MAY, 1960

Many Features for 187th Commencement

THE Hon. Wilber M. Brucker, Secretary of the Army, and Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., teacher of an estimated 80 per cent of the living alumni of the College, will share the spotlight at the 187th Commencement, June 3-5.

Secretary Brucker will be the speaker at the graduating exercises on Sunday afternoon, June 5, at 3 o'clock in the Alumni Gymnasium. The Baccalaureate preacher will be Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, minister of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City. The service will be held Sunday morning in the Allison Methodist Church-Dickinson Chapel.

Dr. Wing, who retired after 45 years of teaching Dickinsonians, will receive an honorary degree. Old grads will join in the tribute to him at the Alumni Luncheon to be held Saturday, June 4. He will also be an honored guest at the dinner-meeting of the Alumni Council on Friday, June 3.

Dr. Wing invites his former students and their families to visit Denny 204, the classroom he has occupied for the past 43 years, on Saturday at 2 p.m. for a final class session, when he will lead a discussion "down memory lane." Among the topics will be "Changes at Dickinson over the years," "The joys and agonies of being a student 25 years ago" and "What Dickinson charms do you recall?"

Master of ceremonies at the Alumni Luncheon on Saturday noon in the gymnasium will be Andrew W. Kerr, '00, who will be on the campus for the 60th reunion of his class. He is a former coach of Colgate University and for

Be Sure To Register

All alumni returning for Commencement are urged to register in Old West upon reaching the campus. Go to rooms 9 and 10 on the ground floor. As alumni sign in their names will be posted on bulletin boards there by classes. Tickets will be available for all events for which tickets are required. Registration headquarters will also have information on hotel, motel and tourist home reservations. Be sure to register, thereby making it possible for your classmates to know you are on the campus.

many years has been the promoter of the East-West Shrine football game in San Francisco.

Members of the 1910 Class will have the seat of honor on the platform at the Alumni Luncheon and will be the guests of the College at a luncheon on Sunday. Other classes which have scheduled reunions are 1910, 1915, 1920, 1925, 1935, 1940 and 1950.

Commencement this year will be followed by the first Alumni College, a project of the General Alumni Association providing for the continuing education of Dickinsonians and their families.

The Alumni College, June 5-7, offers classes in three broad areas of human knowledge—humanities, science, and social studies. It will open Sunday evening with a picnic supper, a statement of purpose by Dr. Carl C. Chambers, '29, dean of the Alumni College, and the first class session. There will be two classes in each subject area, discussion periods and language classes for children. Alumni will live and dine in Morgan Hall. The Alumni College will adjourn on Tuesday noon.

To enroll in the Alumni College, Dickinsonians should write immediately to the College. Reading materials will be mailed this month.

The meetings of the Board of Trustees will be held on Thursday, June 2, on the campus. Trustees will dine with the faculty that evening.

Friday, June 3, is Senior Day, opening with the traditional "Passing of the Old Stone Steps" oration and continuing with the induction of the Class of 1960 into the General Alumni Association and a tea for senior women and a stag for senior men.

Alumni should make a point to see the special exhibits in Bosler Hall. These will open officially Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. The Phi Beta Kappa meeting will be held that morning at 9:30 in Memorial Hall. The President's Reception is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, 3 to 4:30.

Notice to Alumni

The Alumni Council special committee on alumni dues hereby serves notice, as required by the constitution and by-laws of the General Alumni Association, that it will present the following proposals for Council action on Friday, June 3:

1. The Alumni Council recommends to the Board of Trustees that, beginning with September, 1961, a part of the regular charges for undergraduates shall include sufficient funds to cover the cost of life membership in the General Alumni Association, to be computed at the rate of one-quarter per year for four years; that these funds be placed in the Lemuel Towers Appold Life Member-

Freshman for Aye

A few days after Paul "Irish" Walker, '21, visited the campus for the Phi Kappa Sigma pledge banquet in February, the following item appeared in the Harrisburg Home Star, a newspaper he owns and edits, under the headline "A Freshman Tonight,":

"You sit there among the Freshmen, who have just been pledged to your college fraternity, you hobnob with the undergraduates, you say a few words when you're called on, you glow inside when you sit down amid applause and laughter and you suddenly realize, a little misty-eyed, that the old alumnus, no matter how gray and timeworn, is in some mysterious way, a Freshman tonight . . . Joe College never quite grows up . . . and the walls of ivy are always green."

It was signed SEC, Paul's nom de plume.

ship by the treasurer of the College.

2. That Article I Section 3 of the By-Laws of the General Alumni Association be amended to provide for an additional classification of life membership applicable to undergraduates at the rate of ten dollars per year, or forty (40) dollars prior to graduation. The additional membership classification will permit easier distribution of payments over four years, and the loss of ten (10) dollars in life membership fees will be more than offset by the additional memberships.

Law Teacher Promoted

Frederick K. Spies, '50, '52L, who is teaching at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, has been promoted to associate professor of law. He was on the faculty of the Dickinson School of Law from 1953 to 1956.

Four to Receive Honorary Degrees

HONORARY degrees will be conferred at the 187th Commencement exercises upon a member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet, a distinguished New York clergyman, a beloved member of the Dickinson faculty and an alumnus outstanding in the field of science.

The exercises will be held Sunday afternoon, June 5, at 3 o'clock in the Alumni Gymnasium, with President Malcolm presiding. In addition to the four honorary degrees, baccalaureate degrees will be awarded to a class of approximately 200.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker will be the speaker and receive the Doctor of Laws degree; Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, minister of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, Doctor of Literature; Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., senior member of the Dickinson faculty, who retires in June, Doctor of Humane Letters, and Dr. Ray H. Crist, '20, director of research of the Union Carbide Research Institute, Doctor of Science.

Wilber M. Brucker

Secretary Brucker, a lawyer and former governor of Michigan, was serving as general counsel of the Department of Defense when President Eisenhower appointed him to the Cabinet in June, 1955. He was the Attorney General of Michigan from 1928 until elected governor of the state in 1930 for a term of two years.

He has a background of Army experience extending back to enlistment in the Michigan National Guard in 1915 and service on the Mexican Border in 1916 and 1917. As a second lieutenant of Infantry, he served in France with the Rainbow Division in all of the Division's engagements including Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne. Cited for bravery under fire, he was awarded the Silver Star.

Born in Saginaw, Mich., and a law graduate of the University of Michigan, he became prosecuting attorney for Saginaw County in 1923 and the Assistant Attorney General of the state in 1927. After his term of governor expired in 1933 he practiced law in Detroit until appointment as general counsel of the Department of Defense in 1954.

WILBER M. BRUCKER

John Sutherland Bonnell

Dr. Bonnell, who will preach the baccalaureate sermon, has been minister of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, since 1935. One of America's most famous pulpit speakers, he has for 19 years conducted a weekly radio program and for the last nine years he has also been in charge of National Vespers and Pilgrimage, network programs of the American Broadcasting Company.

He is visiting lecturer at Princeton Theological Seminary on "The Cure of Souls," a course he has conducted for over 17 years. In 1941 he went to Britain as a good will ambassador of American churches to the British churches and while there addressed the Assemblies of the Church of Scotland and the Free Church of Scotland. He has visited Europe on seven different occasions, studying the social and religious situations in most of the countries of that continent.

Born in Canada and educated there, he served with the Canadian Army in World War I and was twice wounded in action. After the war he studied for the ministry at Pine Hill Divinity Hall, in Nova Scotia, and graduated with high diploma honors. He served two Canadian pastorates until called to his present charge 24 years ago.

Dr. Bonnell is the author of nine widely read books.

Ray Henry Crist

Following his graduation from the College in 1920, Dr. Crist became an instructor at Williamsport-Dickinson Seminary, now Lycoming College, went on to Columbia University to teach and for graduate study and for the last fifteen years has played a role in the nation's scientific advancement as a research chemist.

He received his Ph.D. degree in chemistry at Columbia in 1927 and taught at the university until 1945 when he was appointed director of research of the Columbia-Manhattan District Project which developed the atomic bomb. Joining the Union Carbide Chemicals Company the next year as senior research chemist, he became manager of the Research and Development Department of Union Carbide Olefins Company in 1952 and last December was made director of the Union Carbide Research Institute.

A former associate editor of the Journal of Chemical Physics, he has written a textbook on laboratory work in general chemistry and more than 20 articles in the fields of photochemistry and reaction kinetics.

A trustee of Morris Harvey College, in Charleston, W. Va., he serves on the Commission on Education and the Commission on Constitutional Revision of the West Virginia Legislature and has been a member of local, state and national citizens committees on public education. A Methodist, he is a member of Theta Chi and Sigma Xi.

Senior Faculty Member Retires In June

By Lois Mecum, '61, Editor of The Dickinsonian

"MR. CHAIRMAN" of Dickinson College, Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., will retire in June after 45 years of distinguished teaching at the College. He passed his 70th birthday last December 8.

Member of the faculty since 1915, chairman of the department of Greek from that year until 1940, chairman of the department of history from 1940 to the present and Robert Coleman Professor of History since 1948, he has taught at Dickinson for a longer period than any other teacher in its history with the exception of the late C. William Prettyman, who also taught for 45 years, from 1899 until his elevation to the presidency in 1944.

Dr. Wing said to me, "If a student develops affection for and loyalty to an institution in four years, I have perhaps developed ten times that much feeling. I find Dickinson worthy of all that one can do for her."

He has indeed done much for her. To the classroom and to every college task he has brought tremendous physical energy, a profound capacity for thoroughness and, above all, high scholarship. And he is a friend of the students.

We applaud for their fine judgment the editors who have listed Dr. Wing in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in American Education, Who's Who in Pennsylvania.

Dickinson's best known teacher figures he has taught at least 80 per cent of all the living alumni. He said that he and Mrs. Wing knew all of the students during his first 25 years on the faculty.

Students revere and admire him. They have demonstrated their high regard by admitting him into three of their honor societies—Omicron Delta Kappa, Tau Kappa Alpha and Pi Gamma Mu.

Alumni revere and admire him. The Class of 1923 made him an honorary member. The Class of 1933 presented his portrait to the College two years ago.

It hangs today in the foyer of Bosler Hall with the portraits of other great Dickinson teachers.

The name of "Mr. Chairman" can be applied to Dr. Wing not only for his departmental chairmanships but also for his membership, often as chairman, on virtually every committee of the faculty at one time or another.

He has long been chairman of the committee on chapel programs.

During the past two years he was chairman of the faculty reappraisal steering committee and served as editor of the self-evaluation report prepared in anticipation of the appraisal of the College last February by a team from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

He was chairman of the Committee of Eight which functioned from 1936 to 1938 during which it made a thorough-going study of the curriculum and brought about a revision that gave the curriculum its modern character, with minors and majors and course distribution.

In addition, he was manager of the book store from 1920 to 1947, secretary of the faculty from 1940 to 1946, debate coach and class dean. He has been the confidant and right arm of presidents, including the present one.

During the difficult World War II period he was the faculty liaison through whom all relations between the College and the armed forces pertaining to recruitment, deferments, etc., were carried on. He was the assistant director of the Army Aviation Students Program that virtually took over the College in 1943 and 1944.

He is the president of Dickinson's Pennsylvania Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and has been a delegate to eight of the nine Triennial Councils of the society since 1928.

Capable, energetic, thorough-going administrator that he is, students think of him first of all as a teacher, and if it is true that a college is measured by the worth of its faculty, then Dr. Wing has played a major part in bringing Dickinson to its present strong position in the academic world.

Although born (1889) in Minneapolis, Minn., he is descended from a long line of Yankee whaling captains and grew up in and around New Bedford, Mass., which was a whaling center.

He went through Harvard in three years, graduating in 1909 at the age of 19 with Phi Beta Kappa honors and a major in Latin and Greek. The University of Wisconsin awarded him the A.M. in 1911 and the Ph.D. in 1915. During the 1913-1914 period he traveled about Germany, Italy, Greece and Turkey and studied at the American School of Classical Studies, in Athens.

Dr. Wing came to Dickinson the next year to teach Greek and history. He has also taught Latin, German, archeology, geography and a course in debate. But history is the only subject he has taught throughout the 45 years.

From 1916 to 1946 his ancient history course was required of all freshmen and during this time he became famous on campus for his library assignments and the 3 by 5 cards with which he loaded down his students. If he didn't make the library popular, he made it well known in an era when the library was not quite the center of learning at Dickinson it is today.

Dr. Wing married Helen Leonard Gilman, of Madison, Wisc., in 1916. Before her death in 1952 she headed the committee which organized the Mary Dickinson Club, auxiliary of the College. Their son, H. Gilman Wing, '48, followed the example of his father by earning membership in Phi Beta Kappa. The son is now in New Delhi, India, as third secretary of the American Embassy.

The faculty's senior member has written on the Athenian quota lists and the Epeiros-Albania border dispute. He has written many book reviews, articles in historical journals, geneological researches and on Methodism in Carlisle.

He is an active member of Allison Methodist Church and a Sunday School teacher, being also a leader in Christian education work in Carlisle. He is one of the area's best known Masons and often appears as speaker on anniversary and other special occasions in masonry.

We asked Dr. Wing about his plans for the future. He did not make a definite reply. He is planning the usual summer trip to the cottage outside New Bedford jointly owned by himself and his brother.

Alumnus Is Nixon Aide

A key man in Vice-President Richard Nixon's campaign for the Presidency is James R. Shepley, '39, who was picked by the candidate in April to advise him on policy and to head a small research staff. An author and one of America's leading newspapermen, Shepley is on leave from Time magazine to help Nixon shape his speeches and to direct publicity. The College gave Shepley the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters at the 1959 Commencement exercises.

Two Honored by Philadelphia Alumni

Dr. and Mrs. Boyd Lee Spahr, President Malcolm and Winfield C. Cook at the Philadelphia Dinner Honoring the President of the Board of Trustees and the President of the College.

NEARLY 200 Dickinsonians and guests attended the annual dinner-meeting of the Dickinson Club of Philadelphia, April 25, at the George Washington Motor Lodge, Valley Forge.

The dinner was a twin-tribute to Boyd Lee Spahr, president of the Board of Trustees, whose 80th birthday was just a week earlier, and President Malcolm.

Those attending from the College were President Malcolm, Prof. Herbert Wing, Jr., who gave the invocation, Prof. Ralph Schecter and Albert Walker, alumni secretary. An octet from the Men's Glee Club performed.

Winfield C. Cook, '32, presided at the dinner, which attracted the largest number of Dickinsonians in recent years. Classes represented spanned nearly 60 years, from Dr. Spahr's Class of 1900 to several graduate students who were his guests.

The program featured a birthday cake for Dr. Spahr and informal talks by Dr. Spahr and President Malcolm. The former drew upon his intimate knowledge of college affairs to trace the road the College has taken over the past half-century.

President Malcolm spoke of the need for alumni support of the College, and the importance of alumni continuing their education and sending outstanding young men and women to Dickinson.

He also re-created the impersonation of Sir Harry Lauder, Scottish minstrel man, which he made famous as a student. His pianist was J. Ohrum Small, '15, who accompanied him in their Glee Club days as students.

The Men's Glee Club octet featured an impromptu performance by the wife of J. Watson Pedlow, '29, Mrs. Pedlow sang the soprano obligato of "Lida Rose," from The Music Man.

Lawyer Speaks at Florida Dinner

WITH Vice-President and Mrs. Shuman and former Dean of Women Josephine B. Meredith as honor guests, Dickinsonians of the Florida Gulf Coast Alumni Club held their annual dinner at Daneks, in St. Petersburg, Feb. 26. Some of the members traveled more than 100 miles to attend.

Dean M. Hoffman, II, '41, club president, turned the gavel over to Clair A. Davis, '22, a State Attorney, who sparked the dinner with bar association stories and affectionate expressions for alma mater.

Dr. Shuman gave a glowing report of the College with more students in the upper scholastic brackets than ever and a fine campus spirit. Winfield Cook, '32, head of the Alumni Fund, was present with Mrs. Cook and collaborated with her in showing colored movies of Russia and other European countries they visited.

Officers serve two-year term, and there were no terms expiring at this meeting. To succeed Mrs. Louise Summalt Richards, '24, of Clearwater, who resigned as secretary, Mrs. Ann Swensen White, '44, of 2100 Robinson Drive, North, St. Petersburg, was named.

Present were: Harry C. Lowther, '98, Mrs. Lowther and Horace L. Jacobs, Jr., '13, from Orlando; Chester C. Holloway, '11, and Mrs. Holloway, Clermont; Mrs. Josephine B. Meredith, '01, DeLeon Springs; Dr. Donald H. Foster, '49 and Mrs. Foster, '51, Tampa; Peter M. Fludovich, '29, Clearwater; Mrs. Florence Everhart Kidder, '22, Indian Rocks Beach, and from St. Petersburg, Clair A. Davis, '22, Dean M. Hoffman, II, '41, and Mrs. Hoffman; Dayton E. McClain, '06, and Mrs. McClain, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Niele, Thomas C. Mills, '19, and Mrs. Mills, Harry P. Swain, '07, Dean M. Hoffman, '02, and Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Ann Swensen White, '45, and her mother, and Mrs. Fred Ermold, '16.

The club authorized the executive committee to levy nominal annual dues.

Alumnae Hold Theater Party

In the wake of the season's heaviest snowfall twenty-five members and friends of the Dickinson Alumnae Club from Long Island and New Jersey journeyed to New York on March 5 for the club's annual luncheon and theater party. After lunching at the Schraft Restaurant at 1496 Broadway, the group saw "The Miracle Worker" at the Playhouse Theater. Tentative plans were made to hold the club's Fall luncheon in New Brunswick, N.J.

Alumnae who attended the theater party were: Jessie Gruber Beard, '13; Ruth Cain Conner, '30; Pauline Bloser Gibson, '40; Edna Moyer Hand, '20; Christine K. Kahn, '34; Alta Kimmel, '23; Marcia Matthews Knapp, '43; Linette Lee '09; Mildred Masonheimer Long '21; Grace Dietz Miller '21; Ethel Riker Rickenbacher '21; Elinor Green Spencer '30; Grace Hertzler Towers '07; Carolyn Snyder Turk '45; Mildred Wier Woodward '20.

Clubs Elects New President

William S. Bender, '30, of Pittsburgh, a lawyer, was elected president of the Dickinson Club of Pittsburgh at its annual meeting March 31 in the H-Y-P Club. There was a fine attendance of 65 persons.

Bender succeeds James G. Park, '52. William D. Gordon, '36, vice-president, and Mrs. Helen Mercer Witt, '55, secretary-treasurer, were reelected. Speakers from the College were Dr. George Shuman, Jr., financial vic-president, who talked about the proposed Fraternity Quadrangle project, and Prof. David B. Eavenson, director of athletics.

Delaware Club Takes on Project

THE Dickinson Club of Delaware met on March 31 in Wilmington. Nearly sixty Dickinsonians were present. Class representation spanned forty-five years, from Mrs. O. E. Adamson, '12, to David A. Skeel, '57. President Malcolm and Albert Walker, making his first appearance at alumni secretary, represented the college.

President Malcolm reminisced about the former days of Dickinson, pointed to the 1922 catalogue as containing the greatest faculty names in College history, and reported on recent developments at the College. He was introduced by J. Orhum Small, '15, his classmate and piano accompanist when both were on the Dickinson Glee Club. The two re-enacted their student act, when Red did impersonations of Sir Harry Lauder and Small accompanied him. Walker showed colored slides of the campus, college buildings and fraternities.

Arthur W. Koffenberger, outgoing president, presided. The invocation was given by the Rev. Mr. Howell O. Wilkins, '44. James W. Mackie, Jr., '53, reported on plans to present a portrait of John Dickinson to the new John Dickinson high school in Wilmington. The Club agreed to raise money to pay for a copy of the full-length portrait of John Dickinson which hangs in Memorial Hall.

Plans also were announced to start a monthly luncheon club in Wilmington. William F. Taylor, '52, is in charge of the arrangements.

The following officers were elected: Rev. Wilkins, president; Mackie, vice president; Eleanor M. Betts, '34, secretary, and George C. Hering, '53, treasurer.

assignment to the faculty of the U.S. Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, as a member of its Joint Staff Group.

A combat veteran of Navy action during World War II, he later saw service as a civilian during the Korean War. He was a Dickinson student from 1925 to 1927 and at the age of 38 entered Harvard and graduated cum laude. He has also done graduate work in nuclear physics, geography and economics at Harvard and M.I.T.

He and his wife reside at 50 North College Street, Carlisle.

To Preach in London

The Rev. George Compton Kerr, '18, minister of the Methodist Church of Mt. Holly Springs, Pa., will leave for England on June 19 to serve as an exchange preacher at Chiswick, London, for one year.

Carves Career on Stage, in Literature

WALTON BUTTERFIELD, '20, is an actor, playwright, author and director, and movie, radio and television scriptwriter whose varied and exciting career has touched Broadway, Hollywood and Madison Avenue.

His latest books, How Do You Do? and How Are You? were published in 1957 and 1959, respectively, by Comet Press Books, N.Y. They are thin volumes of reflective essays distinguished by their succinctness, wit and philosophic probity.

Butterfield has also written The Next Stop, Kitchen Mechanics, Anniversary Blues and The Autobiography of a Book and has dramatized Flaming Youth and S. S. Van Dine's The Canary Murder Case.

Born in Dorchester, Mass., he entered Dickinson in 1916 from Horace Mann School, New York, but left before graduating to enter Harvard where one of his teachers was George Pierce Baker whose "47 Workshop" provided him with two invaluable years of playwriting and also acting in the plays of fellow members.

For the next ten years he turned his creative and dramatic pursuits into a professional career, acting in five Theatre Guild productions, including Liliom, St. John, and Peer Gynt, in the companies of such theatre greats as Minnie Maddern Fiske, Ethel Barrymore and others, and at the same time writing his own plays and dramatizations.

His later career in Hollywood as a screen writer and dialogue director for Paramount Pictures and Warner Brothers Universal, as director of radio station WNEW for two years and as owner and manager of Walton Butterfield Advertising, New York, for eight years did not impede his output of fiction, radio and television scripts and inspirational writings.

A member of Beta Theta Pi, the Authors League of America, American Fed-

Wins Senate Nomination

Samuel W. Witwer, '30, Chicago lawyer and Dickinson trustee, was successful in his bid for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate in the Illinois primaries, April 13. He outdistanced the closest of his five opponents by approximately 25,000 votes. He will oppose Sen. Paul Douglas in November.

Although he has never held elective public office, he is a familiar political figure in his state. He was chairman of the Illinois Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon in 1956 and 1958 and led a long and successful fight for reform of the Illinois Constitution a few years ago.

The Chicago Sun-Times, which supported his candidacy, described him as a "down-the-line supporter of the kind of Republicanism President Eisenhower has stood for" and being "conservative on economic matters and progressive and dynamic on matters pertaining to individual rights."

Guides Legal Aspects of Seaway

THE career of Harry C. Shriver, '29, has seen him advance in steady steps from the teacher's desk of a country school to a seat on the highest legal councils of the vast Saint Lawrence Seaway project.

Lawyer and writer, he first became interested in the Seaway in 1937, when he edited the Proceedings of the American Bar Association's Section of International and Comparative Law, and when he was a member of an ABA committee sponsoring Seaway legislation.

He is today the general council of the Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, a position he has held since November, 1948, and involving travel to Ottawa, Washington and elsewhere and an opportunity to deal with high government officials on both sides of the border.

He was in charge of the Seaway Corporation's legal activities during the close of the construction period and the crucial years of the opening of the Seaway to full-scale navigation. His work involves the coordination of the Corporation's activities with those of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada, the Power Authority of the State of New York, other government agencies in the U.S. and Canada and with steamship companies.

A native of Littlestown, near Gettysburg, Pa., he paid his way through College by working at odd jobs and with money he saved as a teacher in a little red school house in Adams County. He also paid his way through George Washington University Law School by working for the Library of Congress, the U.S. Copyright Office and the Law Library of Congress.

Admitted to the District of Columbia bar in 1931, he became an attorney with the Federal Trade Commission. In 1937, he was special agent for the Library of Congress in Europe and in the same year he attended the Second Congress on International Law at The Hague as a delegate of the District of Columbia Bar Association.

From 1944 until he affiliated with the Seaway Corporation in May, 1958, he was attorney for the War Shipping Administration, the Maritime Commission and the Maritime Administration. Listed in Who's Who in America, he is the author of two books on Justice Holmes and has contributed a score of articles to periodicals and legal journals. He is a Theta Chi.

In 1944 he married Florence Basehoar, of Washington, D.C., and they reside in Massena, N.Y., with their daughters, Anne 16, and Louise 10, and son, Clair 13.

Honored by His City

Sidney D. Kline, '24, Reading, Pa., banker and a Dickinson trustee, has been honored in his city for long service in the raising of funds for welfare institutions through the Community Chest, United Fund, and Welfare Federation. He was presented with the Wilbur H. Doran Memorial Award, an inscribed plaque.

Foresters Honor Trustee

Frank E. Masland, Jr., '18, has been made honorary vice-president of the American Forestry Association for his active interest in preserving the natural resources of the nation. Among the purposes of the Association are to improve the national timber crop in volume and quality to a degree sufficient to build up a reserve and to obtain maximum social services from the forests. Masland, a trustee of the College and an explorer and conservationist, is chairman of the Advisory Board of National Parks, Historical Sites, Buildings and Monuments.

Peace Leader Becomes Seminary Teacher

APPPOINTMENT of Rev. Dr. John M. Swomley, Jr., '36, to the faculty of the National Methodist Theological Seminary, in Kansas City, Mo., as associate professor of social ethics was announced in March.

Dr. Swomley is the national secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, a religious peace organization which seeks to resolve conflict among nations, races and classes, and among individuals as well, without violence.

His position has kept him in close touch with other leaders in the fields of race relations, peace and labor and has taken him into all parts of the country and into Southeast Asia, the Near East, North Africa, Central America and Canada. He has made seven trips to Europe since 1945.

Last year he participated in the Great Issues Lectures at Dartmouth College and at programs conducted at Wellesley College, Harvard University and many other institutions.

After graduating from Dickinson with membership in Phi Beta Kappa, he studied for the ministry at Boston University where he earned the S.T.B. and M.A. degrees. The University of Colorado awarded him the Doctor of Philosophy degree last year.

The dissertation for his doctorate in the field of political science was A Study of the Universal Military Campaign, 1944-1952. Much of the material came from his own experience as director of the successful joint campaign of church, farm, labor and educational groups against universal military training from 1944 to 1952.

He has written books and pamphlets under the following titles: America, Russia, and the Bomb, The Road to War, The Peace Offensive and the Cold War and Militarism in Education. His articles have appeared in many publications.

JOHN M. SWOMLEY, JR.

A member of the New York East Conference of the Methodist Church, he lived in Washington, D. C., for six years and presently resides in Nyack, N. Y. He and Mrs. Swomley have one daughter, Kathryn, age 16.

Lawyer Commended

Leonard G. Hagner, of Wilmington, District Attorney of Delaware, has received praise from U.S. Attorney General William P. Rogers for reducing the number of civil, tax lien and land condemnation cases in the Federal Court at Wilmington during the year.

The Attorney General said that throughout Hagner's incumbency his "dedicated efforts and devotion to duty have been in the best tradition of the federal public service." Hagner, who is serving his second term, has been in office since June, 1953.

He was also commended for trying twice as many criminal cases in 1959 as in the previous year and terminating more criminal cases than in 1958.

Becomes 4th Dickinsonian on York Bench

SPENCER R. LIVERANT, '31, '33L, a practicing attorney in York, Pa., since 1934, was appointed by Gov. David L. Lawrence in January to fill an additional judgeship in the Common Pleas Court of York County created by the Pennsylvania Legislature.

The appointment brought the number of York County judges to four, and all are Dickinsonians. The president judge, George W. Atkins, '30, '33L, swore in the new judge. They were classmates at the Dickinson School of Law. The other judges are Richard E. Kohler, '37L, and Robert L. Shadle, '40L.

Judge Liverant's appointment runs to January, 1962. President of the York County Bar Association in 1947, he was a member of the firm of Anderson & Liverant.

A native of the city of York, he entered the College from York High School and achieved an outstanding record as a student. He earned Phi Beta Kappa membership at the College, graduated first in his class at the Law School where he was editor of the Dickinson Law Review, and his grade of 89.5 in the Pennsylvania Bar Examination in 1933 was the highest in the state and reputedly the highest in the history of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

He taught at the Law School for a year after his graduation and then opened a practice in York. From 1935 to 1938 he was a bill drafter with the Pennsylvania Legislative Reference Bureau and for a part of that period was assistant director of the Bureau.

He was in the U.S. Navy for four years during World War II and is now a commander in the Naval Reserve. A member of Sigma Tau Phi and a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers he is a permanent member of the Judicial Conference of the Third Circuit of the United States.

He and Mrs. Liverant, the former

Anne Turner, of Danville, Va., have one child, Anne Peyton Liverant, and live in the Wyndahm Hills section of York.

To Head School System

Harold E. Hench, '37, after two years as principal of the Shaler Township High School, Allegheny County, Pa., will step up to the office of supervising principal of the township school system, which has a student enrollment of 3,300. Elected in March, he will take office in July.

Hench has been a classroom teacher and administrator in Pennsylvania since his graduation from the College. He served in the Carlisle schools for 13 years, including three as assistant high school principal. He became principal of the Shippensburg High School in 1950, North Huntingdon Township High in 1954 and Shaler Township High in 1958.

He and Mrs. Hench, the former Virginia McIntyre, a West Chester College graduate, have 13-year-old twins, Tommy and Richard. They live in Glenshaw, near Pittsburgh.

Runs for State Senator

William H. McCrea, Jr., '31, a lawyer with offices in Newville, Pa., is running unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Pennsylvania State Senator from the 31st District, comprising Cumberland, Mifflin, Perry and Juniata Counties. A brother and law partner of John McCrea, '29, he is vice-president of the Cumberland County Bar Association. He has given time and leadership to the Cumberland County Association for Retarded Children and was one of the prime movers for a new civic center in Newville.

At 81, He's Happy Giving Things Away

CHARLES A. PHILHOWER, '09, retired New Jersey school administrator living in Westfield, N. J., has come into the public eye with the announcement that he is presenting his vast collection of Indian artifacts and memorabilia, gathered over a period of sixty years, to Rutgers University.

According to Town Crier magazine, which made him the subject of a "Man of the Month" feature, he has unearthed more than 600 Indian graves in relentless pursuit of a hobby that has endured since his childhood, spent on a New Jersey farm that abounded in arrowheads and other Indian relics.

"He is," stated Town Crier, "one of these happy people who knows how old he is—81—and is undismayed. He still drives his car ('Why shouldn't I?'), attends historical and archeological meetings and continues writing and research in his special field, Indian history."

His library contains 15,000 books and pamphlets published in this country and abroad, and he is disposing of many of these items to museums and libraries. He has written books on historical subjects and Indian history and culture. His articles have appeared in the Proceedings of the New Jersey Historical Society and the bulletins of a number of archeological societies.

Before entering Dickinson from a normal school, he taught school for a number of years. The magazine article quoted him on his life at Dickinson:

"I ran the commons, played in the band, was a member of the tennis team and worked on publications. I knew Jim Thorpe and he visited me several times.

"I played the double bell euphonium in the band and the day we beat Penn State I developed a hemorrhage of the lungs and darn near died. They took me over to a woman doctor and he said, 'We're going to stop this bleeding and then we're going to fix it so this won't happen again. I want you to walk a mile a day for the first week, two miles a day for the second week and so on up to five miles a day.' I followed her instructions and never had any trouble after that.

"I took the four-year course at Dickinson in three years and they wanted to make me Phi Beta Kappa but they couldn't because the rules said you had to be there four years."

He earned a master's degree in 1915 at Columbia University and was the principal of the school of Chatam, N. J., for six years and the supervising principal of the Westfield schools from 1917 until his retirement in 1949.

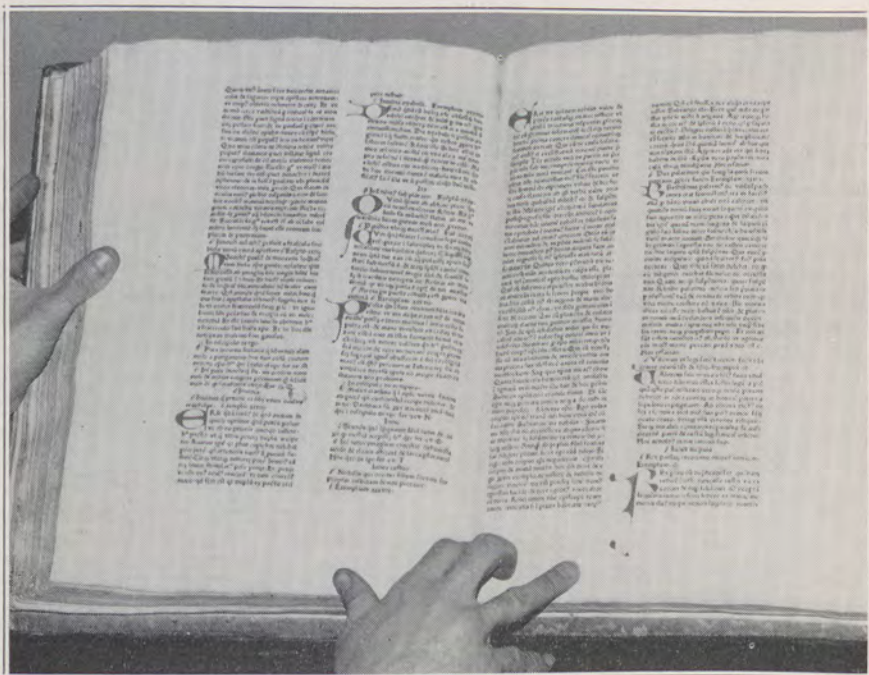

For many years he was a leading figure in the New Jersey Council of Education, serving as president in 1939 and 1940, and in the New Jersey Education Association of which he was president from 1942 to 1945. One of the founders and still a trustee of Union Junior College, he is a past president of the Westfield Rotary Club and has been governor of the 183rd District of Rotary International.

In the same year he graduated from the College he married Alice E. Hayes. She died in April, 1959.

Donate Church Organ

Andrew H. Phelps, trustee of the College since 1923 and an honorary Dickinsonian, and his wife, Emily Brown Phelps, have presented an organ to Christ Methodist Church, Bethel Park, Pittsburgh, that has been described as one of the largest and most complete instruments in the world. It consists of a three-manual, 98-stop chancel organ and a two-manual, 56-stop antiphonal organ. The gift is the most recent of many made by Dr. and Mrs. Phelps to Methodist churches, missions and hospitals in this country, Africa and India.

Gift of Rare Books Enriches Library

Copy of "Sermones Discipuli de Sanctis," Printed in Strasbourg in 1475; Is One of More Than Two Hundred Books, Early Imprints and Other Items in the Willoughby Collection.

HE College Library has received one of the most distinguished and unusual accessions of its history, the personal book collection and manuscripts of the late Edwin E. Willoughby, '22, for many years chief bibliographer of the Folger Shakespeare Library, in Washington, D.C.

They come to the Library as the gift of his sister, Dr. Frances L. Willoughby, '27, in whose care he had been through his tragic and prolonged illness.

They add materials of superlative interest and rarity to the many rare books which had come to the College through the years from Edwin Willoughby. He had been, both as donor and as friendly counsellor, a constant promoter of the growth and welfare of the College Library.

Prof. Charles Coleman Sellers, the librarian, has arranged to place a representative selection of the books on exhibit in the main lobby of Bosler Hall at Commencement, June 3-5.

The rich gift includes notable examples of early editions of the Bible in English, Dr. Willoughby's major scholarly interest, with twenty-two important examples dating from 1574 to 1715. The Library's small collection of incunabula is almost doubled by the addition of four new items: Johannes Herolt's Sermones Discipuli de Sanctis, Strasbourg, 1475; St. Augustine's Sermones ad Heremitas, Venice, 1495; St. Bernard's Tractatus de Planctu Beate Marie, Cologne, 1486; and a single leaf, with a woodcut illustration of the angelic choir, from the famous Nuremberg Chronicle of 1493.

With these came more than two hundred other books.

Chinese Exchange Student Becomes Editor

MOSES HSU, '48, who was a Chinese exchange student at Dickinson, is one of the three editors of Nanking Theological Seminary's Literature Production Program, located at Drew University, Madison, N.J.

The Program is the first systematic attempt to translate and publish in Chinese all major writings of Christian literature and related classics of Western philosophy.

Books to be translated are selected by a committee of thirty theologians and other scholars headed by Dr. Henry Van Dusen, president of Union Theological Seminary. Sixteen of the twenty-five volumes completed since the program was launched fifteen years ago have been published in Hong Kong for distribution.

After leaving Dickinson, Hsu earned a master's degree at the University of Missouri in 1950 and joined the Literature Production Program the next year. Since then he has helped to complete the translation of nine great books. In some instances he did all of the editing or all of the translating.

Among the nine are the Journals of John Wesley, George Fox and John Woolman, John Calvin's Institutes of the Christian Religion; Newman's Apologia pro Vita Sua; William Temple's Nature, Man and God and Reinhold Niebuhr's The Nature and Destiny of Man. Hsu has made a gift of a number of these translations to the Dickinson Library.

He married Dr. Charlotte Tan last October 10. She is an instructor in pediatrics at Cornell University Medical College and an attending pediatrician at the Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York City. The Hsus live at 225 East 79th Street, New York.

Receives Honorary Degree

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., '35, by Franklin College, in Indiana, last February on the occasion of the 125th anniversary of its founding. Dr. Bell, who is associate editor of The Papers of Benjamin Franklin and research associate in history at Yale University, addressed the anniversary convocation on the subject "No Easy Undertaking: Franklin as a Journalist in Theory and Practice." In conferring the degree, President Harold Richardson of Franklin College pointed out that Dr. Bell "has dedicated a substantial portion of his career" to enlarging the public understanding of America's first world citizen. Dr. Bell is an Alumni Trustee of Dickinson College and a former member of the faculty.

Selected to Tour USSR

Klaus T. Lemberg, '54, of Hamburg, Germany, who expects to receive a doctor's degree in law at the University of Hamburg in July, was one of eight German student editors selected to visit Russia. Active in German student religious programs, he has been managing editor of the all-university German Evangelical, a student periodical. One of the two reports he prepared upon returning from the USSR appeared in Ost Europa.

Klaus was delighted to learn about Dickinson's gift of $50,000 from Irene duPont for a language center. He read about the project in a cultural news publication of the American Embassy in Bonn. "That's the way I like to see Dickinson in the news," he wrote in a letter to Prof. Milton E. Flower. "I am glad that Dickinson is ahead in the field."

His Pen Saves Hero from Obscurity

COL. WILLIAM A. GANOE, '02, USA retired, of Sarasota, Fla., with Mrs. Ganoe spent the winter in Honolulu. According to the Honolulu Advertiser, Col. Ganoe was much surprised on visiting Hickam Air Force Field that the rank and file of personnel knew little more of Col. Horace Hickam than that "he was the guy for which this field was named."

That started something flaming in Col. Ganoe's mind, for Col. Hickam was his classmate at West Point and had a great record, was an ally of Gen. Billy Mitchell, brought Alexander de Seversky, great airplane designer, to the United States and died a hero's death on a Texas flying field.

So Col. Ganoe set out to do something. The result was a pamphlet he wrote covering his classmate's career. Things are different now at Hickam Field. Gen. Chickoring has ordered the Ganoe pamphlet printed as an official document and has set aside August 14 as Horace Hickam Day at the base. Col. Ganoe's The Hickam Heritage seems to have done things.

Col. Ganoe is the author of the first single volume history of the American Army and also many army war themes. His fiction has appeared in magazine and book form.

Young Geologist Winning Fame

WILLIAM A. BERGGREN, '52, a graduate student at the Geologiska Institutet in Stockholm, will present two research papers at the International Geological Congress at Copenhagen in August and then come to the United States for a year of research and travel.

His studies in Sweden, Russia and elsewhere have gained the attention of geologists and the petroleum industry in America and Europe. They involve floating microscopic organisms found in the rocks of the geologic past. Due to the widespread occurrence of the organisms in rocks all over the world, they serve as guide forms for identifying the age of sediments in which they are found.

Berggren has investigated the sediments of the lower Tertiary period in Denmark and Sweden and compared them with similar sediments in Russia and North America. He recently completed a critical analysis of Soviet investigations in this field. It brought to light much data formerly unavailable to American geologists due to language difficulties or ignorance of the literature. Last summer he visited Leningrad and Moscow to confer with USSR geologists.

For his coming period in America, he has been made a Visiting Fellow by Princeton University and will study there and at the National Museum in Washington and the Museum of Natural History in New York. The American Association of Petroleum Geologists has awarded him an $1,800 travel grant to be used to visit researchers in Texas and California and to discuss the results of his European studies with other American geologists. He also has grants from two Swedish foundations.

The young geologist expects to receive his philosophy licentiate degree at the institute this summer. It is equivalent to a Ph.D. in this country. After his U. S. visit he will return to Sweden to resume research at the University of Stockholm and to work for the doctorate.

He and Mrs. Berggren announced the birth of a son on March 11. They live in a new development on the outskirts of Stockholm overlooking pine forests and ski trails.

Writes Book on John Wesley

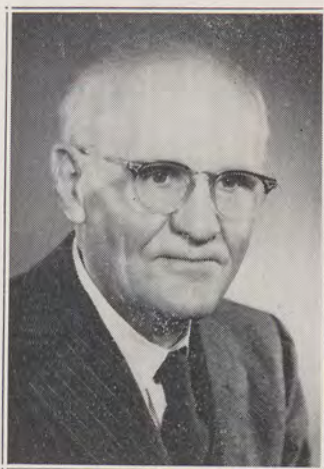

By Dr. William H. Wishmeyer, Assistant Professor of English

Thomas Reed Jeffery, John Wesley's Religious Quest, Vantage Press, New York, 1960, 439 pp.

In any age the dynamics of religious conversion tend to be mysterious and baffling to rational inquiry. The search for purpose and meaning in life, the necessity of relating man's nature to some force that transcends and also includes it is frequently a personal and somewhat lonely business. But when this quest is conducted in the spiritual aridity of eighteenth-century England the process of discovering meaning becomes almost superhumanly difficult.

This is the task that Thomas Reed Jeffery, '16, has undertaken to accomplish. Painstakingly the author explores the crucial period spanning the years 1725 to 1738 when the founder of Methodism threaded a poignant path to the personal salvation that waited for him that fateful evening at the chapel in Aldersgate Street.

Mr. Jeffery's scholarship and purpose become impressive when the philosophical atmosphere of the age in which this quest took place is scrutinized. The eighteenth century was not a period preoccupied with the discovery of religious meaning. Exhausted, seemingly, by the terrifying sectarian clashes of the preceding century, the age asked for nothing more than sobriety, quiet, and, above all, restraint. Too many prophets, it was felt, had led them to too many theological conclusions that warred and contradicted one another. The soul-shaking search of Bunyan's Pilgrim for the Celestial City, although applauded, was not meant to be imitated. The social implications of Newton's harmonious and orderly universe clearly made God an absentee landlord of the perfect system he had devised. Men were invited to imitate the rational behavior of the heavenly bodies and to design their lives on the same principles of disinterested mechanics.

THOMAS R. JEFFERY

The spiritual temper of the age, then, was to accept man for what he seemed to be—in Pope's words:

In doubt his mind or body to prefer;
Born but to die, and reas'ning
but to err.

The rational man was therefore melancholy; he saw the necessity for systematized social order, but he also saw the pointlessness of human existence within such an order. Its basic paradox led to the sadness of seeing all striving coming to its inevitable nothingness. As Dr. Johnson is led to conclude in his Vanity of Human Wishes:

From Marlborough's eyes the streams of dotage flow,
And Swift expires a driv'ler

Any attempts to find spiritual meaning during this period were frowned on, if not derided. "Enthusiasm" as a word was employed contemptuously as a description of that irrational impulse to find in life more purpose or meaning than it obviously offered. Asked George

Crabbe somewhat sardonically:

Or mends the prospect when the enthusiast cries,

"I die assured!" and in a rapture dies?

It is against this background of apathy, if not hostility, that the 13-year quest of John Wesley for the immediacy of God in the world of man takes place.

Mr. Jeffery very thoroughly examines the importance of Wesley's childhood training, the influence of contemporary theological literature, and the growing sense of spiritual want on the developing clergyman of the Established Church. The years of concern and frustration are splendidly described, particularly Wesley's sense of disheartening failure in bringing the Word to the presumably noble savages of America.

This book relates with understanding and wisdom the course of one of the most significant spiritual journeys in the history of religion. Its meticulous pursuit of all appropriate facts connected with Wesley's search gives it the high compliment of making perfectly clear the precise and true meaning of John Wesley's declaration of faith:

"About a quarter before nine, while he was describing the change which God works in the heart through faith in Christ, I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation; and an assurance was given me that He had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved me from the law of sin and death."

Rev. Jeffery has devoted his adult life to the ministry of the Methodist Church. After graduating from Dickinson College and Drew Theological Seminary he did graduate work at the Crozer Theological Seminary. Now retired, he lives in Saylorsburg, Pa., where his time is spent studying and writing and with his hobby of wood carving.

Physician Is Tennis Star

Dr. Herbert A. Baron, who has a busy general practice in Hasbrouck Heights, N.J., is not too busy to play a lot of tennis—and topnotch competitive tennis at that. In fact, as a tennis player he may be even better now than three decades ago when he was on strong varsity teams at Dickinson. Currently ranked ninth by the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association, he was a member of the U.S. team in the seniors' Gordon Trophy matches against Canada last year. He was ranked seventeenth in national senior doubles in 1958 and twenty-first in national senior father-son tennis in 1959. For eight years he was president of the active Bergen County Tennis League, in a very populace section of New Jersey. Dr. Baron's most enthusiastic rooters in his matches are Mrs. Baron and their three children, Robin, Jeffrey and Jaime.

General Motors Lawyer

Donald E. Austin, '38, of White Plains, N.Y., has been designated manager of the Overseas Corporate Administration of General Motors Overseas Operations. He has been with the legal department of Overseas Operations since 1953 and head of the department since 1958. Austin graduated from the Columbia University School of Law in 1948 and was admitted to the New York state bar that year.

On Navy School Staff

Cdr. William E. Thomas, '40, U.S. Navy, attended the joint United States, Canada, United Kingdom anti-submarine warfare study held in Londonderry, Northern Ireland, last Fall and shortly after his return home he was advanced to the position of deputy director of the Atlantic Fleet Anti-Submarine Warfare Tactical School, in Norfolk, Virginia.

College Has New Science Award

A NEW science award has been established at the College with the first presentation of the annual Glover Memorial Award, a gold medal, to M. Stanley Livingston, professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and director of the Cambridge Electron Accelerator built by M. I. T. and Harvard University and supported by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. John D. Yeagley, '24, York, Pa., surgeon, and Mrs. Yeagley are the donors of the award. It is a replica of the gold medal given in 1896 by the Society of Chemical Industry, London, Eng., to Mrs. Yeagley's great-grandfather, John Glover, British inventor and industrialist, for conspicuous service to applied chemistry.

Glover, inventor of the Glover Tower process for manufacturing sulphuric acid, died in 1902. Copies of his medal have been made for the College by the Royal Mint of England.

President Malcolm, who made the inaugural presentation April 8 during a public ceremony in Bosler Hall, announced that the award will be the symbol of the Glover Lectureship which Dr. and Mrs. Yeagley established a year ago as a means of bringing to the campus each year a noted scientist for a lecture in the natural sciences. Ernest T. S. Walton, Dublin, Ireland, a Nobel Prize winner in physics, was the 1959 lecturer. Dr. Livingston gave the lecture this year on the subject "Beyond Nuclear Physics."

The field of scientific investigation "beyond" nuclear physics, he said is particle physics. Dr. Livingston stated that this new field of research goes as far beyond nuclear physics as nuclear physics went beyond atomic physics and chemistry.

He said the search for the basic parts of matter is a challenge dramatic to the extreme and that advanced students are literally flocking into the field for their graduate studies and thesis problems. He is one of the leaders in this search, being also the foremost designer and builder of cyclotrons and other high-voltage accelerating machines used in breaking down matter.

Present at the lecture and award ceremony were members of the Eastern Pennsylvania Section of the American Association of Physics Teachers who were holding their annual two-day meeting on the campus. Dr. Howard Long, professor of physics at Dickinson, is the new president of the Section, succeeding Prof. Joseph Harper of the University of Scranton.

60 at Baltimore Rally

The Dickinson Club of Baltimore met on April 27 at the First Methodist Church, Towson. Approximately 60 Dickinsonians and guests attended. President Malcolm, Winfield C. Cook, '32, chairman of the Alumni Annual Giving Fund, and Albert Walker, alumni secretary, represented the College.

Cook spoke briefly about his recent trip to Russia. He said that Russia is engaged in an all-out economic war with the free world and "it is up to the United States to meet this challenge." He also reported that Russia is providing unlimited facilities for the education of all young people who can profit from it.

President Malcolm praised Dickinson's record over the years in providing leaders in all walks of life and said that today's Dickinsonians are found at the forefront of community, local school, and church action. Mr. Walker showed colored slides of the campus and new college facilities.

Elizabeth Clarke Hamilton, '32, president of the Baltimore Branch of the Mary Dickinson Club, reported on the club's program, which included a fall picnic for Dickinson students living in Baltimore, a coffee hour for members, and the awarding of the Lewis M. Bacon awards.

Elmer L. Kimmel, '36, was elected president to succeed Robert C. Respass, '41. Other new officers are Elizabeth Tipton, '30, vice president; Henry C. Engel, Jr., '53, secretary; and Respass, treasurer.

Dean Gets Two Jobs

Dr. Frederic W. Ness, '33, the academic vice-president and dean of the College, is involved in two new educational assignments by sources beyond the campus.

In April, Gov. Lawrence of Pennsylvania appointed him advisor on higher education to a committee studying the state's educational problems. About the same time, the Association of American Colleges asked him to prepare a revision of his Guide to Graduate Study, first published in 1957.

The Pennsylvania project is the most extensive study of education at all levels ever attempted by the state. As advisor to the Governor's Committee on Education, Dean Ness also serves as a voting member of the committee's section on higher education. The nine-month study is financed by a $300,000 appropriation.

The first edition of Guide to Graduate Study was also prepared by Dean Ness. It provided the first complete description of the programs and fields of study offered by 136 graduate schools across the country. It was and is part of the effort to increase the supply of candidates for doctoral programs with a view to improving the supply of college teachers.

Dean Ness hopes to have the revision ready for publication in October. It is being made possible by a grant from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation to the American Council on Education, which distributed the original guide.

In New Position

Ben Coren, who was a member of the Dickinson football coaching staff a few years ago, will be coaching football in the new high school at Sun Valley, near Chester, Pa., beginning next fall.

Insurance, Contract Bridge His Fields

WILLIAM H. GERLACH, '29, '31L, Kentucky insurance executive with a background of law and college administrative work, was elected executive vice-president of the Mid-West Conference of the American Contract Bridge League during the Mid-West Regional tournament at Louisville.

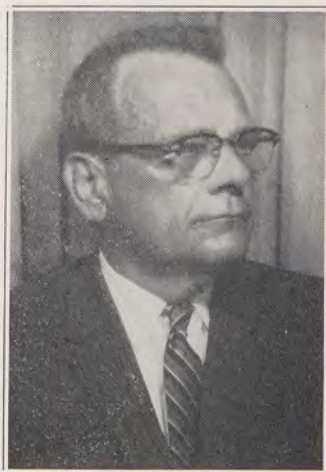

He is concurrently holding the office of alternate vice-president of District II of the ACBL to which he was elected for a three-year term at the 1959 Fall National Tournament. He will be general chairman of the National Tournament scheduled for Lexington, Ky., in the Spring of 1962.

After graduation from the Dickinson School of Law he practiced in Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, until he entered the Navy in 1944. After returning to civil life he was elected vice-president of Texas Lutheran College, in Seguin, and later vice president of Davis and Elkins College, in West Virginia.

He is now general agent for the Colonial Life and Accident Insurance Company for the state of Kentucky. Last year he received a colonel's commission on the staff of the Governor of Kentucky. He is a member of Lexington Lodge, No. 1, F. & A.M.; Lexington Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Washington Council No. 1, R.S.M., and the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels.

Since moving to Lexington he has served two terms as commissioner and one term as president of the Blue Grass Council, Boy Scouts of America.

A son, Walter, graduated from Dickinson last June. The Gerlachs reside at 1437A Forbes Road, Lexington, Ky.

was the featured speaker, and presented him with a scroll which reads:

"To President Gilbert 'Red' Malcolm, whose leadership and guidance have been the initiating force triggering a human chain reaction. All who have known him, and thousands who have benefited by his devotion to mankind, are indebted to him and to his efforts. Encouraged by his principles and inspired by his teachings, we, the Dickinson College alumni of metropolitan Washington, D. C., offer our best wishes for his continuing good works."

Entertainment at the dinner was provided by an octet from the Dickinson Concert Chorale. Dr. and Mrs. George Shuman, Jr., and Albert Walker, alumni secretary, also were present from the College, as were Henry Line, '38, and Howard J. Loose, '38, who flew from Carlisle in a private airplane.

William J. Bartus, '38, president, reported that the club's scholarship fund has well over $700. Among the Dickinsonians at the dinner was Allen E. Beach, '55, a former recipient of a club scholarship.

Life Membership Roster Lists 2,144 Names

TEN more alumni are entitled to place the attractive certificate of life membership in the General Alumni Association upon the wall of their office or study. They sent in their subscriptions since the February issue of THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS was published.

The ten brought the number of subscribers added during the past year to thirty-eight and the grand total of Lifers to 2,144. As directed by the Alumni Council, the entire list appears in this issue of the magazine.

The Class of 1950 added three names during the year and leads other classes by a wide margin with a total of 78 Life Members. The Class of 1951 moved up from ninth position to seventh among the Big Ten but this select group is otherwise unaltered over a year ago.

The Class of 1949, while not in the Big Ten, had the distinction of contributing the most new Lifers during the year—four.

Newest of the Lifers is Phillis Fetterman, '59, who sent in her subscription on April 21. She resides at 141 West Harvey Street, Philadelphia. Dr. Ray Crist, '20 of Saddle River, N.J., a research chemist, who will be on the campus at Commencement for the 40th reunion of the class, mailed in his $50 check March 18. He was promoted in December to the position of director of the Union Carbide Research Institute.

Accompanying the subscription of Daniel F. Koon, '48, of Shawville, Pa., was his contribution to the Annual Giving Fund. Thomas A. Beckley, '55, who will graduate from the Dickinson School of Law in June, was made a Life Member as a graduation gift from his parents.

The check of Norman M. Kranzdorf, '52, came from New York City where he is house counsel for Food Fair, Inc. A lawyer, he is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

In a note that accompanied his check,

The Top Ten Classes

1950.....	81	1927.....	54
1948.....	58	1951.....	52
1935.....	57	1939.....	50
1948.....	58	1951.....	52
1934.....	55	1931.....	48

Robert H. Krischker, Jr., '55, disclosed that he is the sales representative of Williams Furniture, Sumter, N. C., and Clyde Pearson, Inc., High Point, N. C.

Lt. Col. Edward L. Lindsey, '58, sent in his subscription from West Texas State College, Canyon, Texas, where he is professor of military science and tactics and head of the military department. He expects to receive a master of arts degree in political science in August.

Other new Lifers are Leo Asbell, '32, of Philadelphia, an attorney; Dr. Hampton P. Corson, '49, of Johnstown, Pa., a surgeon, and Alfons T. Sifferlen, '54, of Clifton, N. J.

The $50 Life Membership fee may be paid in one sum or in installments of $12.50 a year for four years. Membership ends the payment of annual dues of the General Alumni Association and carries with it a life subscription to THE DICKINSON ALUMNUS.

Wins National Science Grant

Mrs. Robert M. Chew, '39, the former Alice Eastlake, who teaches biology at Huntington Park High School, in Los Angeles, Calif., has been chosen by the National Science Foundation to take a special course this summer at the University of Southern California. Out of 600 applicants from all over the country, only forty were selected for the course, which is designed to acquaint high school teachers of biology with significant advances made in knowledge of the field in the last ten years.

Many Serve the College as Delegates

DICKINSONIANS appeared in academic processions in all parts of the country through March and April as the personal representatives of President Malcolm and delegates of Dickinson College at presidential inaugurations and other ceremonies.

At President Malcolm's request, eleven alumni attended such events between March 1 and April 30 and Prof. Stanley J. Folmsbee, '22, of the University of Tennessee promised to serve at the inauguration May 14 of Andrew David Holt as president of that university.

Samuel W. Witwer, '30, on his return from a vacation following his successful campaign for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator from Illinois, attended a convocation and dedication celebration at the University of Chicago Law School on April 30. He is a Chicago attorney and Dickinson trustee.

Two other trustees, Dr. Roy W. Mohler, '17, and C. Wendell Holmes, '21, were delegates. Dr. Mohler, professor of gynecology at Jefferson Medical College, was at Philadelphia Textile Institute on April 23 for the 75th anniversary of its founding and dedication of Althouse Hall, named for C. Scott Althouse, Dickinson trustee, who is a graduate and benefactor of the institute. Holmes, a former president of the General Alumni Association, was at Pennsylvania Military College on April 30 for the inauguration of Charles Russel Moll as president.

The Rev. John H. Gibson, '47, of Seattle, Wash., was the delegate March 1 at the inauguration of Calvin Dorr Demaray as president of Seattle Pacific College. Rev. Gibson recently returned to the staff of Plymouth Congregational Church, Seattle, following five years as Washington Conference minister of Christian education. He had been at Plymouth Church for nearly four years prior to 1955. He was also editor of the Congregational Way, magazine with 18,000 circulation. His wife is the former Margaret Botwright, '49. They have four children.

Mrs. Wesley E. Newcomb, '53, the former Joyce Anne Clouse, attended the inauguration of Miller A. F. Ritchie as president of Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore., on March 6. She reported that the College's early founding date placed her in the front row beside the Dartmouth delegate and that Pennsylvania colleges represented were F. and M., Gettysburg, Geneva, Muhlenberg and Swarthmore. "So you see," she wrote, "I am not the only alumna of a small Pennsylvania school that drifted to Oregon." She lives with her husband and infant son in Portland, Ore.

Raymond E. Hearn, '24, of West

Orange, N. J., returned from a two-month vacation in Florida with Mrs. Hearn in time to attend the inauguration of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Dougherty as president of Seton Hall University on April 25. Ray reports that his doctors say he has made good recovery from a heart attack suffered in February, 1959. A retired school administrator, he looks forward to doing "a little traveling."

On the same date, Fred A. Lumb, '29, was Dickinson delegate at the inauguration of Judson William Foust as president of Central Michigan University. Fred is general agent in Grand Rapids, Mich., of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Horace L. Jacobs, III, '43, took part in the inauguration of LeRoy L. Martin as tenth president of the University of Chattanooga on March 18. "Rusty" is associated with the J. C. Penney Company, Inc., in Chattanooga. His wife is the former Elizabeth Townsend, '42.

William H. Gerlach, '29, general agent in Lexington, Ky., of the Colonial Life and Accident Insurance Company, was delegate at the inauguration of Mahlon Albert Miller as president of Union College, Barboursville, Ky. Bill reports that his son, Walter, '59, is confined to an Army hospital with a fracture of the right leg suffered in a skiing accident at Mt. Snow, Vt.

The Rev. Stanley B. Crosland, '21, minister of the First Congregational Church, Beloit, Wis., attended the installation of John A. Howard as president of Rockford College, an April 29 event combined with the Jane Addams centennial.

Back in the east, Dr. Alpheus T. Mason, '20, was present at the inauguration March 29 of James Iley McCord as president of Princeton Theological Seminary. Dr. Mason, noted biographer, is a member of the faculty at Princeton University in the department of politics.

Gives New Estimate of John Dickinson

ON February 19 the first Spahr Lecture of this academic year brought us a new appraisal both of the character of John Dickinson and of his role in the Revolutionary struggle. Dr. John H. Powell of Philadelphia had announced a provocative title A Certain Great Fortune and Piddling Genius. These were the contemptuous words with which John Adams had characterized Dickinson in a letter to James Warren, July 24, 1775. He was writing as a congressman in Philadelphia to a friend in Boston, and in a mood of irritation appropriate to the sultry Philadelphia heat.

"Dear Sir, In Confidence. I am determined to write freely to you this time. A certain great Fortune and piddling Genius, whose Fame has been trumpeted so loudly, has given a silly Cast to our whole Doings. We are between Hawk and Buzzard . . . We ought to have had in our Hands a month ago the whole Legislative, executive, and of the whole Continent, and have completely modeled a Constitution; to have raised a naval Power, and opened all our Ports wide; to have arrested every Friend to Government on the Continent and held them as Hostages for the poor Victims in Boston . . ."

Unhappily for Adams, the courier bearing his letter was captured at the Hudson River ferry by a British man-of-war's crew. The letter continued to Boston, but was there delivered to General Gage who, well aware of the damage it could cause, had it printed in the Massachusetts Gazette. A month later, Adams and Dickinson passed one another in Chestnut Street. Adams bowed. Dickinson, slender and erect, a head taller than the other, passed him by without any sign of recognition, and so ended all private friendly intercourse between them.

There followed one of those situations in which the person responsible for an affront and an injury holds the more lasting and more bitter enmity. With the publication of the letter it became necessary to Adams' self-esteem that Dickinson be marked as pusillanimous and weak. Adams' defined him also as the aggressor, and his own part as "self-defense." In his autobiography and other writings of later years this is the picture that Adams gives, and the one which historians, with only minor modification, have accepted. Dickinson's refusal to sign the Declaration of Independence has served as substantiating evidence, in spite of the fact that he was on active service with the army in the ensuing military campaign, when other congressmen had retired to places of safety.

Dr. Powell showed that the general acceptance of Adams' unflattering estimate of his colleague has been due in part to a lack of understanding of the attitude of the Middle States delegates in the Continental Congress. Dickinson was one of their leaders, both sharing and shaping their opinion. The nature of that opinion is obscured by the fact that these men, living close to their constituents, did not report on events as frequently as those from the South and from New England, and have left a relatively small documentary record.

From Dickinson's writings and from other contemporary sources, however, Dr. Powell made clear that Dickinson's stand was one of strong and unwavering opposition to the oppressive measures of the British ministry. Dickinson opposed the Declaration of Independence in July 1776, not for fear, as Adams averred, of losing his fortune, but in order to gain time for military and political organization, and because, in his wider view of the situation, he was aware of what issues in English politics hung upon the crisis. To English liberals it offered a chance for constitutional reform and for a new, more enlightened imperial structure. That opportunity was closed by the Declaration of Independence.

In the Declaration of Independence, however, many individual phrases and the broad tone of firmness and dignity were borrowed from Congress's "Declaration of Causes" of a year earlier, July 6, 1775. This document was almost wholly from the pen of the "Pennsylvania Farmer," and was used by Dr. Powell as primary evidence of the firmness of John Dickinson's position. "Those words rang like a bugle call when Washington proclaimed them in his camp around Boston, when soldiers heard them at drumheads in every colony during those days following Bunker Hill."

Dickinson wrote:

"... a Reverence for our great Creator, Principles of Humanity, and the Dictates of Common Sense, must convince all those who reflect upon the Subject, that Government was instituted to promote the Welfare of Mankind, and ought to be administered for the Attainment of that End. The Legislature of Great Britain, however, stimulated by an inordinate Passion for a Power not only unjustifiable, but which they know to be peculiarly reprobed by the very Constitution of that Kingdom, and desperate of Success in any mode of Contest, where Regard should be had to Truth, Law, or Right, have at length, deserting those, attempted to effect their cruel and impolitic Purpose of enslaving these Colonies by Violence, and have thereby rendered it necessary for us to close with their last Appeal from Reason to Arms. Yet however blinded that Assembly may be, by their intemperate Rage for unlimited Domination, so to slight Justice and the Opinion of Mankind, we esteem ourselves bound by Obligations of Respect to the Rest of the World, to make known the Justice of our Cause . . .

"Our Cause is just. Our Union is perfect. Our Internal Resources are great, and, if necessary, foreign Assistance is undoubtedly attainable.

"... With hearts fortified by these animating Reflections, we most solemnly, before God and the World, declare, that, exerting the utmost Energy of those Powers, which our beneficent Creator hath graciously bestowed upon us, the Arms we have been compelled by our Enemies to assume, we will, in defiance of every Hazard, with unabating Firmness and Perseverance, employ for the Preservation of our Liberties; being with one Mind resolved to die Freemen rather than to live Slaves."

Prepares Book on Reading

Dr. Paul D. Leedy, '30, reading expert at New York University, is preparing a book for the MacGraw-Hill Book Company's new paperback series for school and college use. It will be published in September under the title Improve Your Reading. Dr. Leedy is the author of other books on reading techniques.

1896—Charles Sumner Jacobs, member of a prominent Dickinson family, died last October 31 at Winchester, Mass.

He was in the advertising business over sixty years and an ardent chess devotee, he was rated "Master Emeritus" by the American Chess Federation. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Sumner C. Jacobs, '19, was a son.

Mr. Jacobs is survived by his widow, the former Laura Leona Cresswell, whom he married October 9, 1895, in Des Moines, Iowa; a nephew, Horace L. Jacobs, Jr., '13, and a grandnephew, Horace L. Jacobs, 3rd, '43.

1898—Harry C. Hubler, a leading lawyer and political figure in Scranton, Pa., for many years, died April 14 in Lebanon, N. J., at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Sandmeyer. He resided in Clark's Summit, near Scranton.

A graduate of the Dickinson School of Law, Class of 1899, he was a member of the Lackawanna County Bar Association for 55 years until his retirement in 1958. He also conducted an investment security business in Scranton for many years and served a term as president of the Scranton Board of Trade.

A well-known Republican leader, he was a candidate for Congress in 1936, and during the early 1940's he was a deputy attorney general assigned to the Pennsylvania Department of Banking in Scranton.

He was a member of the Methodist Church in Clark's Summit and a Mason.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Vena Gibson Hubler; two daughters, Mrs. Sandmeyer at whose home he died, and Mrs. Louise H. Heffernan, Scranton, and a son, Richard C. Hubler, Hollywood author, producer and director.

1900—Walter W. Hoover, retired farmer and nurseryman and the father of two Dickinsonians, was fatally injured last December 27 when struck by a car as he attempted to cross a four-lane highway at Whitehouse, N. J., during a heavy fog.

He lived near Bellefonte, Pa., with his son, Thomas B. Hoover, '40, and had just gone to Whitehouse, his former home, to visit friends and relatives.

A native of Wooster, Ohio, he entered Dickinson College from the old Dickinson Preparatory School but withdrew in 1899 and went to Cornell University where he graduated in 1902. He was an arboriculturist with the Park Departments of Brooklyn and Queens, in New York, and with the Andorra Nurseries, Philadelphia, until 1907 when he went to Nigeria as a missionary.

He spent three years in Africa, and for many years thereafter he served as treasurer of the Sudan United Mission, which had been his station. He acquired a large collection of African relics and these were given to the College.

He was working with a leather firm in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1917 when he entered the army for World War I service. He was a first lieutenant with the 161st Infantry. Mr. Hoover had also served in the Spanish American War.

After his World War I service he engaged in farming and in his own nursery business until his retirement in 1958. A member of the Methodist Church, he devoted many years to the lay activities of the Central Pennsylvania and Newark Conferences. He was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma.

In addition to his son Thomas, he is survived by two other sons, Walter Hoover, '35, Takoma Park, Md., and Conrad Hoover, Plumsteadville, Pa.; a brother, Donald Hoover, Wellsville, Pa., and two sisters, Dorothy Hoover, Harrisburg and Mrs. Charles Steese, Carlisle, Pa.

1903—Rev. Walter Gibbs McKenney, retired Methodist minister, died March 27 following an acute coronary occlusion. He lived near Baltimore, Md., and was the father of W. Gibbs McKenney, Jr., '39, a Trustee of the College.

Rev. McKenney spent all of his active ministry in the Baltimore Conference and from his ordination in 1905 until his retirement in 1940 served thirteen charges.

After his retirement he built his own home and named it "Pilgrim's Rest." Here he devoted himself to the art of wood-turning and gained quite an enviable reputation for his artistic bent.

Born in 1874 in Westmoreland County, Virginia, the son of Thomas and Mary McKenney, he entered the College in 1899 from the old Dickinson Preparatory School. He served his first charge in 1905 at Patapsco, in Carroll County, Maryland.

1905—Rev. Dr. William C. Skeath, retired Methodist minister and author of several religious books, died February 17 in Suffolk, Virginia, after a long illness. He was a brother of Dr. J. Milton Skeath, '21, and brother-in-law of Dean M. Hoffman, '02.

Born in Mahanoy City, Pa., the son of James and Elizabeth Woodward Skeath, he entered the College in 1902 from Williamsport-Dickinson Seminary. He had already begun his ministry, having served as a supply pastor as early as 1901.

Ordained in 1904, he served no less than 14 pastorates, all in the Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Church, and retired in 1951 while serving as minister of the large Haws Avenue Church, in Norristown. Oskaloosa College conferred the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree upon him in 1919. His books included His Last Words, Joyful Mystery and Thou Preparest a Table.

In College he was a tackle on the varsity football team and a member of the Union Philosophical Literary Society. His fraternity was Phi Kappa Sigma. He was a past master of the Susquehanna Lodge of Masons, Millersburg, Pa.

In addition to his brother, Milton, professor of psychology at Lycoming College, he is survived by his wife, the former Marie Hoffman, and two daughters, Mrs. Edwin A. Friend, Suffolk, Va., at whose home he died, and Mrs. Lewis Beers, Philipsburg, N. J. Services were held in one of his former churches in Millersville.

1905—Edna Albert, author of Little Pilgrim of Penn's Woods and other books for children, died April 2 at her home in Gardners, R. D. 1, near Gettysburg.

Born in Millersville, Pa., the daughter of Franklin and Hannah Manger Albert, she entered Dickinson from Millersville Normal School and after her graduation she taught English and Greek at the Wilmington Conference Academy and history and civics at Williamsport-Dickinson Seminary.

She lived in Washington, D. C., for a number of years, serving as a clerk with the Veterans Bureau, and in 1922 moved to the tiny community of Gardners to teach school and to write.

Her most successful book, Little Pilgrim of Penn's Woods, published in 1930, had seven printings and was a Book-of-the-Month selection for children's libraries. Peter of Smithfield followed in 1940 and was quite successful.

She was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Lutheran Church and a Life Member of the General Alumni Association.

A brother, Frank Albert, and a niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Gold, both of Los Angeles, Calif., are her only survivors.

1906—J. Thurman Atkins, a practicing attorney in York, Pa., died March 16 in the York Hospital a few days after undergoing heart surgery. He was a highly respected elder statesman of the bar.

He was always interested in Dickinson affairs and for many years was president of the board of trustees of the Dickinson chapter of Kappa Sigma.

Born in York County in 1879, he taught in a one-room country school there for three years and then entered the old Dickinson Preparatory School at the age of 21. After graduating from the College and the Dickinson School of Law (1908) he was admitted to the York County bar and served as an assistant district attorney from 1914 to 1922.

He gave up his law practice temporarily in 1923 to serve a term as the county prothonotary. He was a prominent political figure and served two terms as county Democratic chairman.

In 1933 his nephew, George W. Atkins, '30, '33L, joined with him in the practice of law and they were partners until George Atkins became a judge in 1957.

Mr. Atkins was a member of the First Methodist Church of York, the Knights of Malta and the Lions Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pearl McCleary Atkins; a son, Preston G. Atkins, '37, Falls Church, Va.; a daughter, Sue R. Atkins, Endicott, N. Y.; two brothers, Dr. Joseph S. Atkins, Red Lion, Pa., and Evan Atkins, Reading, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Thomas Trout, Airville, Pa.

1908—James P. Pierce a merchant and prominent Delaware Mason, died last December 12 in Milford, Del., after a long illness. He was a partner in the Pierce Hardware Company of Milford.

He was a charter member of the Milford Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club and had been an officer in both organizations. He was especially active in masonic circles, having served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware. He was also active in the York and Scottish Rite branches of the lodge and in the Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

He is survived by a brother, M. Haswell Pierce, with whom he was associated in business, and two sisters, Mrs. George T. Macklin, Milford, and Mrs. Chester R. Jones, Wilmington. Burial was in Milford.

1913—George E. Logan, who retired in 1957 after 32 years as a teacher at South Side High School, Newark, N. J., died on March 3 after a long illness.

Before going to Newark, he taught in Pennsylvania and also in the schools of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He received his A.B. degree from the College in 1913 and held an M.A. degree from Columbia University.

Born near Carlisle on March 31, 1887, he had made his home in Maplewood, N. J.

He is survived by a daughter, Miss Mary E. Logan, of Newark; a son, George A. Logan, Maplewood; two brothers, LeRoy Logan of Boiling Springs and John Logan of Carlisle; two sisters, Miss Jennie Logan and Mrs. May Ettinger, both of Carlisle, and two grandchildren.
