DECEMBER, 1954

Alumni Annual Giving Off To A Flying Start

WITH $4,986 contributed up to December 10, the 1954-55 Alumni Annual Giving Fund campaign is off to a flying start in an effort planned to surpass last year's high record when 1,253 gave $41,616.06. It will close June 15, 1955.

Impetus was given to the current campaign when a number of class agents and other fund workers met with the Alumni Council at Homecoming. Following the dinner meeting of the Council, the workers heard the outline of plans for the new drive from J. Milton Davidson, '33, General Chairman of the Alumni Annual Giving Fund.

By action in the joint meeting the "One Hundred Club" and "The Faithful Fifties" are now a part of the annual effort. A gift of $100, or more, will list the name of a donor as a member of the "One Hundred Club" while an annual gift of $50 qualifies a donor for "The Faithful Fifties." No change is contemplated in the July report of the fund when the names of donors will be listed by classes without amounts of individual contributions being published. There will be listings, however, of the "One Hundred Club" membership and also that of "The Faithful Fifties."

Several checks have been received indicating that many alumni are likely to $1 a year or some multiple of that prefer to follow the thought of giving amount for each year out of college.

"No gift is too small—and no gift is too large" is one of the slogan's in the present effort. It may also be noted that donors may designate gifts for the building program of the college. Last year about $1,900 was so ear-marked and has been set aside for the new student center, now in the early planning stage.

The first piece of literature in the new campaign was contained in the Report of the President, which was mailed to alumni and friends by President William W. Edell late in November. This was followed by a letter mailed with a subscription card and return envelope by Vice President Gilbert Malcolm, who is also Alumni Secretary. Other letters and literature will follow before the class agents swing into action in February.

Each class agent at the dinner meeting was given a booklet containing the calendar for 1954-55 and outlining the work to be done. These plans were explained by Milt Davidson before a brief round table discussion session ended the meeting.

When he read the story in the October Bulletin, Dr. George Henry Ketterer, '08, who is secretary of the Board of Trustees, sent his check to qualify for the "One Hundred Club," if it was established. When it was approved he became the No. 1 member of that new group.

Set Summer School Dates

Dates of the 1955 Summer School at the College have been announced by Dean Frederic W. Ness, who again will serve as director. The first session will run from June 20 to July 27 and the second term from August 1 to September 1. Attendance is open to all students in good academic standing from any accredited college or university, public school teachers seeking to earn additional credits toward certification and a limited number of high school graduates. An attractive brochure listing courses and other information has been prepared and is available upon application.

MORGAN HALL
New Dormitory for Men Now Being Erected on Rush Campus.

Start Construction of Morgan Hall On Rush Campus

AN INFORMAL PHOTOGRAPH OF DR. J. H. MORGAN TAKEN IN 1938

IMMEDIATELY following ground breaking ceremonies on November 11, a bulldozer swung into action and since then work has progressed rapidly on the construction of Morgan Hall, the new dormitory for men now being erected on the Benjamin Rush Campus.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees in Philadelphia on December 4 a committee was named to select the name for the new building. Several names were considered by this committee and it was unanimously decided to call it Morgan Hall to honor the late President James Henry Morgan, who by the chairman of the committee was called "the saviour of the College."

The Spera Construction Company of Harrisburg was the low bidder for the new dormitory, which is being financed under a grant through the College Housing Division of the Federal Housing Authority totalling $580,000. In addition the College will pay for the furnishings and also for the landscaping.

The Government loan will be amortized over a period of 40 years with an interest charge of $3\frac{1}{4}\%$ from the room rentals of students. The contractor expects the dormitory will be ready for use at the opening of the next college year in September, 1955.

Through 65 years before his death on October 17, 1939, Dr. Morgan held some relationship to the College of which he was three times president. He entered the College as a student in the fall of 1874 and graduated as the Latin salutatorian in 1878. After four years as a teacher in Pennington Seminary and Rugby Academy, he returned to Carlisle to be principal of the newly established Dickinson Preparatory School. Two years later he was named adjunct professor of Greek in the College and in 1890 he was elected a full professor and continued in this position until his election as president in 1915.

Before that election he had been assistant librarian from 1884 to 1893 and then librarian until 1900. He was a member of the first Board of Deans upon its creation by President George Edward Reed in 1892, then chairman of the Board in 1896 until 1903 when he was named Dean of the College.

In 1914, Dr. Morgan was named Acting President of the College following the resignation of Dr. Eugene Allen Noble and the next year he was elected President at the request of the faculty.

Taking over the administration at a time when the Trustees were seriously considering liquidating the affairs of the College, Dr. Morgan faced seemingly unsurmountable tasks. The debt had mounted to $136,000, a staggering sum in that day. Professors were underpaid and often salary payments could not be made when due. Student enrollment had dropped and buildings greatly needed repair. Fourteen years later when he tendered his resignation in 1928, there was no debt, the endowment more than trebled, the faculty had been increased and salaries greatly raised. The restoration of Old West beginning with the creation of Memorial Hall had begun, East College was renovated, the campus beautified and the construction of the Alumni Gymnasium started. The enrollment was the largest in the history of the College up to that time.

When his successor President Mervin G. Filler died suddenly in 1931, the Trustees recalled Dr. Morgan from retirement and he served as President for nine months. Two years later he was back in the President's chair following the term of President Karl T. Waugh and he filled the post until 1934 when the present Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, '17, began his term as the President of the College.

From 1934 until his death in 1939, Dr. Morgan lived in retirement at his home in Carlisle. During his first retirement he wrote "The History of Dickinson College," which was published in 1933. In those years he served as a Trustee of the College and mellowing in age never lost the charm of the name used by countless Dickinsonians, "Jim Henry."

Honored on Retirement

G. Harold Baker, '11, was one of four civilian employees honored at a ceremony held in the office of the Commanding General of the Aberdeen Proving Ground on October 29. He had been a technical writer for the Ordnance School after being employed by Development and Proof Services there. He assisted in the editing of special texts prepared for the Extension Training Division.

During World War I, in 1917, he served as a 1st Lt. in one of the early Ordnance schools and later became Provost Marshal of the post after organizing the first MP Company there. After his discharge he played a major role in the first National Guard Company in Harford County, Md.

In 1940 he returned to Federal employment after a period of work with his family's canning business.

A trustee of the college, he has been a member of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Aberdeen, where he lives with his wife, the former Miss Louise Lockhard. They have three sons, George, Jr., Jim and Barry.

A New Church Post

After nearly three years as minister of education at Plymouth Congregational Church, Seattle, Wash., the Rev. John H. Gibson, '47, has accepted a call to the same office on a state wide scale for the Washington Congregational Christian Conference. The new ministry will become effective February 1.

A Pennsylvanian, the Rev. Mr. Gibson was graduated from the college with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1947. He received his Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree at Boston University in 1950. His wife is the former Margaret Botwright, '49. They have two children and will continue to make their home in Seattle.

Council Studies Directory Plans and Activities

THE Alumni Council at its Homecoming meeting on November 5 called upon the Board of Trustees for a study of Dickinson's intercollegiate athletic policies and speeded plans for financing and distributing the forthcoming new edition of the directory of living alumni.

At the best attended of all its meetings, the Council also endorsed the 1954-55 Alumni Annual Giving Fund campaign plans as set up by the Fund's Steering Committee and outlined in detail by J. Milton Davidson, '33, Fund chairman for the second consecutive year.

Seventy-five Council members, Alumni Club representatives, class agents and a number of Trustees and Alumni Trustees were present. The meeting, at which C. Wendell Holmes, '21, president, presided, followed a dinner in the recreation room of Drayer Hall.

Copies of the new alumni directory will be mailed to all life and annual members of the General Alumni Association, the Council decided on the recommendation of a special committee on financing and distribution, Joseph G. Hildenberger, '33, chairman. It is the hope that all persons receiving these mailed copies will send back checks for $2 covering bills in that amount to be enclosed with the copies. The directory, of course, will be available to all other interested persons upon order.

Total cost of the directory will be between $5,000 and $6,000 and financing is a serious problem, Hildenberger reported. The College will be asked to advance the necessary funds, to be repaid out of sale of copies. The new directory will have three listings of alumni—by class alphabetically and geographically.

That many alumni are seriously concerned over the effect on the College of its long-standing policy of athletic de-emphasis was apparent in a long discussion of the sports situation at Dickinson. Paul L. Hutchison, '18, an Alumni

Trustee and former president of the Alumni Council, introduced the subject. The poor record in major sports, he said, is having an adverse psychological effect upon students and alumni by producing a spirit of defeat and indifference. The correction of such a situation should deeply concern the Council, which is the executive body of the General Alumni Association, and the Board of Trustees, he felt.

The general feeling seemed to be that Dickinson should have teams that are able to meet opponents on even terms and that this can be done without lowering admission requirements or compromising the high academic standing of the college.

Declaring that consistently poor teams have hurt the undergraduate morale, Judge Robert E. Woodside, '26, a Trustee and father of two young Dickinsonians, one of whom is a varsity football player, said Dickinson is now seeing the evils of underemphasis. He suggested a middle of the road policy in athletics.

One educator on the Council said that better teams will help student recruitment and that fine high school athletics who meet the best Dickinson standards in character and scholarship can be found. Another said that a successful sports program is essential to student and alumni spirit. A suggestion was made that "softer" schedules might be the answer.

The Council recommended on Hutchison's motion that the Alumni Trustees advise the Board of Trustees that the Council is "seriously concerned" with the athletic situation and feels that present policies are not to the advantage of the College and desires the board to make a study of the entire intercollegiate sports program at Dickinson. Alumni Trustees on the board, in addition to Hutchison, are Dr. Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., '35, and Dr. J. Watson Pedlow, '29, and Judge John M. Klepser, '24.

Life Membership Total Rises to 1380

WITH the receipt of 11 subscriptions since the publication of the September number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, there are now 1,380 names enrolled in the roster of Life Members of the General Alumni Association.

The first subscription in the new series came from the Rev. Louis E. Young, '38, Methodist minister in Hackensack, N. J. He is past president of the Dickinson Club of Northern New Jersey. His wife is the former Jean A. Lapple, '39.

A few days later a $40 check was received from Dr. Walter P. Bitner, '35, who is in the practice of radiology in Harrisburg and lives in Camp Hill, Pa.

The next check came from Dr. Henry F. Graham, noted physician of Brooklyn, N. Y. A few days ago the College conferred the degree of Doctor of Science upon him.

William H. McInroy, '47, teacher in the high school at Canton, Pa., was the next name enrolled. His wife is the former Joan Thatcher, '46.

Two more of last June's graduates are now Lifers. Edward M. Goldberg, '54, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Howard J. Kline, '54, now a first year student in the New York Medical College at Flower Hospital, N. Y., are the sixth and seventh Lifers of the Class of 1954.

About a week before his discharge from the Army, Sgt. David R. Harkins, '52, who was then with the 6th Machine Records Unit at Fort Meade, Md., sent in his subscription for Life Membership. He is now at his home in Lansdowne, Pa.

The next $40 check came from Miss Rachael S. Beam, '14, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Then came the $40 check of Albert V. Zimmerman, '21, of Alexandria, La., who was engaged in the lumber business in Louisiana before his retirement in 1950.

A few days after the death of Hamilton H. Herritt, '25, on November 22, one of his friends sent in a check for $40 to enroll his name as a Life Member of the General Alumni Association.

The last subscription came from W. Barton Wise, '16, who lives in Maplewood, N. J., and is vice president of the American Re-Insurance Company with offices at 99 John St., New York City.

Life membership costs $40 and may be paid in one payment or four annual $10 payments. Checks should be made payable to Dickinson College and sent to THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa. Life membership carries a life subscription to the magazine and ends the payment of annual dues.

Who Wrote A Check?

Check No. 972, dated June 26, 1954 made payable to the order of the DICKINSON ALUMNUS in the amount of $2.00 and drawn on the Camp Curtin Trust Company of Harrisburg, has been received. However, the maker failed to sign the check.

The bank has about 8,000 accounts and no employee was able to identify the writing, so it has been impossible to find the maker.

Will the maker speak up and get credit for paying annual dues?

Represents Dickinson

Dr. Lewis H. Chrisman, '08, served as the delegate of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Dr. David K. Allen as president of Davis and Elkins College on October 26.

Dr. Chrisman is head of the department of English at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W. Va. He is now writing the articles on the International Lessons for the new Methodist publication, Mature Years. He has been a staff writer for the Methodist Church School Publications for 20 years.

Bequests Create Two New Prizes

PROVISION for an oil portrait of her husband and two new prizes were contained in the will of the late Mrs. Helen Burns Norcross, '12, who died more than a year ago on June 11, 1953. She was at one time the college librarian and later Dean of Women.

Her will states that the bequests be made as memorials to her husband and parents.

The memorial to her parents is contained in the provision of the will which reads: "The Joseph Middleton and Isabell Mullin Burns Memorial Prize of $50 annual income from $1,000, the contribution of their daughter, Mrs. Helen Burns Norcross, Class of 1912 and former dean of women. This award is to be given annually to the woman student who attains the highest scholastic average during the sophomore year."

Mr. Joseph M. Burns, the father of Mrs. Norcross, was serving as superintendent of Grounds and Buildings of the college at the time of his death. He had held that position for several years.

The other prize is established and the statement of the bequest reads as follows: "The Wilbur Harrington and Helen Burns Norcross prize of $50 created in the will of Helen Burns Norcross, former dean of women, the annual income from a fund of $1,000, in memory of her husband, Professor Wilbur Harrington Norcross, head of the Psychology Department from 1916 to 1941, to be awarded for excellency in Psychology during the junior year."

The paragraph of the will relating to the portrait of Professor Norcross reads as follows: "In addition, an oil portrait of my husband, Professor Wilbur Harrington Norcross, to be presented to Dickinson College providing no other portrait has been given previously. All arrangements are to be made by my daughter, Mrs. Isabel Norcross Hanson and I prefer a duplication of the oil portrait in my possession with the additional doctor's academic gown and hood of Johns Hopkins University."

The two memorial prizes will be awarded for the first time at the Commencement Exercises next June.

Receives Doctorate

James H. Soltow, '48, member of the history department of Hunter College, in New York City, has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in History by the University of Pennsylvania.

His dissertation, "Manufacturing in Norristown, Pa., in the 20th Century," is a part of the detailed study of that community undertaken by the University of Pennsylvania's Behavioral Research Council. This interdisciplinary project has been supported by a grant from the Ford Foundation.

During the past summer, Dr. Soltow conducted a study of the use of business history by business, under a special fellowship granted by the National Records Management Council, a non-profit organization which provides research and advisory services for business and government.

Dr. Soltow's wife, the former Martha Jane Stough, '46, and daughter of the late Prof. Mulford Stough, is in charge of the social science division of the Hunter College library. Pratt Institute awarded her the degree of Master of Library Science last year.

A Rush Descendent

The Altoona Mirror carried a story telling of the 99th birthday observed by Mrs. Ellen Miles of Tyrone, Pa. The paper stated that she is one of the direct descendents of Dr. Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, who was one of the founders of the college.

Mrs. Miles was born at Bald Eagle, a daughter of Thomas Woods and Susan Rush.

Elected President of Lycoming College

THE Rev. D. Frederick Wertz, '37, a district superintendent of the Methodist Church and a former pastor of the Allison Memorial Methodist Church, in Carlisle, will succeed another Dickinsonian, Dr. John W. Long, '07, as president of Lycoming College next July 1. Lycoming is located in Williamsport, Pa., and has 700 students.

Dr. Long will become president emeritus upon his retirement on June 30 after 34 years as head of the institution. He became president of Dickinson-Williamsport Seminary in 1920 and under his leadership it was expanded into a junior college and then six years ago to a full four-year college.

Rev. Wertz was elected to the presidency last October 28 by the Lycoming trustees. The college is closely related to the Methodist Church.

The president-elect is 38 years old and was born in Newport, Pa., the son of Jesse and Ada Barrett Wertz. After graduating from Dickinson in 1937 he attended the Boston University School of Theology, earning the degrees of bachelor and master of sacred theology.

He began his ministry in 1940 at Doylestown, in Franklin County, Pa., and was assigned to the Stewartstown Church in 1943, to the Camp Curtin, Harrisburg, church in 1946 and to Carlisle in 1949. Throughout the four years of his ministry at Allison Methodist Church he worked closely with the College in furthering its religious program for students. He was also very active in civic affairs in Carlisle.

In 1938 he married Elizabeth Rowe, a graduate of Juniata College, and they have four children, Elizabeth, Donna, Joan and Robert. The family have lived in Williamsport since Rev. Wertz's appointment to the district superintendency in May, 1953, at which time he was pastor in Carlisle.

He is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity and a Mason.

D. FRED WERTZ

Math Teacher Ordained

Harold W. Keller, '23, of Trenton, N. J., who has been teaching school for 33 years, received his final ordination of Elder in the Methodist Church on September 26. He was ordained at the closing session of the New Jersey Conference at Ocean City, N. J., by Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, '17, and Marvin A. Franklin. His sponsors were Dr. Edwin Forrest Hann, '01, and Dr. Carl W. Reamer.

The Rev. Mr. Keller received his local preacher's license in 1947 and has supplied many churches in the Trenton District. He has been assigned to his fourth year at Linvale Methodist Church near Trenton, N. J.

A school teacher for 33 years, he has been teaching mathematics at Neshaminy High School, Langhorne, Pa. He is also active in Boy Scout work.

In the summer of 1953 he married the former Grace William, of Hackettstown, N. J., who has also been a teacher for many years and is teaching in her husband's school. The couple moved in October to 6 Morris Circle, Trenton, N. J.

The Hydrogen Bomb Raises Many Questions

JAMES R. SHEPLEY, '39, chief of the Washington Bureau of Time since 1948, and the Pentagon correspondent for Time, Mr. Clay Blair, Jr., are the co-authors of the volume "The Hydrogen Bomb" which raised "some troublous questions" and created quite a controversy when it appeared in October.

The Wall Street Journal declared that it raised the troublous questions and said "the greatest of these is whether the secrecy which surrounds atomic energy in the name of security did not for four years make the nation insecure." The authors say that it did.

The United Press carried a story in October that "Chairman Lewis L. Srauss of the Atomic Energy Commission tried to suppress the book because it accuses Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and some others of delaying development of the H-bomb." This article also quoted Mr. Shepley as saying that "Strauss' motives were of the highest because Russia would have had a monopoly on the H-bomb without his efforts."

In a letter to the Editor, Mr. Shipley wrote "The book has been described as controversial in some of the public prints, and in even stronger language in some academic circles. I am rather gratified that the outcry has been confined to those who, rightly or wrongly, feel themselves under attack, and to their immediate special pleaders. The only exception to this generalization, I believe, is Andre Vishinsky, who didn't like it either in a speech he made at the U. N. yesterday (October 11), defending the Soviet position on efforts to control atomic energy."

The review of Dr. E. A. Vuilleumier, Head of the Department of Chemistry, follows:

The Hydrogen Bomb, by James Shepley and Clay Blair, Jr., David McKay, Publisher, 3.00.

"He attended Dickinson College,"

Jim Shepley's author's sketch proclaims, for all the world to see, and an autographed copy is being archived in the College Library, in the room in which the literary opuses of Dickinsonians are enshrined.

Since his Dickinson College days Shepley has gotten around a bit. He was correspondent for the Pittsburgh Press in 1937, and was Pennsylvania legislative correspondent for the United Press Associations from 1937 to 1940, and was Washington correspondent for the United Press from 1940 to 1942. He joined Time magazine in 1942. He was a war correspondent for Time and Life from 1942 to 1944 in the China-Burma-India Theater, S. W. Pacific Theater, E. T. O.

Shepley served as captain in the General Staff Corps, attached to the office of the Chief of Staff, General George C. Marshall, during 1945 and 1946. As such he was a staff officer at the Potsdam Conference in 1945, collaborated on General Marshall's official report of World War II, and served as attache to General Marshall in his role as presidential envoy to China in 1946. He was Time's foreign-policy correspondent in Washington from 1946 to 1948. He has been chief of the Washington Bureau of Time Incorporated since 1948.

The Shepley-Blair book has been widely reviewed, and has been the subject of much controversy. "Everything about this story is gigantic—the struggles it relates, the drama it unfolds, and above all, its implications for our national survival." To appreciate the technical angles of the hydrogen bomb requires a chemistry or physics major background. The book, however, is not addressed to such a clientele, primarily, or perhaps at all, and can be followed suspensively even by the well-tempered Dickinsonian who in his day managed to by-pass the portals of Tome Scientific Building.

Dickinsonians Win And Lose in November Elections

ROBERT E. WOODSIDE

JAMES M. QUIGLEY

HEADED by the sweeping victory of Judge Robert E. Woodside, '26, '28L, Dickinsonians won and lost at the polls in the November election. Judge Woodside, who is a Trustee of the College, was a candidate of both major parties and received the greatest number of votes of any candidate in the statewide Pennsylvania upset election when a Democrat was elected governor.

Two Dickinsonians defeated alumni for seats in Congress in Pennsylvania: James M. Quigley, '42L, a Democrat, lawyer of Harrisburg, won over S. Walter Stauffer, '12, of York, in the Adams-Cumberland-York district; Daniel J. Flood, '25L, won back the seat he lost to Edward Bonin, '33, in Luzerne County in the prior congressional campaign.

T. Millet Hand, 22L, of Cape May, N. J., won his sixth term as a member of Congress from the second New Jersey district.

Leon H. Gavin, of Oil City, Pa., the father of John R. Gavin, '50, '53L, a Republican, was again reelected to the U. S. House of Representatives.

Three Dickinsonians were elected to the Pennsylvania Senate and at least six to the Pennsylvania House. George B. Stevenson, '10, of Lock Haven, won reelection to the Senate, while Joseph J. Yosko, '28, of Bethlehem, and Joseph N. Cascio, '39, of Somerset, also won seats in the upper body.

Edwin W. Tompkins, '25, of Emporium, and Edwin E. Lippincott, '44, of Media, were reelected to the Pennsylvania House of Representatives from Cameron and Delaware Counties respectively. Others elected to that body were Harry R. McInroy, '26L, Tioga County; John H. Moody, '37L, Dauphin County; John C. Kubachi, '48L, Berks County and William E. Steckel, '42, Lehigh County.

James M. Quigley, who defeated S. Walter Stauffer in the Democratic sweep in the 19th Pennsylvania District, was born in Mt. Carmel, Pa., on March 30, 1918.

He graduated from Villanova and Dickinson School of Law, and is a member of the Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, and Federal District and Circuit Bars and is a partner in the law firm of McNees, Wallace & Nurick in Harrisburg. David M. Wallace, '15, '17L, is one of the partners.

He married the former Genevieve Morgan of Harrisburg and they have four daughters, Ann, Joan, Clair and Mary, and a son, James, Jr. The Quigley's live at 1488 Letchworth Road, Highland Park, Cumberland County, Pa.

During World War II, Mr. Quigley served in the Navy for two and one-half years, and 18 months of this time was spent on a destroyer in the Pacific Theater. He is a veteran of the Philippine and Okinawa campaigns, and after V-J Day served with the occupation forces in Korea and Japan.

Mr. Quigley's activities include professional, charitable, religious and veterans affairs. At the present time he is a member of the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and is serving as Chairman of that Association's Legislative Committee. He is on the Board of Trustees of the Sylvan Heights Orphanage and a delegate to the Harrisburg Community Chest and Council. In addition he is a member of the Family Committee of the Bureau of Family and Children Service for Dauphin, Cumberland and Perry Counties. For the last 3 years he has been Treasurer of the Greater Harrisburg Council for F. E. P. C.

Joins Law School Faculty

Frank P. Lawley, Jr., '48, '51L, Millersburg, Pa., joined the faculty of the Dickinson School of Law in September.

After service with the U. S. Marine Corps, he completed his training and became associated with R. Dixon Herman, with offices in Harrisburg. He is a deputy attorney general in the Pennsylvania Department of Justice, and represents the Pennsylvania Board of Parole, the Bureau of Correction and is the head of the anti-subversive section of the Department.

He is married to the former Annabel Hoffman, and they have three sons, Frank P., III, Michael Scott and Robert Winston.

Ends Long YMCA Career

After 20 years as general secretary, plus six earlier years as its first industrial secretary, Walter V. Edwards, '10, retired recently from his post at the Y. M. C. A. of Springfield, Ohio.

His "Y" work began in his student days when he taught Bible at the Carlisle Indian School which guided him to become a junior secretary with the Pittsburgh Association upon his graduation from college. He was there until 1914 when he went to Cincinnati as an industrial secretary where he worked until 1917 when he took a similar post at Springfield. Six years later he became general secretary at Parkersburg, W. Va., and from there he moved on to become executive secretary of the Greenpoint Branch of the Brooklyn and Queens Y. M. C. A. In 1934 he returned to Springfield as general secretary, and continued in that post until his retirement.

When he went back to Springfield in 1934 he found a "Y" which had been hit hard by the depression. Only three men were on the staff and there were only 600 adult and 300 junior members, and the dormitories were closed. Five years later a new $416,000 building was dedicated and in 1950 a Center Street Branch Building was completed. Now all three units of the Springfield "Y" are clear of debt and during his leadership the membership rose from a one time low of 675 to 2,415 men and boys.

A fine compliment to him appeared in an editorial in the Springfield News-Sun reading in part as follows: "We suppose that if there ever were a competition for the ideal YMCA secretary, Walter Edwards would win it with ease. He exemplifies in himself all those qualities for which the "Y" is esteemed: hospitality, good will, comfort, an open mind, an open heart. But if in an institution such qualities earn esteem, in a human being they earn affection. Walter Edwards is a well-loved man."

Phi Kaps Hold Centennial Celebration

By PAUL R. WALKER, '21

OCTOBER 29-30-31 was pretty much a Phi Kap weekend at Dickinson. Members of Epsilon Chapter, Phi Kappa Sigma, oldest fraternity on the campus, returned from near and far, to celebrate their fraternity's centennial in various ways—from a rousing smoker in the chapter house Friday evening to a solemn memorial service in the Old West Chapel Sunday morning.

Upwards of 200 members took part in the observance, spending plenty of time in reminiscing—all the way from the days in the 1850's when Phi Kaps met in cornfields to evade the fraternity-hating faculty, through the Civil War days, depressions, the Golden and 75th reunions, right down to the present day.

James D. Flower, '42, Carlisle, was the convention chairman and had plenty of assistance from Phi Kaps in and near Carlisle.

The smoker on Friday sparked the proceedings, followed by the chapter house luncheon on Saturday, climaxed by the parade to the Dickinson-Randolph Macon game on Biddle Field, where the Phi Kaps and ladies occupied a special section.

High point of the first centennial was the banquet Saturday evening in the V. F. W. hall, where more than 200 Epsilonionians assembled. The Phi Kap girls had their own banquet in another part of the V. F. W. home.

Past Grand Alpha Murray H. Spahr, '12, was toastmaster of the banquet. His brother, Past Grand Alpha Boyd Lee Spahr, '00, president of the Dickinson Board of Trustees, was a featured speaker. Both were recipients of the Phi Kappa Sigma Meritorious Service Award, presented on behalf of the Grand Chapter by Scott S. Leiby, Zeta.

Dr. Whitfield, J. Bell, '35, former Dickinson faculty member, keynoted the speaking with an historic address, "Through the Century." C. Wendell Holmes, '21, president of the General Alumni Association brought greetings from the college. William E. Woodside, '54, spoke for the last class of Epsilon's first century. Lee Huber's, '55, talk was highlighted by reports of the active chapter. The Grand Chapter's message was conveyed by Horace Montgomery of Philadelphia.

An outstanding feature of the dinner was the singing of "Epsilon Centennial Song," written especially for the occasion by Paul L. Hutchison, '18, and dedicated to the first pledge class of Epsilon's second century, of which William W. Hutchison, '58, the first third generation Phi Kap is a member. He is the son of Dr. A. Witt Hutchison, '25, and the grandson of the late Dr. William Albert Hutchison, '92.

The memorial service in Old West was in charge of Paul L. Hutchison, uncle to the first third generation Phi Kap, and was most impressive.

The Phi Kappa Sigma Chapter was established in 1854, and one of the founders was the beloved Professor Charles Francis (Docky) Himes. It was another distinguished alumnus, General Horatio C. King, of the Class of 1858, who was largely instrumental in keeping the chapter alive in the days of faculty opposition. It was General King who devised the idea of passing a motion of disbandment at each meeting, instead of adjournment, so that any Phi Kap under faculty cross-examination could say quite truthfully: "The Phi Kaps have disbanded."

Actual pledges to disband were exacted from members, but had little effect, for to quote General King, later a great lawyer: "No pledge is more binding than a Phi Kap Oath."

To which hundreds will agree—Phi Kaps, of course.

Receives Degree At October Convocation

RUDOLPH BING, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, was made an honorary alumnus of the College on October 12 in recognition of his preeminence in the arts.

The Vienna-born British subject who took over direction of the Metropolitan in 1952 following distinguished managerial service to music in the British Isles and on the Continent, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters at a special convocation in Bosler Hall. Prof. Ralph Schechter of the faculty served as degree sponsor.

As part of the exercises, Shakeh Vartenissian, one of the Metropolitan's new sopranos this season, sang arias from "La Boheme" and "Carmen." She accompanied Mr. Bing to the campus from New York.

President Edell in the degree citation referred to the impresario as an "ambassador of the larger life" who had brought to America the rich fruition of experience in interpreting music in many lands.

"This country," Mr. Bing was told, "has adopted you with open heart and as general manager of the Metropolitan you have brought the fresh breezes of youth to play across the loved music of the masters and have lifted to a new level the life of the spirit in the America we love."

This was the second time within a year that a noted personality of the music world had become an honorary Dickinsonian. Marian Anderson, the contralto, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters last April. By a coincidence, the Bing convocation followed by a few days Mr. Bing's announcement in New York that Miss Anderson had become the first of her race to sign a contract with the "Met."

In accepting the degree, Mr. Bing said he regarded the honor paid to him by Dickinson as a compliment also to the great cultural institution he heads. The granting of the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by an American college to an opera manager is "significant and gratifying," said Mr. Bing.

Colleges and universities are helping to consolidate opera's cultural position in this country through their opera workshops, said the impresario. "This is a step in the right direction for," he said, "if we hope to make opera a more commonly shared artistic property, in what better place could we begin to sow the seeds for such growth than in these places where young people are being trained in the amenities of civilized living?"

He gave expression to the meaning of the convocation when he said, "Despite many promising advances that opera has made in recent years in the United States, an opera house is a rather lonely place and recognition by the academic world as represented by this ceremony today makes an operatic manager feel that maybe after all there is a common bond between all those people who try, each in his own way, to work for the preservation and the propagation of the higher things of life."

Basketball Team Faces Stiff Schedule

COACH A. C. RANSOM believes his current basketball team is the best he has had in three years at the College but in the face of a stiff schedule, which lists such teams as Penn State, Navy, Carnegie Tech and Bucknell, the prospects of a winning season are none too bright.

Missing from last year's team which won seven and lost 11 are Dick Johe, center, who was the scoring leader and best rebounder, and Sidney Kline, the guard and playmaker. They graduated in June. The varsity holdovers are Lee Huber and Robert Varano, forwards, and John Dudas, little guard.

John Kohlmeier, a 6-4 junior, has taken over Johe's old post at center and James Conner, a very fine sophomore prospect, is at guard in place of Kline. All but Conner on the starting five are lettermen. The squad's fifth letterman is Thomas Hester, a 6-4 junior.

Reserve strength was gained with the return of Eddie Latch to college after a stint in the armed forces and the eligibility of Donald Leggett, a transfer from Lehigh, after a year on the campus. Leggett, a guard, had captained the frosh team at Lehigh. Latch, a 6-4 center, missed the first four games due to a broken finger.

The team opened the 19-game schedule at State College with Penn State, which was an NCAA semi-finalist last season. State won, 81-63, but Coach Ransom was pleased with the work of his boys against a more gifted team that may rank again with the nation's best. Huber and Varano each had 17 points to lead the Red and White attack.

The next game was with a fine Elizabethtown team in the Alumni Gymnasium and Dickinson won this one, 66 to 59. This was a particularly pleasing victory. Elizabethtown was undefeated and numbered Gettysburg among its victims. Kohlmeier with 17 points and Huber with 16 showed the way. The score was tied seven times, the last at 53-53, before the Red and White pulled away.

The team played probably its best game three nights later in the Alumni Gym against Lebanon Valley, a small-college court power, but had to be satisfied with the short end of a 73-59 score. Ransom's boys pulled up to 51-54 midway in the fourth period but couldn't hold the pace. Ironically but not unexpectedly, the winners were lead by Gerry Steger, a former Dickinsonian, who transferred to L. V. in his sophomore year. He garnered 20 points for scoring honors. Varano had 19 for Dickinson.

In the last of the pre-Christmas games, the team easily defeated Johns Hopkins, 73-59, for a two won, two lost record in the first four games. Playing in the Alumni Gym, Dickinson raced to an early 19-7 lead and Ransom used many subs thereafter. Conner's 18 points were high for his team, but individual honors went to Wakubisin, Hopkins center, who had 20.

The schedule for the balance of the season: Jan. 5, Juniata, home; Jan. 8, at F. and M.; Jan. 10, Albright, home; Jan. 15, at Juniata; Feb. 3, Western Maryland, in Hershey Sports Arena; Feb. 5, at Carnegie Tech; Feb. 7, F. and M., home; Feb. 12, at Bucknell; Feb. 17, at Elizabethtown; Feb. 19, at Albright; Feb. 21, at American U.; Feb. 22, at Navy; Feb. 26, Moravian, home; Mar. 2, Susquehanna, home; Mar. 5, at Lebanon Valley.

At Oregon Inauguration

Dr. Frank Gees Black, '21, served as the representative of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Dr. Owen Meredith Wilson as president of the University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore., on October 19. Dr. Black is a member of the department of English in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Oregon.

Football Team Wins Two Out of Eight

VICTORIES over W. and J. and Johns Hopkins were the most Dickinson could garner in the 1954 football season. The schedule, which looked innocent enough in pre-season appraisals, turned out to be a Trojan Horse. Two of the opponents, Juniata and P. M. C., wound up with perfect records and another, Randolph-Macon, won seven in a row during the course of one of its best seasons. Against such opposition, the Red and White dropped six of the eight games for the leanest record in 12 years.

Coaches A. C. Ransom and Lindy Lauro in their third season at Dickinson had an unusually small squad to begin with and had the misfortune to lose three of their very best players along the way. George Mauro, star end, who was then high up among the individual scoring leaders in the state, gave up football after the third game, deciding that time devoted to the sport was endangering his chances of gaining admission to medical school. Because of injuries quarterback Dave Anderson, a superlative passer, was lost midway in the season and Joe Minkevitch, biggest of the backs, on the eve of the P. M. C. game.

Consistently fine performances were contributed by David Orbock and James Nellas, the guards; Franck Schwartz, end, and Robert Woodside, center and linebacker. At season's end, Nellas, a junior, won honorable mention on the AP All-Pennsylvania team.

Dickinson opened its 69th football season in Western Maryland's natural bowl. The Terrors were too big and strong and won by a 25-0 score, getting two touchdowns in the second quarter on pass plays, one in the third period after a long drive and another in the fourth on a 45-yard run by Charles Smith.

The next week at W. and J., quarterback Anderson threw four touchdown passes in sparking Dickinson to a brilliant 42-0 victory. It was the largest score by a Dickinson team since 1936 and helped to atone a bit for the 105-0 defeat by W. and J. way back in 1914. Franck Schwartz, the end, ran 66 yards and 44 yards for touchdowns on pass plays. George Mauro, the other end, also scored twice on passes. The other touchdowns were made by Charles Garwood on a plunge and Al Barilar on a pass interception.

Next week's game with F. and M. on Biddle Field was a thriller. The Anderson-Mauro passing combination got the homesters off to 14-0 lead, Mauro racing 30 yards and 80 yards for the touchdowns. Then the team began to fumble and by game's end has lost the ball seven times through fumbles. F. and M. gathered in one of these on Dickinson's 35 and, aided by a 15-yard penalty, scored on a short pass just before the half ended. John Tullai raced 87 yards over tackle to tie the score at 14-all and then Dickinson fumbled again on its 25 to set up the deciding tally in a 21-14 loss.

Football relations with Wooster were inaugurated the next week. Parents Day was the background for this interstate attraction, won by the Ohio boys, 33-12, on the running of Dick Jacobs who scored four times. Wooster made the game an occasion for a big rally of its eastern alumni who were joined in Carlisle by President Howard Lowry and the school's fine 60-piece kiltie band.

Juniata on the way to its second straight undefeated season humbled Dickinson at Huntingdon, 31-0. By that time Coach Ransom had lost his fine passing duo of Anderson and Mauro and did not have the manpower for the Indians.

Randolph-Macon then came up from Virginia with a six-game winning streak and one of the heaviest teams to engage the Red and White in years. On the first R-M play from scrimmage Charles Nuttycombe ran 78 yards for a touchdown and the visitors went on to a 27-6 victory. A short plunge by Al Barilar in the last moments of the game saved his team from a shutout.

A team that had lost four in a row, three by decisive scores, was not expected to be a match the next week for undefeated P. M. C. But Coach Ransom had his boys "up" for this big Homecoming test and might have pulled an upset but for a break of the game. Coach George Hansell, '34, a former Dickinson end, had many uncomfortable moments and the big crowd many a thrill before P. M. C. finally won, 6-2. Dickinson's score came in the first quarter when Joe Udovich, fumbling a pass from center, was tackled in the end zone for a safety. The break that cost the Red and White the game came just before the half ended. Balked on three plays at the goal line, P. M. C. threw a pass into the end zone. David Orbock, a great player for Dickinson all season, was there to cover the receiver. But just as the ball arrived, Orbock slipped in the mud and fell, leaving Henry Fienberg alone and unguarded. Fienberg made an easy catch and that was the ball game. Coach Hansell and P. M. C. went on to an undefeated season.

Dickinson closed out the campaign at Baltimore with a 13-6 victory, the first over Johns Hopkins in four years. After a scoreless first quarter, Coach Ransom's team drove 88 yards for a touchdown, Charles Garwood going the last five. Later Dickinson blocked a punt on Johns Hopkins' 17-yard line and Barilar scored after five plays. A 46-yard pass play accounted for the Johns Hopkins score.

The season ended the college football careers of five seniors. They are David Orbock, guard; Joseph Kunda, tackle; George Mauro, end; quarterback Anderson and Kenneth High, fullback.
