Wheatland 10 September 1863.

My dear Sir,

I have received your favor of the 8th Instant & hasten to assure you that it is quite agreeable to me that you should execute the Bond & Mortgage on your proposed visit to Meadville.

I am rejoiced to learn that the prospect is fair for the Intelligencer. I trust it may be placed on a firm & permanent basis.

My own health is good, except that I am a little crippled in walking by the effects of my late very severe attack of rheumatism. This is a great privation to me; though I hope I shall not long suffer it.

Judge Black has been here for a day or two; but will return to York
this morning.

from your friend
very respectfully

James Buchanan
