My Dear Fin

I wrote to Colo. Timout as from as I received your letter - and should have written to you at the same time, but I was much enjaged during the whole of lost week - & could hardly find time to write to him and the other claiments in the case of the Superior who all fremed ampions to home sameting.

It is hordly worth while to make afforts which must be unavailing. The case was discipled own and own again before the Board & I sid not lose all hope of it with they made their fince whort. - But there is no made of proceeding in which their progressing in which their progressing to have been as the Seculary of the Treasury is bound to pay a couling to Their coward - I agree with you that the only Jospilela armedy nous left is on explication to Congreso - A that is ut least I few least a leave proprietity. - I in my opinion not worth the effort: - Upon that point however our griends must decide for Mundelves - For as it looved Then be a Controusing with the M. A. B. Janey Masha apris 8 My dear Sir.

I wrote to Col. Tenant as soon as I received your letter and should have written to you at the same time, but I was much engaged during the whole of last week - & could hardly find time to write to him and the other claimants in the case of the Superior who all seemed anxious to have something more done.

It is hardly worth while to make efforts which must be unavailing. The case was discussed over and over again before the Board & I did not lose all hope of it until they made their final report. But there is no mode of proceeding in which their judgment can be revised - and the Secretary of the Treasury is bound to pay according to their award. I agree with you that the only possible remedy now left is an application to Congress - and that is at best I fear but a bare possibility - & in my opinion not worth the effort. Upon that point however our friends must decide for themselves. For as it would then be a controversy with the U. States and would take the shape of a claim against them my official situation would put it out of my power to take any part in behalf of the claimants.

I am dear Sir very respectfully

& truly yours
