21 December 1861.

My dear Sir,

I have received your favor of the 13th Instantly & perused it with much interest. With you I believe "W. Lincoln to be a man of honest heart & true manly feelings". I should, therefore write to him as you have indicated but for reasons which have prevented & will prevent me from asking a favor at his hands. Besides, I have reason to believe that my request would be but little regarded. Why not appeal directly to him yourself through some Republican friend who would have influence enough to get him to examine the case?

from your friend
very respectfully,

Charles A. Smith
