19 January 1866.

My dear Sir,

Many thanks for your very kind letter of the 15th instant! Rest assured that the friendly sentiments you express for me are cordially reciprocated on my part towards yourself. I feel greatly indebted to you for your support of my much maligned administration. I have remained tranquil under all the abuse, having a firm reliance that under Divine Providence it would at last be vindicated. The Book has had an extensive sale and the demand for it still increases, as the Libellers inform me; but the exorbitant price which they charge for it limits its circulation. I have not & never have had any pecuniary interest in it. I am now endeavoring to prevail upon them to publish a cheaper edition.

With my kindest regards to your father, I remain very respectfully your friend.

My dear Sir/

Many thanks for your very kind letter of the 15th. Instant! Rest assured that the friendly sentiments you express for me are cordially reciprocated on my part towards yourself. I feel greatly indebted to you for your support of my much maligned administration. I have remained tranquil under all the abuse, having a firm reliance that under Divine Providence it would at least be vindicated. The Book has had an extensive sale and the demand for it still increases, as the Appletons inform me; but the extravagant price which they charge for it limits its circulation. I have not & never have had any pecuniary interest in it. I am now endeavoring to prevail upon them to publish a cheaper edition.

With my kindest regards to your father, I remain very respectfully your friend,

James Buchanan
