Trustee Gives $300,000 For Chemistry Building

ONE of the greatest forward steps in the history of the college for the enlargement and development of the physical plant was taken at the December 7 meeting of the Board of Trustees in Philadelphia.

The Board approved a recommendation of the Executive Committee of the Development Program to proceed at once to raise funds for the erection of a new science building adjoining the Tome Scientific Building, which may cost $500,000 or $600,000. This also envisions the erection of a Student Union Building on the Benjamin Rush Campus in the foreseeable future.

The committee's recommendation was made possible through the gift to the Development Program of $300,000 by Dr. C. Scott Althouse, Trustee of the College, of Reading, Pa. It is the largest gift in the history of the College by an individual in his lifetime.

Sidney D. Kline, '24, president of the Berks County Trust Company of Reading, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Development Program, made a threefold recommendation to the full Board. The Committee met the night before at a dinner meeting in the Rittenhouse Club, when the report was prepared. The Committee recommended the College proceed at once to erect a new science building, that a special Building Committee be appointed and that when completed the building be named in honor of Dr. C. Scott Althouse. All of these recommendations were unanimously approved by the Board.

George Shuman, Jr., Financial Vice President, reported to the Board that the

C. Scott Althouse

College now held $72,000 which had been contributed by individuals and corporations for the science building program.

The Development Program was launched upon the recommendation of Dr. William W. Edel, the President of the College, at the 175th Anniversary celebration in April 1948. Since then South College, Drayer Hall, and Morgan Hall have been erected and Montgomery Hall was rebuilt. Since he became president in 1946, the College has also either built or acquired the Biddle House, the McIntire House and a maintenance building.

Dr. Althouse was elected a Trustee of the College in 1950 and since then has served as a member of the Executive Committee and also on the Development Program Committee. In 1951, he endowed a professorship in the Department of Chemistry which the College named in his honor. The College conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Science upon him at the June 1948 Commencement, in recognition of his career as a chemist, inventor and industrialist.

A native of Lititz, Pa., Dr. Althouse attended public schools in Reading and graduated from the Philadelphia Textile Institute in 1900. He invented the "never-shrink process" which for many years was the only practical process for making wool unshrinkable. Many of the standard dyeing operations used in the textile industry were invented and developed by him. He has invented many processes, much equipment, and many types of industrial machinery.

Studies have been made of the present and future needs of the science departments. These will be presented to a specialist in laboratory buildings and the plans will be approved by the Building Committee. The new building will house the department of chemistry and possibly other science departments. The plan is to house chemistry, biology, physics and geology in Tome and the new building.

When the cost is determined, if more money is needed funds will be sought from alumni, industry and other sources.

The Development Program Committee also recommended to the Board of Trustees that the goals of the Annual Giving Fund for 1956-57 should be set at $100,000 from 2,000 donors.

New York Club to Meet

The annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of New York will be held at Schraffts, 556 Fifth Avenue, which is between 45th and 46th streets, on Friday, January 11 at 6 o'clock. The price will be $4.75 a plate.

J. Cameron Frenlich, president of the club, of 102 South Oraton Parkway, East Orange, N. J., is making arrangements for the dinner.

Library Receives Dickinsoniana

Homecoming is an occasion always welcomed by the Library, as returning friends leave gifts for its enrichment. This year, Judge Charles Scott Williams, '26, has brought us a notable collection of letters between Timothy Pickering, Secretary of State under President John Adams, and Charles Hall, a Northumberland County attorney, all written between 1797 and 1799. Both were loyal and ardent Federalists. We of the Dickinson of today hold Professor Thomas Cooper and the Rev. Joseph Priestley in admiration and in places of honor. Not so Hall, who rated these neighbors of his as "diabolical, treasonable and nefarious," and not so Pickering, who demanded their immediate imprisonment and did, indeed, soon after see Cooper behind bars. The letters are vivid, important and valuable historical documents. With them come drafts of two addresses by Hall, one on behalf of Northumberland County to the retiring President Washington, and the other to the people of his county denouncing the "poisons" spread by the political opposition. Hall was related by marriage to Dickinson's trustee, Robert Coleman, and a younger Charles Hall was at the College in the Class of 1846.

Carlyle R. Earp, '14, at the same time brought us association items of a more intimate character, the gifts of Mrs. Earp and of Mrs. Harry Miller. One is the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity pin of Dr. Vaughan Smith Collins, '81, distinguished as an educator and clergyman. Mrs. Miller has given us three relics of her father, Dr. John Franklin Goucher, '68, founder of Goucher College: his Sigma Chi fraternity pin, his scarf pin with the fraternity emblem, and a prize book awarded him in Freshman year for excellence in algebra. The book, a copy of Hart's "Female Prose Writers of America," takes its place in our growing collection of volumes by, and about, alumni.

To Become Chief Justice of Pennsylvania

THE Honorable Charles Alvin Jones, '10L, will become Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on January 1. In 1944 he was elected for a 21-year term, which began January 1, 1945.

While practicing law in Pittsburgh, he was appointed Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the third circuit in July 1939, and served that office until his election to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

He was special counsel for the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission in 1935 and solicitor for Allegheny County, Pa. from 1936 to 1938. In 1938 he was the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania but was not elected to that office.

Born in Newport, Pa., Justice Jones graduated from Mercersburg Academy, Williams College and the Dickinson School of Law. He was admitted to the Pennsylvania Bar in 1910 upon his graduation from the Law School.

During World War I he served in the American Red Cross Ambulance Service for the French Army and then received a commission as an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Aviation and was discharged in 1919.

Dickinson College conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon him at the June, 1945 Commencement.

Mrs. Jones is the former Isabella Arrott of Sewickley, Pa. They have a son, William Arrott, and a daughter, Mrs. Richard B. Anderson, Jr. Their son Charles Alvin, was killed in action at Mindanao, Philippine Islands on May 30, 1945.

A member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, Justice Jones is a member of the American and Pennsylvania and Allegheny County Bar Associations.

Officers of the Law School are arranging for a dinner to be held in his honor in the Zembo Mosque, Harrisburg, Pa., on January 17. Invitations have been mailed to law alumni.

Charles Alvin Jones

Elected to Congress

S. Walter Stauffer, '12, Trustee of the College of York, Pa., was elected to Congress in November. He carried the three counties he represents, Adams, Cumberland and York.

Two years ago, after serving one term in the House, he was defeated for reelection by James M. Quigley, '42L, who was the Democratic candidate against him this year.

Three other Dickinsonians are Representatives from Pennsylvania. They are Joseph L. Carrigg, '27L, of Susquehanna, Pa.; Daniel J. Flood, '29L, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and John P. Saylor, '32L, of Johnstown, Pa.

Five National Scholarships

Dickinson has five National Methodist Scholarship students this term. Awarded by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, the scholarships cover tuition and fees up to $400 and are granted on the basis of high academic standing, leadership ability, active church membership and need.

Council Plans Seating Alumna On Board

AT ALUMNI COUNCIL SESSION—Seated Dr. Edward C. Raffensperger, '36; Dr. Gilbert Malcolm, '15; C. Wendell Holmes, '21; Weston Overholt, '50; Walter V. Edwards, '10, and Charles F. Irwin, Jr., '27.

Standing, James L. McIntire, '35; Paul L. Hutchison, '18; Homer M. Respass, '17; Hyman Goldstein, '15; Arthur L. Piccone, '55 and William E. Woodside, '54.

A DICKINSON woman may soon sit on the Board of Trustees of the College as an elected representative of the alumni, if a proposal now before the Alumni Council becomes a reality. The proposal was made at the Council's Homecoming meeting by Paul L. Hutchison, '18, an alumni trustee and past president of the General Alumni Association.

For a good many years, members of the General Alumni Association have been electing alumni trustees in the Association's annual mail balloting. One is chosen each year for a term of four years, so that there are four such trustees on the board at all times. "Why shouldn't there be alumnae trustees, too?" was the question raised by Hutchison.

The Council took this unanimous action: Instructed the nominating committee to include three women on the ballot for the coming year and to take the steps necessary to effect amendment of the by-laws of the association that will assure that at least one Dickinson woman be on the Board of Trustees for a four-year term at one time.

C. Wendell Holmes, '21, Council president, who presided at the well-attended meeting, appointed the following nominating committee: Dr. Edward C. Raffensperger, '36, chairman; John D. Hopper, '48; Mrs. Mary Mackie Eshelman, '43; Jack F. Spahr, '36, and C. Weston Overholt, '50.

The Council also heard a proposal to increase the Association's life membership, now $40, and the annual membership, now $2. Present fees are unrealistic and fall far short of financing the work of the Association, it was pointed out. They have been at the same level since the reorganization of the Alumni Association in 1923. The proposal was referred to a special committee with instructions to report at the June meeting.

Plans for the 1957 Annual Giving Fund, which has a challenging $100,000

Receive Order of Mermaid At Homecoming

Certificates bestowing membership in the newly created Order of the Mermaid were bestowed at Homecoming by Chairman J. Milton Davidson to Class Agents of the Annual Giving Fund. Those present in the front row are: J. Frank Briner, '07; Henry B. Suter, Jr., '31; Lina Hartzell, '10; Mrs. Leona B. Kline, '27; D. Paul Rogers, '16 and Paul L. Hutchison, '18.

Second Row: C. Weston Overholt, '50; Samuel J. McCartney, Jr., '41; J. Watson Pedlow, '29; Paul A. Mangan, '34 and Dr. J. Clair McCullough, '09.

Top Row: J. Milton Davidson, '33; C. Wendell Holmes, '21 and Robert G. Crist, '47.

goal, were outlined by John Milton Davidson, '33, chairman of the fund's steering committee. He said that the class agents will be supplemented soon by regional representatives in a move to achieve better solicitation by geographical areas.

The special committee appointed in June to study ways of strengthening Alumni Clubs and improving their annual meetings came in with a well-organized report filled with helpful suggestions for club officers and committees. Successful club operations of a number of leading colleges and universities had been studied by the committee, and the report listed such items as purposes of alumni clubs, how to select elective and appointive officers, hints on promoting, setting up and staging annual dinners, obtaining speakers and a suggested constitution.

Homer M. Respass, '17, committee chairman, submitted the report, which was enthusiastically accepted by the Council. Entitled Outline of Alumni Club Activities, it has since been printed and copies sent to officers of all clubs. The committee was discharged with thanks.

Ohio Alumni to Meet

The Dickinson Club of Ohio will hold a dinner in Columbus, Ohio on Wednesday evening, April 24, 1957. Notices will be sent to alumni in that area about three weeks before that date giving information of the place, price and program.

A New White Way

Hanover and High Streets in Carlisle have been transformed into a new white way by the installation of a $100,000 fluorescent lighting system installed at no cost to the Borough by the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

The lights are mounted on steel poles about 30 feet high. Each pole has an electric outlet to be used for Christmas or other decorations.

The Borough Council approved the plan when the old system was believed to be obsolete. There are 60 lamps of the new type which replace 96 of the old style.

New President of State Teachers College

DR. NORMAN N. WEISENFLUH, '24, has been elevated to the presidency of the State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, Pa.

Confers Degree At World Methodist Conference

WITH the historic Ninth World Methodist Conference at Lake Junaluska, in North Carolina, as the setting, Dickinson College presented the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity to the Rev. Albert Holland, president of the Irish Methodist Church, on September 12. This was probably the first time in Dickinson's long history that such a ceremony was conducted off the campus.

President William W. Edel, who was present throughout the 12-day meeting as an official visitor appointed by the executive committee of the World Methodist Council, conferred the degree at a great academic convocation on the final day. Twelve other colleges and universities related to the church also conferred honorary degrees upon distinguished churchmen from abroad during the convocation.

Dr. Edel in the degree citation referred to Rev. Holland as the spiritual leader of 50,000 Methodists in Ireland and said that his labors for the church has earned him "well-deserved recognition beyond the borders of his native country and across the seas to America."

Rev. Holland, who resides in Belfast, served important pastorates in that city and area until elected president of the Irish Methodist Church in 1955. He is also general secretary of the Home Mission Fund of the Irish Methodist Church. His pastorates included Conegall Square Church, the mother church of Belfast Methodist. He has been an officer of the Edgehill Theological College and of the Belfast Synod.

The ceremony was witnessed by many of the 2,500 delegates and official visitors from 70 countries whose presence at the conference made it the largest worldwide Methodist gathering in history. Among the delegates were three Dickinsonians serving the church as bishops, Fred Pierce Corson, '17; W. Earl Ledden, '10, and J. Wesley Lord, '27.

Albert Holland

Bishop Corson, who delivered the Episcopal Address at the Methodist General Council earlier in the summer in Minneapolis, was chosen to give a summary of the work of the conference at the final session when he spoke on "The Message of the Conference to the Methodists of the World." He was reelected president of the Methodist Board of Education in Chicago in June when Bishop Lord was named to the board for a four-year term.

An honorary Dickinsonian from overseas had an important conference role when Dr. A. Victor Murray, president of Chestnut College, Cambridge, Eng., to whom the College gave an honorary doctorate in 1950, addressed the September 8 session on "The Bible in Education."

Desiring to see the College and to meet the faculty and students of his new Alma Mater, Dr. Holland and his wife spent several days on the campus in September before their return to Ireland. He addressed the faculty at one of its meetings to thank them for honoring him, and as he said to let them see the newest alumnus. His remarks were met with vigorous and prolonged applause.

Noted Scholar Receives Honorary Degree

WILLIAM BELL DINSMORR, one of the world's eminent archaeologists and scholar-educators, received the honorary degree of doctor of archaeology from President William W. Edel at a special convocation October 23 in Bosler Hall. Dr. Dinsmorr was to have been honored at Commencement last June but at the time was in Athens as visiting professor at the American School of Classical Studies there.

In the degree citation read by Dr. Edel, Dr. Dinsmorr was told that his many important discoveries among the ruins of ancient civilizations have added immeasurably to the store of man's knowledge and that his careers as scholar, scientist and educator had earned for him the gratitude of thinking men and women everywhere.

Since 1909, Dr. Dinsmorr has assisted with the excavations and restoration of important Grecian ruins. Among these were the Athenian Acropolis and projects at Delphi, Corinth and Agora. For many years he was on the faculty of Columbia University and since retiring with professor emeritus rank in 1955, he has been a Jerome Lecturer at the American Academy, in Rome, and visiting professor at the American School of Classical Studies, in Athens. He is the honorary president of the Archaeological Institute of America and is the author of several notable books on Greece.

In his convocation address, he summarized the origins and diffusions of American studies in classical archaeology and, using 1879 as a demarcation year, contrasted archaeological activities and attitudes before and after that date. Modern-day archaeology has become increasingly complex in its demands on the practitioner and requires the broadest kind of education and experience, he said.

Dr. and Mrs. Dinsmorr, who had just returned to their New York home from Rome, spent two days on the campus.

Baltimore Sets Date

The annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore will be held on Thursday night, February 21, 1957 at the Lovely Lane Methodist Church, where it has been held the past several years.

Martha Lee Weis, '53, president of the club, is planning for the dinner. Her address is 1664 Northgate Road, Baltimore, 18, Md. Notices will be sent to alumni in the Baltimore area at the end of January.

Chicago and Michigan Alumni Clubs Hold Dinners

ON consecutive nights in October the Dickinson Club of Chicago and the Dickinson Club of Michigan held fine dinner meetings in their respective states.

Accepting the generous invitation of Mrs. Mary Sharp Foucht, the Illinois alumni again were her guests at a reception and dinner at the South Shore Country Club in Chicago on October 29. Mrs. Foucht, is a Trustee of the College, and the daughter of the late Col. Alexander A. Sharp, '83.

John W. Garrett, '19, president of the Chicago Club, presented John Leeds Clarkson, '11, who ably served as master of ceremonies. William G. Green, '29, who is head of the Y.M.C.A. at the Rantoul, Ill, air base, offered the invocation.

A humorous note opened the program when Paul BeHanna, '29, using the eve of the November elections as a background, presented a campaign button reading "J'Aime Ike" to the former Dean of Women, Dr. Josephine B. Meredith. She denied the attachment in one of her characteristic speeches but confessed she enjoyed it all.

Samuel W. Witwer, Jr., '30, College Trustee and prominent Chicago attorney, spoke briefly on the "Blue Ballot" campaign which he headed in Illinois. He also was head of Citizens for Eisenhower in that state.

The speakers from the college at the Chicago and Michigan dinners were the Financial Vice President George Shuman, Jr. and Gilbert Malcolm.

In the business session, John W. Garrett was continued as president of the Chicago club; William G. Green was named vice president; Mrs. Paul BeHanna, the former Elsie Burkhard, '27, secretary and Mrs. William B. Gray, the former Mary Rombach, '27, treasurer.

The dinner meeting of the Dickinson Club of Michigan was held on October 30 at the Dearborn Inn with Dr. Roscoe

O. Bonisteel, '12, president of the club, serving as toastmaster.

The program opened with an unusual note when Mr. Charles E. Feinberg, noted authority on Walt Whitman, presented a photostatic copy to the college of a Whitman letter. It was written on April 22, 1876 by James M. Green, of the Class of 1878, who later became president of the National Education Association. The letter read "The Belles Lettres Literary Society request me to extend an invitation to you to act as poet before the literary societies on the evening of June 27th. Lay Cornerstone of Allison Methodist Church

AT CORNERSTONE LAYING CEREMONY—Robert A. Craig, Jr., Rev. C. Gail Norris, President William W. Edel and Fred V. McDonnell.

Ceremonies marking the cornerstone laying of the new $850,000 Allison Memorial Methodist Church being erected on the Benjamin Rush Campus were held on October 7. It is being built of limestone and of colonial design to match architecturally the other college buildings.

It had been hoped to complete the edifice by September 1957, but delay in the delivery of structural steel during the strike in that industry has held up progress. The stonework has been completed on the lower floor and is now rising above the ground level.

The Rev. Dr. Elvin Clay Myers was the speaker. Others who took part in the brief ceremonies included President William W. Edel, Dr. F. Lamont Henninger, Dr. Horace E. Rogers, Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., Fred V. McDonnell, Robert A. Craig, Jr., and the pastor the Rev. C. Gail Norris.

A box was placed in the cornerstone in which was deposited a Bible from the cornerstone of the old Emory Chapel, which the congregation used prior to the erection of Allison Church at High and West Streets. When that building was destroyed by fire in January, 1954 the cornerstone box was intact and articles from it are now in the new building.

Among other items in the new stone are: Copies of the Methodist Hymnal, of the New Discipline and the Revised Standard Version of the Bible; a membership directory of the congregation, an autographed copy of the History of the Methodist Church in Carlisle, written by Miss Ruth White, a member of the congregation; photographs of Rev. and Mrs. Norris and of Dr. and Mrs. Edel; and newspapers containing stories and pictures of the fire which destroyed Allison Church and also stories and pictures of the ground-breaking exercises for the new edifice last March.

Football Team Wins Two and Loses Six

WHEN Dickinson closed out the 1956 football schedule in November with a 2-6 log, one of the seven seniors on Coach Briton Piez's squad had set a record for durability that may be unmatched in Red and White annals. For Robert Woodside, stellar center, could claim that he had played in every quarter of every game from the time he earned a varsity position at the start of his sophomore year until 1956's closing whistle.

A strong linebacker and a sure snap-erback, Woodside takes a place among Dickinson's finest centers. His father and No. 1 fan, Judge Robert E. Woodside, Jr., '26, may also have contributed a record for loyalty in that he attended, with one exception, every game, home or away, in which young Bob played.

Lots of good football was played at the College the past season, but victories were scarce. The opener went to Western Maryland, 12-6, although Dickinson was clearly the stronger team in the second half. Passes helped the winners score all their points in the second quarter. In the last quarter, Sam Rose registered Dickinson's first touchdown of the season on a short plunge. The team used a football rarity, the field goal, to defeat Wagner, 3-0, the next week on Biddle Field. Robert Cook, a sophomore reserve, came off the bench in the final quarter to boot a 20-yard placement. This was the first game ever played between Dickinson and Wagner, a Lutheran college in Staten Island, N. Y.

F. and M. was the Parents Day opponent the next Saturday and as usual had too many guns for the Red and White. Powell raced 40 yards with a Dickinson fumble for the first score and tallied again on a plunge. The winners also picked up a safety on their way to a 15-0 victory. In the next two games, the team was clearly outclassed, losing in Pittsburgh to Carnegie Tech, 31-0, and to Juniata at Huntingdon, 44-13. Back in its class the next week at Swarthmore, the Red and White emerged a 7-6 winner by the margin of Bob Cook's point after touchdown. Many alumni living in the Philadelphia area attended the pre-game luncheon held at Springfield and catered by Bill Kurtzholz, '36.

A Homecoming crowd watched Dickinson open football relations with Lycoming. In this one, Coach Piez's team dominated play and had all the better of the statistics, but Lycoming was the winner, 13-0, on a blocked punt and a pass interception. The team was definitely "down" the next week against Johns Hopkins which raced through the Dickinson defense at will for a 40-0 victory at Baltimore. In the finale against Allegheny on Biddle Field, the team played its best of the season only to lose, 24-19. All of the visitors' points were scored by Joe Villa, brilliant Little All-American. Dick Shanaman provided one of the season's biggest thrills when he ran 53 yards to score. He also scored on a pass, and Frank Campanelli contributed a touchdown on a plunge.

Campanelli, one of the seven seniors, was Dickinson's finest back over the season. Woodside, at center, Richie Graham at guard and Robert Myers at tackle were outstanding on the line. Other seniors on the team were Bill Matthews, a quarterback, and Charles Ferrone and James Routh, lineman.

"Community Relations and the Public Schools"

A Review by Edgar M. Fink, Ph.D., Professor of Education

DR. HARRY L. STEARNS, Class of 1922, has long been known and respected as one of the outstanding leaders of public education in New Jersey. For the past several years Dr. Stearns has filled the difficult post of Superintendent of Schools, at Englewood, N. J.

Englewood is a difficult post because it is the home of many of the intelligensia of Columbia University, just across the Hudson. These people believe that they have the answers to educational problems, and they are articulate. Also, there reside in Englewood many representatives of the laboring class, including many Negroes. Some of the latter rank with the intelligensia in training and ability. It may surprise some readers, but this group also feels that it has answers to educational problems, and it is becoming increasingly articulate.

Consequently, when Dr. Harry Stearns produces a volume, "Community Relations and the Public Schools" (Prentice Hall, Englewood Cliffs, N. J., 1955) a great many people pay attention. He knows whereof he writes.

"Community Relations and the Public Schools" rests on the basic principle that the schools belong to the public. Indeed, school authorities are completely dependent upon the people for financial support. Therefore school boards and their administrators must heed the thinking and the wishes of the public concerning its schools.

Unfortunately, various segments of the public are not always unanimous in their demands on the school. They may differ sharply about the length of the school year, transportation routes, provision for religious instruction, type of report card used, observation of certain holidays, study of certain textbooks, the teaching of vocational subjects, the teaching of controversial issues, the drawing of school attendance lines within the district, and many other topics.

Obviously, some of such debatable issues appeal strongly to one group, others to another group. The position of the superintendent, standing between his board of education, on the one hand, and the factions in the community, labor unions, lodges, fire companies, church groups, civic clubs, which enroll the leaders of business and industry, the American Legion, the P.T.A., the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the racial organizations, on the other, is indeed a difficult one.

In "Community Relations and the Public Schools" one finds frank discussions of these problems by one who has been dealing with them for years. Positions that must, or must not be taken are detailed. Attitudes toward, and methods of dealing with antagonistic groups are outlined. Suggestions are given for uniting the public behind its public schools by use of radio, the press, interviews, telephone calls, personal appeals, and by the help of organizations.

"Community Relations and the Public Schools" is a volume which no administrator, present or future, should miss. In fact, any leader in public life would view his local school system with deeper understanding and greater tolerance after reading it.
