Wheatland, near Lancaster

10 June 1864.

My dear Sir,

I am sorry to inform you that I have hitherto in vain sought to procure you a copy of Rogers' Geological Survey of Pennsylvania.

I have just been informed that it was originally published in Boston; & should I fail in the attempt, ^{I am still making} to discover a copy nearer home, I shall write for ^{one} ~~a~~ copy to the Publishers.

Will you be kind enough to inform me their names, for I have not been able to discover them. [?]

I have had my friend Governor Porter on the look out for

Harrisburg
a copy at ~~that place~~; but he has not succeeded.

Hoping that your new residence may prove advantageous both to your health & your worldly prospects. I remain very respectfully your friend

James Buchanan
