President Edel to Preside Over 186th Commencement

WHEN he declares the 186th academic year closed at the end of the Commencement Exercises on Sunday afternoon, June 7, it will be the last time Dr. William W. Edel will preside at Commencement as the President of the College. Before then some additions to the three day program will brighten the Commencement scene.

The Honorable Hugh Scott, United States Senator from Pennsylvania will be the speaker at the Commencement Exercises in the Alumni Gymnasium. Nine will receive honorary degrees, ROTC graduates will receive their commissions and probably 215 seniors will be awarded their diplomas.

To alumni one of the high spots of these exercises will be the awarding of an honorary degree to Richard H. MacAndrews. "Mac" will receive the degree of Doctor of Physical Education.

The Rev. Dr. F. Lamont Henninger, '24, Superintendent of the Harrisburg District of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Conference and Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the College, will preach at the Baccalaureate Services to be held on Sunday morning, June 7, in the new Dickinson College Chapel-Allison Methodist Church. At that service two musical compositions written especially for Dickinson College will be sung for the first time at the Baccalaureate Service. They are "The King's Highway," an anthem, and "Here is the Chapel," a chorale. The compositions were written by Lee H. Bristol, Jr., who will be awarded the degree of Doctor of Music.

Dr. Bristol is a prolific composer of anthems and other music, and the author of "Seed for a Song," the biography of Bishop Robert Nelson Spencer, '03.

Register In Old West

Alumni returning for Commencement should register in Old West upon their arrival. Tickets will be available there for any events for which tickets are necessary.

Information concerning hotel, motel or tourist home reservations can be secured there.

The lyrics for the anthem are from a poem by Evelyn Atwater Cummins, great granddaughter of Jeremiah Atwater, third president of Dickinson College. The connection between the authoress and Dickinson College was not revealed until Mrs. Cummins learned from The Church Hymnal Corporation that permission had been asked to set her poem to music.

The chorale is the musical setting for the verse which is engraved on the wall in the chapel in Bosler Hall. The stanza is from a long poem by Sir Henry Newbolt. Dr. Bristol was inspired by the words while visiting the College last year, at the time of his presentation to the library of his original manuscript and interview recordings used in the preparation of his biography of Bishop Spencer.

Another new entry in this year's Commencement program is the listing of lectures in the Roscoe Bonisteel Planetarium on Friday and Saturday in the Tome Building with Professor Henry Yealey in charge.

Some will be interested in the annual flower show of the Carlisle Garden Club which will be held on Friday and Saturday, June 5 and 6, in Fellowship Hall of Allison Methodist Church. The theme of the show is "Say it with Roses." There will be 100 or more specimens of roses and about 60 floral arrangements. Admission is free and returning alumni are welcome to visit the show. Last year the Carlisle Garden Club saluted Dickinson College with its annual flower show. Mrs. A. Douglas Thompson, mother of Patricia, a sophomore, is the chairman.

The meetings of the Board of Trustees will be held on Thursday, June 4 to enable the trustees to be on the campus on Friday, which is Senior Day. The annual dinner meeting of the Alumni Council will be held that evening in Morgan Hall at 6 o'clock and the 50th Reunion class of 1909 will gather at the James Wilson Hotel at the same time.

The Class of 1909 will have the seat of honor on the platform at the Alumni Luncheon at noon on Saturday, June 6, which is Alumni Day. Reunion chairmen and committees of all the classes slated to foregather this year report good responses and it is believed that there will be a record breaking attendance at this year's Alumni Luncheon and Commencement.

Praise President Edel For His Accomplishments

SEVERAL tributes to Dr. Edel and his accomplishments while the president of the College have come from many corners. Several alumni clubs have honored him at their spring meetings and the Baltimore Club paid special tribute to him as a native Baltimorean. The Baltimore alumni also presented him with a handsome silver bowl.

Several hundred faculty, students, alumni and trustees were present on May 8, for the inauguration of the Dickinson College Arts Award in honor of Dr. Edel. The first recipient of the Award was Robert Frost, dean of American poets, who was a guest at the dinner and addressed the evening convocation.

The Arts Award was established by gifts from members of the faculty and endowed by members of the Board of Trustees, as a tribute to Dr. Edel and his accomplishments during his 13 years as president of the College. The Award is in the form of a Wedgwood medallion struck from a sculpture created by Nancy Dryfoos, distinguished American sculptress. The striking of the medallion by the Wedgwood Potteries of England, especially for Dickinson College, is in itself a tribute to Dr. Edel who has had a close association with the Wedgwood family. Dr. Frost also received a check for one thousand dollars. The Arts Award parallels the long-established Priestley Award for scientists.

The community of Carlisle also recognized President Edel at a testimonial dinner on May 18, at Allenberry, attended by 200 persons from Carlisle and neighboring communities. This was the second of two Community Recognition Dinners to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for persons who have made a distinctive cultural contribution to the community. The first was given for Major General Max S. Johnson, former Commandant of the U. S. Army War College, when he retired from the service earlier this year.

Frank E. Masland, Jr., '18, a contemporary of President Edel at Dickinson College, gave the main address at the Community Recognition Dinner and paid highest tribute to President Edel, using the individual letters of the word "Service" for his outline. Dr. Masland referred to President Edel as an outstanding salesman and scholar, executive and emissary, researcher and religious leader, veteran, internationalist, counselor and educator.

In addition to the tribute by Dr. Masland, written words of praise were received from such notables as Arthur S. Flemming, Lewis Strauss, Herbert Brownell, Douglas McKay, John O. Gross and many others.

Dickinson Club of Baltimore Honors President Edel

IN BEHALF of the Dickinson Club of Baltimore, Homer M. Respass, '17, presented a beautiful, fittingly inscribed silver bowl to President William W. Edel at the annual dinner in Lovely Lane Methodist Church on April 22 when 68 were present.

In making the presentation, Mr. Respass, who is secretary of the General Alumni Association, said:

"Dr. Edel—or may I say 'Bill'—as 45 years ago it was my pleasure and privilege to be your roommate in Old West College, so tonight it is my privilege and honor to represent this splendid gathering of sons, and daughters, and friends of Dickinson College in bidding you farewell at the last Baltimore dinner which you will attend in your official capacity as President of the College.

"I suppose that in each human being there is some reluctance to face change, because we are happy with what we have today and never quite sure of what tomorrow may bring. But to most of us there comes a time when we must travel new roads and face new problems, when other thoughts and other tasks must fill our lives, when other hopes and other dreams will call us on, when ties of association must be severed, but never the bonds of friendship; and even then we look back only with fond recollection and cherished memory upon the way we have come, knowing that only the future is ours to have and to enjoy as the ever shortening years roll on. To such a parting of the ways have we come tonight.

"And although we believe that no material thing is needed to evidence our love and affection for you, we none the less would like to present to you a small token of our very great regard for the magnificent contribution which you have made to Dickinson College during your years of service. And as you look upon this gift in the years to come, may it be ever a silent reminder of your loyal friends in and about Baltimore who take this means of wishing you, our native son, God speed along the new pathways which you will tread, and many happy and wondrous years for you and Mrs. Edel as you go to that land of sunshine which you have chosen for your home.

"Space forbids the inscription of all the thoughts our hearts hold forth, but these few words we have had inscribed upon this memento:

President Edel Admiring Silver Bowl Given Him by the Dickinson Club of Baltimore.

TO
WILLIAM WILCOX EDEL
 Native Baltimorean
 22nd President of Dickinson College
 In grateful appreciation of his distinguished service as Administrator—Educator—Spiritual Leader from
 The Dickinson Club of Baltimore
 April 22, 1959

"And as we hand to you this token of our lasting friendship, we are proudly mindful of the fact that you now are joining the ranks of that select few of Dickinson's illustrious men whose contributions to the College throughout her long and fruitful history have rendered immortal those inspiring last lines of our Alma Mater—

"Men may come and men may go,
 Noble Dickinsonia
 Yet in deep and peaceful flow,
 Noble Dickinsonia
 Shall thy stream of learning wide,
 Through the Ages grandly glide,
 Ever to thy sons a pride,
 Noble Dickinsonia"

Robert C. Respass, '41, Homer's son, president of the club, presided. The Rev.

Elmer L. Kimmel, '36, vice-president of the club and pastor of Wilson Memorial Church, Baltimore, offered the invocation.

Mr. Rеспess recognized four of the trustees of the College who were present: Samuel M. Drayer, Charles C. Duke, W. Gibbs McKenney and Robert A. Waidner. He also read a telegram from the Rev. Ralph Lee Minker, Jr., '47, president of the Southern Del-Mar-Va Dickinson Club which read in part: "We extend an invitation to make Ocean City, Maryland, headquarters for a gala Dickinson weekend beginning Friday evening banquet, August 7."

Gilbert Malcolm spoke briefly and George Shuman, Jr., showed some colored slides of the campus to wind up the program.

Annual Giving Program Nearing High Goals

THE Annual Giving Program is well on its way toward accomplishing its two-fold objective for 1959: (1) receipt of the one millionth dollar in annual giving since 1936 and (2) accomplishment of a goal of $200,000 and 2,500 contributors this year.

The receipt of the one millionth dollar makes this a milestone year in annual giving and preparations are being made for suitable recognition of the occasion at Commencement. The name of the contributor of the one millionth dollar will be announced at that time and a scroll will be prepared containing the name of the contributor and the one millionth annual giving dollar, and highlights in the history of the Annual Giving Program. Later a bronze tablet will be prepared to commemorate the inclusion of the Annual Giving Program among the major gifts of the College. The tablet will be installed in the Hall of the Presidents in Old West.

Win Cook, '32, serving his first term as chairman of the alumni phase of the Annual Giving Program, has traveled several thousand miles to speak before alumni clubs. A successful salesman, Win, as president of Vita Craft Pennsylvania Sales, Inc., has acquired a world-wide reputation for salesmanship and has served as an emissary from the United States to teach American sales techniques abroad. He has applied some of these techniques to the task of winning new support for Dickinson College Annual Giving Program.

If the goal of $200,000 and 2,500 contributors is reached, the Annual Giving Program will have established its fifth consecutive record. The tradition of setting records in annual giving each year, was started in 1954 by John Milton Davidson, '33, first general chairman.

Last year, when Davidson turned the reins over to Cook, the Annual Giving Program had reached a total of $167,665.41 from 1,764 contributors. The total amount of annual giving since 1936 was nearly $844,000, just $156,000 short of the one millionth dollar.

When the College receives its one millionth dollar sometime before June 1, it will be a dramatic fulfillment of Professor B. O. McIntire's prophesy which he made at the launching of the Library Guild in 1903. He said:

"... contributions of moderate size are within the means of many alumni and in the aggregate consistently reach surprising goals."

Receives Fulbright Grant

Richard M. Keer, '49, a member of the Livingston, N. J., high school language department since 1956, has been awarded a Fulbright grant to attend an eight-week summer seminar in Germany.

Dick is one of 25 teachers of German in the United States chosen to participate in this program of studies in German language and literature sponsored by the Goethe Institute in Munich beginning in late June.

Nine to Receive Honorary Degrees June 7

FOUR of the nine honorary degrees which will be conferred at the 186th Commencement Exercises in the Alumni Gymnasium on Sunday afternoon, June 7, will be upon alumni and another on Richard H. MacAndrews, who to many is "the ivy on the wall." Another member of the Dickinson family, Dean Morris L. Shafer, of the law school, will receive the degree of Doctor of Laws. That degree will also be awarded to the Honorable Hugh Scott, United States Senator from Pennsylvania, who will be the Commencement speaker.

Hugh B. Woodward, '08, will receive a Doctor of Laws degree and Dr. F. LaMont Henninger, '24, the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology; James R. Shepley, '39, the degree of Doctor of Letters and Dr. John W. McConnell, '29, the degree of Doctor of Science.

Nicholas B. Wainwright, editor and author, will be awarded the degree of Doctor of Letters and Lee Hastings Bristol, composer and librettist, the degree of Doctor of Music.

Hugh Scott

After 16 years as U. S. Representative from the Sixth District of Pennsylvania, Hugh Scott was elected to the United States Senate, November, 1958. He is a member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and the Committee on Public Works. A lawyer by profession, he was Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia 1926-1941, and is General Counsel of the Republican National Committee. He was National Chairman of the Republican Party, 1948-49.

He is the author of "Scott on Bailments" published in 1931, "How to Go Into Politics," (1949) and numerous articles in national magazines.

He saw service in the Merchant Marine and Navy in World Wars I and II. Entering the Naval Reserve in World War II as a Lieutenant, he was discharged as a Commander after service with the North Atlantic Patrol, occupation of Iceland, duty in the Pacific area, including occupation of Japan and at Naktong in the Korean War.

Educated at the University of Pennsylvania and Randolph-Macon College, he received an LL.B. from the University of Virginia in 1922. In 1955, he was awarded two honorary degrees, an LL.D. from Randolph-Macon and an L.H.D. from LaSalle College.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Chi Rho and Tau Kappa Alpha, Mr. Scott is active in professional, veterans and fraternal organizations. His clubs include Caveat, Philadelphia Cricket, the Union League, Germantown Lions, and Army and Navy, of Washington. He is an Episcopalian.

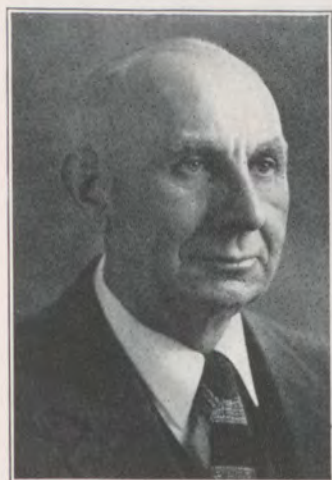

His wife is the former Marian Huntington Chase, an alumna of Germantown Friends School. They have a daughter, Marian Scott Concannon and a granddaughter, Anne Concannon.

Morris L. Shafer

Dr. Morris L. Shafer, scholar, educator and lawyer, began his work as Dean of the Dickinson School of Law in September 1956.

A native of Pennsylvania, he graduated from Muhlenberg College in 1925 and received an A.M. in Economics from Lafayette in 1929. He did graduate work in history at Lehigh University and in economics at the University of Pennsylvania before receiving his Ph.D. degree from New York University in 1935. Beginning in 1934, he taught economics in the School of Education of New York University in both undergraduate and graduate levels. He was also administrative assistant of the Division of General Education there.

Later Dr. Shafer entered the University of Pennsylvania Law School and received his LL.B. degree in 1947. He practiced law in Allentown until his election as Dean of the Law School.

RICHARD H. MacANDREWS

He is a Lutheran and a member of the Livingstone Club. He and Mrs. Shafer have no children.

Richard H. MacAndrews

Richard H. MacAndrews is the beloved "Mac" of Dickinson athletics. He retired in 1949 with the rank of associate professor emeritus of physical education but never left the College he loves with the devotion of the most loyal alumnus. Each day finds him in his office in the Gymnasium or strolling about the campus, always in the company of admiring students. He has a suite at Conway Hall.

Mac, a native of Luzerne, Pa., was playing professional baseball back in 1911 when Sylvester "Si" Pauttis, then football coach, brought him to the College as team trainer. Mac also helped with athletics at Conway Hall until that prep school closed in 1917, after which he gave all of his time to Dickinson teams. He became baseball coach in 1918 and basketball coach in 1919 and held both positions until 1947 when appointed advisory coach. He became a physical education assistant in 1920 and later helped to develop the College's extensive intramural program.

MORRIS L. SHAFER

It was as basketball coach that Mac is best known beyond the campus. He had many outstanding teams, particularly in the '20s when Dickinson was playing such teams as Penn, C. C. N. Y., Princeton, Temple and others. His 1925-26 and 1930-31 teams lost only two games and may have been his best. His durability is indicated by the fact that the 1947 team, his last, posted a 15-3 won and lost record.

He is an honorary member of Ravens Claw Society.

Hugh B. Woodward

Following his graduation from the College with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1908, Hugh B. Woodward entered the Dickinson School of Law and received his LL.B. in 1910 and an A.M. from the College. He returned to his native Clearfield, Pa., to practice law until 1912 when he moved to Greeley, Colo., and three years later to Clayton, N. M. His home is now in Albuquerque, where he lives with his wife, the former Helen E. Kisner, also '08.

He has had a distinguished career before the bars of State, Federal, Circuit and the U. S. Supreme Courts. He was District Attorney of the 8th N. M. District, 1920-24; United States District Attorney of New Mexico, 1929-29; Special Assistant to the U. S. Attorney General, 1942-46 and Lieutenant Governor of New Mexico, 1928-29.

Interested in education he was president of the Board of Education, Clayton, N. M., 1916-1920 and a member of the Board of Regents of the University of New Mexico, 1935-38.

Devoted to wildlife, he is a director and a member of the executive committee of the National Wildlife Federation and since 1957 has been president of the National Wildlife Federation Endowment, Inc.

In business, he is president of the New Mexico Credit Corporation and president of the Southwestern Construction Company.

Active in politics, he was chairman of the Republican State Convention of New Mexico in 1922 and again in 1928. He was also chairman of the N. M. Republican State Central Committee, 1922-23. A Presbyterian, he is a Mason and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Chi.

F. LaMont Henninger

Since 1953, Dr. F. LaMont Henninger has been Superintendent of the Harrisburg District of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Conference and a Trustee of Dickinson College since 1954. A year ago, he was elected Secretary of the Board. He is also a Trustee of Drew University and of Lycoming College, the Wesley Foundation, the Methodist Training Camp, the Pennsylvania Temperance League, the Central Pennsylvania Conference and the Methodist Home for Children, Mechanicsburg, Pa. He is also President of the Board of Directors of the Harrisburg Methodist Union and a director of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

Dr. Henninger has filled a number of important church offices, and important pulpits in his conference. From July 1946 to June 1949 he was Executive Minister in Rochester, N. Y. He is in his second term as a District Superintendent, having had that office in the Sunbury District, 1939-45. He served as a member of the Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference in 1940, 1944, 1952 and 1956 and as a member of General Conference in 1952 and 1956.

From 1944 to 1948, he was chairman of the Northeastern Jurisdictional Board of Evangelism and in the same years a member of the General Board of Evangelism. Four years earlier, he was Chairman of the Northeastern Jurisdictional Board of Missions.

Born in Williamsport he graduated from the College in 1924 and received his B.D. from Drew Theological Seminary in 1926, the degree of Master of Theology from Drew University in 1929 and the Doctor of Theology degree in 1930.

His wife is the former Harriet S. Stoner. Their daughter, Carolyn, graduated from the College in 1947. They have a son, William McDowell Henninger.

James R. Shepley

James R. Shepley, journalist, has been chief correspondent for Time-Life United States and Canadian New Service since 1957 at the New York headquarters.

A native of Harrisburg, he began his career on the Patriot, of which his father,

F. LaMONT HENNINGER

JAMES R. SHEPLEY

C. Laurence Shepley, was then the managing editor and Dean Hoffman, '02, was the editor. He then became a correspondent for the Pittsburgh Press and Pennsylvania legislative correspondent for the United Press Association, and its Washington correspondent in 1940.

He became associated with Time magazine in 1942 and was its foreign policy correspondent from 1946 to 1948. During World War II, he was war correspondent for Time and Life magazines in the China-Burma-India Theatre, the South Pacific and also the E.T.O. Two years after he returned to the Washington bureau, he became the youngest bureau chief when at 30 he was named chief Washington correspondent and serving nine years he had the longest tenure of any of his predecessors.

In 1945, he was U. S. staff officer at the Potsdam Conference and 1945-46 he served as Captain, General Staff Corps, attached Chief of Staff, General George C. Marshall, with whom he collaborated on Marshall's official report. He has been a major in the U. S. Air Force Reserve since 1950. He was awarded a War Department Commendation and a Letter of Commendation.

He is the co-author of the startling volume "Hydrogen Bomb" and is a member of the National Press Club and the Army Navy Club. His home is Brightwaters, N. Y., with his wife Yvonne Hudson Shepley and their children.

John W. McConnell

Dr. John W. McConnell has been Dean of the Graduate School of Cornell University since November, 1955, and has been a member of the faculty there since 1946.

Upon his graduation from Dickinson in 1929 he went to Cairo, Egypt, where he taught at American University until 1932. He then returned to become Research Assistant in the Institute of Human Relations at Yale University, while doing graduate work. He received his Ph.D. degree from Yale in 1937. The next two years he was assistant professor of economics and sociology at American University until 1939 when he became professor of sociology at New York University, where he taught until going to Cornell as Professor of Industrial and Labor Relations.

He is the author of several books and is a frequent contributor to professional journals, while serving on the editorial board of the Industrial and Labor Relations Review. Among his books are Evolution of Social Classes, Basic Teach- ings of Great Economists, and Economic Needs of Older People.

He was Director of Research of the Twentieth Century Fund from 1951 to 1954 and a Fulbright Lecturer in India, 1953-54. He has served on State and national boards dealing with labor laws, pension and retirement systems and wage laws.

Dr. McConnell is a member of many professional and learned societies. A Methodist, he is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Sigma, Omicron Delta Kappa and Pi Gamma Nu.

When he was an undergraduate, he was the first Dickinsonian to receive the Class of 1902 Award which was established in 1927.

His wife is the former Harriet Barlow. They have four daughters and a son.

Nicholas B. Wainwright

Nicholas B. Wainwright has been Editor of The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, since 1952, and in 1959 was awarded a citation from the Society of American Historians for the high standards sustained by the magazine under his editorship. Since 1951 he has been president of the Library Company of Philadelphia.

He is co-author of the History of the First Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry (1948). In 1952 his A Philadelphia Story: The Philadelphia Contribution-ship for the Insurance of Houses from Loss by Fire won the Athenaeum Award presented annually to a Philadelphia author. In 1953 his History of the Philadelphia National Bank: A Century and a Half of Philadelphia Banking was published. In 1958 the Historical Society published his Philadelphia in the Romantic Age of Lithography. In May, 1959, the Institute of Early American History and Culture is publishing through the University of North Carolina Press Mr. Wainwright's biography George Croghan, Wilderness Diplomat. In addition to these five books, Mr. Wainwright has contributed a large number of articles to historical quarterlies, as well as book reviews. His contributions are to be found in the publications of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the New York Historical Society, the American Philosophical Society, the Montgomery County Historical Society, and in Pennsylvania History, William and Mary Quarterly, and the Mississippi Valley Historical Review.

A member of a Philadelphia family, he was born on July 12, 1914, and is a graduate of St. George's School, Newport, R. I. He graduated from Princeton in 1936 with honors in history and joined the staff of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania in 1939. He served for five years in the Army, graduating from the Cavalry School, Fort Riley, and the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth. In 1950 he received a Master of Arts degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

He is married and has one child.

Lee Hastings Bristol, Jr.

It has been correctly said that Lee Hastings Bristol, Jr., leads five lives and has done all of it before his 36th birthday. He is director of Public Relations of Bristol-Myers Products Division, which manufactures Bufferin, Ban, Ipana and other well-known brand items.

His "extra-curricular activities" are varied. He is vice-president and trustee of Alex Osborn's creative Education Foundation. He has twice served as a faculty member of the University of Buffalo, and has spoken extensively on creative thinking.

An accomplished musician, he plays the piano and organ. His many published compositions are devoted chiefly to sacred music for both adults and children. He is also an author of note and has written for a large number of publications. His latest book, Seed for a Song, is the biography of Bishop Robert Nelson Spencer, '03, who will present him for his degree at Commencement.

His fifth life involves an almost endless number of civic activities. He is a director and past president of the Layman's Movement for a Christian World, an Episcopal Layreader and regular columnist for The Living Church magazine. He gives much of his time to the Association for the Help of Retarded Children.

His educational career was interrupted by three years' Army service, so he graduated from Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., in 1947 instead of 1944. He holds a Licentiate Diploma in Organ from Trinity College of Music, London, England, and has studied at the University of Geneva in the Conservatory of Music.

His home is in Princeton, N. J. His wife is the former Louise Baber Wells. They have a daughter Elizabeth Wigton, 6; a son, Henry Platt, II, 4; and a one-year-old daughter, Sara Miller.

Becomes Chief Counsel

W. Donald Reader, Jr., '50, attorney of Canton, O., was appointed Chief Counsel of the Stark County Legal Aid Society in February. He was named by Municipal Judge William A. Morris, president of the society.

For the past eight years, Don has been an industrial lubrication engineer for the Valvoline Oil Company and then the Pure Oil Company. While at that work, he studied law at Akron Law School and received his LL.B. degree last June and was admitted to the bar.

A native of New Brighton, Pa., he graduated from the high school there and from the college in 1950, after service with the Marine Corps in World War II. He has also done graduate work at Geneva College. He is a Presbyterian and a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

To Succeed Victoria Hann As Dean of Women

VICTORIA K. HANN

VICTORIA K. HANN, '50, dean of women at the College for the past five years, has resigned and will be succeeded July 1 by Dr. Katharine A. Bonney, a former dean of students at Salem College, who has been teaching in the department of philosophy and religion since last September.

Prof. Hann in submitting her resignation to President Edel said she did so for personal reasons. She will be on the campus until June and soon thereafter will leave for Antigua, British West Indies. It is her plan to live there for a year. She was in Antigua last summer and has spent a number of vacations in the Caribbean area.

Her work at Dickinson has been highly successful. She strengthened the women's government and organized the Presidents Council, consisting of a representative of each of the women's six dormitories and residence halls. Prof. Hann became dean of women in 1954 following three years at Colorado College as assistant women's dean.

Dr. Bonney will bring administrative experience to the appointment. She was dean of students at Salem College from

KATHARINE A. BONNEY

1944 to 1946 and spent the next eight years at Colby Junior College as director of religion. She has also been assistant dean of women at Teachers College of Connecticut and secretary to the dean, Woman's College, Furman University.

A native of New England, she holds bachelor degrees from the Connecticut College for Women and Union Theological Seminary, a master's degree in student personnel administration from Teachers College, Columbia University, and a Ph.D. in systematic theology from Boston University. Her doctorate was awarded last June.

Dr. Bonney will continue to teach some courses.

Attends Hartford Inauguration

Howard J. Maxwell, '48, served as the delegate of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Dr. Vincent Brown Coffin as Chancellor of the University of Hartford, on April 21.

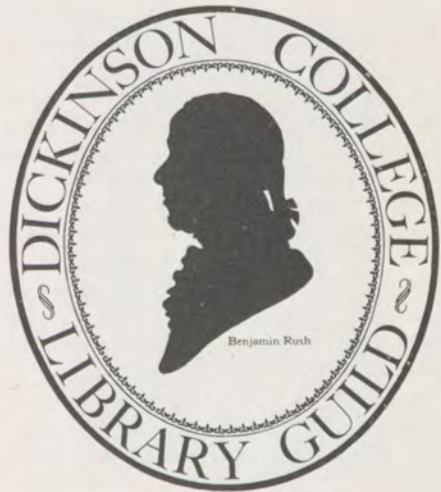

Mr. Maxwell is an attorney practicing law in Hartford, Conn., and is a member of the firm of Steele, Collins & Maxwell, with offices at 50 State Street.

A New Bookplate For The Library Funds

A NEW bookplate, reproduced here, has been designed for books purchased from the general and special funds of the Library Guild. In the case of the special funds, the donor's or the memorial name is printed under the design. Each year these plates, in numbers appropriate to the size of each fund, will be assigned for use.

The Library Guild was founded in 1903 for the purpose of providing a permanent endowment for the purchase of books. The Library had then a relatively new building, but the best part of its book collection was still the union of the old student society libraries. Through the next twenty years, campaigning regularly for support, the Guild raised an endowment of $36,383.00. Since that time, twenty-two other funds have been added. The smallest is $50.00 and the largest is John M. Rhey's bequest of $17,410.00. Of the memorial funds, one appropriately honors Bradford O. McIntire, founder of the Guild, and another Paul Herbert Doney, his successor in the Thomas Beaver Chair and an equally warm supporter of the Guild.

In 1956, Dr. Roscoe O. Bonisteel followed his gift of first editions and manuscripts of John Drinkwater with his gift of the Bonisteel Fund for the purchase of books and manuscripts in the field of Literature. While most of the funds support the general needs of the Library, the Paul Herbert Doney Memorial is also assigned to Literature, the William B. Greenlee Fund to History, and the Waldron Phoenix Belknap, Jr., Memorial, to works in the Humanities. The new and still growing fund in memory of Dr. Vuilleumier is, of course, being used entirely for the acquisition of books in Chemistry. In this case, over half of the sum contributed so far has been expended at once, with a view to bringing the collection in Chemistry at once to a top level of excellence. It is to be hoped that the remainder, with the still-accruing gifts of students and colleagues, will provide an endowment sufficient to keep it so.

The book funds, in chronological order, are as follows:

- | | |
|-----------|--|
| 1903-1923 | General Fund, Library Guild |
| 1937 | Henry G. Ulrich |
| 1940 | Edward W. Biddle |
| 1942 | Paul Herbert Doney Memorial |
| 1947 | William B. Greenlee |
| 1948 | Bradford O. McIntire Memorial |
| 1949 | Mrs. Gertrude Olmstead McCormick |
| 1949 | Helen Bucher Malcolm Memorial |
| 1949 | Robert H. Richards |
| 1951 | Josephine Brunyate Meredith |
| 1951 | John M. Rhey |

New Provost Is Named For Teachers College

THE appointment of Professor Max R. Brunstetter, '22, as Provost of Teachers College, Columbia University, effective July 1 was announced on April 24 by Dr. Hollis L. Caswell, president of the college. He had been serving as managing editor of the Bureau of Publications at the college since 1936. During that time he also served as an editor of the Teachers College Record.

After serving as associate professor of Education in Teachers College from 1946, he was promoted to the rank of professor of Education in 1952.

Born in Delano, Pa., he graduated from the Williamsport High School. Upon his graduation from the college in 1922, he taught a year at Bordentown, N. J. and then for five years he was principal of schools in Millville, N. J. He left the teaching field in 1930 for a six year stint with a concern producing talking pictures for schools. In 1936, he became affiliated with the Bureau of Publications of Teachers College and has been there since.

While teaching in New Jersey, he did graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and received his M.A. degree there in 1928. He holds a Ph.D. degree which he received in 1930 from Teachers College, Columbia University.

He is the author of a number of booklets and brochures on Business Management in School Systems of different sizes and also of programs for the Utilization of Audio-Visual Teaching Aids and the Use of Educational Sound Films. He has written an Introduction to French Pronunciation and Diction brochure and another for Spanish pronunciation.

His wife is the former Frances J. Worstall, of the Class of 1925. They have a daughter and three sons. Their daughter, Jane, is now Mrs. Albert W. Huseby, and their sons are Richard Worstall, George Worstall and Frank Howard Brunstetter, 2nd.

A member of Theta Chi and Phi Delta

MAX R. BRUNSTETTER

Kappa Fraternities, Dr. Brunstetter is a member of various professional organizations and of the Presbyterian Church.

Writes On Church Music

Dr. J. Murray Barbour, '18, has an article included in the first issue of Criticism, a new quarterly for literature and arts, published by Wayne State University.

Dr. Barbour devotes his article to "The Texts of Billing's Church Music." He studies sources for the Billing's psalms and anthems, and refutes the common impression that the early American composer was a crude, unlettered man.

His article represents the first chapter of a book The Church Music of William Billings, which will be published next fall by the Michigan State University Press.

Dr. Barbour is professor of music at Michigan State University and has studied at American Canadian and German universities. A well known American Musicologist, he completed a two-year term as president of the American Musicological Society on December 31.

Heads Language Department At Union College

DR. FREDERICK A. KLEMM, '33, professor of German at Union College, was named chairman of the Department of Modern Languages in February.

A member of the faculty at Union since 1947, he has held a number of top appointments at the college during recent years. From 1952 until 1956, he headed Union's Evening Division and since 1956 has served as Director of the Apprentice Training phase of the evening program. He is also at present a member of the college's Faculty Council, the Admissions Committee, and the Campus, Grounds and Garden Committee.

In addition to his teaching duties, Dr. Klemm has been active in community affairs. He is a past president of the Grand Boulevard Volunteer Fire Company and is currently treasurer of the Niskayuna Senior High School and Community Association. He is treasurer of the New York State Federation of Foreign Language Teachers and a member of the American Association of Teachers of German, and the Modern Language Association. He is also a member of Alpha Chi Rho and Delta Phi Alpha Fraternities.

A native of Harrisburg, he graduated from the college in 1933, and earned his M.A. degree at Duke University and his Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania. He has done additional graduate work at the University of Goettingen in Germany. A World War II Army officer, he taught at the University of Pennsylvania before joining the faculty at Union.

He resides at 1566 Regent Street, Schenectady, with his wife, the former Eleanor Zansloser, their daughter, Virginia, and their two sons: Christopher and William Jeffrey. Their son Edward J. Klemm died several years ago.

Receives Doctorate At State

Henry E. Berkheimer, '51, received his Ph.D. in Chemistry at Pennsylvania State University on January 29, where he majored in Physical Organic Chemistry with special emphasis on Kinetics.

Last fall he accepted a Fellowship (Post-Doctoral) at Harvard University, where he has been working since November 1, on the Kinetics of Phosphate Hydrolysis with Professor Frank H. Westheimer.

A graduate of Williamsport High School, he received his A.B. from Dickinson College in 1951 and an M.S. degree from Bucknell University in 1953. After spending two years in the Army, he returned to Penn State to complete work for his Ph.D. His thesis was "Activity Coefficient Behavior as a Function of Structure and Media."

He is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, the American Chemical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The day after her graduation from Penn State, he married the former Beverly Masters, of Sunbury, Pa., on June 12, 1955, and they are now living at 19 Chester Street, West Somerville, Mass.

He is the son of the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Berkheimer, '18, minister of the First Methodist Church, Milton, Pa.

Heads Biology Department At Monmouth College

DR. JOHN J. KETTERER, '43, Associate Professor of Biology, has been appointed head of the Biology Department at Monmouth College. He went to the Illinois Institution as an Assistant Professor of Biology in 1953 and was promoted to the rank of Associate Professor in 1958.

He became department head on March 1 upon the resignation of his predecessor who left Monmouth to accept an appointment with the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in Washington.

Upon his graduation from Dickinson College in 1943, Dr. Ketterer entered the service of the U. S. Navy and was in the Pacific Theater of Operations until 1946, when he was released to inactive duty as a lieutenant (j.g.).

From 1946 to 1953, he was graduate assistant in the Department of Biology, University College of Arts and Science, New York University, and was promoted to instructor in 1952. He received his Ph.D. from New York University in 1953 and he took his first appointment at Monmouth.

Dr. Ketterer's membership in professional societies includes: American Association for the Advancement of Science, Society of Protozoologists, American Society of Zoologists and the Galesburg Knox-Monmouth Branch of the Research Society of America. He is a member of Kappa Sigma and Sigma Xi Fraternities.

The new Monmouth College department head has had a paper accepted for publication by the Journal of Protozoologists. Previous contributions published include: Preliminary Notes on the Morphology of the Flagellate Leptomonas Strigomonas Culicidarum (Family Trypanosomidae) which appeared in the "Proceedings of the Society of Protozoologists," volume 3, 1952.

He has also published "A Note on the Taxonomy of Crithidia Fasciculata

JOHN J. KETTERER

Leger, 1902" in the same publication, volume 4, 1953.

At the present time he is president of the Exchange Club of Monmouth, Ill. and chairman of the Northwest District of the Junior Academy of Science.

His wife is the former Margaret Churchill Cary, '46. They have a son, Robert Cary, born May 6, 1952. They are members of the Second United Presbyterian Church.

Attend Citation Luncheon

Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., senior member of the faculty, and Albert Walker, assistant to the president, were the representatives of the College at the 11th Anniversary Citation Luncheon of the All Pennsylvania College Alumni Association of Washington, D. C., held in the Hotel Shoreham on February 7.

Among those attending the luncheon were former President Carl T. Waugh, former Professor George R. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. G. Harold Keatley and Dr. Vashti Burr Whittington, both of whom were former presidents of the Association, and H. L. Kitzmiller, '51.

Elected Chairman of PMC Faculty

GEORGE A. HANSELL, JR., has been elected chairman of the PMC faculty, the first time a member of the Athletic Department has been so honored. He is also a member of the Administrative Council, the policy making body of the college.

Following his graduation from the college, he was a member of the faculty of the Media High School from 1935 to 1945 and head football and track coach 1943 to 1945. He had a leave of absence in 1944 when he served as instructor in physical education and teacher of German in the Army Air Cadet Program at Dickinson College. He joined the faculty at PMC in 1945.

He has been director of athletics at PMC for the past five years and also head football coach. Last fall he guided his team to the Middle Atlantic Conference championship for the Southern Division. In 1954 he coached the team to an undefeated and untied record. His overall record in college coaching is 33 wins and 14 losses.

He is the head track coach at PMC, and over the past 12 years has developed outstanding men in track and field. In the Penn Relays this year the PMC team won third place medals in the Haddleton Memorial Mile Relay of the Middle Atlantic Conference.

In March, George was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Football Association for his fourth year in that office. He holds membership in the American Football Coaches Association and the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association.

At Dickinson, he played on the football and track teams and became a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity and Raven's Claw. He was president of his fraternity in his senior year. He is a life member of the General Alumni Association.

He is married to ElFrieda Keller, '35. Their daughter, Susan, graduated from the College last year and is teaching eighth grade English at Penncrest High School. Her engagement to Robert Shapley, who will graduate from the college next June, has been announced. They will be married on June 20. The oldest Hansell son, George III, is a sophomore at PMC studying engineering, and Stevenson, age 15, is a sophomore at Swarthmore High School.

In Public Relations Post

Carl A. High, '51, has joined the firm of Carl Byoir & Associates, a public relations organization located at 800 Second Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

For the past three and a half years he had been supervisor of employee publications for Campbell Soup Company, Campbell, N. J.

He was editor of Campbell People, the company's employee publication. He was awarded a George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge in February for articles published during 1958.

His wife is the former Marilyn Unger, '58. They live in Collingswood, N. J., with their two sons, Stephen, 5, and David, 2.

Dean Hitchler Dies After a Year's Illness

DR. WALTER HARRISON HITCHLER, Dean Emeritus of the Dickinson School of Law, died on February 5, after about a year's illness, two weeks before his 76th birthday.

Dean Hitchler had the longest period of service of any individual of what is now known as the Board of Athletic Control. In his earlier days, he was the Law School's representative on the joint association of the College and the law school on what was then called the Athletic Committee.

Many will remember him as a stellar player on the tennis courts, a graceful first baseman and an outstanding football official. As a confidant of Coach Richard MacAndrews, he aided in the development of many basketball and baseball teams, while football and tennis coaches sought his advice. He was the first tennis coach of the College and served in that capacity for 20 years, 1915 to 1935.

During World War I, he commanded the Dickinson College Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit from 1918 until 1919. With the outbreak of war, he went to Fort Niagara where he was commissioned a second lieutenant and was later promoted to the rank of captain.

He joined the faculty of the law school in 1906, resumed teaching after World War I and continued until 1930, when he became Dean of the school succeeding the late Dr. William Trickett. Two years later Dickinson College conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law. He was also awarded the degree of Doctor of Laws by St. Francis College and he held honorary degrees from Muhlenberg and from Albright.

He retired as Dean of the law school in June, 1954, after having served the school 48 years, 24 of them as a teacher. When he was elected Dean Emeritus, the Board of Trustees of the Law School established the Walter Harrison Hitchler

W. H. HITCHLER

Scholarship Fund and his portrait was presented to the school.

Twice during his career, Dean Hitchler held important posts away from the campus, while continuing his work at the law school. In 1941, he was chairman of the Alien Enemy Hearing Board of the United States Department of Justice and from 1939 to 1940, he was chairman of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. He also gained recognition as the editor of Statutory Law of Pennsylvania, 1919 to 1922.

Born in Plymouth, Pa., he received his early education there and graduated from the University of Virginia School of Law in 1905. After a year with the Michie Publishing Co. in Charlottesville, Va., he became a member of the law school faculty in 1906.

He was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Carlisle, where funeral services were held. He was a past president and active member of the Carlisle Rotary Club and prominent in community affairs, having served as director of the Carlisle Community Chest. He was a member of the American and Pennsylvania Bar Associations, the Ravens Society of the University of Virginia, the American Law Institute and the Masonic fraternity.

By the terms of his will, the bulk of his estate was bequeathed to the law school creating an endowment for the maintenance of the Sadler Curtilage, where he made his home, and for scholarship funds for needy students.

He is survived by a brother-in-law, Robert Johnson, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He never married.

Seeks School Solution

Judge Herbert G. Cochran, '03, is deeply involved in the Virginia Public School crisis. He is a vice president of the Virginia Committee for Public Schools and also a member of the Advisory Board to the Norfolk Committee for Public Schools.

As a member of these groups, he is in communications and conferences with the Governor of Virginia and the Commission on Public Schools, which has been appointed to find a formulative plan and program for the solution of the school crisis in that state.

He is also taking an active part in the American Association for the United Nations and in the Norfolk Chapter of that Association. He was a delegate from the Norfolk Chapter to the first Biennial Convention of the Association, in New York City last November.

Writing NAACP History

Prof. Flint Kellogg, of the history department of the College, is at work on a history of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People under a grant from the Fund for the Republic. NAACP officers have referred to him as the foremost authority on matters dealing with the origin and growth of the movement. The February issue of The Nation carried an article by Prof. Kellogg on the role of Oswald Villard in the founding of the organization 50 years ago.

Two New Honors

Two new honors will come to Frank E. Masland, Jr., '18, vice president of the Board of Trustees of the College, in June.

He has been elected to one of the top civilian positions in the Federal Government in being chosen Chairman of the Advisory Board of the National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings and Monuments of the Department of Interior for a term to begin on June 1. He was first named to the Board in 1956 and is one of its most active members.

On June 7, he will deliver the Commencement address at Lebanon Valley College and will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by that institution. A year ago, he received that degree from Lycoming College.

Receives Lutheran Award

The Rev. Francis E. Reinberger, '40, professor of practical theology at Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, has been awarded a Lutheran Brotherhood Faculty Fellowship for graduate study. He plans to continue advanced work at Union Theological Seminary in New York.

His award was recommended by the National Lutheran Educational Conference, and he is among 17 Lutheran educators and pastors who are receiving Faculty Fellowship grants.

Instituted last year, Lutheran Brotherhood Faculty Fellowships are designed to promote and encourage advanced study by members of Lutheran college and seminary faculties. In addition to these awards, Lutheran Brotherhood also makes scholarships available to students at Lutheran educational institutions in the United States and Canada.

A graduate of the Seminary at Gettysburg, he received his Master's degree in 1957 from Johns Hopkins University. Before joining the Gettysburg faculty he was a pastor for nine years and an instructor at Hood and Messiah colleges.

Mentioned For Governorship of Illinois in 1960

SAMUEL W. WITWER, JR., '30, is named as a possible candidate for Governor of Illinois in 1960 in a story headed "GOP's Governor 'Sleeper' for 1960" under the by-line of John Dreiske published in the Chicago Sun-Times on April 29. He is a Trustee of the College.

That article in full is as follows:

Influential Republicans who want very much to win the Illinois governorship in 1960 and feel Gov. Stratton can't do it, may be grooming a "sleeper." Conceivably, if the governor could have his face saved by being given some other course he could follow with honor, he, too, could support this "sleeper."

The candidate the professional politicians of the Republican party think they see "coming up on the outside" is a 50-year-old Loop attorney, Samuel W. Witwer, who is a Riverside resident. Witwer is not a professional politician but he has been experiencing a solid, steady buildup as an active amateur concerned with vital issues.

Witwer has a long record of identification with the hard-fought and finally successful "Blue Ballot" constitutional amendment. This removed an old automatic road block of all intelligent amendments to the ancient Illinois constitution.

He has been actively in the lead of Illinois court reform which came so close to victory at the 1958 elections. Many questionably "void" ballots helped defeat this last effort. In both these causes, the Witwer name was given intensive, statewide circulation.

The unquestioned public service contributed by Witwer in these endeavors has stilled possible suspicions in the minds of some cynics in the business of politics that his work in this reform program might have been dedicated to the goal of the 1960 governorship.

Such speculation by the cynics seems immaterial. Because there he is, ready to be selected by the Republican party of SAMUEL W. WITWER, JR.

Illinois should its leaders agree that such a move is necessary to hold control of the executive mansion next year.

Currently, Witwer is Illinois state chairman for the United Service Organization which is conducting a drive for funds to finance "home-away-from-home" hospitality to servicemen. The USO has unquestioned merit. Witwer is the sort of conscientious worker that helps guarantee the success of these worthy fund-raising campaigns.

We have been watching Witwer's career develop for some years now. It seems to be coming to a head.

There is widespread feeling in the Republican party that Gov. Stratton would be a weak candidate for re-election to a third term, principally through no fault of his own . . . namely, the Hodge scandal. Personally, I think Stratton's "weakness" is largely fictional.

He has always been a political powerhouse. There is no great amount of evidence that the Hodge scandal has been more than a temporary handicap to Stratton.

But the Witwer thing is worth watching anyway.

Southern Florida Club Meets In Miami

WITH 37 present the annual dinner of the Southern Florida Club was held on February 24 at Old Scandia, Opa Locka, Fla.

Arthur A. Pendleton, '48, president of the club, presided and Dr. Frank Y. Jagers, '14, offered the invocation.

The highlight of the dinner was the presence of Dr. Guy H. Shadinger, Professor of Chemistry at the college from 1910 to 1920, and Mrs. Shadinger, and his presentation of two unique notebooks in which Samuel Alexander, of the Class of 1812, records Thomas Cooper's lectures on Chemistry. These are full of interesting material. Dr. Cooper's discussion of explosives refers to duPont Powder Works and superior quality of duPont powder. Dr. Shadinger also presented copies of Cooper's "Introductory Lecture," delivered at Dickinson College in 1811, and his "Practical Treatise on Dyeing," published in Philadelphia in 1815. These gifts were accompanied by a group of five early chemistry text books, ranging in dates from 1822 to 1841.

Accolades were given to The Rev. Dr. George H. Bucher, who graduated from the college in 1895, and also to Mrs. Mary Ziegler, the widow of George Zeigler of the Class of 1896, and sister of Dr. Bucher, both of whom were present. Dr. Bucher spoke briefly and delightfully. Another guest was Lou M. Hatter, '41, sports writer of the Baltimore Sun, who was in Miami covering the spring training of the Baltimore Orioles. Dr. Forrest E. Adams, '11, journeyed from Coral Gables; James R. Fiscella, '56, from Fort Lauderdale, Frank Jagers from Delray Beach and the Rev. George S. Southwick, '16, from West Palm Beach. Others from the Miami area included William D. Bottenbach, '11; Dr. Maurice E. Heck, '08, and his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Heck Houlberg, '58; C. Donald Karns, '19; Herman R. Koltnow, '51; Norman Lush, Jr., '58; Martin H. Matz, M.D. '53; Mrs. Thomas Parkinson, '53;

William H. Shepler, Jr., '14; Mervine B. Wise, '12; and C. Arthur Robinson, '20, and his wife, Reba Beam Robinson, '21, who live in Winchester, Va. Another guest was Mrs. Mary Jane Steele, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy H. Shadinger.

Dr. and Mrs. George Shuman, Jr. and Dr. Gilbert Malcolm made the trip from Carlisle to the two dinners first at Miami and then at St. Petersburg. George opened the speaking program followed by the alumni secretary and then George showed some colored slides of campus scenes which were very well received by the alumni in Florida.

Writes On Antarctic

Readers of The Crossing of Antarctica by Sir Vivian Fuchs and Sir Edmund Hillary will find interesting additional material on this great adventure in two pamphlets contributed by Arthur S. Helm, '49. Mr. Helm is Secretary of the Ross Sea Committee, controlling body of the expedition, whose tremendous accomplishment in the work of planning and fund raising is acknowledged in the Fuchs-Hillary book. He has sent to the College library New Zealand Activities in the Antarctic, a government publication giving a succinct account of New Zealand's part in the expedition, and with it the more specialized report on tractor operation, written by Sir Edmund Hillary and J. G. Bates, and published by the government for the Ross Sea Committee.

Mr. Helm was with the expedition in its first year, as Liaison and Postal Officer. He must share in full measure the satisfactions of all those associated with him. The Antarctic Continent, a region of high mountains the size of Europe and the United States combined, has for the first time been traversed, bringing to the world both an inspiring adventure and a vast accumulation of new scientific knowledge.

Gulf Coast Club Meets In St. Petersburg

By Evelyn Carr Gilman, '21

THE Florida Gulf Coast Alumni Club of Dickinson College held its 1959 annual dinner meeting on Friday, February 27 in the "Johnny Applesseed Room" at Craft Village, St. Petersburg.

A group of forty-eight Dickinsonians, wives, husbands and guests assembled for this very enjoyable occasion. The club was delighted to have Dr. Gilbert Malcolm, Dr. and Mrs. George Shuman, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Cook present to represent the college.

The Rev. Dr. Edwin C. Keboch, '05, offered the invocation. After a delicious dinner, Harry P. Swain, '07, president, presided at a short business meeting to elect new officers. Mr. Swain, of St. Petersburg, has served as president and Mrs. Evelyn Carr Gilman, '21, also of St. Petersburg, has served as secretary-treasurer for the past two years which time the club has set as a term of office. New officers elected were Dean M. Hoffman, II, '41, of St. Petersburg, president; Peter M. Fludovich, '29, of Clearwater, vice-president; and Mrs. Lee O. Richards, the former A. Louise Summalt, '24 of Clearwater, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Swain and Mrs. Gilman were elected to serve on the Executive Board.

The entertainment for the evening began with the singing of the college songs led by Rev. Frank Y. Jagers, '14. Winfield Cook, chairman of Annual Giving, spoke about the needs of our rapidly expanding Alma Mater. Then Gilbert Malcolm addressed the club in his jovial, ever-pleasing manner and told of the wonderful progress being made at the college. George Shuman confirmed this by showing colored slides of the fine new buildings, as well as many pictures of the campus, the original buildings remodeled and Carlisle scenes. The program closed with everyone singing lustily "Noble Dickinsonian." The entire evening was one of delightful fellowship and reminiscing about college days.

Those attending were: Rev. Frank Y. Jagers, '14, and Mrs. Jagers from Delray Beach; Dr. Edwin C. Keboch, '05, and Mrs. Keboch and sister, Mrs. Kocher, Allan D. Thompson, '07, and Mrs. Thompson, Col. William A. Ganoe, '02, and Mrs. Ganoe and Clarence L. Dumm, '05, all from Sarasota; Chester C. Holloway, '11, and Mrs. Holloway of Clermont; Horace L. Jacobs, Jr., '13, of Orlando; Dr. Lynn Harold Harris, '06, of Tampa; Carl F. New, '02, and Mrs. New, Peter M. Fludovich, '20, and Mrs. Fludovich, Mrs. A. Louise Summalt Richards, '24, and Mr. Richards, all of Clearwater. V. Ferando Rodriguez, '58, and his wife, the former Marion Van Olst, '58, of Largo. From St. Petersburg there were Harry P. Swain, '07, Dean M. Hoffman, '02, and Dean M. Hoffman, II, '41. Thomas C. Mills, '19, and Mrs. Mills, William F. Depp, '40, and Mrs. Depp, Mrs. Ann Swensen White, '44, and her mother, Mrs. Loren Swensen, Dr. Dayton E. McClain, '06, William L. Eshelman, '15, a trustee of the college, and Mrs. Eshelman, together with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Schaeffer, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Leininger, Mrs. Harry Greybill attending for her husband of the Class of 1905, Mrs. Evelyn Carr Gilman, '21, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Grimison and their guest, Mr. John S. Lang. Mr. Grimison is president of the Parents Advisory Council of the college.

A number had planned to attend but were detained and unable to be present at the last moment. This group consisted of Helen M. Wehrle, '22, and Mrs. Ruth Porter Byers, '40, both of Orlando; Harry C. Lowther, '98, and Mrs. Lowther, of Clermont; Mrs. Florence Everhart Kidder, '22, of Indian Rocks Beach; Dr. Alfred L. Cornwell, '34, of Dunedin; Clair A. Davis, '22, Lt. Cmdr. Walter W. Collins, '30, and Mrs. Collins, of St. Petersburg; Vaughn T. Salter, '11, and Mrs. Salter, of Sarasota.

Rev. Francis R. Bayley, '00 of Avon Park, Mrs. Josephine B. Meredith, '01, of DeLeon Springs; Ralph Ebbert, '07, of Clearwater and Donald W. Sweet, '50, of Naples, all sent greetings and regretted they could not be present.

It is hoped that all Dickinsonians and parents of Dickinsonians, sojourning in this area in 1960, will contact one of the officers and plan to attend the next annual dinner.

Help Build A College

June 6 will see cornerstones laid for two buildings at Wesley College, Dover, Del. A new classroom building with little theatre and heating plant will be ready for use this summer, and a woman's dormitory will be completed by the beginning of the fall term. Construction of a dormitory for men will begin this spring and be ready for use next year. These are three of nine new buildings to be erected as part of a $4,000,000 development program to make Wesley a first rate two-year college with 500 full time students. The campus plan prepared by Larson and Larson has been acclaimed as a "work of art."

Recognizing that buildings are only a part of the needs of a sound program of Christian higher education, the Board of Trustees has launched into several other phases as well. The charter has been completely revised—tying the school closely with the Methodist Church. (Wesley is the only Junior College related to the Methodist Church in the Washington Area.) A new faculty salary scale has been adopted which will be above the mean for NE U. S. A. The first retirement plan has been put in operation. The entire academic program has been reviewed.

This may be of special interest since much of the leadership for the program comes from Dickinsonians—Dr. J. Paul Slaybaugh, '21, President of the College; The Rev. Howell O. Wilkins, '44, pastor of Hillcrest Memorial Methodist Church and chairman of the Board of Trustees of the college; Dr. John N. Bunting, '40, pastor of Newark Methodist Church and vice chairman of the Board of Trustees; and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam is a member of the Board of both institutions.

"The Sin Of Omission"

Dr. Dayton E. McClain, '06, is the author of The Sin of Omission, a 78-paged book published recently by Dorrance & Company, Inc., of Philadelphia. Since 1939, he has been Vice President of The American University, Washington, D. C.

There is an interesting Preface to the book prepared by Dr. Samuel Engle Burr, Jr., Chairman of the Department of Education, The American University. In part he writes "Dr. McClain has chosen to emphasize a phase of Christianity which too frequently is overlooked or forgotten. He writes about 'The Sin of Omission.' In other words, he seeks to emphasize the fact that Christianity is a positive religion, that it is an active force, and that it is effective in the lives of human beings." Further on he writes "The good things men might do, but fail to do, make up another category of sins—a category much more important than it commonly is considered to be. Every sin of omission represents a worthy act or a good deed that did not come into being."

The jacket correctly says that Dr. McClain presents an extended sermon—one with great power and effectiveness.

Following his graduation with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1906, Dr. McClain was ordained in the Methodist Church and served five pastorates in Maine and his native Maryland. For more than thirty years he has been engaged in fund raising for religious and education activities. He played a leading part in 1921-22 when the College and Pennington Seminary held a joint campaign for $1,200,000, which was known as the Dickinson-Pennington Movement.

Fine Attendance At New York Club Dinner

There were 67 present at the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of New York held at the Midston House on April 10. John B. Carroll, '41, president of the Club, who presided, thanked his officers for his help in bringing out more alumni and singled out Margaret L. McMullen, '51, vice president of the Club, and Helen Frenlich Bott, '44, a former officer, for special praise.

While many of those present were from later classes, a well deserved salute was given to Dr. Milton H. Foster, of the Class of 1894, who appeared as dapper as anyone there. Twenty of those present were from classes later than 1950.

Following the dinner everyone greatly enjoyed the singing of the male quartet from the campus. It was composed of William Witting, a senior, who has been accepted for admission at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine for the year to begin in September; Harry Danner, a sophomore of Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and two freshmen, Dave Peterson of Queens, N. Y., and Skee Lumpkin, of Wilmington, Del.

The Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, '18, offered the invocation. The Financial Vice President and Treasurer of the College, George Shuman, Jr., opened the speaking program. He was followed by Winfield C. Cook, '32, chairman of the Annual Giving Fund and Gilbert Malcolm closed the program.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Gordon, grandparents of Pauline Gordon, who is a member of the freshman class. Dr. Henry Blank, '41, and his wife came down from Bridgeport, Conn. and proposed the formation of an alumni club in that area. Plans were made to hold an organization meeting sometime in the fall.

Prior to the dinner, a social hour was held at the Midston House.

Dinner Attendance Jumps At Pittsburgh

Departing from the custom of the years of holding luncheon meetings, the Dickinson Club of Pittsburgh held a dinner on April 1 when 45 were present. In recent years, attendance at the luncheons had dropped as low as 25 and there were 30 there in April a year ago.

Not only were 45 present, but last minute cancellations, caused mostly by illness kept ten others away. Officers are confident that in another year, there will be 60 at the dinner.

The 1959 dinner was held in the Harvard-Yale-Princeton Club in downtown Pittsburgh, where the facilities are fine and an excellent dinner was ably served. Arrangements for it were made by William D. Gordon, '36, vice president, who is better known to every one as "Waxey."

James G. Park, '52, president of the club, was master of ceremonies and Robert W. McWhinney, '41, active Episcopalian layman, offered the invocation.

Prof. David B. Eavenson, Chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Director of Athletics, was the principal speaker and delivered a very interesting address. George Shuman opened the speaking program with "Greetings" and closed it showing pictures of the campus. In between Gilbert Malcolm spoke briefly.

Attends Otterbein Inauguration

Colonel John P. Haines, Jr., '37, was the delegate of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Lynn W. Turner as president of Otterbein College in Westerville, O., on April 25.

Colonel Haines lives in Columbus with his wife, the former Pendry Spear, '39, and their three sons. He served in the United States Marine Corps from 1937 to 1951. He is now sales manager of the Seagrave Corporation, manufacturers of fire pumping engines and fire apparatus.

Philadelphia Club Meets

Following the pattern set a year ago, the annual dinner of the Dickinson Club of Philadelphia was held at the Rolling Green Country Club on April 27 with 108 present.

Following a social hour an excellent buffet dinner, catered by William E. Kurtzhalz, '36, and his wife, was served.

After the dinner an octet from the Men's Glee Club at the college sang a group of songs. It was composed of H. Newton Olewiler, William Reed, Daniel Rogers, Harry Danner, Richard Flutie, William Updegraff, Edward Gardner and Allen Jaeger. Professor Henry L. Yeagley, chairman of the Department of Physics, was the principal speaker, but spoke only briefly when he told of the many developments in his department.

Weston C. Overholt, Jr., '50, president of the club, was the master of ceremonies. He presented to the group visitors from the campus including George Shuman, Jr., treasurer and financial vice president; Victoria K. Hann, Dean of Women, and Charles R. Ream, instructor in physical education and coach of lacrosse.

J. Milton Davidson, '33, served as chairman of the nominating committee and he named the slate of officers that was elected: Winfield C. Cook, '32, president; Mrs. Helen Dickie Morris, '33, vice president and Theodore H. Ely, '50, secretary-treasurer.

After Gilbert Malcolm spoke briefly, Win Cook wound up the session and announced that the 1960 dinner of the club would be held on the last Monday in April.

Opens Law Office

Moses K. Rosenberg, '38, '43L, has announced the opening of his office for the general practice of law and the association with him of Edward W. Rothman, '55, at 7 North Front St., Harrisburg.

Harrisburg Goes to Carlisle

by Robert G. Crist, '47

Mohammed Mette took his group to the Mountain April 23 and stirred up an enthusiastic response from an oft taciturn group. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Dickinson Club of Harrisburg. The move was made by President Howell Mette, who decided to convene the group in Carlisle in order to vary the usual diet of alumni dinners.

Responding immediately to Mette's "new approach," Dr. Edel, when called to give the President's Address, responded simply with "212 West High Street" and sat down. Taking the cue no one else spoke more than a sentence so that the Alumni could adjourn to a demonstration of the Bonisteel Planetarium by Professor Henry Yeagley, and a visit to the new Althouse Science Hall. There Professor Horace E. Rogers gathered many in the red-leather seats in the lecture room before showing them the laboratories and other new things. Faces not seen at Alumni Club affairs in years turned up at the affair to applaud Mette's program.

At the conclusion of the meeting the following officers were elected: President, John Roe, '48; first vice president, Robertson C. Cameron, '28; second vice president, Franklin C. Brown, '47; secretary, Arthur R. Mangan, '37; and treasurer, William M. Young, '21. Eighty persons attended.

Attends Davidson Inauguration

Dr. Raphael E. Rupp, '22, of Charlotte, N. C., was the delegate of Dickinson College at the inauguration of David Greer Martin as president of Davidson College in Davidson, N. C., on April 22.

On Editorial Staff

Dr. Lester A. Welliver, '18, and Carlyle R. Earp, '14, were members of the Editorial Staff of The Journal and Letters of Francis Asbury, published by The Abington Press, Nashville, and The Epworth Press, London, and issued last November.

Norman Twain: Broadway Producer

NORMAN TWAIN, '52, has reached success as a Broadway Play Producer and received many testimonies of approval from The New York Times to Variety. His future seems assured.

Three years spent at Dickinson where he majored in Political Science have come to be a sort of dream to him. Indeed life was then in many ways a dream-world. Here he was a member of Phi Epsilon Pi. Faced with realities he left Carlisle to find a future he did not contemplate.

After graduating two years later from Columbia College with an A.B. degree, Norman served in the Army. On leaving the service he studied and acted at the Cleveland Playhouse, becoming Staff Director. Summers he devoted to playing stock at The Totem Pole, near Hagerstown, and at Holyoke, Massachusetts. He has appeared in 12 movies, 75 TV shows, and a total of 40 different plays.

His acting career was set aside for producing, when in January 1958, associated with the York Theater in New York, Twain's first production was Tennessee William's Garden District. This autumn as co-producer he presented Maxwell Anderson's Golden Six. Previous to its opening Twain wrote an article for the New York Times outlining the problems involved in this production.

His debut as a Broadway Producer came in January 1959 when he brought back John Osborn's Epitaph for George Dillon which had died an unnatural theater death during the Newspaper Strike. Under Twain's enthusiastic leadership, each week saw increasing box office success, more numerous mentions of Twain himself in theatrical columns, and ceasing only when no theater could be contracted for to extend the engagement of Epitaph. That play in the meantime has been nominated for innumerable awards and this largely due to Twain's own state and encouragement of the play.

Norman Twain's plans go forward. In the next year half his time will be spent in Hollywood, half in Manhattan. While owning production rights to many ventures, first on his schedule for next year's Broadway line-up is to be And So, Farewell to arrive before Christmas.

Dickinsonians of this period will also be interested to know that Sanders Epstein, Esq. also '52 (Fordham Law '58) is Twain's theatrical lawyer.

Speaks At Washington College

Many leading historians were in the audience that heard Dr. Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., '35, deliver the annual George Washington convocation address at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., on February 21. He spoke on the subject "The Noble Chieftain and the Immortal Sage: Washington and Franklin."

Dr. Bell is associate editor of the Papers of Benjamin Franklin, a major task of research and editing on which he has been laboring since 1954 when he left the Dickinson faculty to become associated with the project at the request of Yale University and the American Philological Society, co-sponsors of the papers. He is an Alumni Trustee of the College.

Former Exchange Student Writes First Book

THE Library has received from Christof Wegelin, '41, a copy of his recently published book, The Image of Europe in Henry James, inscribed "In grateful memory of generous hospitality, 1940-41." Dr. Wegelin, a native of Switzerland, was sent at that time as an exchange student.

In the following year, he took his master's degree at the University of North Carolina and, in 1947, his Ph.D. at Johns Hopkins.

He has been a member of the faculties of English at Johns Hopkins, Princeton and, since 1952, the University of Oregon. He was a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Göttingen, Germany, 1955-56.

In 1946, he was married to Caroline Locke, then a teacher of modern dance at Smith College. They have two children, Bettina and Jacob Andreas.

Dr. Wegelin is the author of a number of articles on American and comparative literature. The Image of Europe in Henry James, published by the Southern Methodist University Press, is his first book. It will hold a place of special interest in the studies of recent years on the American in Europe and on the mutual influences of American and European points of view. The author, himself a cosmopolitan figure, is in a position to appreciate both with equal insight and sympathy. The result is a work which both emphasizes the greatness of Henry James as an artist, and links him the more firmly, despite his long expatriation, to our native literature.

Serves As Representative

Dr. G. Floyd Zimmermann, '15, served as the representative of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Charles Tinsley Thrift, Jr., as president of Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Fla., on March 6. For some years, Dr. Zimmermann has been a trustee of Florida Southern College.

CHRISTOF WEGELIN

Develops Glasses For Navy

A technical report was published in December by the National Bureau of Standards, U. S. Department of Commerce, "Glasses with High Refractive Indices and Dispersions" (STR 2271), describing work done by Dr. Edgar H. Hamilton, '25. It is another addition in his long list of published articles of his work in research.

A summary states "Glasses with high refractive indices and high dispersions have been developed by the National Bureau of Standards for the Navy. Suitable for use in periscopes and in aerial cameras—where weight can be an important factor—the glasses give the optical designer a wide selection of optical properties."

As a starting point for the study, use was made of the fact that glasses containing appreciable quantities of titanium oxide have high-refractive indices and dispersions, the report states. It then adds "The sodium titanium silicate system was investigated in detail by E. H. Hamilton and G. W. Cleek of the Bureau's glass laboratories, and found to produce glasses with the desired optical characteristics."

More In Who's Who

There are at least 60 Dickinsonians, exclusive of honorary alumni, in Who's Who. It has been learned that 17 names were omitted from the February number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS.

In some cases, names are listed in the current Who's Who, though biographies appeared in earlier editions. Some of the names appeared in issues of Who's Who not long after graduation from Dickinson and have been in succeeding volumes of the book over many years. This is true for example in the case of Dr. Edmund S. Soper, '98, former President of Ohio Wesleyan University.

The Class of 1906 and 1930 lead other classes with four names each, while 1908, 1910, 1915 and 1924 each have three. The 1906 men are Lynn Harold Harris, Dayton E. McClain, Myrl S. Myers and Harry M. Scarborough. The 1930 men are Tobias H. Dunkelberger and his college roommate, Vincent McCrossen, Alson J. Smith and Samuel W. Witwer, Jr.

It is interesting that with but nine exceptions every class from 1908 to 1939 has a living biographee in Volume 28 of Who's Who.

It may be there are more than the 60 reported in the two issues of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS. Anyone in Who's Who, whose name has not appeared in either of these accounts, is urged to write to the editor of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

The 17 names omitted from the last issue of the magazine are: Edmund D. Soper, '98; William A. Ganoe, '02; Herber G. Cochran, '03; J. Roy Stroock, '03; Charles Gilbert Beetem, '04; Lynn Harold Harris, '06; Myrl S. Myers, '06; Harry M. Scarborough, '06; Hugh B. Woodward, '08; Delancey Pelgrift, '10; J. Edgar Washabaugh, '10; G. Floyd Zimmerman, '15; J. Rolland Crompton, '20; Vincent McCrossen, '30; Alson J. Smith, '30, and David S. Holbrook, '32.

Send Out Ballots

More than 2,250 ballots have been sent to life members, annual members and class members of the General Alumni Association in the annual election for alumni trustee and Alumni Council. The votes are to be in the hands of the tellers by May 22.

The three nominees for Alumni Trustee are Thomas C. Mills, '19, York, Pa.; H. Monroe Ridgely, '26, Hagerstown, Md., and John Milton Davidson, '33, Philadelphia. One of the three will be chosen for a four-year term as Alumni Trustee on the Board of Trustees at the college for the term to expire in 1963.

Five of the ten nominees for the Alumni Council will be elected to three-year terms for the term to expire in 1962.

The ten nominees for the Alumni Council are Charles F. Irwin, Jr., '27, Emmaus, Pa.; Bernard L. Green, '32, Trenton, N. J.; Charles H. Davidson, '38, Chambersburg, Pa.; Clarence B. Hendrickson, '38, Lancaster, Pa.; Mary Snyder Hertzler, '42, Carlisle, Pa.; Dr. C. Law McCabe, '43, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Doris H. Spangenberg, '45, Washington, D. C.; Robert G. Crist, '47, Camp Hill, Pa.; Howell C. Mette, '48, Harrisburg, Pa., and C. Weston Overholt, '50, Philadelphia.

Chosen Association President

Dr. Victor B. Hann, '28, was installed president of the National Association of Methodist Hospitals and Homes at a convention in St. Louis on January 29.

Dr. Hann will preside over this organization of 229 Methodist hospitals and homes for one year.

He is a member of the Central Pennsylvania Conference and with Mrs. Hann has been in charge of the Methodist Home for Children in Mechanicsburg, Pa., for 17 years. Previously, he served St. Paul's Church, Harrisburg; Grove-Lewistown Charge; Watsonstown Charge and New Bloomfield.

Two Professors Honored in First Year at College

TWO veteran teachers have been honored by the College since coming to the faculty within the past year. Prof. Joseph Schiffman, formerly of Long Island University, became chairman of the English Department in February. Prof. Henry L. Yeagley, a teacher of physics and astronomy at Penn State University for 30 years, was named to the new Joseph Priestley Chair of Natural Philosophy in March.

Prof. Schiffman graduated from Long Island University in 1937, earned a master's degree at Columbia and his Ph.D. at New York University. He taught at L. I. U. for 13 years and was coordinator of the university's Graduate American Studies Program at the time of his appointment to the Dickinson faculty in September as professor of English.

A literary historian and critic, he is the editor of a volume of readings for the American Heritage Series of the Liberal Arts Press and the author of the preface to the Harper Modern Classic edition of Edward Bellamy's Looking Backward. He has served on occasion as manuscript adviser for the Harvard University Press, Duke University Press, American Literature magazine and others. His articles and book reviews number more than a score.

Prof. Schiffman serves on the bibliography committee of the Modern Language Association of America. For the past two years he was president of the American Studies Association of Metropolitan New York. As head of the English Department, he succeeds Dean Frederic W. Ness who held the chairmanship for a number of months on an interim basis.

The new Joseph Priestley Chair to be occupied by Prof. Yeagley was created by an endowment gift from S. Walter Stauffer, '12, a trustee of the College, and William H. Baker, both of York, Pa., in memory of Salome Baker Stauffer who died last November. She was the wife of Mr. Stauffer and the sister of Mr. Baker.

The chair is still another memorial to Dickinson to the 18th century theologian and scientist whose services to mankind are recalled each year at the College through its Priestley Award and Priestley Day celebration. The term "natural philosophy" as applied to the chair is in keeping with the terminology of Priestley's day. The term was used for natural science, and it appears in Dickinson catalogues as late as 1823 to indicate science courses.

Prof. Yeagley came to the faculty last July 1 as chairman of the Department of Physics and director of the Oscar O. Bonisteel Planetarium. He planned and supervised the complete modernization of the old Tome Scientific Building and the installation of thousands of dollars of the latest equipment for the teaching of physics and astronomy.

The story of his appointment to the faculty was carried in a previous issue of THE ALUMNUS.

Spring Sports

Dickinson is having another good spring sports season. The track team was undefeated through its first six meets and the tennis team lost only one match out of the first seven. The baseball nine, getting strong pitching but weak hitting, won four and lost five while the lacrosse team, in contrast to the great record of last season, was able to defeat only Gettysburg in the first five outings.

At Rutgers Inauguration

Linette E. Lee, '09, was the delegate of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Dr. Mason Welch Gross as president of Rutgers—the State University, at New Brunswick, N. J., on May 6.

Miss Lee is also serving as chairman of the Class of 1909 reunion to be held at the coming commencement.

Receives Two Honors

Sidney W. Bookbinder, '35, lawyer of Burlington, N. J., was given unexpected recognition in January and again in March.

In January he was given the Distinguished Service Award as the "Outstanding Boss of the Year" by the Greater Burlington Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In March he was named "Man of the Month" by the Delaware Valley Council News. This organization is a citizen group whose mission is to act as a sounding board to assure the orderly growth of the Delaware Valley. There are representatives in the council from eight counties in New Jersey, five from Pennsylvania and the State of Delaware.

Back in 1957, he received an award from the Chambers of Commerce of Burlington County for Distinguished Service.

Since his graduation from Rutgers University Law School and nearly four years of service with the Army Air Force in World War II, "Sid" has lived a full life in his profession in civic work, veterans organizations, service clubs, community and Masonic organizations.

Named Group Leader

Chester H. Wagner, '35, has been appointed group leader to France for the 1959 summer program of The Experiment in International Living. He is teacher of French and wrestling coach at The Lawrenceville School in New Jersey.

For graduate studies, Chet studied French at the University of Pennsylvania, Middlebury College, Université Laval in Quebec and holds a Diplôme d'Enseignement Pratique du Français from Laval University.

During the summer of 1956, he received a grant from the Lawrenceville School and spent twelve weeks in England, France and Switzerland. While in France he studied at the University of Grenoble.

Acquires Auto Agency

J. Franklin Gayman, '42, has acquired his second automobile agency. For some years he has held a Chevrolet-Oldsmobile-Buick dealership in Mercersburg, Pa., under the name of Gayman Chevrolet Company.

Last month he became the Chevrolet-Oldsmobile dealer in Chambersburg and is operating that business under the name Frank Gayman Chevrolet, Inc.

The automobile business is not new to Frank, though he graduated from the Law School in 1948 after service in World War II as a patrol bomber pilot in the Pacific and is a member of the law firm of Hanson and Hanson in Harrisburg. His father, B. Franklin Gayman was a Chevrolet dealer from 1915, when that car first appeared on the market, until just prior to the last war.

Frank is a trustee of the Mercersburg Methodist Church, a Mason, a member of Harrisburg Consistory and Zembo Temple of the Shrine, and of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He is active in the Lions Club, a vice president of the Mercersburg Chamber of Commerce and a member of the school board there. He is also active in veteran's and professional associations.

He is married to the former Mary Elizabeth Fields, '43. They have five children.

Heads Safety Education

Robert R. Grainger, '37, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Association for Safety Education at its annual conference last month. He is driving instructor at the high school in Chester, Pa.

Bob is a deacon in the Glenolden Congregational Church, president of the Delaware Valley Laymen's Association and former president of the Interboro Senior-High School Parent-Teacher's Association.

When he was at the college, he played football, became a member of Beta Theta Pi, ODK and TKA.

Leaves Insurance Field

Thomas A. Smith, Jr., '09, vice president of the Commercial and The Metropolitan Casualty Insurance Company, retired last September 30 after 31 years with the Loyalty Companies.

Born in Ridgely, Md., he graduated from the College in 1909 and then received an LL.B. degree from the University of Maryland and a Master's degree from the College. At Dickinson he became a member of S.A.E. Fraternity.

He entered the insurance field in 1912 with the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company in the judicial department. In 1917 he went to the Globe Indemnity Company and in 1920 joined a local agency.

He joined the Loyalty companies in 1921 as associate manager of the fidelity and surety department of the Commercial Insurance Company. He was promoted to manager of the department and appointed an assistant secretary of the Commercial in 1924. In 1929 he was appointed a third vice president of Commercial and The Metropolitan Casualty Insurance Company, becoming a second vice president in 1937. He was appointed a second vice president of all Loyalty companies in 1956 and a vice president in 1958.

During World War I he served with the Army in France.

Speaks At Thiel College

Dr. Frederic W. Ness, '33, academic vice-president and dean of the College, delivered the address at Thiel College's 93rd Founders Day convocation February 5, using as his title "Higher Education—Higher and Higher." He spoke on some of the problems confronting liberal arts colleges as they prepare to meet the challenge of mounting enrollments. In December, Dean Ness was elected to the executive committee of the Eastern Association of College Deans and to the governing board of the Cooperative Bureau for Teachers.

Two New Grid Opponents

Dickinson and Washington & Lee will meet in football for the first time next Fall. The game on October 3 in Lexington, Va., will open the season for the Red and White, which will play a total of eight games, four of them on Biddle Field.

A two-year agreement with W. & L. calls for a game in Carlisle in 1960. The Southern college was something of a football power until four years ago when it discontinued all athletic subsidies.

Lebanon Valley returns to the schedule after a lapse of 13 years. Dickinson will play the Dutchmen on November 7 on Biddle Field and this will be the Homecoming game. Home games will also be played with F. & M., Johns Hopkins and Ursinus.

The complete schedule as arranged by Prof. Eavenson, the athletic director, and approved by the Board of Athletic Control follows: Oct. 3, W. & L., away; Oct. 10, Haverford, away; Oct. 17, F. & M., home; Oct. 24, Wagner, away; Oct. 31, Allegheny, away; Nov. 7, Lebanon Valley, home; Nov. 14, Johns Hopkins, home; Nov. 21, Ursinus, home.

Wins Foundation Scholarship

Gene Evans, '49, a star of Dickinson's great basketball teams of the post-war years, who graduated with Phi Beta Kappa membership, has not lost his formula for combining scholarship and athletics successfully.

In March, he received a National Science Foundation scholarship for a full year's graduate study at the University of Michigan just as the Carlisle High School basketball team he coaches won the conference championship for the fifth time in eight years under his tutelage.

Evans, who already holds a master's degree in education, hopes to earn an M.A. in mathematics during his year at Ann Arbor. His school has given him a year's leave of absence. He will enter the university in September.

Bulletin Lauds Schoolman's Service

ROBERT E. MINNICH, '19, of Co-hoes, N. Y., was the subject of a personality sketch featured in the December, 1958 issue of the Bulletin to the Schools, published by the New York State Education Department. He is an associate in school attendance in the Education Department.

The article was one of a series of sketches of staff members headed "How Well Do You Know Robert E. Minnich?" It was published on the back cover and the inside back cover. On the outside was a photograph with the explanatory cut-lines "Grandfather Bobby with his only grandson, Steve."

Born in Wiconisco, Pa., the son of a miner, he started working as a breaker boy in the mines during vacations while he was attending high school. Evenings he added to his savings by barbering, which paid a dollar a week at the time.

Though he arrived in Carlisle with $50 in his pocket, he distinguished himself scholastically and as a member of the varsity football team. He was also on the debating team, won several oratorical contests, was editor-in-chief of the Dickinsonian and graduated in 1919 with an A. B. degree. There was an interruption in his college career by service as a second lieutenant in World War I.

Following his graduation, he taught in the schools at Argyle, N. Y. and then became principal at Wells, N. Y. For three years he was supervising principal at Fort Plain and fourteen years as superintendent at Tupper Lake, in the heart of the Adirondacks. He has been with the State Education Department since 1946.

Active in professional organizations, Bob is a life member of the National Education Association and a member of the State Teachers Association, the International Association of Pupil Personnel Workers and the New York State Attendance Association. He is presently on the board of directors of the education chapter of the New York State Civil Service Employees Association.

ROBERT E. MINNICK

At Dickinson he became a member of Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He is a Mason and a Shriner.

He holds a 40-year membership in the American Legion, joining in the year of its organization. From 1933 to 1944, he was New York State Commander of the American Legion and the following year was a member of the National Executive Committee in company with such interesting personalities as Paul McNutt, former Governor of Indiana and later Secretary General of the Philippines; and Louis Johnson, who became Secretary of Defense.

In 1923, he married Maude Lipe. They have two married children, a son, who is teaching music in San Bernardino, Calif., and a daughter who lives in Youngstown, O.

At Tulsa Inauguration

Dr. Lewis E. Stover, '51, was the delegate of Dickinson College at the inauguration of Dr. Ben Graf Henneke as president of the University of Tulsa, Tulsa, Okla. on April 16.

Life Membership Roster Lists 2,106 Names

THE roster of Life Members of the General Alumni Association, published annually in the May number of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS by direction of the Alumni Council, lists a total of 2,106 names on the following pages.

Since the February number of the magazine was printed, ten new lifers have been enrolled to make a gain of 158 for the year and to raise the total from the 1,948 names published last year to 2,106.

The Class of 1950 added four names during the year and leads other classes by a wide margin with a total of 78 lifers. The Class of 1948 continued the gain it had a year ago and added ten names during the year to jump from fifth place in the standing to second with a total of 58 lifers, just nosing out 1953 which dropped from second place to third though it gained four lifers and now has 57. The Class of 1929 added four but dropped from third place to fourth in the standing with a total of 55.

The Class of 1934 moved from eighth to fifth place by adding seven additional lifers.

While the ten top classes are shown in the box accompanying this article a number of classes could easily get into the swing. The Class of 1952 has 44 lifers and five classes have 44 each, they are 1930, 1936, 1937, 1941 and 1943.

Life Membership now costs $50. It may be paid in one sum or in installments of $12.50 a year for four years. Checks should be made payable to Dickinson College and mailed to THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS, West College, Carlisle, Pa. Life Membership ends the payment of annual dues and carries with it a life subscription to THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS.

All payments to Life Membership are deposited to the Lemuel Towers Appold Life Membership Fund and become a part of the permanent endowment of the college. The principal is invested by the finance committee of the Board of Trustees and the income paid to the treasurer of the General Alumni Association and is used largely for the cost of printing THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS.

The new lifers enrolled since February are as follows:

1914

Dr. Thomas H. Ford, who retired in 1956 after 25 years as Superintendent of the School District of Reading, Pa.

1915

Russell R. McWhinney, who lives in Homestead, Pa., and practices law with offices in the Berger Building, Pittsburgh.

1934

Wm. Chritzman Brewer, physician who has offices in Greencastle, Pa.

1948

Howard J. Maxwell, member of the firm of Steele, Collins & Maxwell, attorneys-at-law, with offices at 50 State Street, Hartford, Conn.

1950

Raymond A. Kaufmann who is owner of the Tech-Industro Company in Philadelphia and lives in Wayne.

Theodore H. Ely, of Malvern, Pa., who is in his sixth year with Bertholon-Rowland, Inc., insurance brokers of Philadelphia.

Louise R. Hauer, of Drexel Hill, Pa.

Mrs. Richard E. Joiner, who is the former Gail K. Bruce and is a chemist at General Motors in Trenton, N. J.

Carolyn McMullin Rensch, who with her husband, Calvin Rensch, has been attending the Instituté de Linguistics in preparation for mission work in Mexico.

Mrs. Ernest D. Zerbest, the former Sarah E. Travis, who has been living at Fort Carlson, Colo., after her husband's return from 14 months service in Korea. From October, 1957 to June, 1958, she taught at St. Mary's School, Lebanon, Pa., and then was Occupational Therapy Assistant at Governor Bacon Health Center, Delaware City, Del.

Makes Gift to Library

The long and fruitful career in Christian scholarship of Dr. Edmund D. Soper, '98, echoes in many ways that of one of his teachers at Dickinson, Henry Martyn Harmon. In the Library's Dickinsoniana Collection, shelved beside the books written by Dr. Harmon, there is a Greek-English lexicon of 1889, Dr. Harmon's gift to Edmund D. Soper, and Dr. Soper's gift to the College. In it the recipient wrote, on Sept. 1, 1896, this tribute:

"Henry Martyn Harmon, D.D., LL.D., was born in Anne Arundel County, Maryland, in 1822. He was graduated from Dickinson College in 1848. After teaching in several institutions, he was called to fill the chair of Ancient Languages at his Alma Mater in 1870. This professorship, somewhat modified in scope in the course of the years, was held by Prof. Harmon until 1896, when he retired from his active duties and was made Professor Emeritus. He lived but a short time after his retirement, being called away on July 2, 1897. He went to enjoy the realization of the meaning of the words he so often used in ending a prayer, 'The power of an endless life'."

A Woodrow Wilson Fellow

A Dickinson College senior who spent much of his youth under war clouds in his native Estonia and Germany is one of 1,200 superior American and Canadian students selected as Woodrow Wilson Fellows for the 1959-60 term.

The fellowship award of $1,500 plus full cost of tuition and other fees will enable Jaak Vilms, of Seabrook, N.J., to do graduate work in mathematics at the University of Chicago next term. He will graduate with high honors in June.

The fellows were chosen by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation from 7,000 candidates nominated by their teachers in a nation-wide talent hunt for future college teachers. The program, backed by a Ford Foundation $25 million grant, is a phase of the national effort to meet the critical shortage of qualified teachers.

Vilms was tutored by his mother while the family were refugees in Germany after fleeing from Estonia to escape the invading Russians. The family came to the United States in 1949.

On Same Page

The names of two alumni who were students of the college at the same time appeared on the same page of The Sun of Baltimore, Md. on Sunday, April 12. They were Dr. Kenneth R. Rose, '44, pastor of Lovely Lane Methodist Church, and Miss Marion Bell, '44.

The page contained a three column photograph of the Enoch Pratt Free Library and showed Miss Marion Bell, an administrative assistant of the library, at the desk answering "questions on various subjects ranging from pet care to travel, housing and solar heating." The picture was to illustrate a story on the library.

The name of Dr. Rose appeared in an account of 101 figure oil painting done by Howard Frech, Baltimore artist. It is a mural of John Wesley preaching to the masses for Wesley Theological Seminary Chapel in Washington. The story says that Dr. Rose aided the artist in research work for the portrait.

Chaplain At Air Base

Capt. Robert H. Beckley, '43, has been named chaplain of the Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. He was formerly at Vincent AFB in Arizona.

He entered the military service in May, 1952 after serving Methodist Churches in Wayne and Germantown, Pa. He has done graduate work at the Temple University School of Theology and Drew University since his graduation from the College.

He is married to the former Miss Doris E. Luckenbill of Kutztown, Pa. They have three children, Drew, 10; Susan, 8, and Dean, 4.
