THE THIRD ANNUAL GALA BENEFIT FOR THE AMERICAN RED CROSS
OF LANCASTER COUNTY
HIV/AIDS EDUCATION PROGRAM

WELCOME...

Thank you for being a part of the Third Annual Oscar Party. To those of you who have joined us year after year, I thank you for your consistent support of this event and for our HIV/AIDS Education efforts. To those who are joining us for the first time, I hope this will be the first of many! I am certain that everyone will find this to be an enjoyable evening, and the cause to be worthy of great support.

The American Red Cross of Lancaster County leads the way in providing factual, non-judgmental information about HIV and AIDS to the men, women, and children of our community. Through these efforts, we hope not only to stop the spread of the virus, but also to instill understanding and compassion for those infected by the disease. Your support for this worthy event helps to make this possible.

Again, on behalf of the Oscar Party Planning Committee and the American Red Cross of Lancaster County, I welcome you and I thank you for joining us!

THE NOMINEES ARE...

BEST PICTURE

TITANIC Titanic ties 1950's All About Eve, as the most nominated film of all time. The $200 million budget initially raised a few eyebrows, but Titanic is well on its way to grossing a record-setting $1 billion.

AS GOOD AS IT GETS When Holly Hunter backed out of the leading female role, director James L. Brooks wasn't sure how good his film would get. After a year of rewrites and refilming numerous scenes, As Good as it Gets was good enough to get seven Oscar nominations.

GOOD WILL HUNTING If it hadn't been for their friend Kevin Smith, Matt Damon and Ben Affleck's "underdog" film may still be waiting in limbo at Castle Rock. Smith convinced his studio, Miramax, to pick up the film, catapulting these two childhood buddies to stardom.

THE FULL MONTY Writer, Simon Beaufoy never expected his story to turn into anything more than just a cult film. Made for a mere $3 million, The Full Monty has grossed over $200 million worldwide and snagged four Oscar Nominations.

L.A. CONFIDENTIAL Hailed as the best bad-guy flick since Chinatown (nominated for Best Picture '94), L.A. Confidential was considered Oscar's favorite...that is until Titanic sank em all.

BEST DIRECTOR

JAMES CAMERON As director, writer, producer and editor of Titanic, Cameron has finally broken free from the sci-fi action genre—his previous directing credits include Aliens, The Abyss, and Terminator 2.

GUS VAN SANT With directing credits for Drugstore Cowboy, My Own Private Idaho, and To Die For, Van Sant was the first choice of Good Will Hunting's writers. Miramax execs, however took nine months to give in and offer him the job.

PETER CATTANEO In order to make The Full Monty cast more comfortable exposing their less-than-perfect bodies, Cattaneo took his clothes off too. "Not all of them," he said, "I didn't want to make them ill."

ATOM EGOYAN Referred to as a "floppy-haired, enigmatic braniac," Egoyan's nomination for the Sweet Hereafter, is said to be the Oscar surprise of the year.

CURTIS HANSON Five years ago when Hanson picked up a copy of James Ellroy's novel, he knew that L.A. Confidential was the story he'd been waiting for. Despite the tough sell studios, he intentionally avoided casting A-list stars to avoid any Hollywood "baggage."

The Grand Prize

THE NOMINEES ARE...

BEST ACTOR

JACK NICHOLSON As the obsessive compulsive, dog-hating, bigot in As Good as it Gets, Nicholson has earned his 11th Academy Award nomination, setting a new record for male actors.

ROBERT DUVAL Duvall received his first Best Actor nomination for The Great Santini, a role for which he never even rehearsed. Sonny Dewey, the Pentecostal preacher, wasn't his only role in The Apostle—he also wrote, directed, and financed the film.

MATT DAMON Five years after co-scripting Good Will Hunting, Damon finally got a chance to play his title character, moving himself from relatively unknown actor to Hollywood's A-list.

DUSTIN HOFFMAN Hoffman's performance as an ego-driven Hollywood producer in Wag the Dog is a far cry from the gentle autistic Rain Man, which won Hoffman his second Oscar. His character's catch phrase, "This is nothing," is said to be this year's version of "Show me the money."

PETER FONDA Fonda had to hack off his waist-length ponytail to win the part of beekeeper Ulee Jackson in Ulee's Gold. The role, initially offered to Nick Nolte, is said to be Fonda's finest since Easy Rider, nearly thirty years ago.

BEST ACTRESS

HELEN HUNT Helen Hunt has been acting since the age of ten, with roles including an alien child in The Bionic Woman. The leap from small screen to big screen has not always been kind to thespians. As Good as it Gets marks Hunt's fifteenth film.

KATE WINSLET Shortly before the filming of Titanic began, Winslet professed her desire to play "a Valley Girl in a feel-good American movie." Although her role as Rose didn't fulfill that wish, it did win the twenty year old actress her second Oscar nomination.

JULIE CHRISTIE Although today's moviegoers may not remember Julie Christie as Lara in Doctor Zhivago, her role as the neglected wife in Afterglow has been hailed as Christie's "second coming."

JUDI DENCH At age 63, Mrs. Brown marks Dench's first leading role after forty years of acting. While most recognize her only as "M" from the last two Bond movies, Dench received the title of Dame ten years ago, the female equivalent of British Knighthood.

HELEN BONHAM CARTER Bonham Carter, a seemingly permanent fixture in period films, was reportedly thrilled to say goodbye to tight corsets to play a manipulative, scheming seductress in The Wings of the Dove.

THE NOMINEES ARE...

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS

KIM BASINGER

A former Breck Girl and Playboy model, 1997 is said to be the year Basinger has "redeemed herself." Her performance as Lynn Bracken, a high-priced call girl in L.A. Confidential, has already won her a Golden Globe.

GLORIA STUART

Stuart, age 87, went through two hours of makeup each day to play the role of 101 year old Rose in Titanic. Director James Cameron cast Stuart after seeing her as a young blond actress in her 1932 film, The Old Dark House.

JOAN CUSACK

By the time In & Out finished shooting, Cusack could barely fit into her wedding dress costume—she was already four months pregnant. Although comedy performances are often said to be neglected from the Oscars, this is Joan's second nomination for a comedic role.

MINNIE DRIVER

Good Will Hunting marks Driver's fifth major film role, and her fifth time cast as "the love interest." Her role of Harvard student, Skylar, was originally planned for Claire Danes.

JULIANNE MOORE

Filmmaker Paul Thomas Anderson met Julianne Moore for the first time at a party, telling her "You're going to be in my movie." He wrote Boogie Nights with Moore in mind and persistently pursued her for the part of porn star Amber Waves.

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR

BURT REYNOLDS

Barring his role as tabloid favorite during his messy split from Loni Anderson, Reynolds' performance as the porn king in Boogie Nights is said to be the comeback of the year.

GREG KINNEAR

Kinnear confesses that playing the role of a gay man in As Good as it Gets was a little uncomfortable, especially in the company of such superstars like Jack Nicholson and Helen Hunt. Kinnear says the real challenge, however, was working so closely with his canine co-star, Jill.

ANTHONY HOPKINS

Dashing between sets while simultaneously filming Amistad and The Mask of Zorro, Hopkins admits he did not have time to do his usual historic research for his performance of former president John Quincy Adams.

ROBERT FORSTER

Leave it to Quentin Tarantino to turn a B-movie fixture into an Oscar nominated actor. Forster considers his Max Cherry role in Jackie Brown to be a "life challenger" for him.

ROBIN WILLIAMS

Good Will Hunting marks Williams' fourth Academy nomination, but his first in a supporting role. Matt Damon and Ben Affleck who co-wrote Hunting, are still not over the shock of getting "Mork" in their movie.

DIRECTORS CHAIR...

Avenues/McFly's is a multi-faceted facility in the heart of downtown Lancaster which caters to a wide variety of tastes. The establishment consists of three distinct rooms, the first of which, McFly's Pub, is located in the sky-lit courtyard highlighted by bright colored umbrellas, abundant foliage, and a glass block bar featuring thirty-five draft beers and ninety bottled selections. McFly's is a popular hangout for microbrew aficionados, imported beer lovers, college students and those seeking a good time in general.

The Avenues lounge is a jazzed-up, small niteclub immediately adjacent to McFly's, which features live music, DJ's and dancing four nights a week. Saturday is live band night when many of the area's finest musical ensembles take center stage, providing a variety of sounds from soul & funk to alternative and classic rock.

A forty-five seat intimate dining area and bar known as the Gallery, occupies the room directly behind McFly's. The specialties here are sophisticated pastas, beef, pork and seafood entrees, and appetizers prepared creatively by Chef L.

Anthony Herr and his talented staff. The atmosphere is casual, although somewhat upscale at the same time.

Avenues is well-known for hosting many private parties, wedding receptions, banquets, and charitable affairs. An experienced staff offers many options for prospective groups including customized menus, wine and beer tastings, DJ services, and reasonable pricing.

Special events and nightly features include seasonal parties, such as the Mardi Gras bash and St. Patty's extravaganza, half price draft night on Mondays, and the incredible free food buffet on Fridays. There's always something happening at Avenues/McFly's...

Please check our web site for more details.
