke in Stroudsburg, Pa., on January 7.

Born in Stroudsburg on November 3, 1872, he prepared for college at Hacketts-town Seminary. Upon his graduation from the college, he taught and became principal and then superintendent of schools in Dunmore, Pa., and received his A.M. from the college in 1897. He entered General Theological Seminary and received his S.T.D. degree there in 1902. For years he served as rector of St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal Church in Blossburg, Pa., and was later rector of Christ Church, Arnot, Pa.

At Dickinson he became a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

He is survived by his widow, the former Eleanor Ruddle, who now lives at 16 South St., East Mauch Chunk, Pa.

1897—James Gelwix Miller, who retired last June after 50 years as Registrar of Mercersburg Academy, died on March 22 in the Chambersburg Hospital. The day before his death he attended church services at the Presbyterian Church.

Born in Pleasant Hall, Pa., on August 31, 1895, he prepared for college at Dickinson Preparatory School and received his A.B. in 1897. From then until 1901 he taught at Mattawan, N. J., and East Stroudsburg State Normal College. From 1901 until 1904 he was head of the mathematics department of Mercersburg Academy and from 1904 until 1907 he was co-principal of the Birmingham School, now the Grier School for Girls at Tyrone, Pa. In 1907 he returned to Mercersburg as Registrar and held that position until his retirement last year.

Active in the affairs of the Presbyterian Church at Mercersburg, he taught the Men's Bible Class for many years and was a ruling elder and clerk of the Session.

He was a member of George Washington Lodge No. 143, F. and A. M. of Chambersburg and also of the Royal Arch Chapter and Knights Templar Commandery there. He also held memberships in the Cum Laude Society of Mercersburg Academy; the Avon Club of Mercersburg and the Kittochtinny Historical Society.

In 1904 he married Maude Moore, Lemont, Pa., who preceded him in death in 1945. One son, James Moore Miller, of Trenton, N. J., survives and also his daughter-in-law and two grandchildren.

1903L—Frank J. Cannon, of Hazleton, Pa., died at his home there on April 16 after seven months illness.

A practicing lawyer for 48 years, he was a former city magistrate, a city alderman for 58 years and former Luzerne county assessor. While a student of the Law School he played on the football and baseball teams and later played with the Harrisburg team of the old Tri-State League.

He is survived by his wife, two sisters and a brother.

1912—Ernest H. Sellers, mechanical engineer of the Atomic Energy Commission Section of the duPont Company, died unexpectedly at his home in Wilmington, Del., on April 15.

Born in Huntsdale, Pa., on April 19, 1889, he was the son of the late Elmer E. and Annie Ernst Sellers, who early moved to Carlisle. In 1908, he graduated from the Carlisle High School and from the college with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1912. He received his Master's Degree in Mechanical Engineering from Lehigh University in 1914 and then entered the employ of the duPont Company. He would have retired on May 1.

Always actively interested in Dickinson affairs, he was vice-president of the Dickinson Club of Delaware at the time of his death. At Lehigh, he became a member of Tau Beta Pi Fraternity. He was vice president of the trustees of West Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, when he died.

His only survivor is his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Wierman Sellers, whom he married in Carlisle on September 3, 1917. He was a brother of the late Ruth Sellers Maxwell, '15.

Interment was made in Westminster Cemetery, Carlisle.

1918—Edward A. Brady, superintendent of the Public Schools in Minersville, Pa., died of a heart attack nearly a year ago on July 12, 1953.

Born in Minersville on December 7, 1892, he graduated from Keystone State Normal School in 1911. He received his A.B. from the college in 1918 and an M.A. from Bucknell University in 1936. He also did graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh, University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University.

He first was principal and then superintendent of the Minersville schools and served a total of 25 years there. He became superintendent in 1941. He was also a member of the Minersville Regional Planning Commission and a member of district and state Educational Associations. He was a past president of the Rotary Club and chairman of the Salvation Army Committee and a director of the First National Bank. A Catholic, he was a member of SAE fraternity, Kappa Phi Alpha and of Skull and Key.

He is survived by his widow, Irma Kelly, and their four sons. Three of his sons, Lt. R. Edward Brady, Ensign M. Joseph Brady and Ensign Frank T. Brady are serving in the Navy, while Daniel W. Brady is chemist associated with the Trojan Powder Company in Allentown.

1919—Dr. W. Forwood Evans Hanby died at his home, Saw Mill Farm, Hartville, Pa., after a 5 months illness on March 9. He is survived by his wife, the former Harriet Burt Bolton, and their son, William F. E. Hanby, Jr., a pre-medical of the college and a member of the junior class.

Born on June 9, 1892 at Chester, Pa., Dr. Hanby graduated from Conway Hall, attended the college for two years and then received his M.D. degree from Hahnemann Medical College. Before he entered Hahnemann, he served as a Pilot Observer in England during World War I as a 1st Lt. attached to the British Air Force.

In 1923 he was chief resident physician at Abington Memorial Hospital and in 1932 studied at the University of Vienna. Later he was an associate at the Wills and Episcopal Hospitals. He was a member of the staff of the Crozier Hospital, Chester, Pa., and Urological Surgeon on the staff of Abington Hospital.

A member of Phi Delta Theta, he also had memberships in the American Medical Association, the Montgomery County Medical Society and War Birds.

1922—The Rev. George F. Hess, pastor of the Miller Memorial Church in Philadelphia, died on April 16 in Lankenau Hospital, where he had been a patient for four days.

He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage after conducting the Palm Sunday services at his church.

Born in Shenandoah, Pa., on November 17, 1899, he graduated from the high school there and after two years at Dickinson entered Drew Theological Seminary. Upon his graduation he entered the Philadelphia Conference and served various charges of that conference during his ministry.

He was a member of the Union League and a former chaplain of Mozart Lodge No. 436, F. and A. M. He was also a member of the Lambskin Club and of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity.

He is survived by his wife, the former Elva Jones; three sisters and two brothers.

Following Masonic and funeral services at the church where he was pastor, interment was made in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Shenandoah, Pa.

1927L—W. Norman White died in the Memorial Hospital, Wilmington, Del., where he had been a patient for several weeks, on February 17 at the age of 49 years.

He was an outstanding defensive halfback on the football team in 1924 and 1925 and had been a star at the Wilmington high school. He was a salesman for the Dow Supply Company of Cleveland, O.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Merle Whitely White and four children who reside in Baltimore and also by his twin brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Alan White of Bellefonte, Pa.

1943—Dr. Alfred F. Morin, dentist of West Warwick, R. I., died of a heart attack in the Kent County Hospital there on January 9.

Born on March 27, 1920 at Waterbury, Conn., he was a graduate of the West Warwick High School. He received B.S. degree from the college in 1943 and the D.M.D. degree from Tufts University Dental School in 1949. His education was interrupted with service with the paratroopers in World War II. Following his graduation from the college, before he entered Tufts, he was a teacher of physical education and head coach of football at the West Warwick High School for two years. At the time of his death, he was director of the Joseph Samuels Dental Clinic at the Rhode Island Hospital. He also did graduate work at Rhode Island University; Providence College and Boston University.

In October 1952, he presented a paper on Child Dental Care at the annual convention of American Public Health Association in Cleveland, O. He was also on the staff of the Rhode Island Hospital and on the staff of the Kent County Memorial Hospital.

A member of SAE fraternity, he was also a member of the West Warwick Country Club, Psi Omega Dental Fraternity, Local and National Health Associations.

He is survived by his wife, the former Norma Quinn, and their four children, Bruce, born April 15, 1945; Stephen, born December 14, 1948; Pamela, born April 13, 1951 and Rebecca, born April 10, 1953.

1945—Capt. Richard R. Galt, veteran jet specialist, was killed at Eglin Air Force Base, Florida, on October 17, 1953, while testing the Army Air Force's latest jet fighter bomber, the F84F on a highly secret mission.

After two years as a Dickinson student, he graduated from West Point and entered the Air Force. He got into jets early in his career, served in Okinawa and later in Japan and Korea, and became a jet specialist. He volunteered as a test pilot and would have become a major at 30 years of age if he had lived to complete the testing of the F84F fighter bomber.

He was born February 3, 1925 in Cario, Egypt, where his father, Dr. Russell Galt, served as Dean of the American University there. He attended elementary school there. About 15 years ago, his father was appointed Dean at Susquehanna University and Capt. Galt later entered the Mt. Herman Preparatory School in Massachusetts. He was graduated from West Point in 1946 and in 1951 entered the Air Force Institute of Technology at Dayton, Ohio. After completing the course of study, he was promoted to the rank of captain.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Caroline Galt, formerly of Forest Hills, N. Y., and their three children, and also by his parents and a sister, Mrs. J. V. Alexander, of Caripito, Venezuela.

Interment was made in the U. S. Military Academy Cemetery at West Point.
