A Pocketful of Rules

Preface

A Pocketful of Rules, a guidebook published by the Women's Inter-Dormitory Council of Dickinson College, contains the dormitory rules and procedures and a summary of general campus information for women students. The campus has six dormitories for women students: Adams Hall, Drayer Hall, Biddle House, McIntire House, Todd House, and Sellers House. Each dormitory has its own rules as well as those common to the campus. It is the responsibility of each girl to know and uphold the regulations of the college and of her dormitory. A test will be given to all women students in the fall covering the contents of this book.

Article IX

APPEALS All appeals shall be made within 48 hours to the President of Women's Inter-Dormitory Council in writing. Women's Inter-Dormitory Council will review cases for which new evidence is found. All other cases may be appealed to the Secretary of the Student-Faculty Judicial Council.

Article X

AMENDMENT An amendment to the said Constitution may be made upon ratification by all the council members and two-thirds of the resident women students voting.

Article XI

RATIFICATION The said Constitution of Women's Inter-Dormitory Council must be ratified by two-thirds of the resident women students voting.

Honor Code

An honor system requires that each resident be responsible to herself and to her fellow students for maintaining the integrity of the dormitory community. All resident women shall abide by the following Honor Code:

"I, the undersigned resident of the women's residence halls, do promise to abide by all rules and procedures pertaining to the residence halls. I am on my honor to report myself to the secretary of the dormitory for any violation of these rules. I am also on my honor to warn a resident who has violated a dormitory rule to report herself. If she does not comply within 24 hours after the warning, I am on my honor to make the report myself."

Dormitory Government

ELECTION OF DORMITORY OFFICERS

The officers of Adams and Drayer will be elected in the spring by a vote of the next years' residents from nominations from the wings and/or nominations from the floor.

The officers of the small dormitories will be elected in the spring by a vote of the next years' residents from nominations from the floor.

DUTIES OF DORMITORY OFFICERS

The presidents of all women's residence halls shall assume the following duties:

1. be the ultimate governing officer of the dormitory;
2. attend Women's Inter-Dormitory Council meetings;
3. keep a file of parents' permission letters and honor code pledges at the sign-out desk;
4. grant permission to girls who wish to leave the dormitory between dorm closing hours and 6:30 a.m.

The vice-presidents of Adams and Drayer shall assume the following duties:

1. serve as president in her absence;
2. attend Women's Inter-Dormitory Council meetings;
3. be responsible for social activities;
4. act as treasurer of the dormitory as needed;
5. post important notices concerning women's dormitory rules or meetings and other pertinent information.

The secretaries of all women's dormitories shall assume the following duties:

1. serve as president in the absence of the president and the vice-president;
2. attend Women's Inter-Dormitory Council meetings (Adams and Drayer Halls only);
3. keep minutes of the meetings of the House Council;
4. keep a record of infractions of rules.

The dormitory officers shall serve on a rotational basis as the dormitory officer in charge for lock-up procedure.

HOUSE COUNCIL

Individual representation is accomplished through the House Council which consists of the officers of the dormitory, freshmen delegates to Women's Inter-Dormitory Council, the House Resident, and the House Council representatives. In the fall, the residents of each dormitory wing must elect a person from among them to be their representative on the House Council.

House Council shall conduct elections of fire lieutenants and fire chief and shall determine hours for men guests, and the policy concerning fathers entering the living areas. It shall meet weekly:

1. to discuss dormitory policies and problems;
2. to serve as a liaison between the residents and Women's Inter-Dormitory Council;
3. to act upon cases of infringement of regulations of the dormitory;
4. to formulate rules in addition to those made by Women's Inter-Dormitory Council which it feels are important to group living.

DUTIES OF HOUSE COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES

House Council representatives shall be responsible for the following:

1. to attend House Council meetings or to send a competent substitute;

2. to conduct weekly wing meetings;
3. to post a summary of House Council meetings;
4. to keep residents informed of any clarifications or changes in rules and procedures made by House Council and Women's Inter-Dormitory Council.
5. to assume other responsibilities deemed necessary.

DUTIES OF HOUSE RESIDENT

The House Residents have no definite office hours, but shall:

1. be accessible for counseling, emergencies and illness;
2. be responsible for the physical house;
3. keep the dormitory supplied with sign-out sheets;
4. welcome overnight guests;
5. receive calls from girls who will be late returning to the dormitory, and open the front door when they return;
6. receive calls from residents who have forgotten to sign out or who have changed their destination for overnights, weekends or vacations;
7. open the front doors for girls returning from special permission;
8. lock all doors but the front door at 7:30 p.m. and to unlock all doors at 6:30 a.m.

Because of differences in the size of dormitories, these duties will vary and should be determined by the House Resident and president at the beginning of the year.

Honor Code Rules

GENERAL HONOR RULES

1. Alcoholic beverages are not permitted in any of the women's residence halls at any time.
2. Men guests may be entertained only in the main lounges and recreation rooms of women's residence halls, except during open houses approved by Women's Inter-Dormitory Council when the entire dormitory is open. Fathers may be entertained in student rooms according to the policy determined by House Council.
3. Residents must observe the hours for men guests as determined by House Council.
4. No pets, feather or fur, are allowed in a dormitory room at any time.
5. Only the front door may be used after 7:30 p.m.
6. Upperclass women, except freshmen counselors and Women's Inter-Dormitory Council officers or dormitory officers, may not enter freshmen living areas first semester.
7. Long distance telephone calls are to be made only through coin box telephones.
8. Electrical appliances for cooking or ironing may be used only in designated areas.
9. Quiet should be observed in dormitories during the evening hours. Specific times may be set by House Council.
10. Provision is made in all dormitory rooms for decorations. Therefore nothing may be pasted, taped, or tacked to walls.
11. Beds must be made and rooms straightened by noon. Furniture must be kept within respective rooms.
12. Residents must follow the correct policies and procedures listed below.

SIGNING OUT

To enable students to be contacted, it is recommended that residents sign out as accurately and specifically as possible at the desk after the dinner hour when leaving the dormitory and sign in on their return.

To aid in the lock-up procedure, residents must be signed out if they will be out of the dormitory after 10:00 p.m., and must sign in on their return.

Residents should check their watches with the dormitory clock when leaving; it is the official time.

RESIDENTS' HOURS

Sunday through Thursday (Freshmen	12:00 Midnight 11:00 p.m.)
Friday and Saturday	1:00 a.m.

EXCEPTIONS TO RESIDENTS' HOURS

All women have 2:00 a.m. permission on Friday nights when there is an all-college dance.

All women have 1:00 a.m. permission on the last night of an all-college vacation.

All women have 1:00 a.m. permission on a night preceding a day in which there are no classes or examinations scheduled.

Special permissions are granted by the Dean of Women. Immediate return is required, even if the function ends before the expected time of return.

A resident may not leave the dormitory after her curfew and before 6:30 a.m. unless permission is granted by the president. If permission is granted, the resident of Adams or Drayer must notify the House Resident.

CLOSING PROCEDURE

ADAMS AND DRAYER HALLS

1. The lock-up girl will lock the front door at the dormitory closing hour.
2. If any girl is out without a special permission, the lock-up girl will wait 15 minutes before notifying the dormitory officer in charge.
3. If a girl has not returned to the dormitory within one hour after the dormitory closing hour and has not called in, the dormitory officer in charge will notify the Dean of Women.

4. The House Resident will open the front door for a girl who returns from a special permission.

SMALL DORMITORIES

1. The front door must be locked at the dormitory closing hour, regardless of special permissions.
2. The next to last girl to come in will wait up until the last girl is in. At this time, the last two girls will lock the doors and turn out the appropriate lights.
3. If the last girl is not in 15 minutes after the dormitory closing hour, it is the next to last girl's responsibility to notify the dormitory officer in charge. In the absence of the dormitory officer in charge, the House Resident shall be called.
4. If a girl has not returned to the dormitory within one hour after the dormitory closing hour and has not called in, the dormitory officer in charge will notify the Dean of Women.

LATENESS

If a girl is not able to return to the dormitory before her curfew, she should call the House Resident as soon as she realizes she will be late. No late minutes will be totally excused without a call. If a girl is late returning or her date is late leaving, she will immediately record on a demerit slip the number of minutes and the reason.

OVERNIGHTS AND VACATIONS

When leaving for an overnight or vacation, each resident must sign out on the special sheet at the sign-out desk, including specific destination and expected time of return. If so requested by her parents on the parent permission slip, at this time she must fill out a postcard with the same information to be sent to her parents. Overnights may be taken in a dormitory, private residence, hotel, motel, or sorority rooms. Any individual or group wanting an exception may obtain permission from the Dean of Women. If a girl forgets to sign out or changes her destination, she must call the House Resident or Dean of Women. When returning from an overnight or vacation, she must sign her hour of return on the special sheet at the sign-out desk. If she does not have blanket permission (permission to sign out for any destination in accordance with the above rules) and the permission sheet signed by her parents does not give permission for the address signed out for, the president must receive special permission either by mail or phone call before the girl signs out.

False signing out, or not staying in the place signed out for, is a serious breach of college regulations.

The House Resident must be called before the dormitory closing hour in the event of an emergency preventing a resident from reaching her destination or returning on the expected day.

The dormitories will close at 2:00 p.m. on the first day of a college vacation and will open at 10:00 a.m. of the last day. Residents who must wait for transportation may leave their luggage in the Student Center which will be open the entire day.

OVERNIGHT GUESTS

Residents may have guests of student age in the dormitory if there is an unoccupied bed available for them. Residents of one dormitory staying overnight in another dormitory will follow these same rules and procedures.

Procedure

1. Any girl staying overnight must have a sponsor in the dormitory.
2. The sponsor and the girl whose bed is to be used must sign a guest slip with the House Resident before the guest arrives.
3. At this time, college linens can be obtained for $1.00 from the House Resident.
4. The sponsor must introduce her guest to the House Resident as soon as possible. At this time, the guest will receive a list of basic dormitory rules which the sponsor should carefully explain to her. If the sponsor fails to carry out these responsibilities, she will receive any demerits obtained by her guest.

5. The length of time guests may stay in the dormitory is limited to two nights in succession.

FIRE DRILLS

Fire drills are conducted each month in every dormitory. When the fire alarm sounds, residents must do the following:

1. close windows;
2. turn on lights in the room;
3. leave the room door open;
4. wear shoes and coat and carry a towel;
5. leave the dormitory by the assigned exits;
6. check in with their fire lieutenants after leaving the building.

Everyone must leave the building for fire drills; in the case of confining illness, a resident must follow the above procedure except that she will report to the fire lieutenant in the lobby.

Fire lieutenants will check each room in their area and shut the doors.

Fire escapes are to be used only in case of emergency, fires and fire drills.

INFRACTIONS OF RULES

All women residents are on their honor to give themselves the specified number of demerits for the following infractions of rules:

1. Accumulation of late minutes: 1 demerit/minute (5 late minutes will be deducted for each phone call; no late minutes will be totally excused without a call.)
2. Not signing out on the daily sign-out sheet when required: 3 demerits
3. Not signing in: 3 demerits
(The penalty for the combination of 2 and 3 is not to exceed 3 demerits.)
4. A warning system will be in effect for excessive noise. Two warnings in one day will result in 3 demerits.

All women students are on their honor to notify the dormitory secretary of other infractions. The normal procedure is that the girl then appear before House Council or Women's Inter-Dormitory Council to present her case and to hear her penalty.

House Council will determine the penalty for the following infractions:

1. acquiring 20 or more demerits;
2. forgetting to sign out for an overnight, weekend or vacation on the special sign-out sheet, but calling in to the House Resident or Dean of Women;
3. not following the proper procedure for lock-up, overnights, vacations, fire drills, and guests;
4. violation of any rules not automatically considered by Women's Inter-Dormitory Council.

Women's Inter-Dormitory Council will determine the penalty for the following infractions:

1. breaking the Honor Dormitory Pledge;
2. possession of alcoholic beverages in the dormitory;
3. having men illegally in the dormitory;
4. false signing out, or not staying in the place signed out for, for an overnight, weekend, or vacation;
5. staying overnight without parental permission;
6. not signing out for an overnight, weekend or vacation on the special sign-out sheet, and not calling in;

7. leaving the dormitory after dormitory closing hours and before 6:30 a.m. without the permission of the president (and in Adams and Drayer, without notifying the House Resident);
8. accumulation of 60 or more late minutes at one time without notifying the dormitory;
9. any situation deemed necessary.

All women students are on their honor to fulfill the terms of their penalty. Students who fail to do so will be dealt with by the appropriate governing body.

The following penalties may be activated as deemed necessary by the House Councils: early hours; partial campus; full campus; loss of particular privileges (such as kitchen facilities, lounge privileges, overnight or weekend privileges).

The following penalties may be activated as deemed necessary by the Women's Inter-Dormitory Council: early hours; partial campus; full campus; loss of particular privileges (such as overnight or weekend privileges); social probation; disciplinary probation; suspension; recommendation to Dean of Women for required withdrawal from Dickinson College.

A full campus means that the resident must be confined to her room with no visitors from 7:00 p.m. Saturday, to 7:00 a.m. Sunday. She may leave her room only to receive incoming long distance phone calls, and to use the washroom facilities (except for laundry purposes). A partial campus is any modification of a full campus.
